VETERANS' DINNER SET — Garrett County's veterans, recognized by the U.S. Navy with the naming of the USS Garrett County, shown above, will be honored in person during the second annual veterans' recognition dinner and program, set for Thursday, May 24, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Proctor Kildow American Legion Post 71 in Oakland. The evening will include a memorial ceremony to commemorate Garrett County veterans who lost their lives in service to the nation. There will also be a special ceremony during which two WWII veterans who left high school in their senior year for military service will be awarded high school diplomas. Southern High School student artworks illustrating some of the stories of local World War II veterans will be exhibited, along with a display of military uniforms and equipment, and a short program of patriotic songs and music will be performed by the SHS band. Award-winning student projects relating to local history will also be recognized during the evening. The proceedings are open to the public, but seating is limited and early ticket purchases are strongly encouraged. Students who conducted interviews for the oral history project, as well as all persons who were interviewed, will have their meals provided by the Garrett County Historical Society, and the dinner is open to the general public at a cost of $15 per ticket. Seating will be limited to the first 175 people, so early ticket purchases are advised. Tickets are available from Matt Novak, 281 Shady Dell Rd., Oakland, MD 21550. Novak may also be reached by phone at 301-334-3413 or via e-mail at mattnovak@gcnetmail.net. The students have been interviewing WWII veterans for the last three years and next year will begin interviewing veterans of other conflicts, particularly the Korean War.

Tougher Drunken-Driving Regs. Signed Into Law By Glendening

by Laurent Thomet
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Come Sept. 30, it will take fewer drinks for drivers to break Maryland's drunken-driving laws, as Gov. Parris N. Glendening signed a law last week reducing the state's standard from .10 blood-alcohol content to .08.

"It will make our roads safer," said Glendening, making it the first of more than 100 bills he signed just a few hours after the General Assembly adjourned for the year.

Under pressure from a federal mandate attached to millions in federal money, passing the lower threshold became one of state lawmakers' legislative priorities.

Signing the bill into law saved the state from losing $5.2 million in federal highway funds in fiscal 2004. But "most importantly, this will save lives," Glendening said.

The new law will rename the driving-while-intoxicated charge (DWI) to driving while under the influence, and it will reduce the threshold for that charge from .10 blood-alcohol content to .08.

The General Assembly retained Maryland's two-tier drunken-driving statute, renaming the lower threshold of .07 "driving while impaired" and keeping the same penalties for both offenses: a maximum $1,000 fine and one year in jail.

"A lot of lives have been lost by .08 drivers that have not paid the penalty," said Wendy Hamilton, national vice president of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

More than 200 people were killed in drunken-driving accidents last year, according to the state police.

"I don't care how much they drink," said Sen. Ida G. Ruben, D-Montgomery, lead sponsor of the Senate bill. "I'm just asking them not to get behind the wheel of a car. It becomes a lethal weapon."

Col. David B. Mitchell, state police superintendent, said he hopes the measure will both help police catch more drunken drivers and act as a deterrent.

Sen. Philip C. Jimeno, D-Anne Arundel, who opposed the measure, said more people who are not necessarily intoxicated or impaired at .08 "will fall victim" to the new law.

"Everybody has a different tolerance" to alcohol, he said. Toxicologists testified in the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee that most people are not intoxicated at .08, he said.

Similar legislation died in the House Judiciary Committee three times in the past four years. This year, several factors persuaded the committee to pass the measure.

"I think that a combination of the threat of losing federal funds, along with the continued public pressure and focus by the media, helped to propel (the bill) to success," said Delegate Sharon Grosfeld, D-Montgomery, a Judiciary member.

More than 20 bills proposing tougher drunken-driving laws were introduced this session, but few passed. One that did merit Glendening's signature Tuesday will allow a driver's refusal to take a breath test to be used as evidence in court. The new law closes a loophole that has allowed lawyers who defend repeat offenders to advise their clients to decline to take the test, said Mahlon G. Anderson, spokesman for the American Automobile Association's Mid-Atlantic chapter.

"Now that's gone," Anderson said. "That should significantly aid prosecutors against drunken drivers."

Proponents of stricter drunken-driving laws were not entirely successful this year, as a measure to toughen penalties for repeat offenders died in the House Judiciary Committee.

"It's the one thing missing in the tool box," Anderson said, who said that too often, convicted drunken drivers get back behind the wheel after being given soft sentences.

"For those," Mitchell said, "we say: 'We'll be back next year.'"

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 2000 PGC.

"I feel like I'm on a merry-go-round!" Surely we have heard that sentiment of emptiness or frustration. Every day seems like the next. We see one set of problems after another until we're dizzy and not merry at all.

In contrast, a child sees the situation differently. As he whirls round and around, he sees something unique with every revolution, giddy and giggling with merriment!

What makes the difference? Are we resigned to the fact that each day will be the same? Have we ceased to expect life to be an exciting beautiful experience?

Begin this week with a positive attitude. Expect beauty at every turn. As you worship this Sabbath, remember God's promise in Mark 10:15... "I tell you the truth, anyone who will not receive the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it."

Start the merry-go-round! As a child of God, you'll love the ride!

Of all the tragedies known to society, perhaps none is more heart rendering than the accidental death of a child due to poisoning. But fortunately, none is more easily preventable.

If you have children, or any visit your home, please do the following at once. Store all medicines and household products in a place impossible for them to reach. And, after you have used any medicine or household product, don't leave it around carelessly but immediately store it away properly.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHAT HAS GOD SHOWN YOU?

April 22, 2001

Background Scripture:
Acts 10:1 through 11:18
Devotional Reading:
Galatians 3:11-14

It is an old story: we encounter God. Then we think about the encounter and try to put it in some kind of mental concept. Next, we devise ways and means of perpetuating the experience or at least its meaning to us. From earliest times of human existence this is how people have theologized, ritualized and attempted to organize spiritual phenomena.

There is nothing wrong in this—in fact, God has designed us to do just this—so long as we remember that the theologies, rituals and ecclesiastical structures are not the "treasure," but the "earthen vessels" of which Paul is writing, when he says: "But we have this treasure in earthen vessels to show that the transcendent power belongs to God and not to us" (1 Cor. 4:7). The divine "treasure" is the encounter with God, while even our most inspired and creative attempts to understand, duplicate and capture it are but human means. Too often we cling to the "earthen vessels" and let them become a substitute for the "treasure."

So, we need to keep this in mind when we approach the story of Peter's dream and his summons to the home of Cornelius, the Roman centurian. When on the housetop, Peter begins to dream and hears a voice telling him to satisfy his hunger by selecting something to eat from among the creatures in a great sheet lowered from the heavens, we can understand and appreciate Peter's response: "No, Lord; for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean" (10:14). Peter's response was not one of prejudice or religious pride per se, but his attempt to remain true to the Jewish dietary laws which were an expression of his covenant with God.

What GOD Has Cleansed

The dietary laws were not inherently evil, but they could become and often were a barrier to hearing God's truth that pushes us beyond our creeds, rituals and regulations. "What God has cleansed, you must not call common," said the voice from heaven—three times, the author of Acts assures us. We can understand why Peter was troubled by this dream. "Now while Peter was inwardly perplexed as to what the vision he had seen might mean, behold, the men that were sent by Cornelius ... stood before the gate..." (v. 17).

We must also try to understand what a challenge these men presented to Peter. They were Gentiles and Peter's faith forbade him to associate with non-Jews. So, ordinarily, he would have refused to accompany them, but, when they told him an angel had directed Cornelius to send for him, Peter found he had to lay aside the earthen vessel of his religion and respond to the intervention of God. When he arrived at Cornelius's he demonstrated that he at last understood the meaning of his rooftop experience: "God has sh

Antiques

by Ralph and Terry Kovel

Antiques and collectibles are sometimes used today in ways that are unrelated to their original use. In the 1950s, when "Early American" style first became fashionable, many decorators made lamps from butter churns, magazine racks from cranberry scoops, and coffee tables from cobblers' benches. No one thought it odd that the living room was filled with tools. When the "country look" came into fashion in the 1980s, no one was surprised to find chicken coops, pickle crocks and pitchforks in a living room. In the 1990s, the informal look often included old advertising signs and boxes and bins from country stores. Even benches from shoe stores or baseball stadiums were incorporated into the home.

Look imaginatively at old furnishings and try to find a new use for an old product. Do not refinish or remodel antiques. You could destroy the resale value. Try to learn the history of your collectibles.

Q. My grandparents left my mother two shoeboxes full of small paper cards that must be about 100 years old. There are postcards, greeting cards, religious cards and cards that advertise a product. Some of the postcards double as greeting cards. For instance, there's a postcard that reads "Happy Birthday" on the front. Do people collect old cards like these?

A. All of your grandparents' paper ephemera are collectible, but some cards are more valuable than others. Sort the cards. Collectors are especially fond of old advertising cards that picture unusual or still-famous products, elaborate old greeting cards, and postcards that picture famous locations or events. Once you have sorted the cards and arranged them by holiday or product, you can consult a price book for values or talk to a local dealer. Some of the best cards in your collection could sell for $20 or more.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 28, 1789, in the Pacific Ocean, Fletcher Christian, the first mate on the H.M.S. Bounty, led a successful mutiny against Captain William Bligh and his supporters. Christian and his men sailed back to Tahiti on the Bounty, and some later settled on a remote, unpopulated island. Descendants of the Bounty mutineers and the Tahitians still live on the island today.

• On April 29, 1854, by an act of the Pennsylvania legislature, Ashmun Institute, the first college founded solely for African-American students, was officially chartered. The institution was later renamed Lincoln University.

• On April 25, 1859, ground was broken for the Suez Canal, an artificial waterway intended to stretch 101 miles across the Isthmus of Suez and connect the Mediterranean and the Red seas. The massive construction project took more than a decade to complete.

• On April 24, 1916, on Easter Sunday in Dublin, the Irish Republican Brotherhood, a secret organization of Irish nationalists, launched the Easter Rebellion, an armed uprising against British rule. Although the British authorities quickly suppressed the uprising, the execution of the Eastern Rebellion's leaders and other harsh reprisals served to increase support for the nationalist cause in Ireland.

• On April 27, 1981, Xerox introduced its STAR 8010 information system, the first computer on the market to boast a mouse and a point-and-click interface. Xerox devoted nine years and some $50 million to developing the STAR, but the product failed, partly because of its sky-high price tag of $16,500.

• On April 26, 1994, more than 22 million South Africans turned out to cast ballots in the country's first-ever multiracial parliamentary elections. An overwhelming majority chose anti-apartheid leader Nelson Mandela to lead a new coalition government.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Do you have a teragram of work to do? I feel that way sometimes. A "teragram" is a unit of measurement equal to 1 metric ton.

• The hawk moth is the fastest flying insect in the world. It can fly up to 33 mph — not too shabby, for a bug.

• St. Agabus is the patron saint of fortunetellers.

• Someone who is "pauciloquent" uses as few words as possible when speaking.

• Louisiana is the only state whose laws are not founded in English Common Law. Louisiana's laws are founded in the old Napoleonic Code.

• The printing press is that most celebrated of Western inventions. Most Westerners don't realize, though, that the Koreans had a moveable-type printing press 40 years before the Europeans.

• Are you sitophobic? That would be inconvenient — it's a fear of food. If you're afraid of fur, you're a dorophobe; if you're afraid of flutes, you're an aulophobe. And, oddly, autophobia is a fear of flooding, not cars.

• Hawaii is the only state in which every county is separated by water.

• Speaking of fears, many people have a fear of snakes (unjustified, in my opinion). Also, many people are afraid of bats — flying rodents. How about combining the two and getting a flying snake? It's not as far from reality as you might think. There are actually arboreal snakes that can flatten themselves out to glide from tree to tree.

• Glow-in-the-dark religious items were first produced in the early 1600s. And you thought kitsch was a recent development.

• Salt was once used as currency in Ethiopia.

Paw's corner

by Sam Mazzotta

A Slithery Pal

Q. I'm thinking of buying a snake as a pet. My mom says that as long as I take care of it, she will let me have one (I'm 13). Are snakes hard to take care of?

A. Since snakes are classified as exotic pets, I have to say yes, compared to a dog or a cat, they can be difficult to care for.

A snake doesn't have to be played with every day, and it will never fetch your slippers (not on command, anyway), but because it is not a domesticated animal, its environment in captivity must be as close to its natural environment as possible.

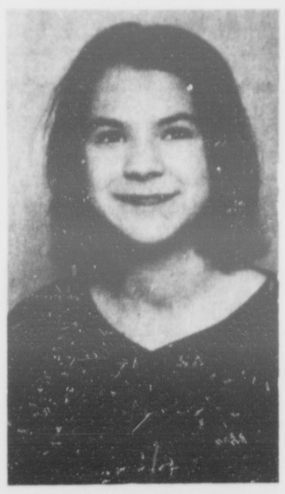
Its cage (or rather, herpetorium) must be kept within a strict range of temperatures. It must also have a sturdy limb to climb onto, and a dark, cozy place to hide, and it must have plenty of room to "slither."

Feeding can be a challenge, too. You won't have to feed a snake every day, but your pet will prefer live food. And sometimes, you'll have to help it eat by making its "prey" (usually a mouse or rat) easier to catch and less likely to injure your snake. So, if you're easily grossed out, this might not be the pet for you.

Also, even the best-cared-for snake can get sick. They're out of their natural environment and can get pretty stressed out. You'll have to stay alert constantly for changes in its behavior or activity that can signal a problem.

The best thing for you to do, before heading to the pet store, is to read some books on keeping snakes as pets. Then, call a local veterinarian who specializes in exotic pets, and talk to him or her about the challenges (and costs) of having a snake.

Receives Honor For Achievement



Laura Skipper, a student at Southern Middle School, has been noted by the United States Achievement Academy for accomplishments in her science studies. The academy recognizes less than 10 percent of America's high school students.

Skipper was recommended for USAA selection by SMS teacher William Janoske. Along with a faculty recommendation, selection criteria include academic performance, interest and aptitude, attitude, and cooperative spirit.

Skipper has been on the SMS honor each term during her studies there. She was selected to the SMS Honor Band, serves on the school's yearbook committee, and is a member of the Garrett County Community League Girls' basketball team. She attends the Loch Lynn Church of God, where she is a member of the church's youth group.

Skipper resides in Oakland with her parents, John and Kathy Skipper.

Reckless Driving Leads To DWI Arrest Of Man

Garrett County sheriff's deputies received a complaint in reference to a pickup truck operating in a reckless manner on Thursday, which resulted in the arrest of a Loch Lynn man for driving while intoxicated.

According to the report, a deputy located and stopped the truck operated by Darrell Ray Ravenscroft, 25, along First Avenue in Loch Lynn and detected an odor of alcohol on the driver. The driver was arrested after failing the standardized field sobriety tests.

Ravenscroft was released from the Garrett County Jail on his own recognizance.

Deputies responded to a motor vehicle accident early Sunday morning along Oakland Sang Run Road near Bray School Road.

Jordan Paul Uphold, 19, Oakland, told police he swerved to miss a deer and struck a pole. He was transported by private vehicle to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for his injuries.

No charges were filed by deputies in the 4 a.m. incident.

Local Trooper Receives Award

Former Community Policing and Community Supervision Team member Tfc. Blair Bittinger of the Maryland State Police was awarded a Governor's Citation Award for his "outstanding dedication and commitment" to the Grantsville HotSpot program at the Regional Summit Conference in Hagerstown.

Tfc. Bittinger participated in the HotSpot Initiative for approximately 2½ years. His participation in the program included community policing; organizing a neighborhood Crime Watch Program; planning and participating in community events; and working closely with other organizations to prevent crime in the Grantsville area.

He was nominated for this award by his Community Policing and Community Supervision Team leader. The Crime Control and Prevention program targets crime prevention through such key elements as community mobilization, community policing, community probation, youth prevention, and community prosecution.

Coalition To Push For Hike In Tobacco Tax

Smoke Free Maryland and the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative announced last week a joint campaign to increase the Maryland state cigarette tax by $.70 per pack to reduce teen smoking and expand access to health care. Maryland last increased the tobacco tax in 1999, when Governor Parris Glendening proposed a $1 increase in the tobacco tax, and the legislature passed a $.30 increase.

The $.30 increase (to $.66 per pack of cigarettes) has had a dramatic impact, reducing cigarette sales by 16% and increasing revenue by $80 million per year (up 63%). "Tobacco taxes work. They save lives and raise revenue. Extensive data and the practical experience of every state that has significantly raised the tobacco tax has shown that raising the price reduces consumption, especially among young people," said Michaeline Fedder, president of the Smoke Free Maryland Coalition.

Tobacco use is Maryland's number one cause of preventable death, Fedder said. One out of five deaths in the state is caused by tobacco. Over 7,000 Marylanders will die prematurely because of smoking-caused disease, and more than 60 Maryland children become addicted to tobacco products every day, she added.

"It is time to finish the job we started in 1999. Increasing the cigarette tax by another $.70 per pack is the best way to save thousands more lives from smoking-caused illnesses and fund needed expansion of health care access," said Vincent DeMarco, executive director of the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative.

Smoke Free Maryland also announced the receipt of a grant award of over $1 million by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) to assist in its tobacco use prevention and cessation efforts. The grant is part of approximately $16 million awarded in March to 16 states by the RWJF under its SmokeLess States National Tobacco Policy Initiative. These grants support activities of statewide coalitions working to improve the tobacco policy environment, with the goal of reducing tobacco use.

SmokeLess States is a collaborative effort among RWJF, the nation's largest philanthropy devoted exclusively to health and health care, which funds the initiative; the American Medical Association, the nation's largest physician group, which administrates it; and statewide coalitions receiving the grants. The program focuses efforts on proven policy-based methods to reduce tobacco harm, including reduction of exposure to secondhand smoke, reducing tobacco use through increasing tobacco excise taxes, and funding cost-effective smoking cessation programs.

"We believe that by focusing attention on these policy issues, we will have a greater impact on tobacco use and improve the public health," said T. Michael Preston, CEO of MedChi, the Maryland State Medical Society. MedChi provides lead agency support for Smoke Free Maryland, which is in its eighth year of existence.

Maryland Classified Employees Association, inc.

The Maryland Classified Employees Association, a labor organization representing 15,000 members, has hired Terry W. Taylor, a political strategist, as its new executive director. Taylor brings to MCEA years of experience in marketing and campaign management with labor and community-based organizations.

For more than 25 years, Taylor organized many successful political campaigns for local, state, and congressional candidates. He also is a marketing and campaign management consultant. His priorities and initiatives will include leading the union through collective bargaining union representation elections for university employees and recruiting additional MCEA members.

Taylor has already visited western Maryland state agencies. He is planning return trips to western Maryland, including visiting state agencies in Grantsville, Oakland, and the surrounding communities.

"There is no doubt in my mind that MCEA has effectively served state employees for more than 65 years. Now we plan to grow and improve our services. We are going to make MCEA shout and holler," he said.

MCEA has over 900 members in the western Maryland area, including the two Garrett County local chapters. State employees interested in MCEA membership or more information about MCEA services should call the union's local Cumberland office at 1-888-614-6232 or 301-724-8770.

USDA Unveils Rural Co-op Grant Funding

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is accepting pre-applications for $4.5 million in grants designed to encourage the development of new, member-owned cooperatives. The funding is being provided by the Rural Cooperative Development Grant program of USDA Rural Development. "This funding delivers the commitment of the Bush administration to increase the role cooperatives will play in improving the rural economy and preserving the family farm," said Marlene Elliott, Rural Development state director for Delaware and Maryland.

The grants will be awarded on a competitive basis to nonprofit corporations and institutions of higher learning for use in helping organize new rural business cooperatives. The funds may be used to finance feasibility studies and other "hands-on" technical assistance activities required for successful cooperative development. Of the $4.5 million total, $1.5 million is reserved for efforts assisting small, minority producers whose governing boards or memberships are composed of at least 75 percent minorities.

The deadline for receipt of pre-applications is May 24. Pre-applications for projects that will be headquartered in Delaware or Maryland may be sent to the Rural Development state office at 4607 South DuPont Highway, P.O. Box 400, Camden, DE 19934.

Further information on the program is available from the Delaware/Maryland Rural Development office at 302-697-4324, or from James E. Haskell, assistant deputy administrator for Cooperative Service, Rural Business-Cooperative Service, at 202-720-8406.

For more information on how USDA can help rural cooperatives, persons may call 202-720-7558 or visit the USDA Rural Development web site at www.rurdev.usda.

In addition to Trickett and Webster, other DAR members on hand for the meeting were Faye Taylor, Joyce Brennan, Alice Penzo, Jocelyn Ayersman, Lillian Reckner, Barbara Lee, Katy Burke, Dorothy Cathell, Martha Kahl, and Leona Hardesty.

GRANTSVILLE PROGRAM RECEIVES DONATION — The Grantsville After-School Program, Kids N Corporated, was the recipient of a $500 donation from "The Frank and Josephine Lancelotta Foundation Inc." The Lancelottas operate Garrett County Self Storage along Mosser Road. The after-school program is sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Committee, the Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation, and the Governor's Office on Crime Control and Prevention. The donation will be used to purchase equipment needed for the program such as a camera and computer software, and enhances the overall program operation. Pictured above are the after-school students; in the back row, standing, are two tutors from Frostburg State University. Also pictured are coordinators Karen Wood and Denise Fazenbaker.

Md. Gas Prices Jump 13 Cents Over Last Month

The average price of regular unleaded gasoline has jumped 13 cents per gallon to $1.58 in Maryland, according to AAA Mid-Atlantic. This increase is just under the 15-cent jump in the national average, which currently rests at $1.59 per gallon. Prices are highest in the West at $1.64 per gallon, followed by the Great Lakes states at $1.62 per gallon. The Southeast records the lowest average at $1.50 per gallon.

Gasoline rices could move higher in the weeks ahead, according to AAA's monthly Fuel Gauge Report. "Prices could stabilize as we approach June, but until then, there is no way of knowing how high prices will go. Any interruption in local refining or distribution could result in higher prices at the pump due to the fact that gasoline inventories are so tight," said Myra Wieman, manager of public affairs for AAA Mid-Atlantic.

"The rapid increase in fuel prices is due in large part to high crude oil prices and the industry's traditional switch from winter-grade fuel to more costly-to-produce summer grade fuel," Wieman added.

AAA recommends motorists achieve maximum fuel economy by ensuring their vehicles are in peak operating condition, avoiding quick starts and stops, combining errands, and using the air conditioner only when absolutely necessary. These steps will help cut down or fuel consumption, the spokesperson said.

AAA's Fuel Gauge Report is based on data from Oil Price Information Service, described as the nation's most comprehensive source of petroleum pricing information.

Trees Planted In Friendsville Schoolyard

Friendsville Elementary School students recently partnered with the National Tree Trust to plant 50 trees in the schoolyard habitat.

The 50 red maple trees were planted through a grant from the National Tree Trust (NTT), and were planted directly on the school grounds to complete phase one on the school's habitat project.

James Friend, a teacher at the school and coordinator of this project, said, "I am very pleased to see the amount of community support we have had for this project."

Many groups have helped with the project, including Ernie Metz and Wade Dorsey, of the Department of Natural Resources, and the Parent Teacher Organization. Red Rock Enterprises, a local timber company, assisted with the construction of the forest buffer along the Youghiogheny River.

The goal of the project is to promote environmental awareness and create an outdoor classroom that will provide real-life learning experiences for the students.

According to Friend, the tree planting project is the first step in the ongoing effort to enhance student knowledge and awareness of environmental issues and provide an enriching school experience.

The NTT was created in 1990, in order to promote the growing, planting, and maintaining of trees in rural and urban areas, through the America the Beautiful Act. Since 1992, the NTT has partnered with more than 1,000 groups in 48 states to plant more than 6.1 million trees.

Terra Alta Man Arrested For Stolen Paycheck

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man was arrested recently and charged in connection with a theft of a payroll check from Mettiki Coal Corp. on March 29, according to the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

Larry Dean Wilt Jr., 21, was working for Mettiki as a contractor when the theft occurred. The stolen check was later found to have been forged and then uttered at a local bank, according to police.

Wilt has been charged with felony and misdemeanor theft, forgery of a private document, and uttering a false document.

Shortly after Wilt's arrest, additional warrants were found for Wilt through the Garrett County Sheriff's Office that charged him with failing to appear in district court on a second degree assault charge and several counts of harassment, which stemmed from an incident in the summer of 2000.

Wilt was released from the Garrett County Jail on a $16,000 bond.

Local Volunteers Prepare Meals For Elderly Neighbors

Seventeen local elderly residents who had no place to go and no one to prepare them a meal on Easter were served a meal by a number of volunteers who were "recruited" by the Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging.

The volunteers, who prepared at least one meal for these senior citizens, were: Amy Collins, Janet White, Jeanie Frazee, Brenda Roszell, Helen Vitez, Michael Bello, Pat White, Loring Young, Tina Dawson, and Marie Skipper.

"The good people of Garrett County came through once again for these frail, homebound seniors," stated an agency spokesperson. "We thank each of them for the generous giving of their time and resources, which made the holiday brighter for these special residents."

Book Of Job To Be Focus Of HOPE Session

The Disciple I Class will lead the Hour Of Praise for Everyone (HOPE) time together on Tuesday, April 24, at 7 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Andy Damon and Steve Sisler, leaders of the class since last September, have selected a dramatic reading based on Chapters 3 through 42 of the Book of Job for the presentation. They will be assisted by members of the class: Herb Lambert, Doug and Terry Riley, Nancy Lewis, Rob Browning, Bill and Laurie Grant, Jeannette Fitzwater, and Helen Earles.

The drama contains the major arguments Job's friends used to defend the commonly accepted belief of that time: The righteous prosper; the wicked suffer and perish. The readers will attempt to identify the different kinds of advice offered by Job's friends, to observe how their explanations are still used today, and to consider the sense in which they are partly true, yet not completely appropriate.

According to Damon, the Old Testament Hebrew word "satan" means opponent, adversary, accuser, attacker. "When the Book of Job was written, probably in the 6th century B.C., the Israelites had no concept of the devil, and their understanding of the Satan was quite different from the way Christians today think of Satan. In Job, Satan is not the enemy of God, but a kind of official accuser, a member of the heavenly council. His job is to point out specific accusations to God," Damon explained.

"In Job's day people had no concept of life after death. They believed that death took people to a shadowy, vaporlike Sheol. The Job drama points out that justice must be proved in this world. Fairness and divine retribution must occur before death."

The HOPE services are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, and are planned by the laity of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend these informal 45-minute gatherings, held in the fellowship hall.

Pastors at St. Paul's are the Reverends Roger A. and Ann W. Harrison. The church is located on the corner of Fourth and Oak streets.

Emmanuel's Mother and Daughter Banquet will be held Friday, May 4, at 6:30 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. Cost of the turkey dinner is $7.25 adults, $3.50 for children 5-12, and free for children under 5.

On a short drive in Bittinger on Monday afternoon it was a big delight to see Ralph and Ethel Buckel's wonderful spring garden with everything in blossom at the same time. Ethel told me at the Easter Sunday morning church service about her garden. It is true that she no doubt has the best daffodil display here in Bittinger, as it looks like hundreds of daffodils of various varieties all show their colors at once. On the way to the Buckels', I finally spotted a couple of service trees in blossom. That is good, because the old folk wisdom says that you will get another snow either during or after the service blossoms. Sure enough, it did spit a little snow on Easter afternoon with the soggy rainstorm that lasted all afternoon. But I did not see those service trees in blossom until on Monday, so am not sure we can count those few snowflakes. However, that was taken care of late Monday afternoon when we got a real snowstorm that was enough to cover the ground. So now maybe we will not have to face another snow. But sure enough, Tuesday brought more snow squalls along with a sharp cold spell that was due. I did plan to throw a blanket over my big lilac bush, but the snow on Sunday caught me a little off guard.

It was so wet Easter Sunday afternoon that our family couldn't hold the outdoor Easter egg hunt for the cousins. Finally, we did it inside in Rodney's and Marci's basement, and it turned out fine for the younger set. For the older set it was disturbing, especially since the boys were playing their favorite popular music loudly, which was counterpointed by the girls' music, which was also loud. The loud music was fine for Rodney, brother Barry, and cousin Courtney, who all like their music loud. But for me it was pure bedlam. The outdoor covered porch provided me with some peace and comfort to escape the noise.

The twins and Scotty were sweet enough to go out in the rain and gather me a few of the small wildflowers which first arrived in our woods proclaiming spring, spring beauty, and cowslips, the name of which is really adder tongue. One terrible hardship for me since I became disabled is that I just can't run down into the woods to see my favorite things.

The youth group of Emmanuel was busy at church Friday morning placing their new hymnal markers in the hymnals and doing other odds and ends to prepare for Easter morning service. They had to do without Claire's help since she was off to Washington, D.C., with her soccer team, the Northern Ice, to watch the first women's professional soccer game in America. Also attending from Bittinger was Terra Sines. They watched the game at RFK Stadium between the D.C. Freedoms and the Bay Area Cyberrays. D.C. won by a score of 1-0. Hurrah for the East Coast!

Speaking of pro sports, all the Pirate fans in Bittinger were deeply saddened with the passing of "Pop" Willie Stargell. It was interesting that Courtney Englar met a niece of a pitcher of the Stargell era at the semi-formal party at Mike Hall's. She said that one time her uncle, Bob Purkey, was out on the town with Willie and Bill Mazeroski. Her uncle and the others quit quite early, but not Willie. The next day, Willie had two home runs and told Bob Purkey that "rest is very overrated." Willie was linchpin for the World-Series-winning Pirates in 1979 when I was living in New York City.

How well I remember that series, and now at Easter season, I can't forget my old neighborhood that was loaded with immigrants from across the world. We had many eastern Europeans, Romanian Czechs, Ukrainians, etc. They were Eastern Orthodox, so they celebrated Easter one week later. The first Easter celebration was celebrated by the Italians, Hispanics, Catholic Church, and a handful of Protestants. Just around the corner was the most lovely, small, very old St. Mark's Episcopal Church, which survived the skyscrapers in Manhattan. They rang the bells nonstop. Then the next week, the other church did the same thing, but the nicest thing was that the Eastern Europeans held an Easter parade, which consisted mostly of hundreds of little girls in white dresses. Many times I went to the little European shops to buy hand-painted Easter eggs.

In many ways this season I am homesick for the Lower Eastside (many people regarded it as a slum), but in fact it represented a "Peace on Earth" spirit somewhat better in many ways than even in Bittinger, where the only kind of churches primarily descended from the German church (Lutheran, Mennonite, Brethren, and Amish). This Easter I felt that, even with the new fancy, modern Emmanuel Lutheran, it did not feel like home for lots of people, certainly not to me. No number of Easter lilies can give the same warm feeling as the old church which was filled with memories of more than 100 years of Easter, and there was no bell to ring.

It was good to see a handful of college kids back for the holidays, including Lea Stanton and Leslie and Kandi Buckel. My brother Barry from Frederick came home for Easter and joined in the church service.

Our family Easter dinner was graced by a friend from downstate, Janet Beyea of Frederick. She and I had a good productive cruise around the back roads and collected a good supply for my dolls. While we were on Foy Road, I even talked her into digging up some clumps of daffodils for Marci and me to plant. My friend had way too many for a single man anyway. We barely got a chance to get them in the ground before their riotous spring color was covered by snow, which smashed them down. But they will perk up as soon as we get a decent amount of sunshine. The spring peepers have pretty much shut up too, but they will awake again and resume their spring anthem. I doubt that the deep freeze in my heart will go away as soon as the one outside.

This spring was busy for my Meredith and her cousin, Emma Bass, with their rehearsal for the big musical production at Accident Elementary School. They were supposed to take it to the state championship in Westminster, but apparently that trip was canceled. Their first production will be Tuesday evening at GCC, along with the pep rally for Brenda's Body Shop dance aerobic team, bound for the national contest in Miami. The kids from Accident will perform at various times in Garrett County. When and where have not been announced yet. As if the Easter weekend was already too hectic, the cousins were busy getting the barn ready for the new crop of young pigs for their 4-H market hog projects. They even had a big bonfire to burn last year's feed sacks. It was a bit damp bonfire, but it did its job.

About 140 early worshippers from Emmanuel Lutheran, Bethesda Brethren, Glade Mennonite, and Meadow Mountain Mennonite got together for the Easter sunrise service held at the Bittinger fire hall early Sunday morning. The pastors taking part were our own Pastor Pat Pittsnogle, Ed Morris, and Alvin Kaufman. Following the service they enjoyed a delicious breakfast prepared by the women from all the churches involved, and a few of the Bittinger fire hall women. I never made any sunrise services in Bittinger, but a friend of mine and I attended a sunrise service on top of the Empire State Building in New York City.

The Beachy family Easter dinner was held at the home of Sam and Cindy Stanton and Ferne Beachy. Attending were the Vagnetti family, Lucretia Stanton, and, of course, Lea Stanton, who was home from Baltimore. They also celebrated Aaron Stanton's 24th birthday, which was on Saturday. Others attending RAIL FENCE IS FAMILY MEMORY AND LOCAL ATTRACTION - The rail fence that runs by the farm along Rock Lodge Road in Bittinger, better known as Brenneman's Grove, has been in the Broadwater, Brenneman, Hershberger, and Housley families since 1891 when Parry Broadwater purchased it from his brother-in-law, Thomas B. Wiley. The rails were made by the owners of the farm and used for property-line fencing, as well as dividing lines of the 225 acres for pasturing of livestock and farming. The standard size of each rail is 11 feet long, and originally they were laid seven rails high. At each bend there are rocks used to keep the rails from lying directly on the ground. Through the years, the height has been reduced to either five or six rails high because of a shortage of the rails. The original rails were made from chestnut trees, which suffered a blight in the early 1920s, so there is no longer any chestnut wood available for replacement of the rails. Current replacement rails are preferably made from red oak or locust trees. A family spokesperson said, "It's difficult to find a person willing to split rails even when the trees are available." Over the past 40 years the fence that is visible to passersby has been maintained by using the rails from the division fences, and by 270 newly made rails, along with 60 rails that owners were able to obtain from a friend who came upon about 300 rails made in 1902 in the Savage River area. The present length of the fence is estimated at one-half mile. "The aged maple trees and modern vehicles tend to play havoc with the upkeep of the fence," the spokesperson said. From one generation to the next, the family has attempted to maintain the fence.

Mark Otto and Annie Winter stand in an empty fountain in Sedona, Ariz., a place where many students acknowledged the pictorial beauty.

These present NHS band members said they have noticed a "special closeness" among each other. Many of the students have become better friends or made new ones as a result of being in band. "After being with the same group of people for as long as we have, you either get tired of them or you grow closer to each other," said Mark Otto. "We've all gotten along very well. Our friendship has carried over to all sorts of activities aside from band." Otto refused to specify what exactly those activities are.

Northern High Students Embark On A Trip To The Southwest

Members of the Northern High School band, guard, and National Honor Society, as well as the band aides, recently returned from a trip where they spent a memorable week in the southwestern area of the United States during which they visited a variety of well-known attractions and natural wonders. This trip included various stops in Arizona, such as the Grand Canyon and Sedona, plus Las Vegas and Utah.

The group, which included chaperons ranging from parents to retired teachers and from a state police sergeant to a surgeon, left the school on March 20 and returned at 1:30 a.m. on the March 27. In the end they had traveled a total of 7,500 miles by air and bus.

The highlight for most of the students as well as band director Bill Robinson happened Saturday, March 24. It was then that the band performed at the Ovation Festival in Las Vegas. Fifteen bands competed, and Northern came away with first place overall, as well as first in its division. Northern's color guard also competed.

The trip began when their plane arrived in Las Vegas from Reagan National Airport. That day they visited the Hoover Dam and traveled to Flagstaff, Ariz.

The second day's travels included an Indian civilization tour, which brought the group to the Hopi Indian Village, Cultural Center, and Mesa 1, 2, and 3. This was followed by stops at the Petrified Forest and Meteor Crater.

The next day the group returned to Las Vegas, but en route, stopped at Zion National Park and St. George, Utah. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday they stayed at the San Remo Hotel in Las Vegas.

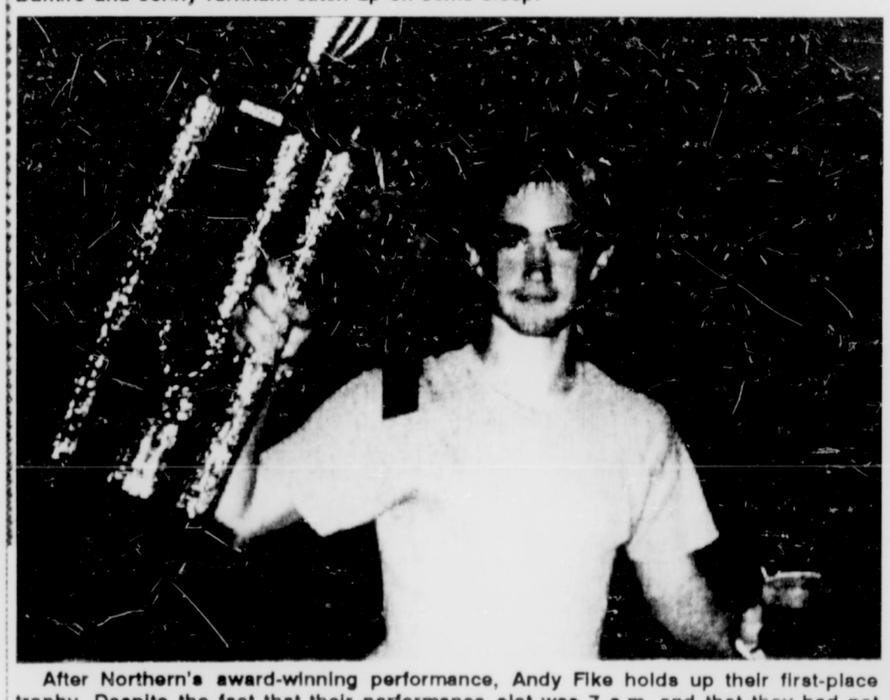
Saturday was the day of the performance, and Sunday was set aside for supervised small group activities in Las Vegas.

Before the trip, Robinson gave the students some information as to why the journey was important and what benefits it would provide for them in the long run.

"Most of you have spent your lives in Garrett County," Robinson said. "This type of beautiful area and safe culture can sometimes make it difficult to see the opportunities and differences that lie beyond."

Standing on the outside of the Hoover Dam, which can be seen in the reflection behind, Annie Winter and Mark Otto take time out to pose with Martin Scholtz, front, Northern's foreign exchange student from Germany.

The total 7,500 miles weighed heavy on many of Northern's students. From bus rides to plane rides, they often took time out for naps in between stops. Above, Lacie Dumire and Jenny Kirkham catch up on some sleep.

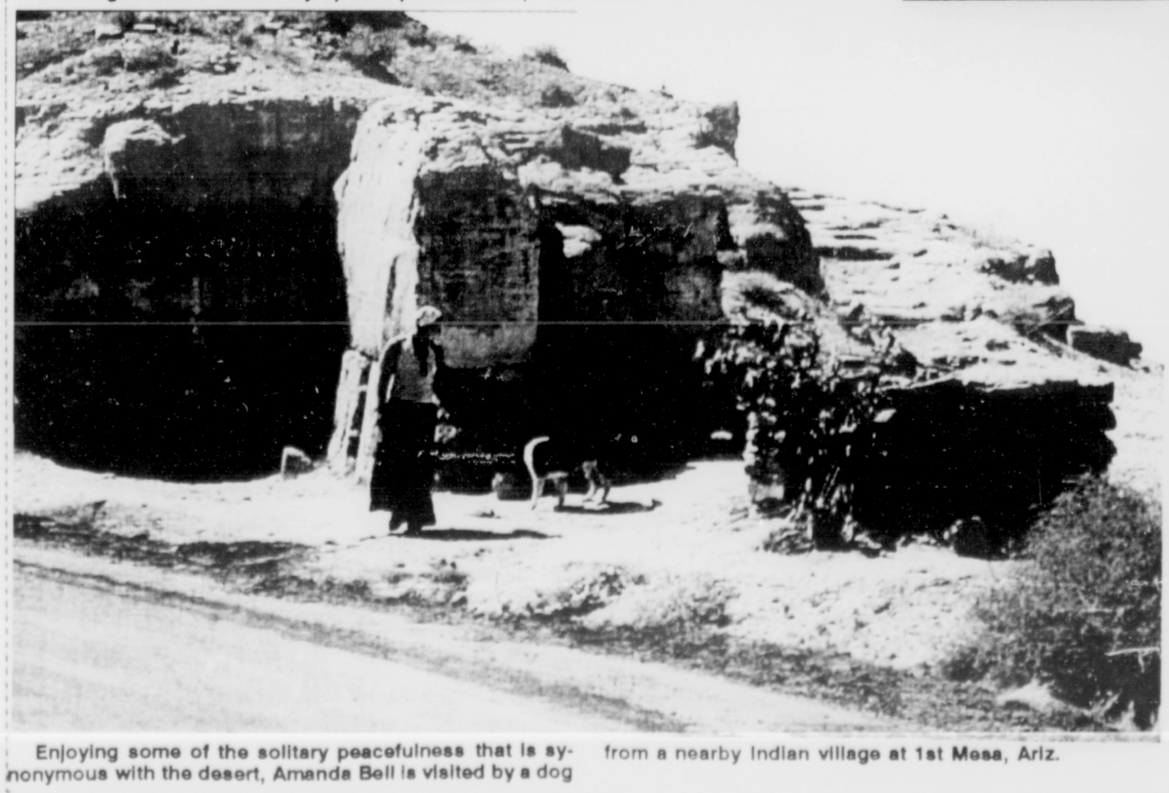


After Northern's award-winning performance, Andy Fike holds up their first-place trophy. Despite the fact that their performance slot was 7 a.m. and that they had not played for almost a week, the NHS musicians still managed to display their talent which has garnered so many awards through the years. "It felt really good to be able to play for an audience that was foreign to us. That and the fact that we were playing in Las Vegas made this a very special performance," said Fike.

Northern students line up for a tour of the inside of Hoover Dam.

One of the more fun, unplanned stops for the students was when the bus got stuck along the road in Flagstaff. Wade Wiley, senior band member, stated, "It was pretty fun since no one really knew what to do. We were all just sort of hanging out for a while."

Above, Northern students enjoy the sights at the Grand Canyon. Pictures were taken by many of the students, who commented on the "breathtaking" view from atop one of the seven wonders of the world. "It was very beautiful. There was a wonderful sort of magic to the whole area," said Annie Winter.



Enjoying some of the solitary peacefulness that is synonymous with the desert, Amanda Bell is visited by a dog from a nearby Indian village at 1st Mesa, Ariz.

One of the many stops that the group made was at Oak Creek Canyon, Ariz. A majority of the students said they found the southwest landscape "quite extraordinary."

April Showers Continue To Delay Activities

Maryland farmers struggled to squeeze field activities into the 2.7 days suitable for field work for the week ending April 15 as wet conditions continued to hinder spring cropping progress, reported Ray Garibay, state statistician with the Maryland Ag Statistics Service.

As a result, some areas are reporting that schedules are running as much as two to three weeks behind schedule. Despite these setbacks, planting has progressed from last week. Sweet corn, potato, and tomato seedings are at 9%, 28%, and 15%, respectively.

Fruit blooms are also progressing behind the five-year average with the exception of strawberries, which have bloomed 29%, 3 percentage points ahead of schedule. Ten percent of the peach crop has bloomed, 45% lower than the five-year average. Apples are 5% bloomed, 24% below the five-year average.

The warm temperatures experienced last week have improved small grain conditions, with good to excellent ratings being maintained for the most part. Winter wheat condition is rated 1% very poor, 10% poor, 15% fair, 47% good, and 27% excellent. Barley condition is 7% poor, 14% fair, 58% good, and 21% excellent. Rye is rated at 1% very poor, 10% poor, 15% fair, 63% good, and 11% excellent.

Pasture conditions are reported in mostly fair or better condition. Pasture is rated 1% very poor, 14% poor, 26% fair, 37% good, and 22% excellent. Hay supplies are rated 1% very short, 2% short, 80% adequate, and 17% surplus.

Rains throughout the week increased many fields to surplus soil moisture levels. Topsoil moisture is rated 2% short, 53% adequate, and 45% surplus. Subsoil moisture is 3% short, 72% adequate, and 25% surplus.

Maryland's crop progress for the week ending April 15, listing percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, is:

Planting progress: potatoes 28, 2, 81, 78; green peas 40, 38, 79, 53; sweet corn 9, 7, 16, 12; tomatoes 15, 9, 7, 6; cantaloupes 8, --, 1, 2; watermelons 5, --, 0, 1.

FSA Announces 2000 Crop Fresh Russet Potato Diversion Program

To encourage the domestic consumption of the 2000 crop of fresh russet potatoes by diverting them from the normal channels of trade and commerce, the secretary of agriculture will make payments to producers who divert fresh russet potatoes they produced.

Eligible producers are those who produced all types and varieties of 2000 crop fresh russet potatoes, except sweet potatoes. The Potato Diversion Program (PDP) is available to producers who divert their potato production for the period of April 13, 2001, through May 13, 2001.

Signup for the PDP begins on Mon., May 14, and continues through close of business on Wed., June 13. Producers shall file applications at the county FSA office nearest the producer's place of residence or, if the producer is already an FSA customer, where the producer's farm records are maintained. Participants of PDP shall comply with highly erodible land conservation/wetland conservation provisions.

Nationwide funding for PDP is limited to $10,250,000; therefore, payments will not be issued until signup has ended and a weight factor on hundredweight has been determined. The maximum payment rate is $1.00 per hundredweight for all methods of diversion. The payment rate includes all costs, but is not limited to processing, transportation, and inspection costs. Advance payments under PDP will not be issued.

Under PDP, potatoes may be diverted by various methods. If producers choose to divert their 2000 crop for human consumption to charitable institutions, the potatoes must:

- meet all requirements of U.S. Grade No. 2 inspection (fairly clean);
- be diverted between April 13, 2001, and May 13, 2001; and
- be inspected by a qualified authorized or licensed USDA grading inspector.

Note: Grade standards are available on the Internet at www.ams.usda.gov/standards.

Potatoes intended for livestock feed must:

- meet the requirements of U.S. Grade No. 2 processing;
- be diverted between April 13, 2001, and May 13, 2001;
- be inspected by a qualified authorized or licensed USDA grading inspector between April 13, 2001, and May 13, 2001; and
- be processed by cutting, chopping, slicing, gouging, crushing, ensiling, freezing, or cooking.

Producers may also divert fresh russet potatoes into ethanol production and/or render them nonmarketable and dispose of the potatoes in accordance with federal, state, and local regulations.

Producers are responsible for requesting, arranging for, and payment of inspection and U.S. grading costs. Producers must provide original grading inspection certificates to the FSA office before the application for payment is approved. Producers must also provide scale tickets, weighing facilities, or volume measurements as determined by the

Domestic Violence Far More Common Than Many Realize

Editor's note: April is National Sexual Assault Awareness Month, and next week has been designated National Crime Victims' Rights Week. Kristiann Germain, writer of this article, is a counselor at the Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence shelter

DOVE Center

by Kristiann Germain

Growing up in Garrett County, domestic violence and dating violence were not exactly "hot topics." Rape, sexual abuse, and child abuse were talked about even less. When I did hear about these sorts of things happening, I figured the incidents were isolated or even worse...in some cases, deserved. I had friends who had had dating-violence experiences; I knew people whose spouses or partners had beaten them; I knew some victims of rape and incest. I had heard of some people who had harmed or stolen from their elderly parents. Yet somehow I continued to believe that these things did not happen in Garrett County. I also believed, on occasion, that surely the person who was beaten, assaulted, or raped did something to provoke the incident. No one does a thing like that to another person without a reason...right? I was sympathetic to people, but my sympathy was limited, and it certainly was not based on a true understanding of the issues.

In the fall of 1998, I noticed that the Dove Center, the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center Inc., was offering a volunteer training during October and November. I had some education in psychology and some crisis intervention experience, so I thought I might learn more about domestic violence and rape, and possibly go on to volunteer. I was not sure what I would learn, but I thought I would see what the training had to offer.

Still believing that things like this did not happen around here, I did not expect the Dove Center to really need too many volunteers; I continued to presume that they would not have much "business." The first couple of training classes, I just listened. In my mind, I questioned nearly everything that was said. In between classes, I started doing research on my own about some of the statistics and facts that had been quoted. For example, according to the Maryland Natural Resources Police Care of Rape and Sex Crimes Victims Trainer's Guide Training Manual, about one out of every six boys and one out of every four girls will be sexually assaulted by the age of 18. Further, according to Pro-Prosecution: Holding the Abuser Accountable compiled by the Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence (MNADV), about every 15 seconds, a woman is battered in the United States. Additionally, 25-45% of battered women are battered while pregnant and 32% of battered women are re-victimized within six months of the last incident. In my own investigation, these reports seemed to hold true across other sources, such as research from the National Institutes of Health, the American Psychological Association, and the American Medical Association. These findings began to make me aware of the scope of the problem.

Still, I did not believe — could not believe — that incidents like those reported occurred in my home county. All of this information started me thinking, however. I remembered how, years ago, a girl was abducted from in front of the Oakland branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. She was reportedly raped, tortured, and was finally killed; and who could forget how one little girl was tied outside like a dog and was murdered. I also remembered the story of how a long-suffering, severely abused wife, after believing she had no other recourse, finally killed her husband to ensure he could never hurt her again. (Sometime after this training, I have found that in the fiscal years of 1994/1995 and 1995/1996 there was one death per year in Garrett County due to domestic violence, according to the MNADV. Not to mention that just a few days ago, a woman was shot to death after having turned a man down for a date.) I had tended to think of each incident as isolated, but actually the ones I knew about were only the worst ones — not the "run of the mill" incidents that may or may not get reported.

Statistics have shown that for every case of domestic violence, there are 10 or more others that are never reported. The Cabinet Council on Criminal and Juvenile Justice wrote in the 1998 edition of the Maryland Crime Control and Prevention Strategy that 76 people in Maryland were killed in domestic violence incidents in 1996. That equaled the slaying of one person every 4.6 days. Ten of those victims were over the age of 50. This council went on to state that in the U.S., "annual estimates show at least 2 million children, 2 to 4 million women, and 1.5 million seniors are physically abused by the people closest to them." For every 100 rape cases reported, only about two are later considered to be unsubstantiated, yet only about 17% of the cases that are actually prosecuted cause the rapist to suffer any legal consequences (remember, not all cases that are reported are prosecuted...most are not). Of all the domestic violence and sexual assault cases that are prosecuted, many of the alleged perpetrators are found "not guilty." In the past, I had often equated "not guilty" with "innocent." To me, it might have even meant that the event did not happen. However, I have since learned that "not guilty" does not always equal "innocent."

After completing the six-week training, I did a little volunteering here and there to fill in some gaps. In 1999, a job opened for an outreach worker for the Dove Center. The job entailed traveling to various areas of the county, counseling victims of domestic violence and sexual assault, answering hotline calls, accompanying victims to court (if they chose to go to court), and advocating for the victim with other agencies. After being hired, the first four weeks of my new job seemed to be training "in the trenches." The hotline never seemed to stop ringing whether it was 9 a.m. or 2 a m.; it also seemed that there was always someone different on the line. The shelter was often full and close to overflowing.

While all of this was happening, I had to read over old files to learn to do the paperwork and to become accustomed to various procedures. To my great shock, throughout the files were the names of childhood friends, parents of other friends, and even the names of family members. I knew these people, and I had known them for a long time. The people to whom these things were done were not deserving of such retribution or spite or punishment or whatever I had tried to call it in the past. I was totally aghast. I repeatedly told myself, "This kind of stuff does not happen this often in Garrett County!" After a few days of confusion it finally occurred to me how wrong I had been. What I had been taught growing up regarding domestic violence and sexual assault was wrong. Times when I stood in judgment of others were wrong. These horrible things did happen here...at home. The people who were victims were not to blame, no matter what they may have said to their spouse, or possibly worn on a date, or what they may have asked of their parents or caregivers. They were not to blame no matter how much they may have had to drink, or how late dinner may have been put on the table, or how attractive they might have been.

As my training gave way to actually providing outreach services, I became even more acutely aware of the diversity of backgrounds, educational levels, and income levels of the people being served. I found that some people grew up poor, some rich, some with little formal education, some with college degrees, some from religious backgrounds, some not, some from divorced parents, some from close-knit extended families. Some were business people, some homemakers, and some were students. Some were very young, some over 80 years old. In other words, there was no single face belonging to victims of violence.

Just as there was no single face, there was no single set of complications that kept partners in abusive relationships or sexual assault victims from reporting their perpetrators. Fear, economics, health, standing in the community, a misguided feeling that somehow they deserved what had happened, a belief that they were trapped, that no one would believe them, that they were alone, that no one could help, and that they still loved the offenders were just a few of the reasons victims gave for the decisions they made. That meant that the old questions like, "Why doesn't the victim just leave?" or "If the victim really had been abused/raped, why not testify against the alleged abuser/rapist?" could not be that easily answered. Along the same lines, the statement "If it were really abuse/rape, the victim would have screamed or fought or there would have been physical evidence" did not always hold water either. Strangely, the questions "Why did the offender do this?" or "When did the offender become judge and jury?" did not seem to be asked that often. I found it interesting how society asked so much of the victims and put so little responsibility on the perpetrators.

Other misnomers that I used to believe included the idea that domestic violence between adults does not directly affect the children. According to information compiled by the Cabinet Council on Criminal and Juvenile Justice in the Maryland Crime Control and Prevention Strategy, 1998 edition, children who witness domestic violence and who are never abused or neglected themselves often suffer from "nightmares, bedwetting, headaches, ulcers, and asthma." These children are also "more likely to suffer from depression, low self-esteem, aggressive behavior, or poor school adjustment; to experiment with alcohol or drugs; and to run away." It has also been found that boys who witness battering may be up to 1,000 times more likely to batter in their adult relationships than boys who did not witness family violence. Further, these same boys are also more likely to commit dating violence and to be more violent in general. Girls who witness family violence are at increased risk to suffer dating and domestic violence in their teenage and adult years. Both sexes are at increased risk for suicide. Babies can even be affected in utero by domestic violence.

Another fact that should not be ignored is that men can be victims of domestic violence and sexual assault as well. It is less likely, but it is possible. According to the MNADV, about 5 percent of reported domestic assaults in the U.S. are perpetrated by women against men. The Dove Center has received hotline calls from men who are too afraid or too embarrassed to come forward for help. We do serve this population and would like to assist male victims in any way we can. We are also available to help male victims of sexual assault. This is an incredibly underreported crime, possibly leaving victims feeling even more helpless than in other situations.

Because victims and survivors in Garrett County do exist, and these crimes do happen, the Dove Center has established outreach offices in Grantsville, Kitzmiller, and in the Accident/Friendsville area. I am not the only counselor or staffing these offices, and we stay quite busy. In my part-time workweek, I usually see around 20 clients. That number does not include the people seen by other counselors at these sites or hotline calls we receive from the aforementioned areas. Further, our main office in Oakland continues to accommodate ever-increasing numbers of survivors and their families and friends. We offer shelter services — a safe place to stay for protection of self and children — individual and group counseling, a 24-hour hot-line (1-301-334-9000 or 1-800-656-HOPE), accompaniment to court proceedings, as well as advocacy and support services with other agencies. We also provide a speakers bureau should any civic group or organization be interested in learning more about the issues we face, the people we serve, or about our agency. The Dove Center also offers evening parenting classes. For additional information, the Dove Center can be contacted at 301-334-6255 or by fax at 301-245-4525.

If anyone has a need for services, questions, insights, or suggestions specifically regarding the Dove Center's Outreach program, please contact me at 301-334-6255 or 301-245-4600 or drop a letter in the mail to Kristiann Germain, c/o The Dove Center, 12978 Garrett Hwy., Suite 201, Oakland, MD 21550.

My experiences working for the Dove Center have taught me a great deal. I am still learning and still growing, and hope to continue to do so. Being a native Garrett Countian has given me such a wonderful heritage. In my position as outreach worker and as a local citizen, I hope that I and my colleagues at the Dove Center can help promote an increased understanding of the true ramifications of violence, and in so doing prevent such tragedies from happening to our families, friends, and neighbors. Remember, these things do happen in Garrett County. They are happening as you read this article.

Link Of Animal, Human Cruelty To Be Discussed

The evidence of a link between cruelty to animals and violence toward humans, including child abuse, spousal battery, and other types of criminal violence, has been documented and will be discussed at two upcoming workshops.

Ann Gearhart of the Snyder Foundation will be discussing this link through two presentations sponsored by the Garrett County Family Violence Coalition and the Garrett County Humane Society. The workshops, which are open to the public, are scheduled for Wednesday, April 25, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., and Thursday, April 26, from 9 to 10:30 a.m., at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland.

Many studies in psychology, sociology, and criminology during the past 25 years have demonstrated that violent offenders frequently have childhood and adolescent histories of serious and repeated animal cruelty.

Animal cruelty, like any other form of violence, is often committed by a person who feels powerless, unnoticed, and under the control of others. The motive may be to shock, threaten, intimidate, or offend others or to demonstrate rejection of society's rules.

A recent survey found that 71 percent of battered women seeking shelter in northern Utah, who shared their homes with pets, reported that their male partners had threatened to or had in fact harmed or killed their pets. Of the women with children, 32 percent reported that one of their children also had committed acts of animal cruelty.

Persons wanting further information about the workshops may call Peggy Nelson at 301-533-3033.

Enrollment Fairs Slated At Head Start Centers

The Head Start/Early Head Start program of Garrett County Community Action Inc. has set two upcoming enrollment fairs, one in Accident and the other in Oakland. The events are open to all persons interested in learning more about the different programs offered by Head Start/Early Head Start.

Both fairs will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., with the first set for this coming Tuesday, April 24, at the Accident Head Start Center, located at 203 South Street. The second fair is set for Tuesday, May 1, at GCCAC's Oakland offices at 104 E. Center Street. Persons interested in enrolling a child or children at one of the fairs are asked to bring a copy of a birth certificate and immunization records for each child, and proof of family income through pay stubs, tax returns, or other offical means.

The Head Start program is now accepting applications for the 2001-2002 school year, according to a GCCAC spokesperson. Parents who have eligible children ages 3 (by Dec. 31, 2001) to 5 are encouraged to contact the Head Start program immediately.

Head Start is a child development program which provides age appropriate learning readiness activities, which, along with nutritionally sound meals and snacks, are available in 10 classrooms in the county. Nine of the classrooms (located in Accident, Crellin, Dennett Road, Kitzmiller, Friendsville, Jennings, and Oakland) operate 150 days per year, while one of the classrooms located in the Jennings Center is open year-round. The classrooms are licensed and monitored by the Maryland Child Care Administration.

In addition to the center-based program, other program options are home-based, pre-school family support, and family child care. The latter option provides services to children and their families in a family child care setting. As a complement to the Head Start Program in the Oakland area, GCCAC offers Wrap-Around Child Care for ages 3 to 12. The Child Care Program, which is open five days per week from 6:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., also provides sound nutrition and age-appropriate activities.

Utilizing a holistic approach, Head Start provides support to families of all enrollees. Parents are included in policy making for the program, are welcome to volunteer in the classroom, and are offered numerous training opportunities. Families who are participating in Healthy Families Garrett County or receiving Purchase of Care are eligible regardless of income.

For more information on Head Start/Early Head Start enrollment requirements, or the enrollment fairs, interested persons may contact Barbara Unger at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 126.

Week Planned To "Turn Off TV"

The Salisbury Area Family Center has scheduled events for the week of April 23 through 29 to celebrate National Turn Off Your TV Week. Community Day will be held Saturday, April 28 with many events planned, including a puppet show, karate demonstration, story telling, and fire truck rides.

"The purpose of the TV Turnoff Week is to take an extended break from this medium which consumes so much of our free time," a spokesperson for the Salisbury Area Family Center said. "In a study of households where there was little or no TV watching, parents spent 385 minutes per week chatting with their children — 10 times the national average. Children in non-TV homes were more active — 80 percent were involved in sports, music, and extra-curricular activities. Too much TV watching a day is simply unhealthy for our children, families, and communities."

Persons wanting detailed information of the events may contact the family center at 1-814-662-2721.

PEOPLE WHO ARE VIOLENT TO ANIMALS RARELY STOP THERE

Studies show that people who abuse their pets are likely to abuse their kids. So if you see an animal mistreated or neglected, please report it. Because the parent who comes home and kicks the dog is probably just warming up.

were Dave and Nancy Beachy of McHenry, who were still recovering from a trip to Clarkton, Michigan, to welcome a new granddaughter Teagan, born to Brent and wife Kelly on April 9. Her big brother Wyatt, 3 years old, was just delighted with the new arrival.

Last weekend was also a very busy time around Beach Corner, which is the wedge of land at the junction of Beachy Road and Rock Lodge Road, where the Poholsky household hosted Sally's big sister Mary Ellen and her husband Steve of Berwyn Heights.

The oldest daughter of Ferne, Phyllis Mazer, and family of Glenelg also visited and were up to attend the funeral of Blair Buckel.

While Lea was on her Easter break she visited June and Bill Green and Paul and Ruby Orendorf in LaVale. She also visited Rita Burton at the Frostburg Village Nursing Home.

But let's get back to Pastor Pat and Keith, who both felt like a truck had run over them when Easter was over. I can identify with that totally since our Easter Sunday morning blast was not as much fun as it used to be when our family was in one piece. Then it was just get everyone dressed up as much as possible as fast as possible to get to the church in time to find a decent parking place. Then it was always a stressful, big family dinner. After a stressful Easter weekend, I was done for. Holidays — why do they sometimes take such a high toll on everyone? And now we return to winter, but Easter is not Easter in Bittinger without a snowstorm.

Bonnie, Jay, Tracy and Tony McElroy, Mt. Airy, visited her parents, Ken and Harriett Buckel, on Saturday.

Sheli Gray and daughters Ashlin and Abigail, Hanover, visited relatives in the area last week before joining her husband Jeffrey to spend the Easter weekend with his folks in Jonestown, Pa.

Joining Ida Reckner for Easter Sunday dinner at her home were Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa., Karmen Carey, Frostburg, and Jim and Donna Glotfelty.

RECENT RESCUE SQUAD MEETING

The Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad held its regular meeting for squad members on Tuesday, April 10, at Grantsville. Concerned citizens of Friendsville were also allowed to sit in on the closed meeting, but only members of the squad were permitted to speak.

Discussion was brought forth to the board of directors concerning the February meeting of the Friendsville Mayor and Town Council, which was attended by over 200 concerned citizens voicing their concern about the proposed removal of the squad station in Friendsville. Although little discussion was made about the proposed closing of stations 2 and 3, the purchase of the property at McHenry by the board members for the purpose of a combined station was discussed extensively.

Many concerns were voiced by Terry Spear, member of Station 3 in Friendsville, who believes that squad members are being deprived of pertinent information and that decisions have been made without approval of the squad.

It was revealed through Spear's questioning that discussion regarding a new squad hall in McHenry at the February Board meeting was held in executive session, with the minutes omitted from the regular board minutes that were made available for the members to read. No specific reason was given to the squad why members weren't privileged to that information and no minutes of the executive session were available at the April squad meeting.

A second executive Session was held at the March board meeting to discuss the new location, and the minutes of that executive session were again omitted from the regular board minutes for squad members to read. When questioned on this, there was again no specific reason given.

In review of past meetings, during the February regular meeting of the squad members, the topic was brought forth concerning the project of purchasing land, building a new complex which would house 3 or 4 ambulances, and would have squad quarters with overnight accommodations, a training center, a kitchen, and social hall for squad use and public rental. A motion was brought forth by the board of directors for the squad's support to continue with this project both physically and financially. After a lengthy discussion, the motion passed at that meeting, by a vote of 24 to 7, with four members declining to vote.

On March 8, a contract was drawn up by the owner of the property in the McHenry area, and the owner received a down payment of $10, 000 from the board of directors, which bought the McHenry property for $440,000 with the understanding that the seller would do the renovations needed for that price. Terry Spear again pointed out that the property was last appraised at a total value of land and building for $222,500. The board members admitted that they were aware of the appraisal and also that no research was conducted about this property by a member of the board. A signed contract has never been made available for the members to read.

Burton Lytle, another member of the Friendsville squad, asked the board if any other property was considered, because he felt that this property is not suitable for what the squad wants. The board's reply was that Ringer's Garage was priced too high and that Lake View Exxon was on only one acre of ground, and more ground was needed. Lytle then asked what kind of business the squad was in and why a social hall was needed to hold 300 people. The reply was that they are "in the business of helping people." When asked why a down payment was made on the property without first getting an appraisal, the answer from the board was "because it was a good deal." Lytle also voiced his concern that the building that will be used as squad quarters was built on plywood instead of concrete and is worried about how well this will hold up in years to come.

Spear continually emphasized that in his opinion, the Board of Directors did not act on what they were authorized to do, that they were authorized by the squad members at the February meeting to purchase property and build a new facility, and the purchase of the property at McHenry that already houses two buildings is not what was approved by squad members. He also said that this information should have been brought before the squad members at a special meeting and that squad members should have given approval to continue with the purchase of the McHenry property. The board members defended themselves by saying that they purchased the land with an existing complex, and the bay for the ambulances will be built. They also continued to speak of their intent to complete the project as authorized when expected grant money is received, providing the money that is needed to be able to build the bay for the ambulances.

Other questions that were brought to the board by Terry Spear included whether the major factor in the board moving so quickly with this project was the fear of Tri-Towns establishing a station in the McHenry area. The board's reply was no.

He also questioned how many members were asked and agreed to providing duty in the McHenry station. Some members have been asked, some have confirmed.

Spear also requested a copy of the delayed and no-response reports of Station 3, because the report previously given seemed to be misleading, and, given the fact that this seems to be a major reason in the proposed closing of Stations 2 and 3, he believes that better information could be helpful in any decisions.

It was also confirmed at the April 10 meeting that Accident has not asked the rescue squad to pull out of the fire hall, as was stated at the March meeting, even though the Accident Fire Dept. recently purchased a new engine and the ambulance is being moved from bay to bay.

Alledging that there is information that has been withheld from members of the squad, (such as the executive session minutes), and that the board has not proceeded with what the squad authorized them to do, a motion was made by Terry Spear that the entire project be put on hold until the appraisal is complete, and squad members have access to all information regarding the sale, and the board receives squad approval to re-pursue the project at a regular squad meeting. After more discussion the motion was passed with a role call vote of 21-19. This motion does not mean that the project is dead, but it does mean that any further pursuit of the McHenry property will be put on hold.

Renovations were already started in the buildings that are on the McHenry property prior to the April 10 meeting. As of Monday, April 16, workers were still seen doing work on the McHenry property, even after the motion by squad members was passed to put the project on hold.

The next scheduled meeting of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will be held Thursday, May 10, at Accident. All interested persons are urged to attend, even though opinions by non-squad members will not be allowed to be expressed.

LOCAL BROTHERS HONORED AT TOWSON - Joshua and Jeremy Robinson, sons of Bill and Rita Robinson, Friendsville, could easily be labeled the two most outstanding students among Towson University's enrollment of over 15,000, as the brothers captured numerous awards at the university's honors convocation, held Sunday. Four of the five departmental awards given were received by the Robinsons: Outstanding Senior (Joshua); Outstanding Junior (Jeremy); Sigma Xi Research Award (Joshua); and the Barry Goldwater Scholarship Award, honorable mention (Jeremy). College of Science and Mathematics awards received were: Undergraduate Research Grant (Joshua) and Undergraduate Research Committee Travel Award (Josh and Jeremy). A total of three university-wide awards were presented during the ceremony, all three of which went to the Robinson siblings. Jeremy received the Hoke L. Smith Award, for being named the Outstanding University Junior, and the Jess Fisher College of Science and Mathematics Scholarship, while Joshua received the Jess Fisher Pre-Engineering Scholarship. They were recognized for being officers in the Society of Physics Students (Joshua, president, and Jeremy, secretary/treasurer). Joshua was also chosen to address the convocation as student speaker, representing the Department of Physics, Astronomy, and Geosciences. Pictured from left above are: Dr. Gerald Intemann, dean of the College of Science and Mathematics; Jeremy and Joshua; and Dr. David Schaefer, advisor and mentor for the Robinson brothers. The Robinsons are both honor graduates of Northern High School.

A VEHICLE FIRE led to the near total destruction of a house near Grantsville Tuesday evening, as flames from the burning vehicle, parked under a carport, spread to the one-story wood-frame structure. Firefighters from several area departments responded to the 6 p.m. alarm, but the flames spread rapidly through the home of Keith and Barbara DeWitt because of high winds at the time. The house also served as the site of the Wee Care Day Care center, operated by Mrs. DeWitt. The DeWitts and their 11-year-old daughter escaped the burning house uninjured; however, two volunteer firefighters were transported to area hospitals for treatment of smoke inhalation and exhaustion. Lake Tour Boat Proposal Fails To Garner Approval

The long-standing proposal to expand the permissible size of boats on Deep Creek Lake appears to have been rejected after members of the DCL Policy and Review Board were unable to reach a compromise solution during a meeting last Friday. Approximately 50 interested citizens were on hand for the gathering at the DCL State Park Discovery Center.

The maximum allowable boat length will remain at 30 feet; therefore, a 62-foot boat purchased last year with tentative approval from the previous board will not be operating on the lake this summer. The boat is owned by local marina operator Bob Browning, who had intended to expand his existing tour boat operation.

The proposal had drawn the expressed support of the Garrett County commissioners and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, as well as Policy and Review Board member Grieg Johnson, proprietor of several businesses located along the lake, including Uno Restaurant.

Several other PRB board members and DCL Advisory Board members expressed serious reservations about the proposal, and Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association representative Fred Thayer said that the majority of his fellow association members opposed the proposal, as did Jim Kline of the Bass Federation.

A motion to put the issue on hold until finalization of the ongoing DCL Recreation and Land Use Plan failed to pass.

The Policy and Review Board has slated a pair of meetings for coming weeks to finalize the Recreation and Land Use Plan. The first will get under way at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 1, at the DCL Discovery Center, and the second will take place beginning at 6 p.m., Monday, May 14, also at the Discovery Center. Both meetings, which are open to the public, will focus on land use, commercial use of the lake and buffer strip, and resource management issues.

Board meetings are open to the public, and citizens can provide input. For further information on the board and its meetings, interested persons may contact DCL Recreation Area manager Paul Durham at 301-387-7067.

Grantsville Area House Gutted By Fire Tuesday

A fire that originated in a pickup truck parked in a carport quickly spread into the attached single-story frame house near Grantsville on Tuesday, resulting in the destruction of the structure and most of its contents. Two volunteer firefighters, one from Grantsville and one from Salisbury, Pa., were transported to area hospitals for treatment.

Firefighters from Grantsville, Bittinger, Accident, and Salisbury were summoned to the residence of Keith and Barbara DeWitt, located at 2234 Hare Hollow Road, at 6 p.m. According to Raymond Yoder, assistant chief of the Grantsville VFD, the initial alarm was a vehicle fire in a carport. However, before the arrival of the first unit, the dispatcher at the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management reported that the flames had begun to spread to the house.

"When the first crews arrived, the flames were already well into the house," Yoder said.

Salisbury firefighter Jason Blocher was transported by the Northern Rescue Squad to the Meyersdale Medical Center, and Scott Durst of Grantsville was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland. Both were treated and released for smoke inhalation and exhaustion.

DeWitt told fire officials that he and his wife were sitting in the kitchen of their house when he noticed smoke outside in the area of the carport. He first assumed that the smoke was coming from elsewhere, but then realized it was coming from his pickup truck. He went to investigate, and when he opened the door of the truck, the interior of the cab burst into flames.

"The wind was blowing the flames from the vehicle directly into the house," Yoder said. "We made an interior attack and tried to push the flames back out, but it spread so quickly."

Most of the possessions of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt and their 11-year-old daughter Amber were destroyed, with the exception of some clothing. The fire gutted most of the structure, and there was heat, smoke, and water damage in the area that was not

Chamber Of Commerce Proposes Recreational Trails Development

A hiking/biking trail from Deep Creek Lake State Park to Grantsville is a viable prospect, according to a just-released Garrett County Chamber of Commerce study. Also proposed are several other trails, including Oakland to Friendsville, Deep Creek Lake through the Wisp and into Herrington Manor State Park, and a connection to the Allegheny Highlands Trail System.

Economic benefits and more outdoor activities for Garrett County residents could result from the development of a countywide recreational trail system, according to Ken Wishnick, chamber president. These are among the findings reported in the plan, which was submitted to the Garrett County commissioners, following its approval by the chamber board.

Developed by a chamber task force chaired by Steve Green of High Mountain Sports, the trail study examines impact and benefits, funding sources, project priorities, and a marketing strategy.

The inter-linking pathways being considered would have hard-packed surfaces for biking, hiking, birding, and jogging, and would serve a wide variety of interest and age groups. "Each day I see people jogging, pushing strollers, or biking along busy roadways. Visitors and residents enjoy these activities and we have an obligation to make these desirable pastimes more accessible and much safer," Green said.

In addition to recreational use, a trail system throughout the county could make historic sites, scenic views, and nature activities easier to enjoy, Green explained. "This would blend well with ecotourism and heritage tourism initiatives," he said.

Economic impact reports on other trail systems were taken into account during the group's study. The Allegheny Trail Alliance in nearby Somerset County, Pa., recorded more than 540,000 visits by trail users, with the average user staying 3.2 days and spending $69 per day per person, the task force reported. "If we expect usage of even 50,000 visits and estimate a comparable dollar spent, we are looking at an annual Garrett County impact of $22

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland And Grantsville

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make two visits to Garrett County over the next two weeks, with the first scheduled for Friday, May 4, at the American Legion hall in Oakland, and the second set for Monday, May 7, at the Grantsville fire hall. Donors will be welcomed at the Oakland visit from noon to 6 p.m., and at the Grantsville visit from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

According to a spokesperson for the Red Cross, blood donors of all blood types are needed to replenish low blood supplies in the region. Particularly in demand are blood types O positive and O negative, which stand at just over 50% of desired inventory levels.

The spokesperson explained that type O negative is the universal blood type, and type O positive can be transfused to approximately 85% of the population. "Area hospitals, particularly trauma centers, can't function without type O blood, especially type O negative," he said. "We currently have less than a two-day supply of type O blood, when we should have at least a three-day supply."

Each year, only about 5% of Americans donate blood, while several times that percentage are eligible to give blood, according to Bill Crawford, executive director of the Western Potomac Chapter of the ARC.

In order to be eligible to donate blood, an individual must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Persons are permitted to donate every 56 days.

Friendsville Man Charged After Hunting Incident

Saturday's opening day of turkey season was marred by several alleged hunting violations that resulted in citations being issued by officers with the Natural Resources Police, according to spokespersons for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. One of the incidents involved a Friendsville man who allegedly struck an NRP officer as he was trying to avoid apprehension.

Jason Clarence Sisler, 26, was hunting in the area of the White Rock/Cross Cut Road intersection at approximately 7 a.m. Saturday when an NRP officer reportedly observed him using bait, a citable offense. The press release stated that Sisler attempted to flee on an ATV after being confronted, and he dragged the officer approximately three feet before stopping.

Sisler was cited for hunting turkey over bait, reckless endangerment, negligent driving, failure to stop at a stop sign, and failure to obey a lawful order.

The NRP's police blotter of Saturday's other alleged offenses rounds out as follows:

Jerry Lee Wilt, 56, Mtn. Lake Park, was issued a citation for hunting turkey over bait near Painter School Rd. at 6:42 a.m.

Michael William McCarty, 46, of Friendsville was cited for hunting turkey over bait in the area of McCarty Interstate Hardwoods at approximately 7 a.m.

Food For The Needy Coming To Loch Lynn

Feed the Children, a national food distribution organization, will soon establish a warehouse in Loch Lynn and begin the disbursement of food to those who are in need. Love's Way Christian Center in Cumberland was approved by the Feed the Children organization some time ago to help feed hungry children, and last year distributed more than 250,000 pounds of food to families in the Cumberland area.

Using Cumberland's success as a model, Love's Way Christian Center, led by pastors Pat and Libby Malone, hopes to duplicate the process in Garrett County. Families within a 25-mile radius will receive food free of charge, distributed by any local agency or church that wishes to participate.

The Malones, accompanied by Bill and Vicki Taylor, met with the commissioners Tuesday to announce the new relief service. The Taylors, local residents, will coordinate the staffing of the warehouse, which will be strictly volunteer.

The food will be trucked in from Tennessee and New Jersey to Loch Lynn, where it will be stored in the former Kelly's Furniture building. The trucking service is being donated by Larry Wagner's Trucking Company, and the use of the facility to store the food is being donated by Chuck Fultz of Delano's Carpet.

Human service agencies, churches, or other entities may take part by getting food at the warehouse and distributing it to families in need. The Malones said agencies such as the Department of Social Services or the county health department would be aware of many needy families and would be good partners in Feed the Children. Churches are also invited to take part to help families of their own congregations or others they may know in need.

"Sometimes people feel bad about taking the gift because they are embarrassed or feel it hurts their dignity, but that can be helped a lot when friends can deliver it to them," said Mrs. Malone. The Taylors and Malones are in the process of sending letters to all area churches and human service agencies to inform them about the program.

The food will be distributed to agencies once a week by appointment only. The distribution day will be Thursdays from 11 a.m.

NATIONAL SILVER MEDALIST — Jessie Railey, along with the entire Garrett County sportaerobic team, represented the mountaintop with excellence last weekend at the National Sportaerobic Championships, held in Miami, Fla. With what coaches said was an incredible routine (just a moment of which is pictured above — can you do that?), Jessie came away with the silver medal in the varsity individual category. Other medals won by the 20 local athletes included four golds and another silver. See story. Now the team will prepare for the Sportaerobic World Championships, slated for July in San Francisco, Calif. Highlights of the competitors' routines at the national event can be seen on ESPN on Sunday, May 27, at 2 p.m. Jessie is the daughter of Jimmy and Nancy Railey, McHenry.

DAMAGE WAS EXTENSIVE at this house near Grantsville, as fire gutted much of the single-story structure that also serves as a day care center. The blaze began in a vehicle parked under an attached carport and quickly spread into the house. Two firefighters were transported to area hospitals for treatment of exhaustion and smoke inhalation. See story on front page for details.

Oakland Man Sentenced For Near-Fatal Vehicle Accident

An Oakland man who had pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated (DWI) and several related traffic offenses in connection with a Sept. 30 head-on collision along Rock Lodge Road appeared in Garrett County District Court last week for a sentencing hearing before Judge Ralph M. Burnett. Authorities said that without the quick aid of citizens who came upon the accident shortly after it occurred, at least one person might have died on the scene that night.

Scott Allen Beitzel, 21, was handed a 60-day sentence, half of which was suspended, fined a total of $800, and placed on one year of supervised probation as a result of his Feb. 7 district court hearing. In addition to the DWI accusation, Garrett County sheriff's deputies had filed additional charges of reckless driving, failure to drive right of the center line, and violating a license restriction, each of which also drew guilty pleas. An alcohol restriction was placed on his driver's license, and he was ordered to undergo counseling for alcohol abuse.

Beitzel was traveling southbound along Rock Lodge Rd. at 11:44 p.m. the night of the mishap, when his 1999 Mercury Cougar failed to negotiate a turn one mile north of Mosser Road and slammed into an oncoming 1997 Chevrolet pickup truck operated by 39-year-old Bittinger resident Donald Duane Beitzel.

While a juvenile passenger in the pickup truck was able to exit the vehicle on her own immediately after the crash, both Don and Scott Beitzel (no relation) were trapped in their respective vehicles. Passerby Bill and Nancy Graham of McHenry and Alex Hicks of Friendsville came upon the accident scene within moments and freed the trapped Don Beitzel from his burning truck, assisted the injured juvenile, and were in the process of attempting to free the trapped Scott Beitzel when emergency personnel arrived.

All three subjects were transported to area hospitals by the Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads; the juvenile was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and released, and Scott Beitzel was hospitalized for several days at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

Don Beitzel, the most seriously injured accident victim, was initially transported to Garrett Memorial and then flown on to Ruby Memorial Hospital Center in Morgantown, W.Va., where he underwent several surgeries and had a lengthy hospital stay, followed by a long recovery that included additional surgery. He continues to recover at his Bittinger area residence.

Leads Sought In Oakland Vehicle Theft Tuesday

The Oakland City Police Department is seeking leads in a reported car theft that occurred Tuesday afternoon in downtown Oakland. The green 1996 Chevrolet Cavalier two-door, bearing Maryland license plates ZCX-486, was initially parked along North Second Street in front of the Ruth Enlow Library shortly after 4 p.m. When the owner returned to that location at approximately 4:40 p.m., she discovered it was missing. She informed police that the keys had been left in the ignition.

Persons with information about this incident are asked to contact the Oakland police at 301-334-2100 or the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911. A reward is being offered for assistance in the vehicle's recovery.

Pysell Rd. Scene Of Felony Theft From Parked Car

A Sunday night-Monday morning theft of over $500 worth of property from a car parked in the McHenry area is under investigation by the Maryland State Police, who are asking for the public's assistance in locating a possible suspect for questioning.

The incident, which took place in the 200 block of Pysell Road, occurred sometime between 8 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. the following morning. A Sony portable CD player, 25 CDs, and a black leather purse containing approximately $80 were stolen from a Honda Civic parked overnight at that location.

State police request that citizens who have information regarding a white male who was noted operating a white Chevrolet Geo Tracker at approximately 12:30 a.m. Monday in the immediate vicinity of the theft contact the McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Oakland Resident Arrested For 2nd Degree Assault

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy and an Oakland City Police officer responded to a residence along Shady Hill Lane in reference to an assault around 1 a.m. on Saturday.

George Patrick O'Brien, 52, was arrested for second degree assault, after an investigation revealed that he allegedly grabbed and choked a resident of that location.

According to the sheriff's deputy, O'Brien was intoxicated at the time of the incident.

He was released from the Garrett County Jail on $500 bond.

An Oakland man was arrested by sheriff's deputies for numerous charges resulting from a motor vehicle accident involving a pickup truck and a farm tractor Monday evening.

TRUCK CAB DESTROYED BY FIRE, DRIVER HURT — A man from Sellersburg, Ind., was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital yesterday following a fire in his tractor trailer. Russell W. Blakeman, 21, was operating this Freightliner truck westbound on Interstate 68 west of Amish Road when he reportedly smelled what he thought was burning rubber. He pulled to the shoulder of the road and found that his sleeper berth was on fire. According to a report from the Maryland State Police, Blakeman was attempting to extinguish the blaze when he was overcome by smoke. Cpl. Archie Powers came upon the scene and alerted the Grantsville Fire Department and Northern Garrett Rescue Squad. Blakeman was transported to GCMH by the squad, where he was treated and released. The tractor was deemed a total loss, according to the report. The incident occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Grantsville fire fighter Bill Kelly is pictured controlling traffic as Brian Palmer and Scott Durst douse the flames. Photo by Jeremy Carr

Aurthur Allen Pysell, 19, Oakland, was operating a M1900 Ford farm tractor along Sand Flat Road south of Pysell Crosscut and was preparing to turn left onto a private drive.

James Robert Elsey, 29, was southbound on Sand Flat Road and failed to observe the left turn signal of Pysell and attempted to pass him, according to police. Elsey struck the rear of the tractor causing it to spin completely around and overturn.

Pysell was thrown approximately 20 feet onto the pavement. According to deputies, Elsey left the scene without stopping.

Elsey was charged by sheriff's deputies for driving under the influence, leaving the scene of a personal injury accident, failing to stop and render assistance in an accident, violating a license restriction, failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision, and negligent driving.

Elsey was released from jail on a $2,500 unsecured bond.

Pysell was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released.

The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

In another incident, sheriff's deputies arrested a man after a traffic stop was made along Hutton Road early Wednesday morning.

Michael Ernest Maciolek Jr., 25, Oakland, was stopped for a speeding violation and was charged with driving on a suspended out of state license.

He is currently incarcerated in the jail on a $100 bond.

DWI

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) arrests were made this week by sheriff's deputies. Charged were: Lucian Cristian Tion, 25, Oakland; Jose Diego Bahenmastache, 28, Fredricksburg, Va.; and Rick Harold Minnick, 39, Deer Park.

Three Escapees From Backbone Being Sought

The Maryland State Police are currently searching for three young men who escaped from the Backbone Mountain Youth Camp last night at about 11:15 p.m.

The alleged escapees are three 16-year-old black males, all dressed in dark blue sweat-suits. They were last seen on foot in the vicinity of the camp.

Persons with any information about the three boys are urged to contact the police at 301-387-1101.

Inmate Handed More Time After Jail Offenses

The jail stay of a Garrett County Detention Center inmate was doubled recently when he was convicted of a pair of offenses that took place inside the Oakland facility.

Jason Matthew Leichliter, 21, Uniontown, Pa., pleaded guilty in a Garrett County District Court hearing last week to misdemeanor theft and second degree assault, both of which were filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in February. Already serving an 18-month sentence for a previous motor vehicle theft conviction, Leichliter was handed an additional 18 months for the latest charges by Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

The theft charge stemmed from a Feb. 1 incident during which Leichliter was filmed on jail surveillance cameras removing a handcuff key from the belt of an corrections officer who was attending to a sick inmate. The handcuff key was later recovered. The assault charge was filed a short time later that same month, after he struck another inmate without apparent provocation. The assault was witnessed by two COs and was also captured on videotape.

In other district court news, two persons involved in a currency forgery ring broken up by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation in early October entered guilty pleas before visiting judge Paul Stakem.

Timothy David Hare, 30, pleaded guilty to uttering forged currency and received a 14-month sentence (12 months of which were suspended), a $55 fine, and 18 months' supervised probation. Carrie Lynn Cosner, 23, Oakland, pleaded guilty to two counts of uttering forged currency and was handed an 18-month sentence (all but two days of which were suspended), a $55 fine, two years of supervised probation, and an order to complete 150 hours of community service.

Cosner was the first of the pair to be arrested by GBI detectives after she passed several counterfeit bills at several area businesses. Her apprehension led to a search of World Wide Wireless (a Dry Dock Plaza business owned and operated by Hare and Leslie Allen Bittinger, 35, Oakland), which uncovered a quantity of shredded counterfeit currency and equipment believed to have been used to manufacture the "bills."

Bittinger was also handed jail time by Judge Stakem recently on a pair of unrelated convictions. He pleaded guilty to non-support of a minor child and misdemeanor theft and received a 19-month sentence (all but two months of which was suspended), a $110 fine, and two years of supervised probation.

Bittinger's non-support charge was filed by the Garrett County state's attorney's office, and led to an August arrest by sheriff's deputies. His theft arrest stemmed from his actions in writing a check on a closed bank account to pay for a shipment of software. Sheriff's deputies made that arrest as well.

Bittinger and Hare were both exonerated of second degree assault charges each faced.

Terrence Edward Morgan Jr., 24, Frostburg, was not prosecuted on charges of two counts each of second degree assault and one count each of misdemeanor theft, disorderly conduct, and trespassing on private property. His August arrest by sheriff's deputies came after he reportedly threatened two subjects with baseball bats and took one of the alleged victims' bicycles.

Gerald Douglas Frazee Jr., 34, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on a fugitive from justice charge when he waived an extradition hearing and submitted himself for transport to Pennsylvania. Sheriff's deputies arrested Frazee in February in Friendsville on the strength of a Pennsylvania warrant charging him with a parole violation.

DWI Hearings

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) cases were heard in district court by Judge Burnett recently.

Andrew Anthony Stumbo, 37, W.Va., was sentenced after a DWI conviction, and was handed a 90-day term (all but seven days of which were suspended), fined $655, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

Krsna Das Twigg, 20, Pa., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 60-day sentence (all but seven days of which were suspended), fined $300, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

John Bonham Hayhurst Sr., 39, Pa., pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $355, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

John Christopher Eagan, 20, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), fined $405, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Richard Michael Harvey II, 24, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a $355 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and an order to complete 40 hours of community service.

Jeffrey Lee Flanagan, 40, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a PBJ, a $355 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and an order to complete 40 hours of community service.

George Ronald White, 57, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, a $355 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, and one year of supervised probation.

Donald Ray Wood, 41, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day suspended sentence, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service.

Kenneth Thomas Wiley, 54, Md., pleaded guilty to violation of probation, and sanctions were withheld.

Schoolbus Violations

Julie Ann Glotfelty, 40, and Leigh Ann Boatman, 37, both of Md., were each convicted of failing to stop for a stopped schoolbus operating alternately flashing red lights. Each subject was fined $80 and ordered to complete 10 hours of community service.

"COURAGE, HUMILITY, AND MORALITY, A Leadership Triangle," was the theme of the keynote address at the 13th annual National Executive Fire Officers Graduate Symposium, held last weekend at the National Emergency Training Center in Emmitsburg, and a special guest for that presentation was Lou Stouffer of Terra Alta, W.Va., better known in Preston and Garrett counties as "the real" Santa Claus. Stouffer was invited to the symposium by Charles Burkell, training specialist at the center and director of the Executive Fire Officer program, because of Stouffer's World War II record and his 26 years of volunteer service in providing gifts to thousands of area children. Stouffer was a member of the 101st Airborne Division's special forces unit during World War II, was captured by the Japanese and spent 37 months in a prisoner-of-war camp. After literally years of interrogation and torture, and battling numerous life-threatening injuries, Stouffer was finally liberated by the U.S. Marines near the end of the war. He weighed 68 pounds when he was liberated, and then spent over a year in a military hospital. He began a career as a truck driver and started to provide gifts for inner-city, impoverished children that he met during his deliveries. That ministry was expanded over the years, and this past holiday season, Stouffer provided gifts to over 800 families in need, traveling thousands of miles in the process. He collects, repairs, and cleans gifts throughout the year, and spends his own money, plus donations, on gasoline and vehicle repairs. In appreciation for his participation in the symposium, he was presented a financial honorarium and a plaque. Pictured from left above are: Stouffer; Dr. Dennis O'Neal, superintendent of the National Emergency Training Center; and Burkell. It was learned just yesterday that the approximately 200 fire chiefs and other fire service personnel in attendance, from all over the United States and several foreign countries, conducted a voluntary collection of money, resulting in over $800 for Stouffer's annual project.

Much To Be Proud Of...

There are certain topics/issues that are the focus of this column repeatedly, but sometimes it is necessary to revisit and rehash those issues, even at the risk of being a bit redundant. Sometimes they are of a critical, negative vein, but other times they are upbeat and positive, the latter of which we present this week.

This seems to be a particularly special issue of The Republican, simply because of the numerous examples of outstanding human achievement that are included in our news columns today, especially by some of our youngest residents. One need only glance at the front page, for example, to see illustrations of amazing accomplishment.

There are not one, but two, examples of national and world achievement in athletics, one by Jakob Scheffel and one by Jessie Railey. Our sports pages include additional coverage of similar attainment by several of our young people from both the southern and northern areas of the county. In yet another example of athletic prowess, we have Jennifer Bosley, who is amassing an absolutely astounding record as a pitcher in softball. (Might the Olympics be in her future?) Next week we will have coverage of some Northern High School wrestlers who also fared well in national competition.

The front page also has photo coverage of the outstanding academic efforts of two more Garrett County young people, the Robinson brothers, who have literally taken Towson University by storm, garnering the vast majority of academic honors that are bestowed by that institution. They are but two of over 15,000 students on that campus, from all over the nation and beyond. Most of the aforementioned youth are also honor students.

Then, as with nearly every issue of this publication, there are photos and stories of children doing things to help other people, an activity and a way of life that is every bit (or more) important than excelling in athletics and academics.

Further, we have fine examples of adults, such as 78-year-old Lou Stouffer of nearby Terra Alta (see page 3), who are going way, way beyond the call of duty to make life better for others, and at the same time setting a wonderful example for younger citizens (and us older folk) to follow. His accomplishments were presented to an international audience last Friday.

All of this simply reinforces the accuracy of the oft-repeated description of Garrett County — that it's a great place to live. And its greatness far exceeds the natural beauty of the land, as it lies more so in the quality and character of our people. We have our share of problems, and some "problem" people, but we on this rural mountaintop also have so much to be proud of.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We will mark the 50th anniversary of the National Day of Prayer May 3, 2001, at noon in the Garrett County Courthouse Rotunda. When President Harry Truman signed the congressional resolution establishing an annual day of prayer in our nation, he encouraged citizens to "beseech God to grant us wisdom to know the course which we should follow, and strength and patience to pursue that course steadfastly." The prayer event is a great opportunity for Americans to unite in recognition of our incredible need for God. This year's theme, "One Nation Under God," acknowledges afresh the sovereignty of Almighty God and our need to ask for His guidance, corporately and individually. The theme is One Nation Under God taken from Psalm 33:12 which declares, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."

This year's National Day of Prayer falls on Thursday, May 3. The event is sponsored by the Mt. Top Ministerial Association. The public is encouraged to attend the Garrett County observance as we publicly declare our trust in our Creator's sovereignty over the affairs of men and to seek His wisdom and guidance for the challenges we face in our homes, communities, and nation. In addition, a prayer event is planned at the Friendsville Elementary School flag pole at noon on May 3.

To the Editor:

April 22-28 is National Volunteer Week. It is a week that has been set aside each year since 1974 to recognize and appreciate the efforts of the thousands of men and women in this country who volunteer their time and energies to help others. We are informed that nationwide, more than 150,000 volunteers provide over 16 million hours of service annually to Americans with terminal illness and to their families (from Hospice sources).

About 17 years ago I became a volunteer caregiver with Hospice of Garrett County. I had a desire to contribute in a meaningful manner to the care and well-being of others. To be eligible to serve in hospice required a number of hours in training. Hospice care volunteers become an integral part of a care-giving team of doctors, nurses, social workers, and chaplains.

For those of you who don't know, hospice is considered to be the model for quality, compassionate care at the end of life. It involves a team-oriented approach of expert medical care, pain management, and emotional and spiritual support expressly tailored to the patient's wishes. Emotional and spiritual support also is extended to the family and loved ones. Generally, this care is provided in the patient's home or in a home-like setting operated by a hospice program. The hospice care team addresses all of the symptoms of illness, with the aim of promoting comfort and dignity.

Hospice volunteers make this special way of caring possible. Simply put, we are there to take care of whatever needs to be done. We are there to hold a hand and listen, or to take the patient to his or her favorite place in the park, or to read to him or her. We are there to run an errand, walk a dog, or pick up a prescription. We are there to step in when a family member needs a break from caring for a loved one. And we are there for the family and friends after their loved one has passed away.

I have worked side by side with members of this community who devote their time and hearts to the work of the hospice team. People may wonder "Isn't it depressing?" I would respond rather enthusiastically that to be a part of providing love, understanding, and compassionate care in such a time of need is not only challenging, but very rewarding as well.

To the Editor:

I would like to address the issue of Senator Hafer being flown via police helicopter back to Garrett County upon learning his home was burning. Actually, I would like to address more so the comments made by his assistant in a previous letter.

She stated, "I then asked the State Police for assistance because Senator Hafer had just learned that his home was engulfed in flames. He was visibly shaken and should not have been driving 180 miles back home during rush-hour traffic, after having made the 180-mile trip to Annapolis just a few hours earlier in the day."

She also stated she was taking responsibility for requesting his assistance. Is she also going to take responsibility for asking for police assistance to the thousands of others across Maryland who experience tragedy each day and who, upon being "visibly shaken," would also like a police helicopter escort to their destination? Or is this a privilege only for senators?

She stated, "This decision has been unanimously supported by the members of the Senate," and of course it would be....they may also need to borrow a police helicopter in the future for personal use.

I would like to say that I find it "very disturbing and a very sad scenario" that not everyone is able to use such services after they "have suffered a tremendous loss" like Senator Hafer. Perhaps Senator Hafer will think more of this come election time when he has to answer to why my tax dollars, along with every other Marylander's, are being used to chauffeur people like him around on personal use. Is this where our tax surplus goes?

Also, now that I live in Frederick County, I would like to see if Mary Beth Pirolozzi could find it in her heart to have a helicopter, not a police cruiser or personal car which Senator Hafer could have also used if he was so shaken he could not have driven himself, on hand for me to fly back to Garrett County the next time I have a family tragedy and need to be there quickly. As his direct administrator, why couldn't Mary Beth drive him back to Garrett County instead of tying up a helicopter that could have been used at a scene of an accident for life-saving purposes at the time it was being used as a taxi?

Boo hoo...Senator Hafer's unoccupied house just burned down....now he can join the many other people that happens to across the state each day who don't get such royal treatment.

To the Editor:

I have just seen the return of our 24 heroes: Americans, of whom I am very proud! They have been so courageous and marvelous, I thank God for their safe return home.

I enjoyed "Vinyl Musings" from "Out on a Tangent" by Mary Sincell McEwen. I also enjoy her type music.

I also love "View from My Window" by Jeffrey Wilson, and he has much to say in this particular article.

I am glad the Northern Rescue Squad is going "to think" at least a while concerning the very serious and important subject of our 911 emergency rescue squad services. I personally can't conceive any realistic, logical, reasoning if we in Friendsville are left without our emergency service. The letter to us in your paper now from Renelda Anne Thomas (12 April), all we Friendsville people should read on this issue. We'll hope good sensible logic prevails in the final decision.

I took serious notice of Ricky McKenzie's letter also. He doesn't say how old he is or what part of Garrett County he lives in. I have a deep interest in children and all people. All ages of human beings have been an integral part of my life for 75+ years. I have never known a boring hour in all of my life and I don't expect to; so naturally his writing at the ending of his last sentence concerning teens becoming possibly boring, or worse, like the "old people" around here. What an attitude about old people! I am an old person at 89+ years, but no one that I am aware has ever called me "boring." A few people have called me uncomplimentary names, but never boring. Something is definitely missing in Ricky's life! I feel for him. He needs to know some people share his frustration for what is not done for our teenagers, and many of us have tried unsuccessfully for years to get that message across to some of the "elites," who seem to make all the decisions, many of which are atrocious!

At last month's meeting of Mountain Top Mental Health Associates, a board member friend of mine brought up Ricky's same issue and there was not one response in the meeting of 18 other adults. My friend and I had discussed this issue before. He is very committed to helping all ages and situations of people, as am I!

Less than a year ago when there was an article in The Republican concerning ideas for activities for young people, I followed through by writing my idea I have had for many long years. I haven't had the courtesy of even a call or note regarding my having done so, and my letter didn't come back to me. My idea was diverting some of the water from the "Yough" in Oakland to a skating rink pond in the winter and let run as usual for summer or as a swimming place in summer. With all the many acres of land in and around Oakland, it's conceivable. We can put millions in the Deep Creek Lake area in Adventure Sports and nothing in the Oakland area where the majority of the children are "all year."

We who are not "native born" are totally disregarded much of the time by certain people who seem to run things here, Ricky. Maybe you can shake them up enough to really do something.

I hope, Ricky, you can learn soon that there are "old people" who do care about you and all people! I have two "old people" friends here who have been working hard, as have I, to get positive action for young people, some in Garrett County; all young people, some who are already in trouble!

In the meantime, Ricky, could you get interested in reading history or any subject you are particularly interested in? There is nothing more fascinating when you learn to want to learn more.

Best wishes, Ricky. I do understand and I hear you!

This is my opinion.

Thanking you,
Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Jakob Scheffel and the Northern and Southern Mat Clubs on their 2000-2001 wrestling seasons. The Southern Mat Club had its best year ever, winning and placing in tournament after tournament. SMC had 10 young wrestlers and two coaches placing in the districts to qualify for the regional tournaments in Millersville, Pa., and two national titles in Tulsa, Okla., and East Stroudsburg, Pa.

The huge success of the club was due to its many coaches: Rob Browning, Chris Todd, Darryl Ozias, Nick Dolan, Deon Eckenrode, Daniel Clark, and Dave Taylor, and for all the time that they put in.

The mat club would also like to give a special thanks to Jack Rickman for all his help in the past years for giving the club use of the two auxiliary gyms and for storage of the wrestling mats at SMS.

But the biggest thanks of all has to go to Dave Taylor, the backbone of the club, who does all the organizing and paperwork as the club's secretary/treasurer. He finds time somehow to do all this, while running his own business, coaching three nights a week for the mat club, going to tournaments on the weekends, and serving this past year as assistant coach at Southern High School. All this, with a wife and two daughters of his own! The 50-some wrestlers you coached this season owe you and your family a great deal of thanks. I would like to thank you and your family personally and publicly here, for making my two boys, "Brutus and Bubba," the best wrestlers they can be. From my family to yours, thank you, Dave Taylor.

Sincerely,
George Scheffel II

To the Editor:

Western Maryland and Garrett County are very special places. Last summer I had the great privilege of spending considerable time at Big Run and New Germany state parks, and hiking in the Savage River State Forest. As a resident of the ugly suburban sprawl of the D.C. area, I can tell you that Garrett County is the only area like it in Maryland. It is a most precious resource. Some of its residents may long for the benefits of sprawl development, but I invite them to spend some years in the midst of it to see what is really lost in the tradeoff. Believe me, in no way is that loss "worth it."

The county's Savage River State Forest is an even more precious place. I enjoyed several hikes among the marvels of the Big Savage Hiking Trail. This section of the forest contains some wonderful areas of large old trees, some dating back four centuries or more. A number of very rare or endangered animal and plant species are there as well. Yet these sections remain open to logging, roadbuilding, and various forms of invasive recreational development.

I appeal to the county lawmakers and stewards of this land to take the steps needed to protect these areas from such uses. Most of the state remains open to all of these, and the small areas called the Savage Ravines and South Savage are among the "precious jewels" of Maryland. Please, citizens of Garrett County, ask the DNR to ensure that these special areas of SRSF are protected from all activities that would have an adverse impact. Let them remain a special place for appreciation, for study, and for renewal of spirit.

Sincerely,
S. Gregory Price

Volunteers are one of the nation's most valuable resources. During National Volunteer Week, April 22-28, the State Forest and Park Service salutes the volunteers of Deep Creek Lake State Park, Herrington Manor State Park, Swallow Falls State Park, New Germany State Park, and Potomac-Garrett State Forest. During the year of 2000, 247 volunteers donated 6,781 hours to these facilities.

JUST COINCIDENCE?

The onions are well up, and the potatoes cannot be far behind. I planted both on March 24. Spinach, radishes, and lettuce went in three weeks later. That was not according to plan, just when I got to it. Back in February I was afraid that spring might arrive too early.

Forsythia and daffodils were in full bloom for all of Holy Week. Though now past their prime, they still beam the yellow that seems to embody sunlight. My tulips are shaping up to bloom, but south of here I have already seen them emerging in their fresh colors and cuplike shape.

All these things happen every year at about this time. If the weather is warm, then they happen a little earlier. If the weather is colder than it has been this year, then all that blossoming beauty comes a little later. Growth and warmth go together. Are they connected or is it only coincidence?

That is a philosophical question, true enough, but as practical as it is philosophical. When I sit at a trafffic light, and say, "Green! Green! Green!" and the light turns green, saying "Green!" and turning green go together. They are conjoined, but are they connected?

If they are connected, then the next time (and all the times after that) when I am sitting at a red light, I should be able to say "Green!" three times, and the light should change. I have tried it, and it does not work. You can try that experiment, and everybody else can try it. My guess is that we shall discover the same thing; namely, that the saying of the word and the turning of the light are only occasionally conjoined. It is coincidence, as we call it. The two are not connected in a way that we can count on the second if we do the first.

What about all those blooms in my yard and yours? Are they mere coincidences with the warmth of spring? Have we just gotten into a shared habit of seeing things that way? For my own part, I am confident that spring warmth and the blossoming of trees, the sprouting of onions are connected. There is some invisible tie between them.

Superstition, on the other hand, is seeing a connection between things when there is only a coincidence. To make a living as an astrologer or as a psychic you only have to be right once in awhile.

Airplane pilots have to be right every time or they run the risk of losing their jobs in a big way. Though the results are not so personal for brain surgeons, getting the connections right is just as important. We might say that psychics and astrologers live on coincidences. Brain surgeons and airplane pilots live on connections.

What about farmers? The farmer, to be pitied above all others, can be right every time, and still go broke. He can get every connection smack, bang-on right, and still lose his farm. That is a way of saying that the relationships among things and events are more complicated than first meets the eye.

One of the reasons I have been thinking about the relations between things is that human beings seem to become more and more disconnected from each other and from the world they live in. I cite the poetry of a century ago compared with that of today as evidence.

The poet of a century ago said, "Loveliest of trees the cherry now is hung with bloom along the bough...," all in mellifluous tones. The poet of today writes about killing people, especially police, taking drugs, having sex in as many different ways as possible, and all in deafening decibels and to rhythms that — I am told — are great for dancing, but which sound to me like a tractor trailer on a mountain road and losing its transmission.

The youth and many of the middle-aged people of today listen to that stuff in its allegedly musical forms. We then wonder why people feel depressed. We should wonder how so many people manage not to feel depressed.

But spring is beautiful, isn't it? It seems to roll around each year about this time — or is it just my imagination?

Morgantown Man Faces DWI, Gun Violation Charges

A West Virginia man was arrested late last Thursday morning, April 19, and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and illegally transporting a handgun in a vehicle after a traffic stop along Interstate 68, according to the Maryland State Police, McHenry barrack.

Joseph Leroy Jolliffe, 52, was initially stopped for speeding on eastbound I-68 near Amish Road at approximately 11:30 a.m. He failed field sobriety tests, and charges of DWI, driving on an out-of-state revoked license, and operating a vehicle without wearing a seatbelt were filed by Tfc. J.B. Schlossnagle. A search of Jolliffe's 1990 Ford F-150 located a .22-caliber Magnum H&R model 603 revolver behind the driver's seat and 45 rounds of .22-caliber ammunition in his coat pocket.

Jolliffe was subsequently released from the Garrett County Detention Center when he posted a $1,500 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

In other state police activity of the week, a Connecticut trio was stopped for speeding along I-68 Sunday afternoon, and each subject was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. At approximately 2 p.m. Tfc. Grinnan stopped a 1993 Toyota Corolla on the eastbound interstate just west of Amish Road. In speaking to the occupants the trooper noted the odor of suspected burnt marijuana.

Charged with the drug offenses were the driver, Michael Brown, 20, Canton, Conn., and his two passengers, Jesse Mills, 19, and Kelly Valente, 20, both of Simsbury, Conn. Each of the subjects was released under unspecified circumstances.

A Grantsville-area man was jailed Monday evening after an alleged domestic-related assault at a residence in the 9700 block of New Germany Road. Patrick Sean Murphy, 34, was arrested on a second degree assault charge by troopers summoned to the residence shortly after 5 p.m. He was incarcerated and subsequently released from jail when he posted a $500 bond.

Another Charge Stems From Burglary Arrest

Invesitgators of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation arrested Shawn Aaron Stemple, 20, Aurora, W.Va., Wednesday on additional burglary charges stemming from an earlier burglary arrest along Potomac Camp Road last week.

Stemple is charged with fourth-degree burglary of a residence along Garrett Road near Oakland after a neighbor witnessed Stemple around two next door houses. According to police, the neighbor made contact with Stemple to ascertain what he was doing. Stemple allegedly told him he was looking for someone to give him directions to a local heating and plumbing business.

The owner of the residence returned home later and discovered entry had been made into his garage, but no items were apparently stolen, police said.

Stemple was released from the Garrett County Jail on a $2,500 bond.

million," the task force report noted.

Green described the proposed trail system as a "spider web approach," with the first of the trail improvements beginning in the central part of the county around Deep Creek Lake and linking to other parts of the county. An inventory of existing trails revealed to task force members that the "missing critical component" was linkage, which would permit 10-20 miles of biking routes through user-friendly terrain.

The task force report also recommended funding sources to pursue, including government, private sector, and organizational programs. Noted was a match requirement of 20-50% on some of these grants, but "creativity" could be used in combining certain programs with "in-kind" volunteer services.

The next step in the leisure trail project is at the discretion of the commissioners, Green said. The task force has asked consideration for naming a county employee to coordinate the project. This could be accomplished during the near term by having an existing employee "wear an additional hat." Longer term, it was recommended that the commissioners identify a "viable and capable" entity to acquire rights-of-way, apply for funding, and oversee engineering services in addition to identifying viable long-term maintenance options.

until 2 p.m. These agencies will then give the food to families that have been identified to them. Food for individual families will be arranged on a one-on-one basis. Bob Few will be in charge of the distribution process.

As for eligibility, there are no strict guidelines, the Malones said.

"The main rule is, we cannot sell the food," said Mr. Malone.

"We want to give food to people who need it, that's all," said Mrs. Malone. "And we want to keep it as simple as possible. Jesus did practical things to help people, too."

The Malones also stressed that hungry children can be unruly, and parents who cannot adequately provide for their families can become depressed and angry, all of which can lead to domestic violence.

"It's more than just the food," said Mr. Malone. "It's a way to reach out to people."

For information about helping to distribute food, identifying families, volunteering, or any other questions, persons may contact Bill or Vicki Taylor at 301-387-4700, ext. 213.

Man Charged

John Weichel, 43, and Stephen Macican, 42, both of Northampton, Pa., were both cited for exceeding the daily bag limit of one tom per hunter. The pair were apprehended by local State Forest and Park rangers shortly before 10 a.m. in the Elk Lick area of the Savage River State Forest.

DWI Arrest

The NRP also reported the driving while intoxicated (DWI) arrest of Danny Robert Phillips, 43, Roaring Spring, Pa., shortly after 1:30 p.m. Friday along St. John's Rock Road in the Savage River State Forest. He was released under unspecified circumstances.

dedicated men, women, and young people volunteer in Maryland's state forests and parks. During the year of 2000 they volunteered over 230,000 hours to keeping our parks beautiful and a place for people to enjoy nature.

I want to say a special "thank you" to these volunteers, who make a difference every day in our community and in the lives of many of our visitors. These volunteers can be found performing many duties at the parks — trail maintenance, general maintenance, historic docents, leading/guiding nature programs, developing special events, being a volunteer ranger, assisting in the office/reception areas, and doing many, many other duties.

National Volunteer Week began in 1974 when President Richard Nixon signed an executive order establishing a week as an annual celebration of volunteerism. Every president since has signed a proclamation in support of National Volunteer Week.

Volunteers make a big difference in our community. They make our country a better place. Those of you who are not part of this special group are urged to join. Maryland state forests and parks offer opportunities for everyone. It does not matter if you want to volunteer every week, every month, or for special events.

For more information about the volunteer programs in the state forests and parks, you can contact your nearest park/forest; call the State Forest and Park Service volunteer coordinator, Roberta Dorsch (301-743-5928); or visit our Volunteer Opportunities web site, www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/volunteer.html

Again, a great "thank you" to the volunteers in the State Forest and Park Service.

To the Editor:

What is more important? the beauty of a black bear or the lives of two young boys? As parents we try to protect our children from the hurt of the outside world, but the law considers the life of an animal more important than the life of our youth. As the black bear tried to defend her cubs, I was thinking in my mind, what am I going to do now? I fired two warning shots over their heads hoping that that would scare them away. She stood up on her hind legs and started towards me, then I got afraid and fired two shots at her, and at that time she fell to the ground. I was hunting with a .22 rifle and a friend.

Black bears are not new to me because I have seen them around my house for the last 10 years of my life. They have been in our yard and even up on our porch. I have had to go outside and scream and yell to make them leave, because I was afraid they might go to where my dog is tied up and try to kill him. But as the bear approached me this time in the woods, I could see that this was not going to be solved as easily as just yelling at them, so I tried to shoot in the air a few times and still they would not leave. So after the bear became aggressive, I aimed at her head and squeezed the trigger and she fell to the ground and died. I am being punished by the law because I protected my own life and killed a bear that was charging me. Now I ask you, should I have waited to see if the bear was going to attack me and then tried to get her off me, or do you think what I did was right?

DNR says "black bears will not attack a person," but do you want to wait and find out or would you protect yourself as I did? I did not have any intent of killing a black bear. I have killed legal deer with a .30.30, and I know that it takes a bigger gun than a .22 to kill a bear and drop it in its tracks, and I would not have even considered shooting this bear if I would not have thought my life was in danger.

This is not the only bear in this area. I have seen five different sizes of bears in just one night at my house. Families in my area are afraid to let their young children outside without a parent with them. Is this what we call being protected? And what is being done about it? No one wants to hear about our bear stories because it is just so natural for bears to live as they wish in our woods. We lock our doors at night to be safe, but how are we supposed to be safe in our own yards?

Michael Wayne Wilburn Jr.

To the Editor:

On April 15, I had a flue fire. Thanks to the Oakland Fire Department's quick response time, there was no damage to the house.

Many thanks to the Oakland Fire Department for the help, which was deeply appreciated.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE LAST TIME YOU SLEPT . . .

LIKE A BABY.

Trouble sleeping drastically diminishes your quality of life. A Gallup survey reported that one out of eight people sleep poorly at least four nights a week. Improper support to the neck, back and knees causes discomfort, which can result in fragmented sleep. Fragmented sleep can cause: loss of memory, irritability, auto accidents, slower reaction time, stress and high blood pressure contributing to loss of life.

Rest more soundly with a low-pressure Kingsdown sleep system. A Kingsdown sleep system can help you relax and go to sleep more quickly just like you did when you were a baby.

Your choice of Kingsdown sleep systems to lull you to sleep.

In Memory of Our Angel

Gary E. Friend Jr. (Whitey)

April 12, 1963 - April 26, 2000

"It Was You"

As the days have passed us by this year
And we have missed you, so deep within,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "God will keep you, Trust in Him."

When the wind moved by and brushed our faces
And a warmth embraced our hearts,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "We'll never be apart."

When the sound of that diesel engine
Seemed to be coming towards us, somehow,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "It's OK, I'm hauling for Jesus now."

When your sons hunted and that tree moved
Rustling leaves, even though there was "no" wind
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Sons, it's just Daddy here."

When your father spent his days and nights on the road
He was never really that far from home.
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Dad, I'm riding with you. You never travel alone."

When that tear from your Mother's eyes
Seemed to stop still upon her face,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Mom, don't cry, I'm in such a wonderful place."

For your sister, who, by your bedside, couldn't imagine
Why, later, you were taken away,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Sis, I had chosen to leave that day."

And when your brother was on the tractor
Mowing the fields you worked together,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Brother, I'll be sitting here beside you forever."

When all of your fellow truckers
Set out for their hauls this past year,
"It was you" that came to call
To say, "Thanks for keeping my memory so vivid and clear."

When your wife thought she lost the only thing
That this world had left to give,
"It was you" that came to call
And say, "Life is uncertain, so be certain you live."

And as your loved ones live on
In this world without you here.
They won't fret that you have missed
All that they have shared this past year.

Instead, they will celebrate
What you are doing up there.
Celebrating your first anniversary
Living in a world beyond compare.

Because no matter how far you are, Jr.
You were with us in all of these ways,
And "It was you" that came to call
And say, "We'll be together again someday."

Until then, you live in our hearts.
We'll see your eyes in your oldest son.
And you'll still walk this earth each day
As we watch the younger one.

In the days that have come to pass
We understand better, and now we know
That when the Lord needed another angel,
"IT WAS YOU" that had to go.

We miss you and love you with all of our hearts, Jr.(Whitey),
Your loving family and friends

Thank you, Lord, for taking care of "Our Angel" and for giving him wings, to come visit us, in all of our days that remain until we are with you both, there.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Audiology & Hearing Aid Center

Pamela Adams, MS, CCCA/SLP, audiologist and speech pathologist, operates the Audiology & Hearing Aid Center from the office of Dr. Robin Bissell at 124 Miller Street in Grantsville.

She has been seeing patients at this location since last October, and will be joined in May by MS and audiologist Cherie Welling.

Adams is a certified clinical audiologist and speech language pathologist licensed to practice in Maryland and Pennsylvania. She is a licensed hearing aid fitter in Maryland, and has been practicing for over 21 years.

The business offers diagnostic evaluation and rehabilitation of hearing and speech problems for all degrees and types of hearing loss in individuals from 6 months of age to the elderly, including the deaf.

"We offer reliable hearing aid evaluation and offer hearing aids for purchase from proven manufacturers at a wide range of costs," Adams said. The business also offers a line of signalers and alerting devices for deaf and hard of hearing individuals.

"We know that communication problems affect more than the individual who has the problem," she said. "So we work with families. When we educate families and patients about their hearing loss together, communication is more successful. Our patient rate of success with hearing aids is high!"

Presently Audiology & Hearing Aid Center accepts most insurance and accepts referrals from doctors. "We would like to continue being a resource for education about hearing and speech problems, and would like to increase our hearing conservation services for local industries, offering on-site noise monitoring, employee testing, and education," Adams said.

The Audiology & Hearing Aid Center can be reached by calling 301-895-4270.

HAND PRINTS OF ALL SHAPES AND SIZES now cover the hallways of Dennett Road Elementary School, the result of a special character education project. The brainchild of teacher Pat Foley, the project involved every child in the school, who dipped his or her hand in paint and made a hand print on the hallway wall. The purpose of the project was not only to spruce up the interior of the building, but more importantly to increase the students' sense of belonging and ownership of the school, as well as foster pride. It also was meant to encourage good stewardship and care of the building in which the youngsters spend so much of their time. Wood Products donated materials for the project, as did Naylor's Hardware. The scholarship is based on overall GPA and professional promise, and is awarded to the top two seniors majoring in interior design. The awards presentation was held during the College of Human Resources student awards program last Thursday.

She serves as fund-raising chairperson for the Student Interior Design Association and as a peer mentor. She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, Phi Eta Sigma, and the Golden Key National Honors Society.

A 1997 graduate of Northern High School, Geis is the daughter of Ellen and Sam Housley, Accident, and Ed and Dixie Geis, Frostburg. Her grandparents are Margaret Hershberger-Wagner, Accident, and Glyn and Laverne Geis, Frostburg.

Lakers Play 11

Frederick answered with five runs in the bottom of the fifth, but it wasn't enough.

Former Northern High standout Jeff Carr went the distance and earned the win on the mound. Dennis Show had three singles and played outstanding defense for the Lakers, while Tim Casey provided a double and a single.

VS. WESLEYAN

Back-to-back solo home runs by Jason DiAngelo and Craig Barkey in the fourth inning, followed by a two-run shot by Matt Mills and another solo blast by Tim Casey in the seventh, erased a 2-0 deficit and powered the Lakers to their 5-2 win over the junior varsity of West Virginia Wesleyan College on Monday.

Wesleyan had taken a 2-0 lead in the top of that inning before their solo shots knotted the score at 2-2. Joe Carper led off the Lakers' seventh with a single, and Mills followed with his round-tripper to make it 4-2. Casey then added an insurance run with his solo homer.

The Lakers were out-hit by an 8-6 margin, but Chris Fisher went the distance for Garrett and struck out 10 batters in the process.

The Lakers were edged in the opening game against Anne Arundel on Tuesday (3-2) when Pat Kenny hit a single to plate Chris Rowley in the bottom of the eighth inning, breaking a 2-2 score.

The Lakers had brief leads of 1-0 and 2-1 before Anne Arundel knotted the score at 2-2 with a run in the bottom of the seventh, which sent the contest into an extra inning.

Kenny had three singles for the winners, while Chad Cooper led the Lakers' eight-hit effort with two singles.

Four errors and nine walks issued by the Lakers in the second game allowed the home team to score nine unearned runs and take a 9-2 lead. Each team recorded two more runs in their respective halves of the sixth to conclude the scoring.

whom God called home
May 2, 2000

A year ago today, God called a very special husband home. It broke my heart to see him go, but he did not go alone, because part of me went with him. Now the only thing I have left are those precious memories that I hold in my heart. And when my heart is breaking, and the tears are flowing, I look up and I see his big sweet smile and hear his kind voice say, "Honey, don't cry, everything will be OK, I love you." That's what keeps me going till we meet again.

Your loving wife forever, Garnet (Boots)

United Way Of Garrett County Hopes To Answer Questions, Garner Support

by Mary Sincell McEwen

Although the United Way of Garrett County has been in existence for over a year, questions remain in the minds of the local citizenry about its purpose and its relevance to the mountaintop area. In an attempt to answer some of these questions as well as garner support from the county's residents, the executive committee of the United Way of Garrett County (UWGC) has asked that some frequently asked questions be publicized, with answers provided by the committee members, all of whom are volunteers.

The United Way of Garrett County is a non-profit organization that facilitates the coordination and delivery of human services to improve the quality of life in the county. This group is an all-volunteer entity, the members of which are Dave Thomas, Ernie Gregg, Jeannette Fitzwater, Lisa Thayer Welch, Tom Myers, Bob Huebner, Ken Perrin, and Eric Whytsell, all of Garrett County.

The UWGC's first fund-raising campaign was initiated this fall with the proceeds to support a number of human services programs. A budget review process is now under way to provide an effective and balanced program to serve the needs of the Garrett County community.

The UWGC provides funding for a number of affiliated local organizations, including the Dove Center (a local refuge for victims of domestic violence), Big Brothers Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Garrett County Lighthouse, Salem Children's Trust, Mountain Glade Adult Day Services, American Red Cross, the Salvation Army, and the Western Maryland Catholic Charities.

Affiliated agencies that will receive designations from the UWGC campaign are the Garrett Cooperative Ministries, Community Action, Habitat for Humanity, Literacy Council, and Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

The UWGC solicits monetary donations from the community seasonally each year. With this past season being the first, the time line for collections has been somewhat longer than what the committee hopes will be the eventual schedule. The campaign began in late summer of 2000, and the final cut-off date is April 30. According to member Eric Whytsell, the committee hopes to pare the schedule down to a few months, starting in late summer and ultimately concluding before the end of the year.

That way, Whytsell explained, the committee can meet shortly after the end of the campaign, figure the percentages to each affiliated group, and then begin the procedure of cutting checks. The money for each group is allotted monthly.

An often-asked question is why a person should donate to United Way rather than simply donate to the entity itself, such as the Dove Center or the Red Cross. According to Whytsell, UWGC provides "one-stop shopping" for contributors who want to address the needs of the community. The group has surveyed the county to determine social needs, and now is working to organize a focused program of skilled planning that can most economically and efficiently meet the community's needs.

The UWGC also works to ensure that the funded agencies are accountable for their performance, that they are fiscally responsible, and that they are not duplicating services offered by other agencies or the government. This means, Whytsell said, that the money donated by the citizenry is "responsibly and efficiently spent to get the most bang for the buck."

There are a variety of options for donors to UWGC. Persons may designate their gifts for particular social issues, such as children's needs, the strengthening of families, elder care, youth issues, or helping those with disabilities. Or they may designate their gifts directly to specific agencies, while still helping the UWGC meet its fund-raising goal.

Some human resources organizations apply for UWGC funding because they would like to replace the time and effort they spend on fund-raising. They would rather serve people than spend time asking for money, Whytsell explained. These agencies then need the community's monetary support through the UWGC.

"When you give to the United Way of Garrett County, you not only support the programs of your favorite agency, but you support all the programs developed by other human service organizations that help solve the problems we have in our community," Whytsell said.

Concerning the management of the donated money, the UWGC's governing executive committee work to make sure the contributions are properly handled. All members of this committee are volunteers, and they are all contributors, Whytsell said. One of the officers of this committee has to sign every check that the UWGC writes. Any person who would like to know how the UWGC spends contributors' money may ask to see prepared financial statements.

As far as overhead is concerned, the local United Way shares administrative costs with other area United Ways (all outside Garrett County), which allows the UWGC to have professional administrative services at a fraction of the cost of a full-time staff. The clerical support is headquartered in Cumberland at the County United Way office.

The UWGC pays fees totaling 3/4 of 1% of the campaign revenue to United Way of America for research, training, and marketing services. The United Way of America is not a headquarters. It is simply an entity for providing these services to the volunteers who become involved in one of the country's existing 2,100 United Ways. Each United Way is assigned one or more counties to administer.

There was a problem with the United Way of America in 1992 when some of the fee revenue was embezzled. The organization prosecuted the person responsible, and then put controls into effect that instituted an audit of the financial accounts every six months. The organizational structure of United Way was also altered to eliminate a recurrence of the problem.

"The problem with the United Way of America [in 1992] was not a problem in our community," said Whytsell. "Not giving to the United Way of Garrett County because of what someone did elsewhere will not punish him. It will only hurt the people in our community who need our help." He also noted that the UWGC is subject to an independent audit/review, and all expenditures are audited by the volunteers.

There has apparently been some confusion among the public about the United Way of Garrett County and the County United Way. They are two separate entities, with County United Way having helped the UWGC get started. County United Way served some Garrett County organizations before last year's launch of the UWGC, and it continues to funnel designated funds to various local groups. The idea for the UWGC was that local volunteers would have a much better understanding of the needs within Garrett County, and that a local United Way should be organized and tailored for those needs. Thus the UWGC was born in March of 2000.

While the fund-raising campaign this year will end on April 30, the next drive will begin in late summer. Payroll deduction is one option offered to employers. A business that takes part in the UWGC campaign can involve its employees via a payroll deduction. The employer then writes a once-a-month check to the UWGC representing the total of the participating employees' payroll deductions. Employees may designate their donations to go toward the affiliate of their choice, or to one or more of the general needs areas delineated above. Persons may also donate personally to UWGC.

Each year United Way sets a fund-raising goal based on the needs of its affiliated organizations. This year the goal was about $80,000, and the amount raised in this first attempt has been about $38,500.

"It's not at all a bad first attempt," said Whytsell, "especially when you consider that some confusion still remains about the United Way of Garrett County. What we would really love to do is answer questions people may have about the organization. We want to dispel any misinformation and let people know what a beneficial organization it is."

Whytsell said members of the public are encouraged to contact any member of the UWGC, all of whom are noted above, to ask questions about the organization.

consumed by the flames.

The loss to the family was compounded by the fact that the residence also housed Mrs. DeWitt's day care business known as Wee Care Day Care.

Yoder said that the wind and the low area between the ceiling and the roof made it difficult for firefighters to get to the fire. "Flames also got into the corners of the basement, which were also hard to reach," he said.

The family is currently staying with relatives.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade unit, housed at the Deep Creek VFC. Firefighters remained on the scene for over two hours.

Walk-A-Weigh Challenge Comes To A Finish

The Garrett County Health Department competed against Community Action in the Walk-A-Weigh Challenge 2001 recently, to see which group could accumulate the amount of miles it would take to get from Oakland to Walt Disney World, Fla.

The 60 employees from Community Action defeated the health department by accumulating 3,583 miles during the eight-week competition. The health department's 70 employees walked a total of 3,486 miles.

The goal of the competition was to encourage the employees to be physically active and as a team "walk to Walt Disney World and back." Both teams surpassed the initial goal and actually "walked the distance to Florida twice."

A luncheon was held at the Mary Browning Senior Center to honor all participants. Rodney Glotfelty, health officer of the Garrett County Health Department, presented Clay Garland of Community Action with the trophy.

"I am disappointed that the health department did not win the trophy, but in my opinion we are all winners when we are exercising to try to improve our health, " Glotfelty said.

Each agency had individual teams within, all named for Disney characters. The first place team for Community Action was "Daffy Ducks Team 2," which consisted of Head Start employees, as a team who walked 918.25 miles. "Pluto's Perambulators," made up of Environmental Health and Administrative employees was recognized as the first place team for the health department, which accumulated 1,093 miles.

Steve Sherrard, director of Environmental Health at the health department, walked the most miles with 240. He was actually running because he was training for the Boston Marathon on April 16 in which he competed. Joyce Skidmore of Community Action came in second with a total of 230 miles. Glotfelty placed third with 201 miles.

Participants who walked at least 25 miles were given a sweatshirt. Red embroidered hearts were given for each 50 miles the participants walked to put on the sweatshirts. All participants were given a certificate for participating, and those who attended the luncheon had a chance to win door prizes that encouraged physical activity.

The competition was coordinated by employees from the Community Health and Outreach Department and AmeriCorps members from the health department and was funded by the Cardiovascular Risk Reduction grant and the Physical Activity and Nutrition grant.

CROCODILE DUNDEE IN LOS ANGELES

Rated PG - Running Time: 1:35 - Released 4/20/01

Although it starts and ends with nice music and beautiful Australian scenery, what comes between them shows that Crocodile Dundee In Los Angeles is little more than another low-rent ride on Paul Hogan's one-trick pony. Probably the most famous Aussie actor in the United States (not so fast — Mel Gibson was born in New York; Russell Crowe in New Zealand), Hogan has built his megastardom on his 1986 smash Crocodile Dundee, and to a lesser extent its 1988 followup, CDII, producing a handful of forgettable films in the '90s before returning to his cash croc for a third go-round. The trouble is, the joke's sort of over. We all enjoyed what a fish out of water Mick Dundee was in New York city, and how his knife size compares to that of big city thugs, and how he taught us to say things like "g'day, mate" and "throw another shrimp on the barbie." But 15 years later, the Down Under jokes have gone stale, and the lame quality of the screenplay doesn't help matters any. Hogan is as affable and charming as ever, but his movie, directed by Free Willy helmsman Simon Wincer, isn't.

Reuniting Hogan yet again with two-time Dundee leading lady Linda Kozlowski (who is now also Hogan's real-life leading lady) as Mick's longtime reporter partner Sue Charlton, and with his tired formula, this film boasts two new developments: this time Croc travels to L.A. instead of New York, and this time he's got a kid. The presence of pint-sized newcomer Serge Cockburn as his son Mikey, who is a miniature version of Croc himself, allows the 60-year-old Hogan to move from the ruggedly handsome leading man mold into the loving father persona. It's about time. But since Mikey is used only as a background character, there's almost no point in having him around except to make the cute-seeking audience members say, "Isn't it cute how that little boy talks Australian?" His presence, however darling, has virtually no bearing on the main plot.

That plot, penned by former Married With Children writers Matthew Berry and Eric Abrams in their first feature film effort, involves a dippy crime-solving scenario in which Mick creeps around the back lot of a fledgling studio to uncover corrupt activity suspected by Sue and her boss at an L.A. newspaper. Having been asked to fill in for a reporter who was mysteriously killed, Sue begins interviewing Arnan Rothman (Jere Burns), the CEO of Silvergate Pictures, currently under suspicion for producing three bad movies in a row. (If that's a crime, I've got some citizen's arrests to make. Insert rimshot.) While Rothman evades Sue's questions, Mick gets a job as an extra in Silvergate's latest flick, where he learns to say things like "dude" and "do lunch." His uncanny ability to communicate with animals gets him promoted to monkey wrangler, allowing him more access to the studio, where he can poke around investigating that fishy smell. Oh, and his kid catches a rat at school.

I suppose this is the best Hogan's done in years, since it's the role he and his audiences are most comfortable with. But the Berry/Adams script is clunky and unsubtle, with bad guys who repeatedly go unconscious whenever they are bumped on the head, and numerous instances where it is so obvious we are being treated to expository information, the characters might as well turn to the camera and say, "Did you get that, audience?" Moreover, director Wincer moves charmlessly from one CD gag to the next, with Hogan making some culture-related faux pas and his wife smiling apologetically to the confused American victim. Cute, but we saw it 15 years ago. ★★½

BRIDGET JONES'S DIARY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:37 - Released 4/13/01

As romantic comedies go, Bridget Jones's Diary is in many ways unconventional. It stars American actress Renée Zellweger as a single British woman in her 30's who works at a publishing house in London, looking for love among the humdrum prospects in her life, namely Hugh Grant and Colin Firth. Zellweger, who apparently gained over 20 pounds for the role, is not classically beautiful like Gwyneth Paltrow, she's not spunky like Minnie Driver, and she's not glamorous like Julia Roberts; she's decidedly plain, lumpy, and tongue-tied, which is exactly what she and first-time director Sharon Maguire are going for. Bridget Jones is a woman who has to grow on you; a real woman, who smokes, drinks, and talks too much, and on the occasion of her 32nd birthday, as is prescribed by the story, decides to start telling the truth. To her diary, that is.

Tired of her mother (Gemma Jones) trying to fix her up with a lawyer and former neighbor named Mark Darcy (Firth) at holiday parties, Bridget engages in a friendly flirtation with her dashing boss, Daniel Cleaver (Grant), which develops into full-blown romance. Daniel, who seems sexist and somewhat boorish, is nonetheless a lot of fun, but they keep running into the dour and humorless Mark, with whom Daniel has an ongoing grudge match because of some dark incident in their past. Soon Daniel proves to be less than what he first seemed, and Mark begins to spark Bridget's interest. Eventually, she is in the position of having to choose between the two.

Bridget Jones's Diary is written by Richard Curtis and Andrew Davies, based on the novel by Helen Fielding; it bears several resemblances to (and borrows several actors from) Jane Austen's novel Pride & Prejudice and the recent A&E movie adaptation of it. While Zellweger is earthy and believable (sporting a phony but authentic-sounding British accent, no less), she's not terribly attractive, either from a physical or emotional standpoint. Ironically, her podgy, lonely Bridget seems most charming when she's alone (especially in a brilliant scene where she sings along to Celine Dion's recent cover of Eric Carmen's "All By Myself"). Likewise, her male counterparts leave much to be desired. Grant and Firth both give adequate performances, but the trouble is, neither Daniel nor Mark is an especially likable character. While Bridget spent her time wondering which guy was Mr. Right, I kept thinking, is there a third choice?

Although director Maguire is successful in crafting believable characters for her triangle, she may have succeeded a little too well; the proceedings have a cold, sterile feel that ever so slightly contradicts the film's romantic aim. Zellweger shows her usual talent, but what she's being directed to do is in a way counterproductive. On the other hand, Maguire must be commended for trying something different in an industry where old, tired formula rules the day, and Zellweger is charming even if her character...isn't. ★★★★

FREDDY GOT FINGERED

Rated R - Running Time: 1:27 - Released 4/20/01

Tom Green, the outrageous Canadian who rose to stardom on his self-named MTV show and has since achieved added fame as the new husband of Drew Barrymore, is, in his way, a talented comic. His style, which could perhaps most aptly be compared to Jim Carrey or the late Andy Kaufman (whom Carrey played in Man On The Moon), is a mix of high-energy physical schtick and off-the-wall, surrealistic concept art. Or perhaps he's just criminally insane. At any rate, his self-indulgent writing/directing debut, Freddy Got Fingered, shows that while he's got the energy (and perhaps the mentality) of a 5-year-old, he has not yet achieved the judicious sensibilities required of a director. With a script that borders between the idiotic and the indecipherable, and a performance to match, Freddy Got Fingered is pure masturbation, and I'm sorry to say I mean that both literally and figuratively. Anyone familiar with Green's TV show knows that he will do anything in front of the camera, but there comes a point when covering oneself in some disgusting substance, or saying the same inane word over and over again, or simply standing and screaming, just isn't funny anymore.

Green plays Gord Brody, a 28-year-old aspiring cartoon animator whose drawings, while colorful and cleverly drawn, don't make the slightest bit of sense. Undaunted by this, he decides to leave his parents' home in Portland and move to Hollywood to try to make it in the big time. His parents (Rip Torn, Julie Hagerty) are proud that he's striking out on his own, but mainly they're just happy he's leaving. His first job is at a cheese sandwich factory, where he dances around on the conveyor belts and yells at his co-workers, played by a bunch of old ladies who pretend not to notice him. Then he goes to an animation studio where we are treated to a cameo by bride Barrymore, spending the scene trying desperately not to laugh at his every move. Soon he's back home engaging in an infantile behavior contest with his dad, but eventually he meets his romantic interest (Marisa Coughlan), a pretty but physically disabled rocket scientist/masochist who wants only to be whipped on the shins, break the sound barrier in her wheelchair, and perform fellatio.

Had enough yet?

When taken in small amounts, Green can add spice to an otherwise conventional film (see Road Trip), but as the central character and director, he has been allowed too much free reign. His film wallows in pretentious self-absorption as if he thinks that anything he does is funny. Every time a scene seems to be making headway toward furthering the plot, it devolves into idiocy when he bursts into incomprehensible behavior or starts chanting some kind of irrelevant nonsense phrase.

It's truly sad when someone who is mentally unstable gets into drugs. But the real tragedy is when he's given $20 mil to make a movie about it. ★

Jakob Scheffel Wins National Wrestling Title

Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, 7-year-old son of George and Anita Scheffel and a member of the Southern Mat Club, captured his second national wrestling title of the year this past weekend, as he placed first in the 56-pound division of the MAWA Eastern National Wrestling Tournament. Scheffel won his first national title back in January at the Tulsa (Okla.) Nationals.

Scheffel was among seven Garrett County residents who qualified for the Eastern Nationals. Also representing the Southern Mat Club were youth wrestlers Scott Wildesen and Justin Ratliff, and SMC coaches Nick Dolan and Dan Clark. Qualifying from the Northern Mat Club were Jason Opel and Brock Glotfelty.

Coach Dolan, a former standout for the Southern High School wrestling team, captured third place in his division, while Coach Clark at age 41 finished among the top 10 in the open division.

Ratliff, 11, who was making his second trip to the national event, earned eighth place in the 85-pound division, while Wildesen, who rounded out his career with the SMC, placed among the top 10 in the highly competitive 120-pound division.

Glotfelty, son of Randy and Renatta Glotfelty, earned a fourth place in his division with his pin of an opponent from Greene, N.Y., while Opel, son of Bruce and Debbie Opel, captured sixth place in his division.

Over 12,400 wrestlers from all over the nation competed in 31 different district competitions, from which the three top finishers in each division earned the right to compete in one of the four regional tournaments, held April 7-8. The field of 4,440 at the regional events was cut to 1,297, with the top four finishers advancing to the national tourney, held at Koehler Field House in East Stroudsburg, Pa.

Bowl For Kids' Sake Benefits County BBBS

The Bowl for Kids' Sake benefit for the Garrett County Branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters took place at Par-Matt Lanes recently. Thirty-six teams of volunteer bowlers, representing 56 corporate sponsors, vied for the top score in the annual fund-raising event. Not every corporate sponsor fielded a team of its own, while two, the Oakland-MLP Lions Club and Wal-Mart, donated checks of $500 and $1,000, respectively, as each of those two organizations sponsored two teams.

WEPCO Federal Credit Union regained the Corporate Sponsor Traveling Trophy after relinquishing it last year when Midas of Oakland dethroned the 1999 WEPCO trophy-winning team. WEPCO FCU will display the traveling trophy at its offices for a year until the time comes to defend its title at the 2002 Bowl for Kids' Sake event. WEPCO team's members, Steve Capaldi, Dave Wilson, Larry Thomas, and Zane Paitsel, also earned dinner at the restaurant of their choice.

The WEPCO team scored an impressive 753 combined points, while the Kitzmiller Lions Club team finished second with 611 points. The top six teams were rounded out by: American Legion Post #71, 589 points; Midas of Oakland, 588 points; Rotary Club of Oakland, 587 points; and Beitzel Corporation, 587 points.

T-shirts were given to each corporate bowler as well. Bowling team members who forgot to pick up their shirts should contact the BBBS office at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735.

Pledge bowlers are reminded that BBBS representatives will be at Par-Matt Lanes today, Thursday, April 19, from 4 to 7 p.m. to collect pledges and distribute prizes. Persons not able to come in person may call the BBBS office, or submit their pledges and any additional contributions to BBBS, 105 South Second St. #8, Oakland, MD 21550.

Sportaeboric Athletes Claim Right To Compete In World Championships

The Garrett County Sportaerobic Team arrived home early this week from Miami, Fla., with four gold medals and two silver medals from the 2001 National Sportaerobic Championships (NAC). The team dominated the competition, with all 20 local athletes earning a spot on Team USA and the privilege of competing in the World Championships of Sportaerobics this summer in San Francisco, Calif.

In the junior division, the local team won the gold medal in both the trio and group categories, thus earning the title National Champions. The junior trio consists of Rachel Margroff, Kelsey Jones, and Jessica Warnick.

The junior group finishing in first place was "Team Magic," with members Paige Carr, Alayna Gaither, Kellie Shotwell, Kelsey Jones, Rachel Margroff, and Jessica Warnick. Another junior group, "Team Spirit," which includes Morgan Brosnihan, Chelsea Crosco, Anna Keefer, Brittany Harvey, Grace Herpel, Krista Ridder, and Abby Wildesen, finished a close second, earning the silver medal.

In the junior varsity division, the local team also won the gold in both the trio and team divisions. The JV trio is made up of Alissa Garland, Kelly Taylor, and Jessica Crosco, and JV team members are Kira Farley, Melissa Ray, Alissa Garland, Jessica Crosco, and Kelly Taylor.

Alissa Garland also competed in the JV individual category and finished in 5th place.

In the varsity division, Jessie Railey placed second, earning the silver medal, in the varsity individual category. Railey said the team is grateful for all the support of family, friends, local businesses, and organizations. "We are looking forward to representing Garrett County and the United States at the World Championships," she said.

Two-time national champion Marlana Beitzel traveled with the team, but was unable to compete and defend her title because of illness. Her national titles, along with her two-year top 10 world rankings, have prompted the NAC officials to extend a special invitation to her to compete at the World Championships, according to Brenda Brosnihan, coach.

"Our victories are about much more than a routine on stage or the competitors we face," Brosnihan said. "The team has learned so much from the training and journey leading up to the contest. For these youth, sportaerobics is a life experience.

"Our efforts to prepare for the world championships will include extensive physical training as well as learning to how to interact with athletes from around the world," she said.

Amy Sutton, assistant coach, said the experience was great for the youngsters. "Along with the contest, they had an opportunity to experience a multicultural atmosphere. At times the language barriers made us feel as if we were in a different country," Sutton said.

Highlights from the youth competition will be televised as part of the National Aerobic Championship on ESPN, Sunday, May 27, at 2 p.m.

"We are so excited to have another opportunity to return to the World Championships," said Brenda Taylor, parent. "The international experience provided to these kids is a once in a lifetime opportunity."

The team will now begin training and fund-raising in preparation for this summer's trip to San Francisco, which will be in early July. For complete results and pictures from Miami, persons may visit the team's web site at www.sportaerobics.org.

"IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY FOR BASEBALL," as Hall of Famer Ernie Banks used to say, "so let's play two!" The Oakland Little League did more than that this past Saturday at the Broadford Park ballfields, as a 10-game schedule helped mark the opening of the OLL's 47th season. The morning's ceremonies included a tree-planting ceremony that recognized four of the league's many long-time supporters, George Stewart and Robert Orr (both deceased), and Oakland resident and former OLL president Charlie Grubb and Swanton resident and a charter member of the original OLL board of directors, George F. Stuck, both of whom are pictured in the group shown above. Grubb is seated in front, while standing from the left are Bill and Dick Stuck, George Stewart's wife Jennie and son Brad Stewart, Stuck and his wife Jean, and two of Robert Orr's children, Jeff Orr and Sandy Flanigan. Grubb also opened the 2001 OLL season by tossing out the ceremonial "first pitch."

Rams Continue Dominance, Win Five More With Ease

The domination of area high school baseball continued this week by the top-ranked Southern High Rams, who crushed five more opponents this week by a lopsided total of 61 runs scored to 10 allowed. All five of the games were played at home.

Coach Jim Bosley and his team ripped visiting Keyser on Friday, 12-2, rolled over Hampshire, 14-3, and Allegany, 12-2, on Saturday, whipped Beall on Monday, 13-3, and cruised past Westmar yesterday, 10-0. The victories upped the Rams' perfect record to 12-0 and their Western Maryland Interscholastic League mark to 6-0 with the wins over Allegany, Beall, and Westmar.

The Rams put at least one run on the board in all six innings played against Keyser on Friday, and recorded three lead-off home runs in the process.

Steve Eiswert rapped a solo homer to open the Rams' half of the second inning, Chris Remley hit one to lead off the fourth, and Brad Palmer ripped on to open the bottom of the sixth. Palmer's run was followed by three more in that inning to end the game because of the 10-run rule.

Tobi Stoner, whose RBI single in the sixth ended the contest, led the Rams' 10-hit performance with a double and two singles. Eiswert also had a double to go with his home run.

Bryson Meyers went the distance on the mound for Southern, allowing only two hits, walking two, and striking out six. Both of Keyser's runs were unearned.

Eric Melody and Jared Riggleman each had a single for the Golden Tornados, who dropped to 7-4 with the loss.

Both games played on Saturday were make-up contests, with the first getting under way at noon against Hampshire. The Rams found themselves down 2-1 after the first inning, but quickly took control of the game by scoring six runs in the bottom of the second.

Josh Fitzwater had a two-run homer in the sixth for Southern, winning pitcher Tobi Stoner aided his own cause with two doubles and a single, Justin DiSimone recorded a pair of doubles and two RBI, Eiswert hit a double and a single to drive home a run, and Chad Panther had two singles and one RBI.

Stoner allowed just three hits and struck out nine in going the six-inning distance.

The Rams also trailed 2-0 in the second game of the day against Allegany, as the Campers scored one run in the second and one in the third. But the lead lasted only a matter of minutes, as the Rams rallied for three runs in the bottom of the third to take the lead for good. They put the game out of reach by adding six runs in the fourth.

The Rams amassed 11 hits, with Stoner recording a triple and two singles, and Eiswert contributing a double and a single for three RBI.

Justin DiSimone earned his third win on the mound as he allowed five hits and struck out eight batters.

Southern's win over Beall on Tuesday was highlighted by a grand slam homer by Tobi Stoner and an 11-run third inning.

The Rams took a 2-0 led in the first, but trailed 3-2 going into the bottom of the third after Colt Ruby smacked a three-run homer for the Mountaineers. The advantage was more than erased in the bottom of the third when the Rams sent 16 batters to the plate, recorded nine hits, and drew four walks.

Stoner's grand slam gave the Rams their 10-run lead and ultimately ended the contest after 4½ innings.

DiSimone had a two-run double in the third, and Joel Helbig ripped a two-run homer. The Rams finished with 11 hits, and Josh Fitzwater and Bryan Hauser combined on a five-hitter.

The loss dropped Beall to 3-7 overall and 1-6 in WMIL competition.

Ricky Reams led the Rams at the plate yesterday against visiting Westmar, as he recorded a three-run homer in the second inning, plus a pair of doubles.

Southern took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and added six more in the second to take control of the contest, which ultimately was called after five innings. In fact, in the Rams' 12 games this season, all but one have been called early because of the 10-run rule.

The three-run shot by Reams in the second was set up by Jared Fike and Ryan Ewing, who led off the inning with back-to-back walks. After Reams's homer, Tobi Stoner hit a double and Justin DiSimone followed with a single to put runners at first and third. Stoner came home on a wild pitch, DiSimone scored on a single by Josh Helbig, and Helbig reached home plate on a sacrifice fly by Chris Remley.

The Rams took a 9-0 lead with a single run in the bottom of the fourth, and then DiSimone ended the game with a single in the fifth that brought Reams home.

Helbig finished with a pair of singles and two RBI, while Eiswert contributed two singles and a sacrifice fly for two RBI.

DiSimone earned the win on the mound, going the distance, allowing four hits, striking out eight, and yielding no walks. The victory upped his personal mark to 4-0.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 4-7 overall and 2-5 in the WMIL.

The Rams will return to action this Saturday at home against Hampshire, and then host Northern on Monday.

Oakland Little League Brings In Spring With Opening Day

by David Foster

Several generations of the boys and girls of summer gathered at the Broadford Park baseball diamonds last weekend for the Oakland Little League's 47th opening day. The occasion was noted in opening day ceremonies during which past and present ballplayers, organization officials, and dignitaries saluted the OLL's founders and many longtime supporters.

An American tradition since its founding in 1939 in Williamsport, Pa., Little League baseball has grown to the point where 3 million youth are taking to ball diamonds around the world this spring, approximately 475 of whom play for the 33 teams of the Oakland organization. The endeavor cuts across the generations, as Little League baseball brings adults into play as volunteer coaches and in a variety of other supporting roles, including through local business and civic club sponsorships.

The first opening day of the OLL was in 1954, about the same time a young George W. Bush donned a cap and glove to play for his Midland Little League team under the hot west Texas sun. The original OLL fielded four teams sponsored by American Legion Post #71, Knights of Pythias, Oakland Lions Club, and the local Moose Lodge. Three of those charter sponsors, and the Woodmen of the World, which took over for the Moose Lodge in 1961, continue to sponsor OLL teams to this day.

One of seemingly few constants that has remained in place over the last half-century, OLL's sponsorship fee is the same $300 it was in 1954.

Some of the many adults who brought the OLL to life in 1954 were original board members Robert "Bob" Orr, president; Kyle Wilson, vice president; Rev. John J. Atwell, secretary; and George Stuck, treasurer. The head coaches of the original four teams were George "Teener" Stewart, Theodore James, John Criss, and Dennis Colaw.

Last Saturday's opening day ceremonies at the Broadford Park ballfields included remarks by current OLL president Jane Roberson, a tree-planting ceremony, and the ceremonial "first pitch."

Four trees were planted in memory of Orr and Stewart by their respective families, and in honor of Swanton resident George F. Stuck by the Stuck family, and Oakland resident Charlie Grubb, OLL president from 1979 to 1981, by the Beachy Lumber Company. Permanent markers were placed at the base of each tree commemorating each of those four individuals, who supported the OLL over many years in a variety of official and unofficial roles.

One of those on hand for Saturday's ceremonies was Doug Ellis, OLL president in 1971 and 1972, who "has always been a part of the Oakland Little League," Roberson remarked. Also present were Oakland Town Council president Mary Lou Stemple, county commissioner chairman Fred Holliday, and Del. George Edwards.

The opening day ceremonies concluded after Alex Stuck, grandson of George Stuck, read the Little League pledge, and circuit court clerk Dave Martin sang the national anthem. The 2001 OLL season got under way when Grubb tossed out the first pitch to young catcher Ryan Fitzwater, and the home plate umpire yelled the phrase that sums up the possibilities of spring — "PLAY BALL!"

NHS Crushes Mountaineers; Falls To Wildcats, Panthers

Northern High School's varsity baseball program took its first of three contests this week by launching three home runs, two solo shots by catcher Bryan Lenhart and a grand slam by first baseman Trey Brenneman, to flatten Beall 10-5 last Thursday. The Huskies got clawed twice in a pair of Saturday losses, however, the first to the Westmar Wildcats, 7-2, and the second a 5-0 defeat at the hands of the Hancock Panthers, which left NHS's record at 4-8.

The visiting Mountaineers jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning Thursday, but Northern struck back when Lenhart led off he second inning with a home run shot to left field. The Mounties scored a run in the top of the third before another pair of Husky runners crossed the plate in the bottom of the stanza to make the score 4-3.

Northern scored one run early in the fifth inning after Jeremy Frazee singled, Greg Whittemore walked, and Lenhart reached first on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Wolf rapped out a fielder's choice of his own that scored Frazee to knot the score at 4-all.

With the bases still loaded, Brenneman came to the plate, took the first pitch, and then blasted a 1-0 fastball over the fence in straightaway centerfield. The bases-clearing roundtripper put the Huskies in command with an 8-4 lead.

NHS scored twice in the next inning, which featured Lenhart's second solo home run of the day, another shot that the right-handed slugger pulled to left. Beall put a last-gasp run on the board in the seventh and final inning.

Along with Brenneman's and Lenhart's long-ball production, third baseman Mark Wolf ripped a double and an RBI single, infielder Landon Southerly whacked a double of his own, and second baseman Greg Whittemore stroked a pair of singles. The Huskies totaled a dozen hits off Beall's Colt Ruby and Ryan Harper.

Earning the win was NHS hurler Dan Vagnetti, who worked the entire game and scattered eight hits among the Mounties lineup. The sophomore righthander issued just a pair of walks and struck out four batters, and gave up just three earned runs. The Mounties' main offensive production came from starting pitcher Ruby, who singled twice for a pair of RBI.

Northern's bats fell silent during Saturday's outings against Westmar and Hancock, as the Huskies were held to a total of three hits and one hit, respectively, by their visitors.

The day's first contest got off to a good start for NHS, which went up 1-0 after one inning. Westmar knotted the score when Bubba Wills hit a solo home run in the second, and in the next inning the Wildcats went on a five-run romp with the help of Jared Rishel's two-run basehit. Northern scored a run in the bottom of the third, but Westmar scored a run in the fifth for the final 7-2 margin.

"Whittemore pitched a fine game for us," NHS head coach Phil Carr commented, "but on a lot of two-strike counts he'd throw a good pitch that they'd hit. Westmar scored six of their seven runs on two outs, and in two of those innings their scores came after the bases were empty and we had two outs on them."

Whittemore paced the Huskies' offensive output by knocking a double and an RBI single for two of NHS's three-hit total. In addition to the Wills homer, Westmar got three RBI from Rishel and a pair of singles from Chad Kroll.

The Huskies' tailspin continued into the second outing against Hancock as Panther pitcher Jason Moore held NHS's batters to just one hit, a fifth-inning Southerly single. Hancock tallied seven hits on its way to scores of one run in each of the first, second, fourth, fifth, and seventh innings. Mark Hoffman paced the Panthers with a pair of doubles.

Northern is slated to host Bishop Walsh this afternoon at 4:30 p.m. and Mapletown for an 11 a.m. Saturday doubleheader. The Huskies travel to Oakland Monday to take on Southern and visit Salisbury the following afternoon. On Thursday NHS hosts Fort Hill for a 4:30 p.m. WMIL battle.

Husky JVs Down SHS; Defeated By Raiders, Falcons

The Northern High School junior varsity baseball team got on the winning track this week by downing arch-rival Southern 5-3 Tuesday with the help of a three-run Derek Workman home run blast. The win was bookended by a pair of defeats, however, as on Friday the Huskies lost a close 8-7 battle to Meyersdale's Red Raiders, and yesterday NHS dropped a 13-3 contest at Frankfort.

The Meyersdale game featured a two-single, three RBI performance by Brian Housell of the visiting Meyersdale squad. Teammate Dave Hetz stroked a double, and Raider pitcher Matt Smith turned in a powerful performance, whiffing 10 Huskies on his way to a complete game win. Northern's Derrell Smith and Workman each ripped a double of their own.

The Huskies got off to a slow start against SHS, and were down by a 3-1 margin when they came alive with a four-run fifth inning. Chad Carr led off the fireworks with a double, and scored before Workman came to the plate and belted his home run, which scored three runs. Jason Rice earned the win by striking out five Rams and allowing just three hits over the course of his five innings of mound work. Southern was paced at the plate by Corey Burrell and Nathan Fitzwater, who each tallied a double, a single, and an RBI.

Yesterday afternoon's 10-run loss to the Falcons saw the Huskies' lineup held to just four hits, including an Allen King double, by Frankfort pitcher Eric Spiroff. The winners got doubles from Eric Moreland and Ricky Shaffer, and three singles from Johnny Markley.

The 1-5 Huskies' JV unit is scheduled to host Westmar for a 3 p.m. twinbill Saturday afternoon, then travels to Allegany Wednesday.

JV Rams Roll Over Preston, Fall To Huskies

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School had no trouble winning both ends of a doubleheader against Preston, as the Rams whipped the visiting Knights, 11-1 and 14-0, on Saturday. However, the Rams then dropped a 5-3 contest to rival Northern on Tuesday (see separate story).

Dennis Tressler fired a one-hitter and struck out six in going the five-inning distance for the Rams in the first game. Billy Reams and Jason Weeks each hit a double and two singles, and Andrew Feather singled twice to pace the Southern offensive effort.

Corey Burrell won on the mound in the second game, as he fanned seven batters in his five innings. Tressler smacked a double and two singles, while Reams, Nathan Fitzwater, and Travis Friend each hit a double and a single.

Leading the Knights at the plate was Elliot Watson, who singled twice.

The Rams are scheduled to travel to Allegany for a doubleheader on Saturday, and then host Westmar in a single game next Tuesday.

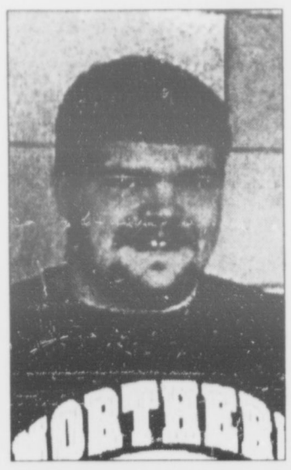
Fairmont Signs Northern's Gilpin With Scholarship



Northern High School athletic and academic standout Toby Gilpin, mainstay of the Huskies' varsity football program on both the offensive and defensive lines for the past three seasons, has been awarded a scholarship by West Virginia's Fairmont State College. The 18-year-old NHS senior will be groomed to take a spot on the offensive line of FSC's Fighting Falcons, one of the top programs in NCAA Division II football.

"He's a tremendous player, and a good man," FSC assistant coach Rusty Elliott said of the 6-4, 310-pound Gilpin as he announced the signing this week. "He passed our 'eyeball test' with flying colors. We came up to look him over after getting a phone call from Northern coach Phil Carr, and he impressed us immediately with his size and the maturity he showed during our initial conversation. The videotape helped seal our desire to sign him, because he showed extremely sound fundamentals in his blocking assignments. He keeps his feet moving, maintains good separation, and is very mobile for a big man."

A co-captain of last fall's Northern squad, Gilpin's play at offensive guard and defensive noseguard helped lead the Huskies to a 9-2 overall record and an appearance in the Maryland Class 1A Region state semifinals. He received the Best Lineman Award from the NHS coaching staff, and was named to the All-Area First Team in a poll of area coaches.

"Toby was an easy sell for us because of his size, and what he showed in game films," said NHS's Carr. "In our option offense our lineman have to be able to move out in a hurry to lead the ballcarrier, and Toby did his job extremely well in both practice and game situations. What put him over the top, though, was the way he conducted himself in talking to the FSC coaches, and his grades."

Gilpin has earned a variety of academic and athletic honors at Northern, including selection as Student of the Month and Student-Athlete of the Month, and has been named to the school's honor roll several times. He received Who's Who Among American High School Students recognition, and was elected to serve as sergeant-at-arms of the NHS Letterman's Club. He also throws the discus and shot put for the Husky varsity track and field team.

Currently studying in the Computer Technology Program at Garrett Community College, Gilpin will earn a GCC computer tech repair certificate this spring. He intends to major in engineering at Fairmont, and can look forward to quite a bit of bookwork in the classroom and the locker room as well, according to FSC's Elliott. "Toby will have to learn a lot of formations for us, but we signed him because we have full confidence in his abilities both on and off the field."

The Falcons run a no-huddle, multiple formation offense known for its aggressive attack. Their quarterback, Brian Harman of Clarksburg, W.Va., was second in the nation in total offense last season as he helped lead FSC to a 7-3 record and the West Virginia Conference championship.

"We're a good program that's getting better," Elliott remarked. "We think Toby Gilpin can play a big part in getting us to the national championship."

Gilpin is the son of Donna and Kenneth Gilpin of Grantsville.

Lakers Play 11 Games In Five Days, Win Six Of Them

Foul weather in recent weeks backed up the local baseball schedule so tight that the Garrett Community College Lakers were forced to play 11 games in just five days this past week. The win-loss result in all of that was 6-5, which upped the Lakers' overall record to 14-17.

The marathon began last Thursday when Garrett dropped both ends of a doubleheader to visiting and nationally ranked Allegany College of Maryland, 8-2 and 11-0. The Lakers rebounded for a 13-1, 1-0 sweep of visiting Anne Arundel CC on Friday, took two from Essex CC on Saturday, 6-3 and 6-5, also at McHenry, and split a twinbill with host Frederick CC on Sunday, losing the opener, 9-4, and winning the second game, 9-6. Then on Monday the Lakers recorded a 5-2 victory over the visiting West Virginia Wesleyan junior varsity, and on Tuesday dropped a doubleheader to host Anne Arundel, 3-2 and 11-4.

VS. ALLEGANY

In Thursday's first game against the 28-2 Trojans of Allegany College, AC's Scott Kintz scored a run in the top of the first on a wild pitch. The Lakers knotted the score at 1-1 in the bottom of that frame when Chad Cooper scored on an infield out hit by Dan Kochenderfer.

The Trojans took the lead for good in the third when Dan Patsilevas rapped a two-run homer. They added three more runs in the fourth on an RBI double by Mike Elliott and run-producing singles by Kintz and Patsilevas.

Allegany added two insurance runs in the seventh with a two-run blast by Brett Brown, and the Lakers added one final run in the bottom of the seventh via a solo homer by Craig Barkey.

Patsilevas had two singles to go with his home run, and Kintz recorded two singles for Allegany. Jason DiAngelo had two of the Lakers' four hits, both singles.

Marty Rakaczewski was the winning pitcher and upped his personal mark to 6-0 for the season.

The Lakers were also held to just four hits in the second game, while the Trojans amassed 11, including two-run homers by both Jerry Fulton and Patsilevas, a two-run double by Josh Logsdon, and a two-run single by Elliott. Fulton also had two singles, while Gozzard contributed three singles.

David Theisen went the distance and struck out seven to get the win on the mound.

VS. ANNE ARUNDEL

The Laker bats erupted for 16 hits in Friday's 13-1 win over Anne Arundel CC, and then got an outstanding pitching effort from Jeff Earley to capture the nightcap.

The Lakers wasted no time taking control of the opener, scoring five runs in the first inning. They added four runs in the second, three in the third, and one in the fourth, which led to the game being called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Kochenderfer had a two-run double in the first inning, followed by a run-producing triple by Craig Barkey and back-to-back singles by Brandon Stewart, Josh Bosley, and Tim Casey.

Matt Mills finished with three doubles for two RBI, Chad Cooper hit two doubles and a single, Barkey hit a triple and a single for four RBI, Kochenderfer recorded a double and a single, and Bosley and Casey each singled twice.

Nathan Gayman went the distance on the mound to record the win. He had six strike-outs and allowed four hits.

The only run of the second game was scored by the Lakers in the bottom of the first, as Cooper led off with a single, Mills reached on an error, and Adam Skocik singled home Cooper. The rest of the game was a pitchers' dual between Earley and Anne Arundel's Tom Foster. Earley struck out seven and allowed just three hits in seven innings, while Foster fanned eight and also allowed only three hits.

VS. ESSEX

Former Southern High standout Josh Bosley was the star for the Lakers in their first-game victory over Essex CC on Saturday, as he scattered six hits, issued only one walk, and struck out 11 batters in going the distance. The win upped his personal mark to 3-1.

Garrett took the lead with a run in the first inning, broke a 1-1 tie in the bottom of the second, and added four more runs in the third. The third inning was highlighted by a three-run double by Jason DiAngelo.

Mills and Barkey also hit doubles for the Lakers, who finished with seven hits.

A two-run homer by Kochenderfer in the fifth inning of the second game rallied the Lakers from a 5-4 deficit to a 6-5 victory. The blast was preceded by a single by Mills.

Mike Berry was on the mound for the Lakers and pulled off some seventh inning heroics to ensure the win. Essex first botched a squeeze bunt play with runners at second and third with one out. Then Berry struck out the final batter, with the tying run at third.

The Lakers had but four hits, but took advantage of five walks and three batters being hit by pitches. Kochenderfer had a single to go with his home run.

VS. FREDERICK

The Frederick Cougars used the long ball to earn a 9-4 win over the Lakers in the opening game of their twinbill on Sunday, with Cory O'Brian, Brent Myers, Gary Harrison, and Eric Smoot all smacking homers.

Chad Cooper hit a double and scored twice for the Lakers, while Jeremy Gayman had two singles and an RBI.

The Lakers trailed by a 6-3 margin after five innings in the second game, but answered with a big six-run spurt in the top of the sixth to record the victory.

A solo homer by Kochenderfer in the first inning gave the Lakers a 1-0 lead, and after the Cougars tied it with a run in the bottom of the first, Josh Bosley stroked a two-run homer in the fourth to make it 3-1.

Bosley No-Hits Alco, Teams With Liller To Gun Down NHS

Southern High School's Jennifer Bosley and Ashley Liller unleashed a double-barreled attack on their opponents this week, as Bosley recorded a no-hitter against Allegany during Saturday's 4-0 win, and Liller drove home eight runs on five hits Tuesday against visiting Northern in a 17-1 landslide. The pair have led the Rams to a 10-2 mark so far this season.

It's no exaggeration to say that Bosley singlehandedly defeated Alco, as she was responsible for each out the Rams made in the field. The pitcher and her catcher, Gina Reeves, played catch for seven innings as the junior pitching sensation tossed a 19-strikeout no-hitter, fielding two weak pop-ups dinked out to the pitcher's mound to account for all 21 outs. The righty just missed recording a perfect game by issuing one walk to a lucky Camper.

SHS went up 2-0 in the fourth inning after Stacey Scripp led off with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt, and moved to third on an error. Megan Burner singled to send Scripp home, and later in the same stanza Reeves crossed the plate when Amber Bernard knocked out an RBI single of her own.

The third inning saw Bosley reach first on a fielder's choice and move to second on a Scripp single. Reeves drove both runners home on a two-RBI single. Southern recorded a total of seven hits and didn't commit a single error, while Allegany had three fielding miscues.

Liller got the Rams off to a quick start in Tuesday's home game against Northern as she belted two triples in the first inning to spark a nine-run stanza. SHS scored five times in the second to take a 14-0 lead and never looked back, adding two runs in the third and one run in the fourth. Northern's lone score came in the fourth inning after Bridget Frazee tripled and Jolene Brenneman drove her home with a baschit.

Liller's power at the plate resulted in eight RBI, Bosley went 2-for-4 with a double and two RBI, and Scripp rapped out a pair of singles. Frazee ripped a pair of triples for Northern.

Bosley started the contest and struck out eight Huskies over three innings of work (that's eight strikeouts out of nine outs). Liller came to the mound in the fourth inning for mop-up duty to earn the save.

The Rams' homestand continues this week as they host Keyser tomorrow afternoon for a 4:30 twinbill, and Fort Hill Monday for another 4:30 contest.

STRIKING FEAR into the hearts of opposing batters across the region, Jennifer Bosley's (pictured at left) amazing pitching run continued this week as the Southern High School ace mowed down 19 Allegany batters via strikeouts during Saturday's 4-0 no-hit win. The junior then struck out eight Northern Huskies over three innings of work Tuesday before relinquishing the mop-up duty to teammate Ashley Liller. Also just a junior, Liller, shown directly above batting against NHS pitcher Jolene Brenneman, put in an outstanding two-way performance against NHS by not only pitching, but also recording an astounding eight RBI on a pair of triples and three singles. The 10-2 Rams are slated to host Keyser tomorrow during a 4:30 p.m. doubleheader.

Huskies Split Salisbury DH Between Beall, SHS Losses

Northern High School's softball team had another tough slate this week. The Huskies opened Thursday in Accident with an 11-0 loss to Beall, stumbled in the opener of Friday's home twinbill with Salisbury 7-5 before regaining their footing to take the nightcap 3-2, before being shredded by Southern High in a 17-1 debacle Tuesday in Oakland (see SHS account). The action leaves NHS with a 2-8 record heading into a busy week's worth of home games.

Thursday's contest witnessed a three-run outburst by Beall in the leadoff inning, followed by a one-run fourth and seven-run fifth. The Mountaineers rapped out a total of nine hits and drew 14 walks, while NHS's offense was limited to Bridget Frazee's and Brooke Butler's lone singles. Beall pitcher Laura Booth picked up the complete-game win. Jolene Brenneman was tagged with the loss.

Northern fell behind early in Game 1 against Salisbury Friday, as the Elks rumbled out to a 4-0 lead in the top of the first. The Huskies fought back into the thick of things by scoring four runs of their own in the bottom of the inning.

Salisbury scored one run in each of the third and fourth innings to go up 6-4, Northern scored a run in the bottom of the fourth to pull within one, but the Elks put the final nail in the coffin with a one-run fifth to take win by two.

Jen Pope drove home three runs for Salisbury on a triple and a double. Brenneman, Brooke Butler, and Lyndsi Butler each singled twice for the Huskies, and Brenneman and Lyndsi Butler each picked up an RBI. Brenneman left the pitcher's mound in the first inning, and Frazee worked the rest of the way.

Northern jumped out to a quick 1-0 lead in the nightcap with a first-inning run. The Elks scored twice in the fourth to take a 2-1 lead, but the Huskies patiently worked their way to the win by scoring once in each of the final two innings. Brenneman scored on Amanda Frantz's RBI basehit in the fourth, and Brenneman knocked the game-winning single in the fifth.

Brandi Perez picked up the complete-game win on the mound. NHS recorded eight hits over the contest, two of which were singles by Autumn Kitchen.

The Huskies' schedule has been turned upside-down by the weather in the first half of the season, as they are slated to host Fort Hill today, Hyndman Monday, and Westmar Tuesday. Each of those contests get under way at 4:30 p.m., while a Thursday home twinbill against Keyser will begin at 4 p.m.

GCC Softball Team Falls In Opening Games

Garrett Community College's women's softball team got off to a rocky start in its first week of intercollegiate competition. Hampered by a severely curtailed practice schedule and the lack of a homefield advantage, the Lakers were stymied in a close 13-11 loss at Potomac State College in their inaugural outing Friday, dropped a Saturday twinbill at Anne Arundel, 26-0 and 13-0, and fell at Penn State-Fayette Campus yesterday 17-3.

Friday's season opener featured a four-run PSC first inning, and the hosts added a fifth run in the second. The Lakers bounced back with three scores in the third and one run in the fourth, but the Catamounts went on a five-run tear in the bottom of the stanza to take a 10-4 lead.

Garrett refused to cave in, however, and pulled right back into the fray by exploding for five runs in the fifth to pull within one, and in the sixth the Lakers scored twice to take an 11-10 lead. PSC rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to claim the win.

Mimi Harvey, a former standout infielder for Northern High School, drew the starting assignment and pitched the complete game. Southern High alumna Jennifer Teagarden started for the Catamounts, and relief pitcher Stresky was summoned for closing duty. Potomac State improved its record to 7-4.

The Lakers drew a tough nod for the next day's doubleheader, as the squad traveled to the homefield of second-ranked NJCAA Division III powerhouse Anne Arundel. The hosts' experience showed as they took a pair of big wins that featured a no-hit pitching performance by Stacy Smith in Game 1 that included eight strikeouts and Stephanie Gorsky's two hitter in the nightcap. Garrett's lone hits of the day were singles rapped out by Game 2 pitcher Lauren Stillwagon and outfielder Kristen Sharp.

"This was only the second time we were able to be on a field," Laker head coach Ann Wellham commented after the losses to the 17-5 Anne Arundel squad. "It's pretty hard to demonstrate your ability when you're practicing in a gym."

Yesterday afternoon's outing to Uniontown, Pa., featured another match-up with a college softball powerhouse, and the day ended with Fayette lifting its record to 10-1 by virtue of a five-inning win. GCC fell behind by four in the first inning and was down 11-0 after two innings. The Lakers scored one run in the third and two in the fourth, but Fayette closed the door with a six-run tally in its half of the stanza. Harvey and Sharp each singled twice for the Lakers, who knocked a respectable nine-hit total off winning pitcher Anita Sangston.

The 0-4 Lakers' regular season closes with a Monday visit to Montgomery-Rockville. GCC is slated to take part in the two-day Division III Tournament at Anne Arundel, set to begin Friday, May 4.

LAKERS SOFTBALLERS SEEK FIRST WIN — The first-ever intercollegiate women's softball team of Garrett Community College is off to a slow start in an abbreviated season with an even more curtailed practice schedule as they have neither a practice nor a game field to call their own. Shown kneeling, from the left, the squad's freshmen are Crystal Kimble, Lauren Stiliwagon, Mimi Harvey, Ave Kikas, Tatjana Kravtsuk, and Marina Kravtsuk. Standing are head coach Ann Wellham, sopho-mores Amy Tressler, Gretchen Baker, Morgan White, Shannon Robinson, Melissa Upole, Michelle McCartney, and Kristen Sharp, and assistant coach Steve Willison. Bryan Panther Is First-Team All-Area Player

After being named to the All-Western Maryland Interscholastic League basketball first team last week, Southern High School's Bryan Panther received an even bigger honor this week in being named to the All-Area first team.

Panther led the Rams to a 22-4 record this past season and a berth in the Maryland State 1A semifinals, as he finished with a team-high 14.4 points and 6.1 rebounds per outing. He was also one of the area's top shooters, hitting 49 percent of his shots from the floor (149 for 304) and 82.5 percent from the foul line (47 for 57).

Panther netted 16 points in the state semifinal against Snow Hill, which the Rams lost, 54-49. His best scoring efforts of the season were 25 points against Fort Hill, 23 at Allegany, and 21 versus Tucker County. In his junior and senior seasons at Southern, the Rams finished with a combined overall record of 42-9.

"Bryan almost always played his best in the big games," stated his coach, Tom Bosley. "He is such an excellent shooter, at times we had to encourage him to shoot more. But he is also patient and very unselfish. He would always wait for a good shot, and if he didn't have one he would find someone else who had a better look.

"Bryan loves the game, and he put in the time and effort to have a great season this year," Bosley concluded.

Joining Panther on the first team are Area Player of the Year Jeremy Snyder of Fort Hill, William Ault of Frankfort, Ryan Rebuck of Allegany, Nick George of Bishop Walsh, and Matt Delawder of Paw Paw.

Garrett County players receiving All-Area honorable mention are Panther's teammate Josh Sharon, and Northern High School's Greg Speicher, who was also named last week to the All-WMIL first team. Selection to the All-Area squads was by a vote of 20 area head coaches.

KITZMILLER LADIES' SOFTBALL TEAM held a 50/50 raffle, which was won by Lee Riggleman, Kitzmiller, on the right. Charlie Paugh, janitor of Kitzmiller School, drew the winning ticket. Courtney Clark, Baltimore, won the Easter basket, courtesy of the Kitzmiller Ladies' Softball team.

Husky Netters Sweep Frankfort; Fall To Sentinels

The Northern High School varsity tennis program recorded a 7-0 sweep of Frankfort in girls' action Monday afternoon in Accident, then both the girls' and boys' squads fell to powerhouse Fort Hill the following afternoon by respective scores of 6-1, 5-2.

The quintet of Husky singles victories over the Falcons during Monday's sweep were recorded by a combined score of 40-11. Top-seed Heather Lander, Ashley Robinson, and Renee Meyers won the first three matches by a total 30-4 tally, and Christie Flockhart and Amber Weimer took that final pair. Doubles action resulted in Lander and Flockhart teaming up for the first-seed win, and Rachel Bruch and Andrea Green combining for the second NHS triumph.

The next day's home-court outing was a different story, as an unbeaten Fort Hill girls' team pulled off a 6-1 win over the Huskies. The Sentinels swept singles competition behind the play of Jessica Hovatter, Sara Bruszewski, Elana Malak, Lynn Lancaster, and Amber Bailey, and the FH combo of Hovatter/Bruszewski took the top-seed doubles match. NHS's Bruch/Green team took an 8-2 win to help Northern avoid falling in a sweep.

In boys' play, the 7-3 Sentinels led off with a singles victory by Jon Rice. Northern's Woody Kenner bounced his FH opponent by an 8-6 score to even the contest, but the Sentinels took the next three singles matches as Adam Martin took a close 9-7 win over Mark Bergstrom, and Zach Whittington and Tim Mason recorded victories. Mike Fletcher and Kenner won the top-seed doubles match by an 8-6 margin, but Fort Hill rebounded for an 8-2 win in the finale.

The Huskies will host Beall tomorrow and Keyser Tuesday before traveling to Bishop Walsh Wednesday. All matches get under way at 4 p.m.

Southern Girls Win One, Lose One; Boys Lose

The girls' tennis team of Southern High School split a pair of matches this past week, losing to host Fort Hill on Friday, 6-1, but rebounding for a 6-1 victory over visiting Frankfort yesterday. The Southern boys were edged by Fort Hill, 4-3.

Mayjel Skeweris was the only singles winner for the Rams against Fort Hill, while Jessica Hovatter, Sara Bruszewski, Elena Malak, and Lynn Lancaster were all singles winners for the Sentinels.

Undefeated Josh Stephens and Dustin Slider led the Rams by winning their singles matches against Fort Hill, and then teamming up to capture another point by winning a doubles match. Fort Hill's Adam Martin, Zach Whittington, and Tim Mason were all winners in singles competition.

Against Frankfort, Skeweris, Britney Ashby, Kristin Stanton, and Tasha Seilhammer all won in singles for the Rams, while Madeline Blattler won for the Falcons.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

Home of Deep Creek Lake

The monthly meeting of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce board of directors was held April 19, with chairman Jerry Geisler presiding. The following reports were given and actions taken.

•Chamber president Ken Wishnick reported:

Garrett County was highlighted in several recent publications, including the May/June 2001 issue of American Angler, which had a feature story on fishing the North Branch of the Potomac, the Youghiogheny, and the Casselman rivers. In addition, a full-page story on Deep Creek Lake appeared in the Lebanon Daily News.

The Mason-Dixon Outdoor Travel Writers Association will meet in Garrett County in October. The chamber will be involved in ensuring that these important writers leave with enthusiasm for our county.

The chamber is developing new promotion brochures. "Specialty Shopping" will be a countywide guide to unique shopping experiences, and "Agri-Tourism" will highlight area farms and agricultural-related activities available to the public. In addition, the existing "Adventure Sports" brochure is being redesigned for a reprint.

Nominees are now being accepted for the chamber's "Heise Entrepreneurial Spirit Award," the winner of which will be publicly acknowledged at the chamber's annual meeting on the evening of June 11 at the McHenry House. Nomination forms are in the May monthly mailer to members.

Chamber staff is continuing its road show and will be exhibiting at the Baltimore Waterfront Festival, the Towsontown Festival, the Pentagon Travel Show, and the Dept. of Internal Affairs, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, and National Institute of Health Leisure and Travel Expo.

•Jim Murray and Doug McClive reported on the chamber's Group Insurance Task Force recommendations. Members will be notified of a new benefit offering after a vendor agreement is inked.

•Steve Green, chair of the Recreational Trails Task Force, reported that the task force has completed a plan to upgrade, expand, and connect a county system of recreational trails. Sufficient funding sources were identified through the task force study. Once completed, the trail system would produce a "substantial economic impact." The board voted to approve the task force report and recommendations.

•Board member Dave Thomas was named as the Garrett County chamber's official representative to the Maryland State Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Changes were made to the chamber's bylaws as follows: allowing out of county, nonprofit members to advertise in the Vacation Guide; and empowering staff to recruit new members by waiving dues for the last two months of the fiscal year, with a prepayment of annual dues.

The board also approved listing out-of-county events on the chamber's Internet calendar of events, if it is under a separate category with appropriate disclaimers. The staff was also asked to verify each event before posting.

The chamber's annual dinner meeting will be held Monday, June 11, at the McHenry House, beginning at 6 p.m. The featured speaker will be Hannah Byron, the new executive director of the Maryland Office of Tourism Development.

St. Peter's Church Celebrates 100th Anniversary

Bishop W. Francis Malooly, western vicar of the Catholic Archdiocese of Baltimore, will be principal celebrant and homilist on Sunday, April 29, as St. Peter's Catholic Church celebrates the 100th anniversary of the beginning of construction of the present church.

During the 9 a.m. mass there will be special music by the choir and the bell choir. Following the mass there will be a free-will offering breakfast in the Parish Hall. Pictures of the blessing of the cornerstone and construction of the church will be displayed.

Several holy cards of the inside of the church will be given to all in attendance, and T-shirts and hats with the picture of the church and name embroidered will be available for sale.

A previous church, the first built within Oakland's town limits, was dedicated on June 29, 1852. When that building started to deteriorate, the present church building was started.

Construction of St. Peter's began on Friday, April 26, 1901, and the church was first used on Sunday, Feb. 15, 1903.

"The church is built of native stone, with slate roof, and located on a hill from which its towering steeple can be seen from a distance," said Robert Browning Garrett in his booklet, The Catholic Church in Garrett County. "On a calm day its bell can be heard as far as Deer Park, six miles east."

Beginning in June 2002, the parish will start a yearlong celebration of the 150th anniversary of the start of the parish.

Fund-Raising Relay Events Off And Running

Two fund-raising events are scheduled for this Saturday, April 28, to benefit two teams in the Garrett County Relay for Life.

The McHenry United Methodist Church team will host a lasagna dinner from 2:30 until 6:30 p.m. at the Friendsville Elementary School.

The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children ages 12 and under.

The Heaven's Mountain Band will hold a concert at 7 p.m. to benefit the Hillbilly Hikers team. The concert will be held at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren at Swallow Falls. A free will offering will be taken for the Relay for Life.

Refreshments will be available.

Numerous events are also scheduled for Saturday, May 5, to benefit different teams.

The Town of Kitzmiller team will be holding a car wash from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Kitzmiller community building.

A yard sale will be held starting at 9 a.m. in the parking lot at Fisher Auto along Third Street, Oakland, to benefit the Dennis's Menaces team.

Another yard sale will also be held Saturday at Tom Browning's house along 4th Street, Oakland, starting at 8 a.m.

Proceeds will benefit the Tom Browning family team, the Melanoma Knights. Raffle tickets will also be sold for a homemade quilt.

Later in the day a baked potato bar will be held at the Fairview Church of the Brethren, from 4 to 7 p.m., to benefit the Fairview Flyers team.

Advanced tickets cost $5. Tickets at the door cost $6, and tickets for children ages 2 to 12 cost $2.

A big bucks bingo will be held at the Oakland fire hall starting at 5 p.m. to benefit the Alvarez's Angels.

The entry fee is $25. Prizes include two $500 jackpots and speed games.

Library Trustees To Hold Meeting

The next meeting of the board of trustees of the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County will be Thursday, May 3, 4 p.m. at the Oakland library.

The board meeting is open to the public. Persons wanting more information may call 301-334-3996.

TV PIPELINE

Garland biopic used the late star's voice

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Judy Davis

Q: In the weeks since Life With Judy Garland: Me and My Shadows aired, I have heard conflicting stories about whom we heard in the musical numbers: Judy Davis, Judy Garland, a voice double? Can you please clarify? –Martin H., Atlanta.

A: The answer is more complicated than you might expect. You heard actual Garland vocal tracks during almost all the musical numbers, although Judy Davis made a point of really singing as the numbers were being filmed to replicate Garland's very physical style.

Davis was a rock singer before becoming an actress, but trying to duplicate Garland's uninhibited belt nearly made her pass out a couple of times, according to a publicist for the TV movie.

There were only three notable moments for which no Garland tracks were available. That was Davis you heard in the CBS boardroom scene, when she crooned "Over the Rainbow" to President Kennedy. A voice double was used for two other scenes: when young Judy (Tammy Blanchard) sang a Jewish song during an MGM audition and when the older Judy performed informally for party guests.

Q: What is going on with Paul Gross? I have seen so many other actors from Due South in other roles, and he was far and away the best. –Jessie Gordon via e-mail.

A: If Gross, who turns 42 this week, seems to have dropped out of sight recently, there's a good reason: He spent much of last year performing the title role in Hamlet at Canada's prestigious Stratford Festival, where he drew raves for his performance. Right now, he is said to be working on a pet project of his, a movie about the sport of curling, which he wrote and plans to star in. The tentative title is Men With Brooms.

Q: Did Micky Dolenz of the Monkees once star in a TV show called Circus Boy? –Kyle Ann, LaPorte, Ind.

A: Yes, Dolenz was working under the name Mickey Braddock when he played a 12-year-old orphan named Corky in that 1956-58 series.

Q: Did Tisha Campbell-Martin (My Wife and Kids) play one of the "doo-wop girls" in the movie musical Little Shop of Horrors? –D.B., Ann Arbor, Mich.

A: Yes, the actress, who began performing at age 5, was 15 when she played Chiffon in Little Shop.

Q: You recently identified the theme song from Ed as a CD single by the Foo Fighters called "Next Year." The song is also on their 1999 album There Is Nothing Left to Lose, which some readers might find easier to locate than the CD single. –David Thomas in Florida.

A: Thanks, David!

Mtn. Glade Day Services Receives United Way Grant

Mountain Glade Adult Day Services in Oakland has received a $5,000 grant from the United Way to provide its services to seniors. The money will fund one person's participation in the adult day care program.

Mountain Glade Services provides daytime assistance and care, allowing older persons or those with disabilities to remain in their community while maintaining their independence and dignity. The program offers an alternative to placement in a long-term nursing care center while at the same time providing respite for those giving care at home. Daily services include medication assistance and monitoring; physical, occupational, and speech therapy; monitoring of health status; counseling; scheduled transportation to and from the center and such appointments as dental and medical; and assistance with personal grooming.

Mountain Glade also offers participants interaction with others who have similar interests and experiences. The center provides a full roster of events and activities, including crafts, shopping trips, games, recreational excursions, and learning sessions. Chaplaincy services also are part of center life.

Many program participants depend on Mountain Glade for help with everyday needs; the center's staff can become an extended family by serving as a support system and helping rebuild self-esteem. The center provides support for the working family by ensuring a safe and secure place for their family member.

"This program provides relief and support to families," says Joanne Harsh, Mountain Glade director. "They can maintain their income level by going to work without having to put their loved one into a nursing facility. It also gives them a much-needed break from providing nearly constant care."

More than 125 clients have been served since Mountain Glade opened over five years ago. The facility can serve 26 clients per day and currently has 40 registered participants, and is funded by private pay, Medical Assistance, and grant funds for those who are income-eligible.

Mountain Glade is a ministry of Diakon Lutheran Social Ministries. Diakon was created by the January 1, 2000, affiliation of Lutheran Services Northeast and Tressler Lutheran Services, and serves more than 50,000 people annually. Other services include refugee sponsorship recruitment, adoption, senior adult centers, retirement communities, wilderness programs for court-adjudicated youth, foster care, pregnancy services, and Family Life Services.

JOY ON FOUR LEGS — Mountain Glade Adult Day Services client Nellie Hare is shown with a cloven-hoofed visitor, one of a number of animals brought to the center by volunteers to brighten clients' days. Mountain Glade, which provides daytime assistance and care to older persons or those with disabilities, recently received a $5,000 United Way grant to fund one person's participation in the adult day care program. Antiques

Every well-dressed piano of the 1880s was covered with a Spanish shawl held in place by a "piano baby." Bisque figurines of babies, ranging in size from 3 inches to 12 inches, were displayed on pianos. The babies were lying on their stomachs, playing with their toes, crying, smiling, crawling or rolling on their backs. Sometimes two were posed together. Some were even modeled inside a shoe or holding a toy.

The best of the piano babies were made by the Gebruder Heubach firm of Germany. They made dolls and figurines after 1820. Heubach figurines and piano babies are almost always marked. Copies have been made. The old figures have a small, pencil-sized hole in the bottom. The recent copies have large holes.

Q: My brother has an old basket that he says is made from an armadillo shell. Can this be?

A: Armadillo baskets are curiosities that have been made in Texas since the late 1880s. Charles Apelt, a German basket weaver who had moved to Texas, accidentally discovered that the shell of a dead armadillo curled up as it dried. The tail could be positioned to make a handle for the shell basket. He began hunting and killing armadillos for baskets. Later, his company expanded and he made purses, lamps with armadillo shades, smoking stands and many other novelties. The company continued making gifts of armadillo shells until 1971.

Armadillo-shell baskets were very popular Texas souvenirs that sold for about $3 in the 1940s. Today they are found in antiques shops and flea markets from time to time, priced at about $85.

Tip: Use your silver often, and wash it to keep it clean. Polish it as seldom as possible. Silver polish removes a small bit of silver each time it is used.

Paw's corner

by Sam Mazzotta

Q: My dog loves to chase cars — like every other dog, I suppose! But I worry that he'll get hit. How can I stop him from doing this?

A: For the short term, keep your dog safe by keeping him on a leash whenever he's outside, or keeping him behind a fence. Don't let him run loose along the sidewalk, no matter how friendly he is!

You can train him not to chase cars, though this will take some time — several weeks to months. Stand on the sidewalk, keeping the leash fairly loose but with a tight handhold. Observe your dog as a car passes. If he lunges for the car, or even looks longingly at it, growl a firm "No!" at him. Use a jerk-and-release method (taught in many obedience schools) if he lunges; let him know this is a training session, not play time. Every time you take him out for a walk, go through this exercise.

Over time, your dog will learn not to chase cars when he's on the leash. Your next step will be to teach him not to chase even when he's off the leash. This is dependent on the amount of obedience training and reinforcement the two of you have worked on. If he responds to your commands and stops when you tell him "No!" then he will listen to you when you order him not to chase a passing car.

Watch your dog carefully when he's off his leash. If he lunges toward a car, tell him "No!" in that firm, low voice. If he doesn't stop immediately and return, put him back on his leash — not to punish him, but to keep him safe. Then, continue his obedience training until he responds confidently to your voice.

This will take time and patience, so keep at it. In the meantime, keep him safe from passing cars, and good luck!

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On May 6, 1626, according to legend, Manhattan, a 28-square mile island along the Hudson River, was purchased by Dutch settler Peter Minuit from the local Native people for merchandise valued at $24.

• On April 30, 1803, representatives of the United States and Napoleonic France signed a treaty approving the Louisiana Purchase, a massive land purchase that more than doubled the size of the young American republic. The acquisition of the territory of Louisiana, encompassing the entire region of the Mississippi-Missouri river valleys, was Thomas Jefferson's most notable achievement as president.

• On May 5, 1945, in Lakeview, Ore., Mrs. Elsie Mitchell and five neighborhood children were killed while attempting to drag a Japanese balloon out of the woods. Unbeknownst to them, the balloon was armed, and it exploded soon after. They were the first and only known American civilians to be killed in the continental United States during World War II.

• On May 1, 1960, an American U-2 spy plane was shot down over central Russia, forcing its pilot, Francis Gary Powers, to bail out at 15,000 feet. A year-and-a-half later, the Soviets agreed to release him in exchange for a Soviet spy caught and convicted in the United States five years earlier.

• On May 2, 1972, after nearly five decades as director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover died, leaving the powerful government agency without the administrator largely responsible for its existence and shape. Among his achievements: He built the corruption-ridden agency into an efficient crime-fighting machine, establishing a centralized fingerprint file, a crime laboratory and a training school for agents.

• On May 3, 1979, in British general elections, the Conservative Party defeated the ruling Labor Party, and Margaret Thatcher, leader of the Conservatives, became the first female prime minister in British history.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It seems that at weddings, the mother of the bride (and often the groom and many other relatives) cries. A lot. At one time, though, it was considered bad luck if the bride herself didn't weep copiously. It was believed that a witch couldn't shed more than three tears (and those only from her left eye). If the bride cried voluminously (from both eyes), the groom was reassured that his new wife was not a witch. I wonder what happened to those poor women who couldn't shed a tear.

• The first people to use wristwatches were artillery officers during World War I.

• The Volkswagen Beetle didn't always have such a memorable name; it was originally called the "KdF-Wagen." This name came from the German initials for "Strength Through Joy Car."

• In France, Napoleon instituted a scale of fines for sex offenses. If a man lifted a woman's skirt to the knee, he had to pay 35 francs. If he lifted it to the thigh, he had to pay 70 francs.

• Sailing ships are underrated these days, but wind power was all there was for millennia. The speed of a Yankee Clipper Ship was faster than any steam-powered vessel prior to World War II, and until the advent of nuclear power, no ship could go as far as a sailing vessel without refueling.

• An ostrich egg is equal in volume to 24 chicken eggs.

• John F. Kennedy, Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby all died in the same place: Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, Texas. Ruby, convicted murderer of Oswald, died on Jan. 3, 1967 from a blood clot that lodged in his lungs. He was suffering from lung cancer.

He Has Taken the Sting...

"Mom, why is Kendall crying?", exclaimed Kyle, as his four-year-old twin brother jumped up and down, tears streaming onto his scarlet cheeks.

"A honey-bee stung Kendell, but he will be all right soon," assured Mom as she tried to soothe her distressed victim.

"Where is the bee? Will it sting me too?", shrieked Kyle as he began to run for the house.

"Wait Kyle", said Mom. "Don't be afraid. Your brother took the sting. That bee has no stinger. It cannot harm you now."

Christ took the sting for us when he died on the Cross. We read in 1 Corinthians 15:55... "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" When we believe that Christ died to atone for our sins that we might have eternal life, death has no victory...no sting.

Rejoice as you worship this week, for Christ has taken the sting for you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A LOT MORE TO 'BARNABAS'

April 29, 2001

Background Scripture:
Acts 11:19-30; 13:1-3
Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 3:7-12

Here and there I find a 'Church of St. Barnabas,' but very few in comparison with those named for St. Paul, St. Peter and the writers of the four gospels. If Barnabas is remembered for anything, it is usually as a companion to Paul on two of his missionary journeys. But there is a lot more to Barnabas than that.

We know he was originally from Cyprus, a Jew, born of the tribe of Levi. We can deduce that he must have been one of the members of the early church in Jerusalem, perhaps early enough so that he had personally known Jesus. We first run across him in Acts 4:36 ff. when he sells his land and donates the proceeds to the early Church. In these days he was probably not known as Barnabas, but by his original name, Joseph or Joses. It was during his days in the Jerusalem that he went out on a limb to persuade the Christians of Jerusalem and beyond that Paul's conversion was genuine. (Acts 9:12)

Hearing disturbing reports that Greeks were becoming part of the church at Antioch, the Jerusalem church sent him there to look into the situation. It is believed that he became the leader of the church at Antioch, one of the most important in the early Church. In the early chapters of Acts, he and Paul are listed as 'Barnabas and Saul,' the order of their naming indicating that Barnabas was in charge and Saul/Paul his associate. It was possibly in Antioch that he began to be known as 'Barnabas,' meaning "son of encouragement." That Barnabas was compared to the god Jupiter/Zeus in Lystra suggests that he was robust and magnetic in his personality.

'He Was Glad'!

When Barnabas arrived in Antioch, he saw that that Greeks were indeed joining the church and he recognized it as a good thing. Acts tells us, "When he ...saw the grace of God, he was glad,...for he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith" (11:23). Good for Barnabas, he was 'a good man'! He wasn't so ham-strung by tradition that he couldn't see that the inclusion of the Greeks was evidence of the "grace of God." He lived up to his new name: Barnabas- "son of encouragement."

Barnabas recognized a great potential for

RELAY TO HONOR TRUE SURVIVORS — Regardless of the current craze for meaningless "Survivor" oriented television fodder, the upcoming Garrett County Relay for Life will honor some of the true survivors among us. Relay volunteers Erin DiBacco, left, and Ali Evans are shown cutting ribbons for sashes to be worn by survivors at the upcoming June 8-9 American Cancer Society fund-raiser at the Southern High School track. The mother/daughter team are co-chairs of the Survivor Committee, which will distribute the sashes and coordinate a free dinner for all cancer survivors, sponsored by Garrett Community College, which will kick off the event. See story for details.

Relay Survivor Events Include Lap, Free Dinner

The second annual Garrett County Relay for Life, the signature fund-raiser for the American Cancer Society, will include several events designed to honor and support local cancer survivors and their caregivers. The Survivor Committee, co-chaired by Ali Evans and Erin DiBacco (see photo), is making preparations for the Relay's Survivor Lap, Survivor and Caregiver Lap, and free Cancer Survivor's Dinner, among other activities.

The committee will distribute purple sashes to cancer survivors and pink sashes to caregivers, which will be worn during the Relay. Survivors will walk the first lap of the Relay, and caregivers will join them for the second lap. The numerous teams of volunteers will begin walking with Lap #3.

The free Survivor Dinner, sponsored by Garrett Community College, will be served beginning at 5:30 p.m. under a large tent along the Southern track. The menu will feature baked chicken, scalloped potatoes, green beans, tossed salad, roll, brownies, and a beverage. Each survivor may bring one guest. The dinner is free, as GCC is donating the funds to cover the entire dinner.

"The Survivor's Dinner is the kick-off to the Relay," Evans and DiBacco noted. "It's a wonderful way to begin the Relay, by honoring our survivors." For further information, or to make dinner reservations, interested persons may call Evans at 301-334-1512, or DiBacco at 301-334-5603 (home) or 301-387-3057 (work).

Seniors Excursion To Pittsburgh Set

A daylong chaperoned bus trip to Pittsburgh for Garrett County senior citizens has been slated for Tuesday, June 12, by the Garrett County Community Action Committee Area Agency on Aging. Reservations, including full payment of $52 per person, must be received by Monday, May 14, according to a GCCAC spokesperson.

Aurora Man Arrested For Local Burglary

Investigators with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation recently arrested Shawn Aaron Stemple, 20, Aurora, W.Va., in connection with a burglary of a residence located off Potomac Camp Road, Oakland.

The owner of the residence, Laura Tasker, had left her home for a short time and returned to find a strange vehicle parked in the driveway and the front door ajar, according to reports. She went inside the house and heard some noises from the rear of the house. Tasker went back outside and later confronted the subject in her yard, who claimed to be looking for someone to give him directions, according to investigators.

Evidence was later discovered that someone had been inside the residence. Stemple was later identified and arrested by authorities.

He is charged with first- and fourth-degree burglary and was released from the Garrett County Jail on a $2,500 bond.

GCC's Skidmore Receives Offutt Award For Faculty Development

GCC'S SKIDMORE AWARDED — The first Daniel Offutt Award for Garrett Community College faculty professional development has been presented to GCC art professor Ron Skidmore. The $5,000 award provides funding for faculty members who have designed a plan that will add to their expertise in their field which will be passed on to GCC students. "Not only am I grateful for the opportunity of advanced study, but for the chance to broaden the art experience for my students," Skidmore commented, adding that he intends to put the award to use to enhance the pottery and ceramic offerings at the college.

Ron Skidmore, professor of art at Garrett Community College, has been named the first recipient of the Daniel Offutt Award for faculty professional development, according to Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic and student Affairs.

Skidmore was chosen by a selection committee from among several applicants, each of whom submitted an individual plan for professional development that would ultimately benefit GCC students. The $5,000 award may be expended over a period of approximately two years. Upon completion of the proposed plan, a report on the professional benefit gained from receiving the award will be sent to Offutt for his review.

The financial award will enable Skidmore to carry out his submitted plan, which includes participation in various art workshops throughout the eastern United States, as well as a consultation on the construction and firing of a gas kiln with ceramic expert Joseph Campbell, art professor at Frederick Community College.

Among the workshops Skidmore plans to attend are three at the Touchstone Center on the Summit Mountain in Fayette County, Pa. The workshops will cover Chinese brush painting, wheelthrown and altered porcelain and stoneware, and Yoruba woodcarving by Sangoyemi Ogunsanya, an African sculptor. Skidmore also plans to participate in workshops for ceramic techniques at the World Pottery Institute in Oviedo, Fla., and possibly one at the Appalachian Center for Crafts in Tennessee.

The GCC professor will be consulting with professional potters and ceramic educators who are experienced and knowledgeable in the field of gas-fired kilns, a kiln which "is the most versatile type which can provide high fire reduction or oxidation in stoneware and porcelain, salt-firing, soda firing, glaze chemistry, and production techniques," according to Skidmore.

"The research and operation of high fire reduction and other processes in ceramics with the gas kiln will be accessible to [future] students [at GCC], just as the wood-fired kiln has been for the past two years. The products of this ceramic work have a professional appearance, and the process offers endless challenge to students, regardless of their level of skill or talent.

"Another benefit to GCC and students will be the possibilities of partnerships, guest artists, and broader base of contacts with professionals in the field. I expect that the effectiveness of instruction and experiences for students will increase significantly," Skidmore concluded.

Mother, Son To Perform In St. Paul's Concert

Mark Thaddeus Franc and Muriel Robinson Franc will be performing an informal afternoon concert, "Unforgettable Music of Yesteryear" Sunday, April 29, at 2 p.m., at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

They will be performing on the newly purchased Yamaha Conservatory grand piano that was a gift to St. Paul's by several members of the church and one estate.

Mark has appeared in Brigadoon, Kismet, Godspell, and West Side Story. Some of these performances were held in Wheeling, W.Va, Arlington, Va., and Washington, D.C.

In his latest performances, Mark has been in Broadway Tonight and a similar broadway revue in Pittsburgh. As Tony in West Side Story, the Washington Post review commented that his singing of "Maria" was "heart-breaking in its beauty."

Mark has two children, Joseph and Christopher.

Muriel moved to Oakland from Pittsburgh in 1998. As a musician, she has performed, taught, and directed for many years. She studied piano and voice with her mother, Lucille H. Robinson; cello with Felix R. Mendelssohn, (grandnephew of the composer); and further studies in New York City.

Her father Felix is known for his music composing and directing, in addition to his work as a liturgist and lecturer. Muriel has performed as soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony and the Tiny Tots Concert series.

She has three daughters and six sons. She is currently the organist and choir director at St. Paul's.

Cory Sipper To Perform at FSU

Singer-songwriter Cory Sipper, whose style blends acoustic, pop, folk, and rock, will perform at Frostburg State University in the Lane Center Loft as part of the Cafe Frostburg series Friday, May 4, beginning at 8 p.m. The performance is free and open to the public.

Hailing from Santa Barbara, Calif., Sipper began writing and performing her songs at the age of 12. She attended the Berklee College of Music for a year in 1991 and has since released four albums on her own label, Drumdrum Records. She credits her early influences as Carol King, Joni Mitchell, Cat Stevens, and James Taylor.

One fan describes Sipper's music as "music to enjoy and dream to." Another described Sipper's latest album, Orbiter, as "the soundtrack of my life."

Musicians Gear Up For GLAF's Spring Benefit

A number of local musicians will perform for "Amazing Grazing," the spring benefit for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF). The informal event will take place on Friday, May 11, in the McHenry House of Wisp Resort, from 6 until 9:30 p.m. Dress is casual and everyone is invited to attend. Tickets are $35 each and are available by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082. Credit cards are accepted.

Three local music groups will share the stage, performing for 45 minutes each. Entertainment will begin with music provided by Susan Peterson, flute, and Jerry McGee, piano. The duo have performed in the Bach's Lunch programs, and are both members of the Oompah Band and the Garrett Community Concert Band. Peterson teaches music at Southern Middle School and is the choir director at St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Jerry McGee is a realtor for Long and Foster Realty and organist at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

Harry Kight and the Jazz All-Stars will be next on the roster. The group first performed together at the Oakland Sesquicentennial Celebration in October 1999. Four members represent an extensive background in jazz from a period of many years. The musicians include Harry Kight, clarinet; Dr. David Sheets, piano; John Close, bass; and Rich Frush, percussion. A special guest artist, vocalist Bea Shaw, will debut with the group at the "Amazing Grazing" event. The evening will close with the music of Sang Run, whose music is based in the Celtic tradition. The addition of driving rhythm guitar and African percussion add a contemporary twist to classic Celtic instrumental tunes and vocals. Sang Run musicians are Mike Broderick, fiddle; Jeff Gilbert, guitar; Fred Jacoby, percussion; Jose Pimiento, guitar and vocals; and Pat Morfoot, hammered dulcimer.

Kleebs Music Center of Morgantown, W.Va., has donated a Yamaha grand piano for use by the musicians.

In addition to the sounds of the local musicians, guests of Amazing Grazing will "graze upon" hors d'oeuvres of Spain, France, and Germany. The international sampling will also include the red wines of Spain, white wines of France, and beers of Germany. A silent auction featuring a number of items donated by local individuals and merchants will also take place throughout the evening.

TO PERFORM AT GLAF BENEFIT — Harry Kight, clarinetist, and Dr. David Sheets, pianist, are pictured as they prepare to perform at Amazing Grazing, this year's benefit event for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Several local musicians will take the stage to serenade guests at the benefit. See story. Kight, a resident of the Deep Creek Lake area, has played for several decades with a number of professional groups. He played with the Maryland Jazz Septet, and is the founder of the 145-member Williamsport High School Blue Band. Sheets is a practicing dentist in Garrett County. He holds a degree in music history and composition, and a doctorate in dental medicine from the University of Pittsburgh. He has performed with such groups as the Four Aces, Ink Spots, Vogues, and Skyliners.

Artisan Village Opens 34th Summer Season

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located in Grantsville, has set its 34th summer season opening for May 1. The summer season closes October 31, although visitors may find year-round artisans at work by chance or appointment in the off-season.

Visitors are welcome at the village Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., and admission is free, except during some special events and activities. "Folks will find nine artisans at work inside cozy, authentic log cabins — some which date back to the Revolutionary War period," said village administrator Trish Morgan, "and these artisans welcome the opportunity to share the traditions of their craft as well as offer their exceptional, one-of-a-kind works for sale in their cabins."

Artisans work five days per week, with each taking one day off during the week. Those artisans are Peggy Nixon, slate painter; Connie Stark, teddy bear artist and herb specialist; Meriam Brode, basketmaker and spinner; Ann Jones, weaver; Gary Yoder, bird sculptor; Jody Best, blacksmith; Lynn Lais, potter; and Jim and Mary Ann Cummings, stained glass artists. All artisans accept cash and personal checks, and most accept major credit cards for purchases.

Buildings on campus that are available for self-guided tours are Village Office (1991), Red Shed, Bear Hill School (1913), Schrock Cabin (1930), Markley House (1775), Compton School (1825), Miller House Peace Center (1835), Eli Miller Shed (1889), House of Yoder (1999), Winterberg House (1820), Glotfelty House (1776), Village Church (1903), and Stanton's Mill (1797).

Restrooms are available on campus, and Spruce Forest is handicapped accessible. The neighboring Penn Alps Restaurant and Craft Shop is open seven days a week, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., with extended hours beginning in late May.

Activities scheduled throughout the year include Musicians' Showcases the first Saturday of each month, from noon until 1 p.m.; Celtic Quilting Class by Susan Wineke in the Village Church, June 29 to 30; Summer Festival and Quilt Show, July 12 to 14, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.; "My Heart's In the Arts" 5K run, Sept. 15; "My Heart's in the Arts" fine arts festival, Sept. 15-16, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.; Christmas in the Village, Dec. 7, from 4 to 8 p.m. and Dec. 8, from noon until 8 p.m.; and Cherries and Chill Festival, Feb. 15-16.

All program activities are sponsored in part by the Maryland state and Garrett County arts councils.

Frostburg State Choral Concert Set For May 6

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present its annual spring choral concert, "Music from Diverse Cultures," Sunday, May 6, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall. The concert is free and open to the public.

The program will feature the University Chorale and Collegium Musicum under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg, assisted by pianist Kimberly Andrews.

The chorale selections will include Johann Michael Haydn's "Gloria et Honore" and "Prayers of Steel" by F. Melius Christiansen. Selections from Scandinavia include "Aftonen" and "A Maiden is in a Ring" by Hugo Alfven (Sweden), "At Sunrise" by Toivo Kuula (Finland), and "Rondes" by Folke Rabe (Sweden).

The chorale will also perform "Prayer of the Children" — written by Kurt Bestor and arranged by Andrea S. Klouse — which is a commentary on the innocent children caught up in the brutal war in Yugoslavia that splintered into warring factions between the Serbs, Croats, and Bosnians. Other music includes "The Battle of Jericho," arranged by Moses Hogan, and "Bwana, Ni Nani Atakayekaa?" a Sukuma melody from Kenya, adapted and arranged by Boniface Mganga.

Collegium Musicum's performance will include "Yesu Wainyanza," a Luhya spiritual arranged by David Zalo Okuku, and "Kaung'a Yachee," arranged by Boniface Mganga from Kenya. They will also perform Veljo Tormis's "Curse of Iron," featuring Aaron Torgerson, tenor, and Ken Odom, bass, with Shaman Drum, and "St. John's Song," from the cycle of St. John's Day Songs for Midsummer Eve from Hargla, Estonia. Collegium Musicum will also perform "Hine e Hine," a Maori lullaby from New Zealand, and "Byker Hill," an Irish folk song arranged for male chorus by Mitchell Sandler.

For more information about the concert, persons may contact the FSU Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

Student Arts Fair To Be Held At GC College

The fifth annual Student Arts Fair will be held at Garrett Community College on May 5 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Throughout the day, there will be musical performances, art exhibits and demonstrations, mime, dance, and arts activities for students of all ages.

There will also be a special performance by Footworks Dance Co.

The event is free and sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education through grants from the Garrett County Arts Council and F&M Bank.

FSU Music Dept. Sets Performances Of Opera Scenes

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present its Opera Workshop Class performing several scenes from The Mikado, The Gondoliers, Iolanthe, H.M.S. Pinafore, and The Pirates of Penzance by Gilbert and Sullivan tomorrow, Friday, April 27, and Saturday, April 28, at 8 p.m. in the PAC Drama Theatre. The performances are free and open to the public.

Composer Sir Arthur Sullivan (1842-1900) and his librettist, Sir William Gilbert (1836-1922), created many comic operas of a style that became an institution in England in the late 1800s. A student of Schubert, Sullivan was able to create a new style by using the spirit of the songs of his teacher, along with the popular ballads of the day. Gilbert helped him produce shows that typify the late Victorian era.

The cast includes two Northern High School seniors, Holly Hare and Michael Fratz, plus Lauren Aycock, Natalie Clark, Michelle Crouch, Patrice Curtis, Cristina Distelrath-Smith, Derrick Jackson, Jen Johnston, James Jones, Brian Kosior, and David Myers. The production is directed by Richard Kagey, with musical direction by Mtn. Lake Park native Kathryn Sincell-Corwell. Kimberly Andrews is the accompanist.

FSU Dancers Will Present Spring Concert

The Frostburg State University Dance Company, under the artistic direction of Dr. Barry Fischer, will present its 2001 spring dance concert on May 4, 5, and 6 in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theater. Friday's and Saturday's performances are scheduled for 8 p.m., while Sunday's performance is a 2 p.m. matinee.

Featured works include a variety of modern and jazz dance pieces choreographed by professionals, choreographers, and FSU Dance Company members. Guest artist Elizabeth Auclair, a soloist with the Martha Graham Dance Company, will perform two original works. "Excerpt-ing," a jazz piece by Cornelius Carter of the University of Alabama, features the song "Shaft" by Isaac Hayes. "Play," an audience favorite from the Mid-Atlantic Regional American College Dance Festival's Gala Concert recently held at FSU, returns to the Drama Theatre with student dancers/choreographers Alexandra Holmes and Timothy Zeller from Virginia Commonwealth University. A total of six works will showcase the choreography and dance talents of students from the FSU Dance Company. To conclude the concert, Fischer has reconstructed and restaged "Steps in the Street," a 1936 work originally choreographed by Martha Graham that he used as the basis for his New York University doctoral dissertation.

Fischer is offering free tickets, based on availability, to those who have not previously attended an FSU Dance Company concert and come up to the Performing Arts Center at least one hour prior to the performance. Tickets go on sale Monday, April 30, for $4 each to FSU students with a current ID, and $7 for the general public.

Farm Succession Workshop To Be Held For Maryland Farmers

The Northeast New Farmers Network and the Maryland Department of Agriculture will hold a workshop for agricultural service professionals that should help to secure the future of Maryland's farmers.

"Sowing Seeds for Farm Succession" will focus on ways that extension educators, economic development specialists and other professionals can assist farmers who are planning to exit farming, especially those farmers who would prefer that their land be transferred to someone who will continue its use as productive farmland. The seminar will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 15 at the Maritime Institute of Technology and Graduate Studies (MITAGS) in Linthicum Heights. The fee for the workshop, materials and lunch is $10.

"Helping new farmers enter farming and older farmers exit farming are two sides of the same coin," said Hagner R. Mister, Maryland secretary of agriculture. "Without sufficient entry and exit strategies, we will continue to see the decline of farm businesses in Maryland. To retain farm businesses as part of our rural heritage, we must do more to encourage new farm entry."

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, farming faces the greatest decline of all the occupations in America, with a projected decrease of 12 percent between 1998 and 2008. The 1997 census showed three times as many farm operators over the age of 65 as under age 35. One-third to one-half of all farmers will retire in the next decade. How this problem is addressed will affect agriculture in Maryland for generations to come.

Transferring a family farm to the next generation seems as natural as the change in seasons. But taxes, family conflict, and lack of financing or business planning challenge many families attempting a transition—and threaten the continuation of some farms. This workshop will explore some of the tools available to help Maryland families navigate these challenges.

The Northeast New Farmers Network began in 1998 as a collaborative effort between NY FarmNet, New England Small Farm Institute, PA Farm Link, and Rutgers University. Start-up funding was provided by the Kellogg Foundation, USDA, and the Northeast Regional Center for Rural Development. The network has initiated a project to improve beginning farmers' access to resources and programs in a 12-state area from Maine to Maryland. To register, those interested may contact Valerie Gonlin at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, 410-841-5770.

Temp. Variations Influence Crop Progress/Cond.

The week ending April 22 commenced with a cold snap, which caused some concern for Maryland farmers, according to a report from the Maryland Ag Statistics Service. Some areas, especially in the northern parts of the state, experienced unseasonably cold temperatures to start the week that eventually gave way to warmer temperatures to end the week. Possible damages from frost are not yet known.

As a result of the drier conditions experienced last week, farmers were able to devote an average of 4.1 days to field work. However, some areas are still reporting a delay of two to three weeks behind schedule in tillage and corn planting. Nevertheless, planting continues to progress with green pea, potato, sweet corn, and tomato plantings at 70%, 37%, 18%, and 17% respectively.

Apples and peaches continue to run well behind schedule with 14% of the apple crop bloomed, 29% below the five-year average. Peaches are 37% bloomed, 36% lower than the five-year average. Conversely, strawberries have bloomed four percentage points ahead of schedule most likely because the California strawberries are blooming before the traditional ones.

Small grains are beginning to head and in good to excellent condition for the most part. Winter wheat condition is rated 1% very poor, 7% poor, 19% fair, 41% good, and 32% excellent. Barley condition is 9% poor, 18% fair, 43% good, and 30% excellent. Rye is rated at 1% very poor, 3% poor, 20% fair, 63% good, and 13% excellent.

Pasture conditions are reported in mostly fair or better condition. Pasture is rated 9% poor, 20% fair, 50% good, and 21% excellent. Hay supplies are rated 1% very short, 1% short, 88% adequate, and 10% surplus.

Maryland's crop progress for the week ending April 22, listing the item and percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, follows:

Planting progress: cantaloupes 9, 8, 2, 7; field corn 9, --, 6, 11; green peas 70, 40, 85, 66; potatoes 37, 28, 87, 93; sweet corn 18, 9, 20, 19; tomatoes 17, 15, 8, 13; watermelons 7, 5, 1, 4.

Fruit crops blooming: apples 14, 5, 57, 43; peaches 37, 10, 77, 73; strawberries 40, 29, 53, 36.

Soil moisture condition for the week ending April 22, listing percentages for very short, short, adequate, and surplus, in that order, is: topsoil moisture 0, 2, 69, 29; subsoil (2000) 0, 1, 63, 36; subsoil moisture 0, 4, 76, 20; subsoil (2000) 0, 12, 72, 16.

Number Of Nutrient Management Consultants Soar

The number of Maryland certified nutrient management consultants has soared to 717 based on the results of the 15th Nutrient Management Certification Exam held Feb. 2 at MDA's headquarters in Annapolis. The February exam witnessed increased participation among farmers, who accounted for 34 percent of the registrants.

All told, 65 percent of the approximately 100 applicants passed the February 2 exam and are now certified to prepare nutrient management plans for farmers. Based on a recent MDA survey, however, only about 180 consultants—including both private sector and government—are actively writing plans for farmers. The next nutrient management certification exam is scheduled for Aug. 3, 2001. For more information, those interested may call 410-841-5959.

GCCAC's Head Start Sponsors Reading Contest

The Garrett County Community Action Head Start Family Development staff sponsored a county-wide "Read to Me Caterpillar" contest during February and March to motivate families and children to read together. Families were encouraged to read to their children and return colored circles bearing the title of the book and the child's name. Each circle was added to the wall of the child's Head Start center to form caterpillars.

The families of Oakland's Head Start Room 1 tallied the most books read, nearly 5,000, and the class was rewarded with book certificates from the Book Mark'et and $50 in cash to purchase books for the classroom. (See photo.)

The reading contest was designed to meet the requirements of the Reading is Fundamental (RIF) program, which provides for inexpensive book distribution administered through a contract with the Department of Education's Office of School Improvement Programs.

RIF book distributions take place three times each school year. Garrett County Head Start, a free school readiness program for 3- to 5-year-olds, is currently accepting applications for fall 2001 enrollment. For further information, interested persons may call GCCAC's Head Start program at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 126.

READING, LIKE FAMILIES, IS FUNDAMENTAL — Head Start classrooms across the county took part in the annual "Read to Me Caterpillar" contest recently, a two-month event that encourages Head Start families and children to read together. Oakland Room 1 Head Start had the longest caterpillar with 4,702 books read from Feb. 1 to March 31. The class received a $25 gift certificate donated by the Book Mark'et of Oakland and will also receive $50 from Head Start to purchase books for the classroom. Shown above with part of the caterpillar, from left to right in the first row, are teacher Kathy Lilly, Jordan Dixon, Victoria Burgess, Todd Riley, Cory Hershman, Garrett Brake, Cheyane Welch, Trey Mayne, Chanda Beckman, and Shalyn Stemple. Standing are Sabrina Neve, Hunter Grimes, Billy Hawkins, Elizabeth George, Cambria Martinez, John Mayne, David Kitzmiller, Gabrielle Slagle, Angel Cheshire, assistant teacher Bonnie Haenftling and Michael Welch.

Workers' Memorial Day Proclaimed By Commissioners

Representatives of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Council 67 and AFSCME International met with the Garrett County commissioners this week to designate April 27 as "Workers' Memorial Day."

Workers' Memorial Day is a day dedicated to remembering all the working men and women who have lost their lives or have been injured on the job, and to renew the fight for safe working conditions. The motto for the day is "Mourn the dead, fight for the living," the representatives said.

"Over 10,000 workers a year leave home every morning and fail to return to their families at the end of the day. This loss of life is attributed to factors such as unsafe working conditions, industrial accidents, and a negligence of safety awareness," said the spokesperson.

"By passing the proclamation, Garrett County has honored these fallen heroes," he said. All working men and women across the nation are asked to observe a moment of silence at noon on April 27 for those who have died.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE:

I was recently approached by a member of the Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad pertaining to recent articles that I have written for The Republican.

This member questioned me as to the source of my information since I haven't attended any of the meetings. (I did attend the Friendsville town meeting that was held in March and wrote about it and had a very reliable source at the Grantsville squad meeting.) He went on to tell me that a lot of my information was incorrect, but couldn't go into specifics.

I would like to go on record as saying that all of the information that I have reported has been obtained legally and that I have proof to back it up. I have no intent of writing anything but the truth, and am trying to stay as impartial and professional as I can. However, I would like to know why, when I mentioned that I would like to attend the next meeting of the rescue squad, he told me that what goes on at these meetings is not for public knowledge. I have been told by many squad members that these meetings have always been public, so I would like to know why all of a sudden they seem to be private.

Public money is funding the rescue squad, so shouldn't they be made aware of how it is being spent? Why the secrecy?

I have been told by some members of all three squads that the information that I have reported has been correct. All we want are answers — truthful ones.

MOUNTAINEER 4-H
by Sara Lewis, Reporter

Prior to the April 9 meeting, Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club members picked up trash and yard debris at the Farmers' Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run. Vice president Lindsey Teets then called the meeting to order in the park meeting room. Roll call was answered by the 15 members and five leaders present.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

What do I do? Here it is Monday already and a most beautiful morning this spring. Last weekend I was frantic to go into the woods to check out the first wildflowers, really just the very first wave of wildflowers, which are only the first tiny flowers. The twins, Darryl and Elliot, went down to the woods for me and gathered some blooms of what we used to call cowslips (trout lilies or adder tongues). I don't know where my childhood crowd (my siblings and Cindy and Sally, etc.) call them, but Cindy still calls the foliage the same name as I do. I know we did not have any field guide. I remember looking up things in the encyclopedia for a school project on wildflower collections.

My walk in the woods will have to wait a few weeks because the place I really want to visit won't come into glory until May. Back in the corner of the farm, next to the old Stephens's place where the Diehlmans now live, there are a few violet bogs and lots of skunk cabbage. I want to check it out for any bear damage, as they go for the lush big green leaves for their first big feeding binge after a long winter fast.

Another flower that Darryl and Elliot gathered for me were spring beauties. Claire told me they probably gathered them at "Peek-a-boo Hill." They do the same thing as our generation in inventing names for their landmark places on the farm. They also named a little island in the creek "Turkey Feathers Island," to be taken from "Our Island" located by the "Big Hill."

On Saturday evening my girls asked to have a bonfire to burn our Christmas tree and other branches of wood that were casualties from winter. But Saturday was a big day for the cousins since at last they got their baby pigs for their 4-H market hogs project. So now we have seven 40-pound young hogs in our barn. Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty and Scotty Bass decided to do the lamb project.

Other new arrivals on the farm were 40-plus baby chicks for Darryl's and Elliot's 4-H broiler project. They are surviving under Marci's watchful eyes.

There is no sign of lambs in the sheep pasture owned by Jimmy Glotfelty. The farm is now occupied by Jimmy's son Tom. But the sheep are for Jimmy's project. I bet when I can get out into my car and pop up to see where the new arrivals are, I will find a few little baby sheep frolicking around their mothers. But that will have to wait for awhile.

Now back to when I switched topics. The girls are now wrapped up in their pigs and have named them. So far they seem inclined to use names from Greek mythology and the Muppets. They didn't hatch the idea for a social event until very late afternoon. I did not have enough time to call some friends because it was too nice of a day and most people were not home. But I did catch Walter Haydel at home because he is still hurting too much from his shoulder surgery and can't go paddling. He is just sick to have to miss the high water level on local whitewater rivers.

A sure sign spring is here, but not as good as my colored Easter eggs (pink, red, purple, yellow, lime green, and gold) and the blooming daffodils, are my purple finches and gold finches, who are busy around my front window at our thistle-seed feeders. They are so colorful, fat, and sassy — a pure delight. The unpleasant wildlife (a couple of house flies) bother me, and I once again am behind on my art project (my fine-art fly-swatters). I have the necessary basic supplies for them, which are a few rejected picture greeting cards and nice sturdy springy sticks. Besides, I am dying to use my spring art supply of colorful leaves and flowers for my nature dolls. I wish I could plant a few things early in my small garden by my deck. But it is not tilled yet and I don't know when I can find someone who will till it for me. I wish I could just dig it up myself with a shovel and hoe, but I can't do that anymore, as now it is hard to walk or stand on uneven ground. And I certainly cannot use a shovel very well with one hand. Also on my mind is to get some spring cleaning done. But right now, I have to do this column.

I know the Housleys and Southerlys, Poholskys and Whittemore family are busy with Northern High School baseball teams, and the Rodney Glotfeltys and Bass boys are also busy with Little League baseball teams. My Claire's girls' soccer, the Northern Ice, played its first two games on Sunday. Apparently their team (under 18 years old) is a young team, and they played against the team from Oakland, which included a number of older varsity players from Southern. Almost all of the Northern Ice players are Claire's age, 14 or so, who are freshmen or younger. According to Claire, her team does not yet play as a team. No wonder, since they were probably busy just trying to keep from freezing to death during the majority of their practices.

Carolina Dodge told me an Easter story that I must share with y'all. She woke up at 3 a.m. the night before Easter and remembered that she had not put together Rheanna's Easter basket. So she dragged out of bed and out to her truck to get the candy. Guess what she met up beside her car. Not the Easter bunny, but, Oh no! an Easter skunk. She doubts she can actually get the smell out of her clothes, so she thinks she will just throw them away.

I promised Carolina a nature doll for her dress in her favorite, spring beauty, of course, and for little Rheanna, a daffodil dress. I gave one to Sue Brenneman of Brenneman's Store, since I had one with me when she told me it was her birthday. I will not tell you how old she is, but she looks at least 20 years younger than she really is. I am happy to report that her store is now open for business, with their famous ice cream.

Bittinger is a wonderful place to raise children, but sometimes the unexpected hazzard happens. I would much rather let my girls run wild in the woods in spite of a few bears around than give up that much freedom in any suburban neighborhood, even the nicest. They are much safer in the woods than in town traffic or from many creepy people running around — even tiny, tiny Joshua Beitzel, who slipped away from his home beside the Glades and hit the trail along an old logging road, which is along the Glades and through the woods. But thank goodness the large search party found him safe and sound.

Josh is the son of George and Debbie Beitzel, and he always amuses everyone in their new church, Emmanuel Lutheran, with his energy and spunk. Everyone breathed a big sigh of relief at the news that he was found safe. It was better that he was found safe where he was, in spite of the deep water of the Glades and with a few bears around. I don't know about that part of the Bittinger area, but I do know that we have a few rattlesnakes and copperheads on Meadow Mountain. But it's still better than in Silver Spring or Rockville, with all the speeding cars, vicious dogs, and creeps who might hurt him or take him away. I am sure that it is not the worry as it would have been if he lived elsewhere.

I know when Mere was about the same age as Josh she also came up missing. We searched frantically until her sister finally found her asleep on a couch under a sleeping bag. I was scared, but not frantic, as I would be if she were lost in a city or suburb. If she were really lost, I knew I could call my neighbors, who know where a little kid would head for from their past personal experience, and know the woods and fields as well as I do. They would search for my kids as hard as they would if they were theirs.

A Bowser family get-together was held at the home of Mrs. Olive (Bowser) Hetrick near Bittinger last Thursday. Miss Samela Bowser from Houston, flew to Cleveland, where her mother, Mrs. Lucy Bowser Longa, and young grandson Joshua picked her up at the airport and spent the night with Samela at a motel. They then visited relatives in Ohio and West Virginia and came on to Maryland. Other visitors in the Hetrick home were Russell and Bert Bowser, Alvin and Norma Bowser, Mrs. Hilda Bowser and her daughter, Barbara Bittinger, and her daughter Marilyn, and her daughter Jackie from Grantsville, Blaine and Kathy Bowser, and Ferne Beachy.

Cindy and Sam Stanton visited their daughter Lea in Frederick, on Saturday.

Hazel and Wayne Gaumer of Hagerstown visited Hazel's mother, Kathryn Bowser, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay McElroy, Mt. Airy, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ken Buckel and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Buckel on Saturday.

Torrey and Lenny Poholsky and Robbie Glotfelty attended a production of KUCHIPUDI (a dance ballet) at Allegany College on Sunday evening.

Don't forget the pig roast and fixin's at the Bittinger fire hall on Saturday, May 5, from 4 to 7 p.m. to benefit the Building Fund of Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

NHS STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN SYMPOSIUM — Three Northern High School students took part in the Maryland Junior Science and Humanities Symposium in Chevy Chase recently. Sponsored by the University of Maryland, among others, the symposium seeks to promote science research by Maryland students. Shown above, from the left, are Northern sophomore Landon Southerly, junior Micah Plevyak, and senior Pranav Patel, with NHS physics instructor Paul Miller. Southerly presented his science project as a poster titled "What is Stroop?" and Patel presented his science research as a poster titled "Cross-Generational Retention of a Conditioned Response in Dugesia," and both were awarded certificates, and $50 in prize money, and were recognized in an awards ceremony. Plevyak was selected as NHS's junior representative in a non-presentation role. Miller accompanied the trio for the trip, and Northern science department chairperson Michelle Harman (not pictured) joined the group at the awards ceremony. Southerly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Southerly of Accident, Patel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hemant Patel of Grantsville, and Plevyak is the son of Vicki Teets and Bruce Tallaferro of McHenry.

Weight Loss Puzzles Doctors

ATLANTA, GA -- Doctors were surprised when two separate studies found that a natural dietary supplement could help cause significant weight loss.

Although not conclusive, both studies found that patients receiving the formula called Bio-Rex 3000®, lost more than twice as much weight as those in a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition says that you don't have to decrease the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

According to a spokesperson for Phillips Gulf Corporation, the exclusive North American distributor of Bio-Rex 3000, the company is considering additional studies in order to get federal approval to make pharmaceutical claims. Currently, weight loss claims for the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement are limited. However, with the requisite approval, the company could say that Bio-Rex 3000 decreases sugar cravings, increases metabolism and interferes with the body's ability to produce excess fat.

Bio-Rex 3000 is currently available as a dietary supplement and plan in pharmacies and nutrition stores or by calling 1-800-729-8446. A four week supply is just $19.99. © 2000 PGC

Aspirin Recommended for Type 2 Diabetes

Although aspirin is relatively inexpensive and easy to obtain as an over-the-counter drug, many health experts feel this medicine is not used as much as it should be, especially in persons who have both heart disease and diabetes. The American Diabetes Association (ADA) now recommends that all diabetics with a history of heart disease (such as peripheral vascular disease, stroke, vascular bypass procedure, and heart attack) take aspirin on a regular basis. The daily dose normally recommended is 81 mg to 325 mg. This ADA recommendation is based on the fact that people with diabetes carry a 2 to 4 fold increased risk of death from complications of heart disease. A recent survey of more than 1,500 adult diabetics indicated that just over a third of those with heart disease were taking aspirin on a regular basis. Some of the reasons given included side effects to aspirin and potential drug interactions.

Aspirin can prevent heart attacks and strokes due to its effect on blood platelets. It blocks production of thromboxane, a substance released by platelets that causes them to clump. Yet, aspirin is not for everyone. If you think you might benefit from aspirin, talk with your physician.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS

BIDS will be received by Garrett County Sanitary District (herein called the "OWNER"), at 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland, until 2:00 p.m. May 31, 2001, and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at the Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Meadow Mountain Sewer Project and the envelope should bear on the outside the BIDDER'S name, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

313 East Alder Street
Old Courthouse Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550

All BIDS must be made on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of the BID form is required.

The OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or authorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw a BID within 60 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID Schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDERS prior to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount of the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNER will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performance BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

The NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and data for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of, such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligation in respect to its BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by the requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of the equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

The low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUBCONTRACTORS when required to do so by the OWNER.

Inspection trips for prospective BIDDERS will leave from the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District, at 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland.

The ENGINEER is Highland Engineering and Surveying. The ENGINEER'S address is 309 S. 2nd Street, Oakland, Maryland.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Justin E. Helbig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Helbig Jr., Oakland, is halfway through a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf while assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Harry S. Truman, home ported in Norfolk, Va.

While on deployment, crewmembers from Helbig's ship participated in damage control olympics, a competition designed to train the crew to properly handle a crisis at sea. The events included a fire-fighting gear race, a hose-manning competition, a protective suit dressout, and desmoking compartments.

Helbig's ship also visited Souda Bay, Crete, where he had the opportunity to shop, sightsee, and enjoy the local culture and cuisine.

Carriers like USS Harry S. Truman are deployed around the world to maintain U.S. presence and provide rapid response in times of crisis, according to a Navy spokesperson.

Helbig is a 1997 graduate of Southern High School of Oakland and joined the Navy in December 1997.

Joseph G. Klink, Grantsville, has joined the United States Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program. A 2000 graduate of Beall High School in Frostburg, Klink is the son of Joanne C. and Daniel G. Klink of Chestnut Ridge Road.

The Delayed Entry Program allows young men and women to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career specialty.

U.S. Air Force Airman Ryan K. Winters has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and customs, and received special training in human relations.

QUILT RAFFLE FOR RELAY FOR LIFE — The Woodmen of the World (WOW) team, who will be participating in the Relay for Life, will be holding a two-day yard sale on Friday and Saturday, May 11-12, at the WOW lodge along Liberty Street near Leighton Drive. Quilts will be raffled off at the sale. Raffle tickets are available at the WOW office in Bayberry Castle. Pictured on the left is Linda Sanders, Woodmen of the World representative, and Ellen Zimmerman, on the right, who made the quilts.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Winters is the son of Richard and Tina Winters of Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., and grandson of Donald and Patricia Rolf, Red House. He is a 2000 graduate of Tucker County High School.

FSU To Hold Last Open House Of Spring Semester

Preservation Award Given To Mayor McCain

The Maryland Historic Trust (MHT) recently honored Asa M. McCain Jr., mayor of Oakland, as a recipient of its 26th annual Preservation Award. The Preservation Service awards are given to individuals, organizations, agencies or institutions for laudable activities or accomplishments that advance the public's appreciation, understanding, and/or involvement in historic preservation at the local or regional level in Maryland.

McCain was honored for his efforts leading to the restoration of the B&O rail station and its related place as the centerpiece of the town's comprehensive revitalization programs, which include a hiking/biking trail, town park, farmers market, community pavilion, and boat/fishing ramp.

The masonry station, which dates to 1884, has Queen Anne details with a circular tower topped by a bell-shaped roof of fish-scale slate shingles, half-timbered gables, stone trim, and stained glass. McCain orchestrated the town's purchase of the station as part of a $1.4 million restoration effort.

CSX railroad, which formerly owned the station, had taken it out of service and was using it as an office and storage facility. Oakland is a Main Street Maryland Community, and through Mayor McCain's leadership, the community of 1,800 is experiencing a revitalization based on historic preservation, heritage tourism, and community pride.

Grantsville Town Election To Be Tuesday

Election Day for the town of Grantsville will be next Tuesday, May 8, with voting at the town hall between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. There are five council seats and the office of mayor up for election. Six candidates have filed for council and one candidate for mayor, incumbent Gerry Beachy. Incumbent councilmen running for re-election are Paul Edwards, Ron Gillum, Joe McRobie, Rich Towers, and Jim Wilburn. A new candidate running for election is Brian Tucker.

Mayor Beachy is a lifetime resident of Grantsville and, with his wife Sue, owns and operates Beachy's Pharmacy. He is now completing a two-year term, having been appointed by the council to complete the term of Fred Holliday, who was elected Garrett County commissioner. During the term of Mayor Beachy, the town has annexed 200 acres to prepare for expected growth, a town supervisor was hired, the personal property tax rate for businesses was eliminated, and an international relationship was started with Torva, Estonia.

Site Preparation Halted For Possible Race Track

Grading of a site outside the town limits of Loch Lynn for a possible race track has been halted until required permits have been obtained, according to local authorities.

A stop work order has been issued by the Department of Environment on the grading of the site, which is visible from Allegheny Drive. There are no countywide zoning ordinances about what permits are needed, but a grading permit from the Garrett County Roads Department is required.

According to Dave Ritchie of the roads department, Jim Sherbin, son of Judge James Sherbin, had been in the office asking what permits were necessary to pursue a proposed project in that area. Ritchie added that there are precautions that must be taken to prevent erosion of soil or runoff.

Ritchie said no formal permits have been applied for and an engineering plan is necessary for a project of this size. He added that these permits must be obtained even if the track is to be used for private use. If the track is to be used for the public, the entrance would have to meet regulations also.

A spokesperson from Potomac Engineering and Surveying, Oakland, has confirmed the firm is working

Correction Noted To NRP Hunting Incident Arrest

Last week's report of the Natural Resources Police arrest of Jason Clarence Sisler, 26, Friendsville, on the opening day of turkey season requires a correction. Sisler did not strike an NRP officer in allegedly trying to avoid apprehension, although he did drag the officer several feet with an ATV as he fled an initial encounter.

The criminal charging statement filed in Garrett County District Court reports that NRP officer Jeffrey Sizemore grabbed Sisler's ATV as he was fleeing and was dragged 3-5 feet before he was able to release his grip. Sisler left the area, but was apprehended two hours later by the same NRP officer. A district court hearing is pending.

County Trying To Improve GCSO Retirement Plan

For the third year, officers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office have asked the county commissioners to seek an improved retirement plan for deputies. The officers have met with the commissioners on various occasions to discuss the issue, and the fiscal authority is reportedly ready to offer some help.

The deputies are currently in the county employees' pension system, which requires them to work for 30 years before retiring. It pays 25-30% of their salaries upon retirement.

The officers have contended each year at budget time that the job of a deputy in Garrett County is highly stressful, and that most police officers in the state are allowed to retire after 20 to 25 years of service. Mike Bittinger and Paul Pratt, both officers of the sheriff's department, spoke with the commissioners some weeks ago about the specific stresses on officers.

One of the chief reasons of stress is that a police officer is expected to be on duty nearly 24 hours, seven days a week. Sheriff Dick Sanders said this week in an interview that if there is a problem in the county, the officers all know they can be called in for work wheth-

Spraying Set For This Month

A continuing increase in the number of gypsy moths in the western and central parts of the state has led the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) to propose spaying almost three times as much acreage this spring as was sprayed this year. Working in cooperation with the USDA Forest Service, county agencies, and neighborhood groups, MDA plans to spray the trees on some 49,000 acres across the state this spring during its cooperative Gypsy Moth Program compared to nearly the 17,000 acres that were treated last year.

Weather permitting, the spraying operation got under way this week on the Eastern Shore and will progress through the central and western portions of the state through the middle of May. Spraying is tentatively projected to begin in the Garrett County area the third week of the month and be completed by May 18 (weather permitting.)

"Preserving stands of valuable trees is vital to protecting a wide range of natural resources and our waterways from excessive runoff," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Hagner R. Mister. "By being proactive when we are in the early stages of a new round of gypsy moth infestation in Maryland we have a better chance of limiting the spread of this pest to other forested areas."

Although the 2001 gypsy moth suppression program is nearly three times the size it was last year, it is well below the record acreage treated during the gypsy moth outbreaks of 1983 to 1996 when the program

Accused Escapees Back In Custody After Allegedly Attempting Carjack

Two juveniles who escaped last week from the Backbone Mountain Youth Camp were arrested last Thursday after they allegedly tried to carjack a vehicle. Officers of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI) arrested Devon Lorenzo Adams, District Heights, and Andrew Elverton McLean, Bowie, both 16, who were both charged with first degree escape, attempted carjacking, two counts of first degree assault, two counts of reckless endangerment, first degree burglary, conspiracy to commit first degree burglary, attempted motor vehicle theft, attempted felony theft, misdemeanor theft, and two counts of destruction of property.

With the first degree assault offenses, the teenagers are being charged as adults, according to the GBI report. There was a third juvenile with Adams and McLean, but his case remains with juvenile authorities, according to the report, and he has been transferred to a secure juvenile facility.

The three boys escaped from Backbone last Wednesday night, April 25, at about 11 p.m. The trio apparently traveled along westbound Maryland Highway (Rt. 135) into the Deer Park area. They rested throughout the night close to a residence, and reportedly watched the home until the occupants left the next morning. They are accused of then entering the home and taking two guns and a knife to the garage. The telephone lines in the house were cut, according to the report.

During the day, the defendants apparently tried to steal a pickup truck parked at the house. When that plan was unsuccessful, they allegedly decided to steal a vehicle from the residents when they returned home in the evening.

At approximately 5:20 p.m., a 29-year-old female pulled into the driveway with her 2-year-old son in his car seat in the back of her Jeep Cherokee. As she went to open the garage door, she saw someone inside and ran back to the Jeep. The suspects gave chase, allegedly wielding pipes or other metal objects. According to the report, one went to the passenger side of her vehicle, one chased her to the driver's side, and the third stood watch.

As the two were attempting to grab her, she put the Jeep into drive and smashed into a wood pile at the base of the driveway. With the assailants still attempting to gain control of the driver and the vehicle, she put the Jeep into reverse and pulled out of the driveway, forcing the two boys off the vehicle as she sped away.

She went to a neighbor's house, according to the GBI report, and with a neighbor watched the three boys run through a field and into a wooded area behind Whitacre Auto Sales. The police were alerted at that time, and the Maryland State Police, the medevac helicopter, Natural Resources Police, Garrett County sheriff's deputies and K-9 bloodhound unit, in addition to K-9 units from Allegany County and other jurisdictions who happened to be training in Garrett County last week, all responded to the area.

The three were captured in a wooded area east of Broadford Road shortly after the incident. They were taken into custody by

Oakland's Main Street Program Is Recognized For Excellence

The efforts of the Oakland Main Street Program have earned recognition for excellence in the field of downtown revitalization by meeting the high standards for performance set by the Maryland Main Street Program and the National Trust for Historic Preservation's National Main Street Center.

The Oakland Main Street Program nationally joins 345 other Main Street revitalization projects designated as National Main Street Communities for 2001.

The national designation program annually evaluates downtown revitalization programs based on strict criteria such as broad-based public support, historic preservation ethic, active board of directors, adequate funding, a paid professional manager, and reporting of economic progress by providing statistical information.

The program was evaluated by Maryland Main Street, which is the statewide coordinating organization for the Main Street program in Maryland.

"A successful, well-run Main Street program creates a vibrant downtown of many uses, where people come not only to shop but to meet or even live," said Kennedy Smith, director of the National Trust for Historic Preservation's Main Street Center. "By increasing economic vitality and focusing on reusing historic buildings, it creates a place that defines the community. The designation for Oakland reflects a well-run downtown revitalization initiative, and the citizens of Oakland should be proud of their efforts and maintain their commitment to revitalizing the downtown area."

The Main Street program has been successful due in part to a partnership between the Maryland Main Street Program and the National Trust for Historic Preservation's Main Street Center.

Garrett Hosting Meeting Of West. Md. Commissioners

The Garrett County Western Maryland 4-H Center will be the site of a meeting tomorrow involving all the commissioners from a five-county area. The fiscal authorities of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Carroll, and Frederick counties will gather on Friday, May 4, at the center near Bittinger from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The special guest of the event is to be Dave Bliden, executive director of the Maryland Association of Counties (MACo).

The agenda includes a number of issues that affect all five counties, as well as other subjects unique to each jurisdiction. The Garrett County topics are to include the rural legacy program and its status, the commissioners' efforts in agriculture preservation tax incentives, and the Law Enforcement Pension System (LEOPS).

SWAN MEADOW STUDENTS DIG IN — Students of Swan Meadow School helped plant the trees, which were donated by the Oakland Civic Club and the Garrett County Forestry Board, as part of the western Maryland Arbor Day celebration recently. Many groups were recognized for their tree planting and urban forestry efforts in the community. Among the local honorees were the towns of Grantsville and Oakland, Grantsville and Route 40 schools, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

NHS AUXILIARY GYM RECENTLY DEDICATED — The auxiliary gymnasium complex at Northern High School was officially opened this week. In addition to the new gym, a wrestling room, a weight training room, a coaches office, a class room, locker rooms, and several storage rooms were also added. "I was a junior at this school when they said, 'Next year you're going to get an auxiliary gym.' That was a FEW years ago," Delagate George Edwards said. Garrett County commissioner Wendell Beitzel commented that he was "thrilled" to announce the building is "already paid for." Pictured from the left are Fred Holliday, Garrett County commissioner; Carl Belt, contractor; Ernie Gregg, commissioner; Edwards; Madeleine Collins, Garrett County Board of Education president; Charlotte Sebold, board of education member; Rodney Durst, board member; Senator John Hafer; James Raley, board member; Mike Sines, director of facilities for the board of education; Tony Doerr, Doerr Construction; Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent; Gary Reichenbecher, principal of NHS; Beitzel, commissioner; Adam Sterne, Harbel, Inc.; and Darryl Moser, architect.

Stolen Car Is Recovered In Baltimore

A car stolen last week from in front of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland was recovered in Baltimore on Monday, April 30, according to a report from the Oakland Police Department.

The green 1996 Chevrolet Cavalier 2-door, taken on April 24, was found at about 6:20 a.m. Monday by Baltimore City Police. The Oakland police had developed Kenneth Brown, 39, of Baltimore, as the lead suspect through a citizen contact and a follow-up investigation.

Brown had been released from the Garrett County Jail a few hours prior to the car theft, according to the report. He was being held in the local jail awaiting a trial involving a car theft that occurred in Finzel, the report indicated.

The Cavalier was entered into the National Crime Information Computer (NCIC) shortly after it was stolen, and the Baltimore police were notified on April 27 with information about the theft and the suspect.

According to the report, the car was involved in a wreck on April 30 in a police pursuit. Brown was subsequently arrested and charged with possession of stolen property. The Oakland police have also filed charges against Brown, including motor vehicle theft, felony theft, and unauthorized used of a motor vehicle.

The car has since been returned to its owner.

Rabies Clinics Scheduled By Health Dept.

The Environmental Health Services office of the Garrett County Health Department has slated its first series of low cost rabies clinics for the coming week of Monday, May 7, through Saturday, May 12. The cost is $5 per each dog, cat, or ferret vaccination administered, and county dog license applications will be available at each clinic.

The clinics will be offered from 5 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at the following locations: Monday at Grantsville Elementary School; Tuesday at the Gorman fire hall; Wednesday at Accident Elementary; Thursday at Bloomington Elementary School; Friday at Friendsville Elementary; and Saturday morning at Broad Ford Elementary, Oakland.

Dogs should be on a leash and under the control of a responsible individual. Cats and ferrets should be brought to the clinic in a cage or a tightly secured box with air holes.

Last year Garrett County experienced 12 laboratory confirmed positive rabies cases. All 12 cases involved raccoons.

The vaccination of dogs and cats is one of the most critical measures which can be taken by pet owners in protecting their families and themselves from possible exposure to the rabies virus. Last year 1,035 dogs and cats were vaccinated at the health department sponsored rabies clinics.

While Maryland law requires dogs, cats and ferrets over 4 months of age to have the required vaccination against rabies, animals at least 3 months of age can be brought to the clinics and adequately protected by vaccination. Dogs and cats need to be revaccinated every three years. Puppies and kittens, vaccinated between the ages of 3 and 12 months, and dogs and cats receiving their first vaccination must be revaccinated 12 months later. Ferrets need to be revaccinated every year.

Failure to vaccinate pets against rabies in Maryland is a violation of the Annotated Code of Maryland Health General Article 18, Section 318 and may be punishable by a fine of up to $500 per animal.

May 6-12 has also been designated as National Pet week, with the theme of "People and Pets — A Perfect Combination." The American Veterinary Medical Association defines the human-animal bond as "a mutually beneficial and dynamic relationship between people and animals influenced by behaviors essential to the health and well-being of both."

NATIONAL TOURISM WEEK RECOGNIZED — The Garrett County commissioners this week signed a proclamation recognizing May 6-12 as National Tourism Week in Garrett County. The document cited the economic impact in excess of $175 million dollars, 2,600 jobs in the county, and more that $8 million in local tax collected as a result of the tourist industry. The proclamation also noted that, as a relatively clean industry, tourism has expanded the local tax base without significant levels of environmental degradation, and has increased local activities, programs, investments, and the quality of life. Representative members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and president Ken Wishnick were on hand for the signing of the proclamation. In the photo above, standing from left to right, are: Lisa Ratliff of the Wisp Resort, Curtis Pritts of ARTS Cab Company, Melissa Margroff of Raley Mtn. Fleeing Angler Nabbed On Fly With Stolen Rod

A Pennsylvania man was arrested on a felony theft charge early Sunday afternoon by Maryland State Police troopers after he was apprehended with a stolen fishing rod north of Friendsville.

Robert A. Bowser, 26, Farmington, was observed Sunday by the victim of an April 7 theft of fishing equipment from a vehicle parked in the same area near Mill Run Road. The citizen called the McHenry state police barrack on his cell phone, and maintained phone contact with the dispatcher as he followed Bowser, who was carrying one of the caller's stolen fishing rods as he rode along Mill Run Rd. on a bicycle.

Tfc. B. Willetts was able to locate the suspect when he arrived on the scene at 12:10 p.m., and arrested Bowser after he reportedly admitted to the April theft. Bowser was later released from custody under unspecified circumstances.

Traffic Stop Results In Drug Charges For Two

Two Grantsville residents were arrested on drug charges Monday by officers of the Maryland State Police. The vehicle the two were in was stopped initially because the driver and passenger were not wearing seatbelts, according to the report.

Trooper J.B. Schlossnagle observed a white Ford Explorer traveling southbound along Rt. 219 near Pysell Crosscut Road at about 9:45 a.m. When he noted that the occupants were not wearing seatbelts, he effected a traffic stop near Mosser Road.

The operator, identified as Joseph Ray Wymer, 23, was found to be wanted by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for a violation of probation warrant. He was arrested without incident, according to the report.

The passenger, identified as Keri Allison Strubin, 20, was asked to exit the vehicle. A search was conducted and the officer reportedly located three packets of a white powdery substance, or suspected ketamine, in the flip-up console between the driver and passenger seats. He also located one partially burnt cigarette containing suspected marijuana in an open box on the console, one baggy of suspected marijuana in a cigarette box, and one glass smoking pipe, also containing burnt marijuana residue, between the console and passenger seat, next to where Strubin was seated.

Schlossnagle seized the suspected drugs and arrested Strubin without incident, according to the report. The 11-month-old daughter of Strubin was also in the vehicle, and was turned over to a friend. According to the report written on Monday, the two defendants were processed at the MSP barrack. Wymer has since posted a $1,000 bond.

Alleged Stalker Arrested By MSP Early This A.M.

A Dellslow, W.Va., man was arrested early this morning by officers of the Maryland State Police along Rt. 42 near Hoyes Road. The police received a call at 4:13 a.m. from a woman on her cell phone, who reported that she was being tailed by Daniel Ray Tennant, 25.

The report indicates that in an attempt to lose the suspect, she exited Interstate 68 at the Friendsville ramp. Tenant then allegedly cut in front of a tractor trailer to continue his pursuit of her. Troopers were alerted to the situation and observed the victim being followed by the suspect.

Tennant was stopped near Hoyes Road by Cpl. J.R. LeMay. As the trooper talked with him, the defendant apparently handed the officer a bag of marijuana. When being placed under arrest, more marijuana was found, along with drug paraphernalia and a concealed deadly weapon. Further investigation revealed that Tennant was driving with a suspended license, according to the report.

The charges against the defendant are possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and possession of a concealed deadly weapon.

Loch Lynn Man Faces Charges After Accident

A Loch Lynn resident was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies with numerous charges after they responded to a motor vehicle accident along Hutton Road just east of Old Crellin Road on Friday around 11:15 p.m.

Jackey Allen Hornby, 48, was traveling east on Hutton Road when he ran off the roadway, striking a telephone pole. The investigation revealed that the vehicle glanced off the pole, crossed the roadway, and ran into the westbound ditch before coming to a rest, according to police.

Hornby and his two occupants, Dinah Marie Hebb, 39, Aurora, W.Va., and Gary Eugene Boyce, 45, Loch Lynn, left the scene of the accident; however, they were located a short distance from the scene.

Hornby was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI), negligent driving, failing to drive right of center, leaving the scene of an accident, and possession of marijuana.

He was released from the Garrett County Jail on his own recognizance.

All of the occupants refused medical treatment at the scene, police said. The Oakland fire department and Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene.

In another incident, Robert Michael Haywood, 51, Keyser, W.Va., was arrested for DWI when he was stopped for speeding in Oakland early Saturday morning by deputies.

Haywood was released on his own recognizance.

Shortly after that incident, deputies arrested a Swanton man when they were checking on a suspicious vehicle in the parking lot at the Butcher Block along Maryland Highway.

The driver of the vehicle, Keith Allen Hebb, 22, was arrested for DWI and consuming an alcoholic beverage while operating a motor vehicle, according to deputies.

Hebb was released on his own recognizance.

An Oakland man was also arrested for DWI early Sunday morning by sheriff's deputies.

Chad Patrick Tasker, 22, was arrested after deputies made a traffic stop along Gorman Road near King Wildesen Road. He was released on his own recognizance.

Escapee Search Leads To Drug Bust, Arrests

Garrett County sheriff's deputies participating in the search for three youth who had escaped from the Backbone Mtn. youth facility Thursday helped Narcotics Task Force investigators make an unrelated drug bust at a Pysell Crosscut Road residence.

Justin Rinker, 19, and a 16-year-old female juvenile, both of the Oakland area, face charges of possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. The pair were arrested at approximately 3:30 p.m. after deputies who had knocked on the door of the residence to alert citizens of the search noticed the smell of suspected burnt marijuana.

Deputies and Task Force detectives subsequently searched the home and located five quarter-ounce bags of marijuana and related drug paraphernalia. Rinker was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center after he posted a $2,500 bond as set by a district court commissioner. The juvenile's case has been forwarded to the Department of Juvenile Justice.

MSP Files Drug Charges After Traffic Stop

A Keyser, W.Va., man faces drug charges that resulted from an early Sunday morning traffic stop north of Oakland by the Maryland State Police.

Michael Sean Roy, 20, was stopped shortly after 3 a.m. along Garrett Highway at Foster Road when Cpl. John LeMay noticed that the brake lights on Roy's Buick Century were not operating properly. When the trooper noted the moderate odor of alcohol on Roy's breath he placed him under arrest for illegal possession of alcohol by an underage drinker.

A vehicle search located suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia. In addition to the afore-mentioned charges, Roy was also handed a charge of violation of a license restriction. He was subsequently released from custody under unspecified circumstances.

In other state police news, a Pennsylvania man faces charges of driving on a suspended out-of-state license and not wearing a seatbelt after being stopped Monday evening along Garrett Highway near Deep Creek Lake.

Harold James Marsch, 39, Pittsburgh, was stopped when Tfc. J.B. Schlossnagle witnessed him driving his Chevrolet Monte Carlo through the pedestrian crosswalk in front of Uno's without giving pedestrians the right of way. Marsch was later released on his own recognizance.

Garrett Co. 4-H Sponsors Public Speaking Contest

The annual 4-H public speaking contest was held at Garrett Community College recently as a number of local youth ages 6-16 represented their respective 4-H clubs in the event's three categories—prepared and extemporaneous speeches, and 30-second radio spots.

The prepared speeches were written and practiced by their presenters prior to the event. The extemporaneous speech category required the competitors to select a topic at the competition site itself, and take 15 to 30 minutes to plan and present a speech. The 30-second radio spot gave presenters the opportunity to promote 4-H participation over the airwaves.

Other 4-H members recognized with blue ribbons in the Prepared Speech Division were: Trailblazer's Jennifer Cosner and North Star's Kara Savage, both Junior Prepared; and Bittinger's Darryl and Elliott Glotfelty, and Oak Hill's Dana Hannibal, each Intermediate Prepared.

All 4-H members named champions and reserve champions were eligible for the Regional Public Speaking contest that took place in Hagerstown late last month. If the 4-H'er received champion or reserve champion in more than one category, he or she could only represent Garrett County in one category. Results from the Regional Contest are not yet available yet.

Serving as judges for the local competition were Gail Dever, Evelyn Silkey, April Enlow, and Tom Rosser. Youth assistants for the event, serving as announcers and time keepers, were Lois Dever, Abby Sherrard, and Ben Rizer.

Wishnick Says Investment In Tourism Yields Healthy Return

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce invests in targeted advertising each year to encourage potential vacationers to come to the Mountaintop for their getaways. Over 50 ads highlighting unique aspects of Garrett County have been placed in regional and national publications, an investment that will yield a "healthy return" for the county residents and businesses, according to chamber president Ken Wishnick.

"Any business or industry that has plans to grow and prosper must plan on spending dollars on effective marketing. The tourism promotion business is no different," Wishnick said.

A recent state-funded study noted that allocations for tourism marketing at the state level are "considerably less" than those of competitors, and that Virginia, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia "substantially" outspend Maryland in tourism marketing. According to data provided by the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, Garrett County ranked 11th out of 23 counties in tourism advertising expenditures during the last fiscal year.

"We strategically choose the best marketing our limited budget can buy," said Wishnick. He added that contacts with travel writers have been increased. "This is a source of free publicity that has been yielding huge results for little cost," he said.

Funding sources for tourism marketing are multi-faceted, with the largest share of the cost paid by the visitors themselves, Wishnick pointed out. He explained that visitors here are assessed a 4% tax on their accommodations bill, which is paid to Garrett County. State law requires that revenues from this accommodations tax be used to promote tourism and economic development.

As the county's designated tourism marketing organization, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce receives a portion of these funds from the county board of commissioners following a review of the budget. The chamber also relies on membership dues, income from publications, and state grants to fund its operations.

"Other than the reimbursement from the accommodations tax, no county tax dollars are used to support the chamber," Wishnick concluded.

Needed: Teachers, Nurses...

Our nation continues to face many challenges and crises, and of course always will, since a nation consists of fallible human beings. Most would agree that current ones include: soaring costs for energy production, gasoline, and health insurance; ongoing racial clashes and tension; continued inequities in the job market; the general health condition of so many of our citizens; a faltering stock market; violence; and a host of others.

Among that host of others are two areas in which we are facing dangerous shortages — the professions of teaching and nursing. Next week happens to be both Teacher Appreciation Week and National Nurses Week, a time when the folks who provide such crucial services to our well-being are to be recognized and thanked. But the observance should also remind us that we are in the early stages — in some areas, in the middle or even late stages — of severe shortages of both teachers and nurses. It's a good time to ask why this is so and, more importantly, to push for more aggressive steps to alleviate the deficits.

There is no job in the world more important than teaching, and certainly nursing is right up there near the top. Yet teachers and nurses remain among the lower paid college and post-college graduates in our society. Salaries and benefits have certainly improved in recent years, but they still lag far behind those of many other professions.

Money, however, is not the only issue behind these shortages. The extreme pressure of these jobs has never been greater than they are today. Society's demands of teachers continue to grow, as they are expected to fulfill not only our children's educational needs, but also to address their sometimes numerous emotional and spiritual problems that are a result of failures in the family setting. Teaching children how to read and write is difficult when so much time has to be spent in just helping them learn how to cope and survive. Forty percent of the young people who get their teaching degrees leave the profession within the first five years.

More and more demands are also being placed upon nurses, as hospitals must increase their hours and cut their numbers in an effort to remain solvent institutions. This dilemma is intensified with every stride that is made in technology and medicine, as these advancements often require more training.

Additional pay for these professionals, by itself, would help ease the shortages, but it certainly is not the entire answer. Society's general expectations and demands are also going to have to be significantly altered if we are to have enough teachers and nurses in the 21st century.

In the meantime, at least we can say thanks next week (or any week) to our former or current teachers who are responsible for many of our personal successes today, and to the nurses who work so hard to help bring us into the world and to keep us healthy.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I want to personally say thanks to the Boy Scout Troop that cleaned the Wonderly Family Cemetery a while back in Pleasant Valley and reset the many toppled-over stones that needed to be reset for many many years. You folks did a wonderful job.

The other reason I'm writing this letter is that, after the scouts helped in the cleaning of the cemetery, I have become the "lone soldier" in keeping this cemetery mowed and clean. I have no close relatives buried there. I'm only trying to continue this effort for my friends who are elderly and in not-so-good health.

I'm pleading with anyone who has family buried there — please don't let this grow up into a jungle again. Many hours of labor and hard work have been expended for these family plots and your loved ones' final resting places. I do not wish to continue this cleaning effort due to rising gas prices and due to the fact I have many health problems of my own that I'm trying to deal with.

To the Editor:

Recently the county commissioners held a hearing on the library budget for next year. The March 8th Republican article reflected the highlights of this hearing with respect to the proposed county support, which amounts to less than one cent per dollar of tax revenue. Library supporters acknowledge that, in percentage terms, the county's support has increased dramatically in recent years. However, an increase to one and a half cents per dollar is necessary to bring the system into the late 20th century, and two cents to prepare it for the 21st.

Support of education, the library, the arts, etc., is good for county residents in terms of immediate benefits and long-term growth. When this point was made at the hearing, one Commissioner said that factors like the state inventory tax made Maryland an unfriendly state for business, thus making it difficult to attract new jobs. I gather this point of view has been around a long time. Local and U.S. Census Bureau unemployment data do not support this position. Maryland's unemployment rate has been generally lower than that of the U.S. since 1980. In the same period, Garrett County unemployment has ranged from 10% in the summer to 14% in winter, nearly double the state rate.

The natural beauty and friendly people here in Garrett County will attract many new residents. Retail and service businesses will follow as population grows. Attracting manufacturing firms is a tougher sell. People who decide where to expand or relocate new companies are usually interested in the quality of life in the area being considered. (The people who helped bring ClosetMaid to the area should be commended.)

Past county budgets have reflected increased support for education and the arts. Anyone who embraces the vision of an enhanced quality of life for Garrett County residents should encourage the commissioners to continue to expand their support of education through public schools, the libraries, and the arts.

To the Editor:

I have read many letters on both sides of the issue regarding the Senator Hafer fire and use of the helicopter to shuttle him and his spouse from Annapolis. Obviously, the public debate over the helicopter ride has overshadowed the issue of volunteerism.

On Saturday, April 21, Senator Hafer and his spouse Lorene joined the fire and rescue personnel from the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department for their 34th anniversary banquet. Eastern Garrett is a small rural fire company, founded in 1967, serving the area where the Hafer home "still stands."

Senator Hafer spoke to the volunteers that evening, not about his loss, but instead about what he gained from the ordeal. Senator Hafer sang the praises of the 75 volunteers from around the area who worked tirelessly through the night to salvage the many memories lingering in that old two-story farmhouse. He spoke of the friends from throughout the state who came to his side to offer friendship and compassion. Further, Senator Hafer thanked the volunteer organizations in the form of monetary contributions, as there is an FAA regulation prohibiting Senator Hafer from paying for the now infamous helicopter ride.

The Hafer fire is a success story for those of us who serve in the volunteer fire and rescue service. The volunteers who serve the state of Maryland do so with honor and pride, and in this case with a showing of how the proper tools, equipment, and knowledge can make a difference. The Hafer family home "still stands," and many personal possessions were saved as a result of the hard work of those that evening who were not paid for their services. They are the volunteers.

Yet, little was said about the great job of the volunteers. Apparently that really is not newsworthy when one can have the media with the helicopter ride story instead. The Hafer fire is indeed a testimony of the success of the volunteer fire and rescue service. These volunteers live the tragedy and hardships others face on a daily basis, and that is not newsworthy. The volunteers work to save the lives and properties of others, many of whom they do not even know, and that is not newsworthy.

Senator Hafer is an honest and admirable public servant who will go the extra mile for the citizens of Maryland and especially for those who reside in his home district in Allegany and Garrett counties. I am proud to have Senator Hafer representing me in Annapolis and would only ask those who cannot show compassion at this difficult time to remember that even if a mistake was made that we pull together and not rush to judgment. Clearly, this was an extraordinary situation and no malicious intent was intended, nor was any deceit exhibited on the part of our senator.

I am somewhat frustrated that what could have been a very "big story" about the volunteer service and how the volunteer service is in desperate need of new members was barely, if at all, mentioned in what was statewide news. I hope those who profit from such stories reaped the benefits, because the volunteers that evening, most of whom did not have supper, reaped no monetary reward. Instead, as the motto for Eastern Garrett says, "Our Reward is to Serve." And, for the volunteers that evening, a safe return to their families was really all they asked.

Sincerely,
Jim Raley

THE SELF, COMMUNITY AND ART

The paintings are now packed in boxes, and are all on their way to their respective homes. At present the still-lifes of Edouard Manet are very still indeed. A few weeks ago they seemed very alive as they hung on the walls of the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore.

Baltimore is a long way from Garrett County to go just to look at some paintings. This particular gathering of paintings, however, came from 38 different sources. They were seen together in just two places for fairly brief periods, first in Paris, France, and then in Baltimore, Maryland. That is the kind of thing the Walters does on a regular basis to make a trip to Baltimore worthwhile.

Manet (1832-1883) thought that a plate of oysters on the half shell with a lemon ready to hand would make a fitting subject for great art. Perhaps the beauty of dead fish ready to be steamed is not quite so obvious, but beautiful it is, nonetheless. There were less controversial pictures — his depiction of flowers in many guises, for example.

My gratitude in being able to see the still-life exhibition is so great that it seems almost an expression of vice to criticize it. There was something in that splendid display of genius in the genteel galleries of the Walters that was profoundly disturbing.

When I was a young man, 20 and more years ago, visiting an art gallery was an opportunity to meet women. I can remember standing along side an attractive girl, a college student like me, admiring a painting out loud and together in a way that might lead to having lunch. Looking at masterworks of art was a social act in which the viewers, though strangers to each other, were formed into a community, if only a temporary one.

I cannot say that I made any lasting friendships that way. There remained from those experiences, nevertheless, an awareness of art as a means of rallying people in a way which is not immediately obvious.

The Manet exhibition, and others like it, are emblems of the new age we live in today. Admission to such an exhibition entitles a person to a guided tour on tape. The crowd of exhibition visitors at the Walters were all but silent. Each, with a walkman around his neck, was in his own world of the same guided tour. That is the society in which we now live, a crowd of people all isolated from each other.

I too listened to the tape. It was hard not to. The descriptions of the paintings were informative and passionate. There was wonderful music, chosen with care to complement the textures of the various paintings.

In spite of really crowded conditions, one could kid one's self that the director of the Walters was giving a private tour to me. For all the excellence of the experience, it was an excellence that appealed to my selfishness which was rewarded with pleasure.

Perhaps it was that very isolation which opened a different window into my soul that day. Toward the end of the exhibition I came upon an out-of-focus painting of a basket of flowers. I was immediately drawn into it. After just a few seconds I discovered that I was crying and that my heart was aching.

I felt embarrassed and puzzled — relieved for that moment at the lack of social interaction with my fellow visitors. Then there was the question: Why? What had happened in my encounter with that painting which had peeled back all my surface reactions in order that it might stab me?

There were the objects of the painting, foremost the basket of flowers, a perfection of color and arrangement, a perfection of what man and nature together can achieve. But it was all out of focus in the way that life — even at its very best — is out of focus. That painting bespoke all that is lovely in life and how fleeting that loveliness is. The counterpoint of transitory glory created in my bosom a gentle, exquisite agony.

I looked around me, taking in the faces of the strangers, wondering if any of them felt something like what I felt at that moment. If any of them did, I saw no sign of it. How does the body walk when the soul staggers?

Was the Psalmist too in a crowd when he wrote, "I watch, and am as a sparrow alone upon the house top"? (Psalm 102:7)

County Trying

er they are on the clock or not.

"I know I can count on all these guys to come in, no matter what," the sheriff said. "That means they really are never off duty."

Pratt and Bittinger also made the point that law enforcement officers are seen as authority figures even when they are off duty, which causes people to treat them differently and to expect more from them. They are often isolated from the general society because of the role they must play as law enforcers. Their work schedules change regularly, which is also a stress-inducer. A number of other tensions within the job were outlined by the officers, including family stresses, the negative effect caused by continuously working with criminals, and other problems.

The officers have asked the commissioners to place the sheriff's deputies into the LEOPS program, or Law Enforcement Officers' Pension System, which would allow an officer to retire after 25 years and would pay him approximately 48% of his salary at retirement. An actuary study was completed recently, funded by the Fraternal Order of Police, to determine the value of the entire sheriff's office staff's vested assets currently being placed in the Maryland State Pension Plan. The officers hope to disengage from the present system and place the money in LEOPS, or possibly in a private plan that would better suit the unique needs of law enforcement officers.

One downside to LEOPS is that it would not include correctional officers, only deputies. This is seen as a negative, as the number of employees involved would be so few that the plan would be highly expensive, and it would divide the sheriff's office staff.

While the county's fiscal authority has been somewhat unresponsive to these requests previously, this year the commissioners and county administrator Monty Pagenhardt are working on the issue.

"The commissioners feel that the sheriff's office staff is deserving of a better retirement system, considering the nature of the job and the stress it causes," said Pagenhardt. "The commissioners have stated that they do not want to penalize other employees in the county to enhance the sheriff's office retirement plan, but they do see the need to work with the officers to somehow improve their system."

Pagenhardt indicated that the fiscal year 2002 budget will include funds to be used in an effort to find a better plan. He and Pratt are scheduled to meet with an employee benefit consultant this month to discuss available options.

"I'm encouraged by this," said Sheriff Sanders. "I believe the commissioners understand that this is a difficult, stressful job. It's a young person's job, too. We have a good group of people here right now, and they definitely deserve a better retirement plan."

85 AND STILL SPRY

by Beth Bowers

On Wednesday, my grandmother Phyllis Winkelvoss will turn 85. If you are fast enough, you may just catch up to her to wish her a happy birthday. I tell everyone she is very spry. How else do you describe someone who is fully active in more clubs and organizations than I can count?

It keeps her young. I can only hope that when I reach her age I can do half of the things she does. She will tell you she doesn't do THAT much, maybe she has slowed down a tad, but she is still involved in numerous activities.

She no longer swims with us every summer. My brother and I would get quite a kick out of her doing the back stroke with her egg white swimming cap on. She now prefers the float boat rides compared to observing for us when we water ski. But other than a few changes, she still gets out there and does as much as possible.

When winter arrives and 48 hours has passed and she hasn't left the house, the cabin fever starts to set in. She enjoys her freedom and thrives on getting out. Her civic club groups, church activities, bridge games, and bowling games keep the rest of us on our toes.

I tend to call ahead to make sure she will be home before stopping by for a visit. But no matter what function she is gearing up for, when she sees her first, and so far only, great-grandson toddle her way, everything stops. She is quite lucky not only to be able to see her great-grandchild, but to be able to get down on the ground and play with him. That is a remarkable gift that she can give him. He, of course, thoroughly enjoys seeing his great-granny, because who else gives him WHATEVER he wants, whether it is candy or presents.

He does wear her out, like any 2-year-old will do to anyone, but she does wish he would let her hold him more. But there is no holding down a toddler. She is quite excited about the upcoming arrival of great-grandson number 2 in July. She will be able to hold him as long she wants.

As she gets ready to celebrate so many years on this planet, I think of all the amazing things she has experienced. From the days of being number 10 in a family of 12 children, to seeing all the new technology, and to being re-elected once again in the Eastern Star chapter this year.

We are all very thankful for her wonderful health and clear mind. I tell her all the time how lucky she is to be able to spend quality time with not only her grandchildren, but now great-grandchildren.

We may give you a hard time about driving, and my brother may still palm your head like a basketball, but we are very thankful that you are here to celebrate your 85th with us.

Happy Birthday, Gram!

TOWN & COUNTRY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:54 - Released 4/27/01

Perhaps if the cast of Peter Chelsom's Town & Country were made up of unknown actors, it wouldn't be so disappointing. But with names like Warren Beatty, Diane Keaton, Goldie Hawn, and Garry Shandling, among others, one would expect more. On the other hand, the cast is not really the film's problem; the actors do their best with what they have, but the screenplay by Michael Laughlin and Buck Henry is a frustrating mix of marital strife and corny comedy, featuring real-life situations involving characters who are jarringly two-dimensional. Some of the people in this story seem grounded (at least somewhat) in reality, while others appear to be created solely for generating cheap laughs. The result is that we don't really care for any of them, much less how they work through their ever-increasing problems. This is exacerbated by director Chelsom's indecision regarding which tone to adopt. In one scene a couple sits with their lawyer, glumly discussing how to divide up their belongings, and a moment later we have a wheelchair-bound woman repeatedly crashing into the furniture like a sketch from Mad TV.

The story starts with New York architect Porter Stoddard (Beatty) and his commercial artist wife Ellie (Keaton) celebrating their silver wedding anniversary with best friends Griffin and Mona (Shandling, Hawn), who have apparently been married for about as long. The couples trade magnanimous speeches about marital bliss and how lucky they are, but soon after this occasion we discover the truth: Porter is having an affair with a beautiful young cellist (Nastassja Kinski), Griffin is having an affair with a crossdresser, and before long Porter and Mona are themselves pairing up to do the horizontal mambo. Both marriages erupt into resentment and litigation, and the two men wind up traveling to a remote ski resort where Griffin owns a cabin. At this point the story turns surreal, with a major plot digression about a sexy ski bunny (Andie MacDowell), her trigger-happy, overprotective father (Charlton Heston, parodying himself whether he knows it or not), and a bait store clerk/Marilyn Monroe impersonator (Jenna Elfman), all of whom impact Porter's life in a variety of ways that seem portentious but don't really have any substantial bearing on the outcome of the story.

Besides the bizarre plot line and the extreme conflict in tone, this film suffers from several minor irritations like superfluous characters (I mean besides the ones I've already mentioned) and truly stupid jokes in the dialogue. I daresay one can see Buck Henry's schticky, SNL-style sketch humor injected uncomfortably into unhappy situations. There are moments of dialogue too stupid for the character saying them, and trite, sitcom-style jokes that seem to call attention to themselves for sheer incongruity. This is further compounded by Keaton's inability to keep a straight face even in what are supposed to be emotional scenes.

If this film is intended simply to be a light romantic comedy, then the subject matter is usually far too grim for its own good. If it's a witty but earnest investigation into marital dynamics and the differing needs of the sexes, then it's aiming too low from a comic standpoint, with characters who are not believable as human beings and situations that border on the absurd. At the end of the day, what we've witnessed is a weak attempt to make fun of what selfish jerks people are (especially men), but the result is much more bitter than funny. ★★★½

DRIVEN

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:57 - Released 4/27/01

Although the press material for Renny Harlin's Driven lists Sylvester Stallone and Burt Reynolds as its two main players, the actual star is the relatively unknown Kip Pardue. Stallone, who also wrote the film, plays opposite Pardue in a mentor/protegé scenario involving Formula 1 racecar drivers, while Reynolds is really just a villainous side character, one of the many stereotyped cardboard cutouts in this attrociously testosterone-soaked script. While the film offers lots of cool racing footage that will please fans of that sport, the story labors under false pretenses most of the time, with a sickeningly sweet love story and the kind of sports-related heroics we have come to expect from Stallone.

Pardue plays Jimmy Blye, an up-and-coming racer who appears out of nowhere to challenge longtime world champion Beau Brandenburg (Til Schweiger). Blye's physically disabled coach, extreme hardass Carl Henry (Reynolds), and his brother/manager, extreme jerk Demille Blye (Robert Sean Leonard), both look at the kid as their meal ticket and treat him as such, forcing him into regular press conferences and autograph signings. "You'll thank me in 5 years when you're a brand name," Demille quips. But when Blye begins to falter and loses a race to Brandenburg (gasp), Carl decides he needs an older, more experienced racer on his team to guide him back to the front. He calls former legend Joe Tanto (Stallone) out of retirement to save the day, and Joe is soon racing alongside Blye, advising him how to beat Brandenburg, who happens to be his old nemesis. Meanwhile, Brandenburg dumps his longtime girlfriend Sophia (Estella Warren), citing her as a "distraction" to his technique. Jimmy apparently sees a need for just such a distraction in his life, and quickly catches her on the rebound. So begins a constant alternation between racing sequences where Blye, Brandenburg, and Tanto might as well be the only cars on the track, and love-triangle scenes between Sophia and her two hunky boyfriends. Also present is Tanto's bitchy ex-wife (Gina Gershon), who is currently married to another member of Blye's team (Cristián de la Fuente).

There's not much to this movie if you're not into racing. If you are, you'll enjoy the track sequences but probably not care much for the romantic angle since it involves pretentious, sappy love scenes and ridiculously stupid dialogue. The actors are not required to do much except act tough (guys) or act girly (girls). The film does some impressive globe-trotting, taking us on a tour of the professional racing circuit through Chicago, Toronto, Japan, Germany, and Detroit, and includes a thrilling if unlikely impromptu Formula 1 race through the busy city streets of Chicago. But I would think racing fans would do better just to rent a video of the real thing than sit through all this schlop. ★★

Oakland Update

by Mayor Asa McCain

Revisit Broadford Lake and recreational area this summer. The 138 acre lake — known for its relaxed, quiet atmosphere and its swimming, picnicking and some of the best fishing in the area — is being revitalized this year.

From now until May 25, we're offering family passes for half price, $20. For details see the ad in this paper. Look for the Fun Food Shop, our new concession stand. New this year will be rental boats for fishing and a lap lane for serious swimmers. We will be celebrating Independence Day starting with the fireworks on July 3 and family activities on July 4.

We were pleased with the turnout for Tuesday's Main Street Revitalization meeting and have received a lot of good ideas toward the next five-year plan.

Don't forget Oakland Blooms on Saturday, May 19. It'll be all over town this year with plants and outdoor goods being sold at the Front Page Stage, and entertainment in front of the train station. The event has been expanded to also include a community-wide yard sale.

If you're planning a yard sale, you may want to schedule it on the 19th to take advantage of all the promotion. If you would like to set up downtown, you can call Glenn Tolbert before May 15 at 301-533-4470.

NOTICE

Please be advised that all persons holding hunting permits giving rights and access to the properties owned by BTC Developments and Tri-Star Mining, Inc., for the 2000-2001 hunting season are to consider these authorizations "null and void," effective immediately. We find this action is necessary due to the recent case of vandalism this company has experienced, and while we are in no way blaming those who have hunted this property, we feel this decision is necessary until we can get to the bottom of this extreme amount of destruction. It's our belief that by revoking these permits, innocent persons will not be in the wrong place at the wrong time and be unjustly blamed and the authorities will have a better chance of finding the actual culprits without interference.

We apologize for any inconvenience and hope those who may hold such permission slips will understand our need to regulate traffic on mining property. But please understand also, there will be no exceptions to this decision. No trespassing means no trespassing and anyone caught on mine property will be prosecuted.

UPDATE

by Ken Wishnick, president

OUR DEEP CREEK LAKE "INDUSTRIAL PARK"

Competition can be fierce as so many towns, cities, and counties promote themselves in campaigns to attract new industry. After all, bringing new enterprises into an area not only means more jobs, it also means spreading the property tax burden as well.

In recent years, tourism has been increasingly recognized for providing many of the advantages of new industry while avoiding some of the disadvantages. Tourism's benefits to Garrett County include:

- A $175+ million impact and over 2,600 jobs countywide
- A substantially expanded tax base helping pay for schools and community services

A clean, non-polluting industry — Deep Creek Lake could be considered our major industrial park!

- Creation of more activities, restaurant choices, events, specialty shopping, and other amenities that enhance the quality of life
- A successful resort image that helps attract non-tourism business and industrial ventures

Garrett County has some extraordinary tourism attraction assets, with our seven public lakes, Wisp Ski Resort, world-class whitewater and fly-fishing, 90,000 acres of publicly owned parkland, and so much more.

Visitors to Garrett County bring outside dollars into our economy. Although almost everyone has heard the theories about new dollars turning over several times in the community, this is not always obvious, even to those who are directly benefiting. As an example, consider a car dealer who only sells vehicles to local residents. Though tourists may not be his customers, certainly many of his customers earn part or all of their income from tourism. If it were not for all the dollars left behind by visitors, there is no question that most businesses in Garrett County would have to cut back and our economy would be devastated.

Tourism is still on a growth track in Garrett County. Summer brims with activity, but fall and spring still have room for growth. The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is working on enhancing visitation during these slower seasons. Increased tourism dollars in our community will continue to expand the benefits we all share as a result of this successful industry.

GGBA Holds April Meeting

The Greater Grantsville Business Association met April 25. The speaker for the meeting was Doug Riley, co-chair of the Garrett County Relay For Life. This event is held one weekend each year for cancer survivors and their supporters to gather in teams to walk in a relay, light luminaries, and to raise money and awareness. Southern High School will host the relay on June 8 and 9.

Robin Bissell said that the library will be selling bricks from the GGBA booth at Grantsville Days, and that Rosie Cupler is selling tickets for a Potato Bar "with all the fixin's" on June 1 at the Grantsville Elementary School to raise money for the library. Tickets are available in the community, or persons may call Cupler at 301-895-5544.

Lynn Newman has volunteered to be the GGBA's chamber representative, but an alternate is still preferred. Interested individuals may contact Phyllis Finzel.

Garrett County SKIES

Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN — In May, sunlight hours each day increase — starting at 13.9 hours on May 1 and growing to 14.8 hours at month's end. The sun's midday peak height in the south creeps upward from 65 to 72 degrees (45 degrees is half way up). Sunrise times slide backward from 6:18 a.m. on May 1 to 5:46 a.m. at the end of May. Sunset times move forward from 8:13 p.m. on May 1 to 8:40 p.m. at month's end.

THE MOON — Early May opens with a moon slightly more than half full in the evening sky, which is great for crater spotting with binoculars or telescope. The evening moon grows to full on the night of May 7-8, then rising after sunset. On May 10 the moon will appear near the planet Mars in the late evening southeastern sky. By May 15 the moon will have shrunk to half full in the southern dawn. On May 20 the moon is last seen as a slender crescent low in the eastern dawn. The moon reappears in the western dusk on May 24, appearing as a razor sharp crescent near the planet Mercury. By May 29 the moon will have grown to half full in the southern evening sky.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS — Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine more steadily than the twinkling night stars. But if a planet appears very close to the horizon or if it's windy, even the planet's light may flicker. May will see the bright planet Jupiter and Saturn vanish in the western twilight. But before these two planets disappear, each will have a meeting with the planet Mercury as the innermost planet climbs upward. On May 6, Mercury will appear to the left of Saturn while on May 15, Mercury will be to the left of Jupiter. By the end of May, even the planet Mercury will drop out of view. May will see the entrance of the planet Mars in the evening sky. At the start of May, Mars rises in the east about midnight. As May ends, Mars's rising time has dropped to 10 p.m. Venus is brilliant in the eastern dawn as her rising time increases from 90 minutes to 2 hours before sunrise.

MAY'S BEST SIGHTS — Just a few of the bright winter evening stars remain, forming an arc low in the west. High in the southern sky is the huge Spring Triangle, a trio of three bright stars. On the right is the bright star Regulus, marking the heart of Leo. The left side of the triangle has the bright golden star Arcturus and white blue star Spica below. Low in the northeast evening sky is the white blue star Vega, the brightest star seen on summer and fall evenings.

MAY ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES — The Frostburg State Planetarium feature for May is "The Verge of Destiny," surveying science fiction's scenarios for humanity's future. Our planetarium programs start with a live tour of the current evening sky using our planetarium projector. Our free public programs are each Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., each presentation lasting about an hour. The planetarium is in the front lobby of Tawes Hall, near the middle of the Frostburg State campus. There is free convenient parking nearby. The Cumberland Astronomy Club will have its monthly meeting on Friday, May 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the LaVale Public Library along the National Highway (Route 40). All interested sky gazers are welcome.

Dr. Bob Doyle directs the planetarium at Frostburg State. Since the mid '70s, Doyle has been writing sky columns for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask a sky question, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "Skywatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM, Frostburg State's radio station that transmits at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. Dr. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

Tickets Available For Veterans' Recognition Dinner, Program

The public will have the opportunity to honor Garrett County's military veterans and their families in person during the second annual Veterans' Recognition dinner and program, set for Thursday, May 24, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Proctor Kildow American Legion Post 71 in Oakland. Organizers request that tickets be purchased by Tuesday, May 15.

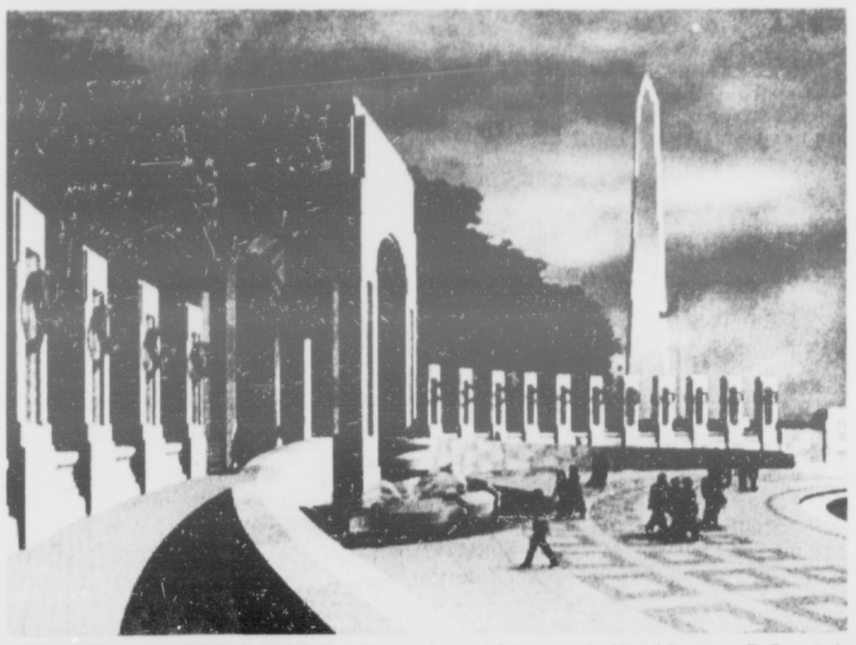
The event is an outgrowth of the ongoing Southern High School World War II oral history project coordinated by retired SHS history teacher Matt Novak. The program will salute not only living and deceased veterans, but the accomplishments of SHS students in undertaking the oral history project, which will eventually result in a large illustrated book of WWII era rememberances.

The evening will include a memorial ceremony to commemorate Garrett County veterans who lost their lives in service to the nation. There will also be a special ceremony during which two WWII veterans who left high school in their senior year for military service will be awarded high school diplomas.

Southern student artworks illustrating some of the stories of local World War II veterans will be exhibited, along with a display of military uniforms and equipment, and a short program of patriotic songs and music will be performed by the SHS band. Award-winning student projects relating to local history will also be recognized during the evening.

The proceedings are open to the public, but seating is limited and early ticket purchases are strongly encouraged. Students who conducted interviews for the oral history project, as well as all persons who were interviewed, will have their meals provided by the Garrett County Historical Society, and the dinner is open to the general public at a cost of $15 per ticket.

Tickets are available from Matt Novak, 281 Shady Dell Rd., Oakland, MD 21550. Novak may also be reached by phone at 301-334-3413 or via e-mail at mattnovak@gcnetmail.net. The students have been interviewing WWII veterans for the last three years and next year will begin interviewing veterans of other conflicts, particularly the Korean War.



MEMORIES OF WORLD WAR II, soon to be set in stone in Washington, D.C., at the planned National WWII Memorial on the Mall, are still among us in flesh and blood. The local men and women who served in the U.S. armed forces during the world conflict, and their families who manned the homefront, will be saluted during the annual veterans' recognition dinner and program, set for 6 p.m. Thursday, May 24, at American Legion Post 71 in Oakland. The event is open to the public, who may purchase tickets through Tuesday, May 15, by contacting WWII oral history project coordinator Matt Novak at 301-334-3413. The program will also recognize the efforts of the Southern High School students who have been interviewing veterans and compiling their stories into a permanent archives and an eventual book. Student artwork inspired by the interviews will be on display at the dinner, the SHS band will play a program of patriotic music, and awards will be bestowed to some the school's top history students.

TO HOST HIGHLAND FESTIVAL — The Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums will perform as the host band for the McHenry Highland Festival, scheduled for Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. Dedicated to the preservation and performance of bagpipe music, the local musicians are led by pipe major Fred. A Thayer, who co-founded the band along with Charles Evans, and pipe sergeant Rev. John A. Grant, one of its charter members.

GCC Pipes And Drums Slated To Host McHenry Highland Festival

The Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums will perform as the host band of next month's 14th annual McHenry Highland Festival, an honor the band has held since the festival's inception. The traditional Scottish music band will perform in two field concerts and two massed band performances at the Saturday, June 2, festival on the Garrett County Fairgrounds.

Formed in 1979 as the "Garrett Highlanders," the band was organized by Charles P. "Chip" Evans and Fred A. Thayer from members of a class of eight bagpipe music students at GCC's Oakland Center. A member of that first class was Rev. John A. Grant, who continues to play with the band as pipe sergeant. Thayer continues to serve as pipe major and music instructor.

The band was officially "adopted" by GCC in 1989 and it remains under the college's sponsorship. It is also supported by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

The GCC Pipes and Drums appears in approximately 20 performances each year. The band was featured in a Maryland Magazine cover story titled "Oatmeal Warriors," which appeared in the summer 1993 issue.

Thayer, a retired chief judge of Maryland's Fourth Judicial Circuit, continues to offer formal instruction in piping and drumming at GCC's McHenry campus through a curriculum he designed. All those interested in traditional highland music may partake in the instruction and/or join the band. The band is available for public performances, parades, or other functions, either as a group or in solo, duet, or other configurations, by calling the college or Thayer.

McHenry Highland Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $10 for those 12 and over. The GCC Pipes and Drums will provide Ceilidh entertainment on Saturday, June 2, from 7 p.m. until midnight, which includes Scottish and Celtic fiddle, harp and vocal entertainment. Refreshments and a cash bar will also be available. The cost is $6 for those 7 years and older.

They will also perform during the Kirkin' O' the Tartans on Sunday, June 3 at 9 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, located along Maryland Highway, Deer Park.

The festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lions Club, TCI, Smiley's Pizzeria, Deep Creek Brewing Company, Pepsi, and a grant from the Garrett County and Maryland State arts councils.

Interested persons may contact the Deep Creek Lions Club, Box 63, McHenry, MD 21541, or call 301-387-9300. The festival's web site is www.garrett-chamber.com/highlandfest.

Rams Win Four More To Up Perfect Record To 16-0

A 6-1 victory over host Bishop Walsh last Friday could actually be called a close game for the Southern High School varsity this season, at the Rams continue to end most of their games after five innings because of the 10-run rule. The 6-1 defeat of the Spartans on Friday was followed by an 11-1 thrashing of visiting Hampshire on Saturday and consecutive, convincing Western Maryland Interscholastic League victories over county rival Northern, 10-0 on Monday in Oakland and 7-2 yesterday at the Cove.

The four wins up the Rams' overall record to a perfect 16-0 and their WMIL mark to 8-0. They will try to extend their streak this Friday at Beall, on Saturday at Preston, next Monday at home against Fort Hill, and next Tuesday against Bishop Walsh, also in Oakland.

The Rams took a 3-0 lead in the first inning against Bishop Walsh last Friday, as Steve Eiswert hit a bases-loaded single to plate Ricky Reams, and Brad Palmer followed with a single to bring home Justin DiSimone and Joel Helbig.

Southern added one run in the fourth and two in the sixth. The Spartans avoided a shutout when Aaron Wagner scored on a fielder's choice from Kevin Orndorf in the fifth inning.

DiSimone led the Rams' eight-hit effort by going 3-for-4 with two doubles for two RBI. Palmer finished with two singles for two RBI.

Bryson Meyers earned the win on the mound, from which he allowed four hits, walked just one, and struck out five in going the distance.

The loss dropped the Spartans to 2-12.

Tobi Stoner recorded a no-hitter for the Rams against Hampshire on Saturday, as the Trojans' only run was unearned. Stoner tossed five innings, walked four, and struck out seven to up his personal mark to 4-0.

Meanwhile, the Ram offense racked up 11 hits and scored in all but the first inning.

DiSimone again paced the Rams' hitting with a double and a single for two RBI and three runs scored. Kevin Goralski and Ricky Reams each hit two singles for two RBI, and Eiswert provided an RBI triple.

The Trojans' lone run came in the bottom of the fourth on an error.

DiSimone was on the mound for the Rams in Monday's encounter with the Northern Huskies and allowed just two singles, one each in the first and second innings. He then retired 12 straight batters to get the win.

Southern scored six runs in the second inning and four in the fifth to bring the game to a conclusion. Half of the second-inning runs were recorded on a three-run homer by Brad Palmer. Reams hit a double to bring home another run, Stoner followed with a sacrifice fly to plate the fifth one, and DiSimone stroked an RBI single to make it 6-0.

A bases-loaded double by Reams in the fifth ended the contest and gave the Huskies their 10th defeat in 16 starts, and their fifth WMIL loss in seven league games.

Palmer finished with a home run and a single, while Reams had two doubles for three RBI.

The Northern Huskies stayed right with the Rams until the late innings of yesterday's game, as they were ahead 1-0 going into the top of the fourth. That's when the Rams finally put a run on the board to knot the score at 1-1. They took the lead for good with two runs in the fifth, scored three more in the sixth, and Kevin Goralski smacked a solo homer for an insurance run in the seventh.

The Rams' tying run in the fourth was unearned, as a fly ball was dropped by the Northern outfielder. In fact, the Huskies committed seven errors on the afternoon.

Chad Panther singled home Joel Helbig to break the 1-1 tie in the fifth, and Jared Fike drew a bases-loaded walk to make it 3-1.

Meyers got the win on the mound, going the distance, scattering six hits, and striking out 10. Greg Whittemore pitched well for the Huskies, but defensive errors by his teammates caught up with him in the later innings.

Panther had a double and a single for two RBI in the Rams' eight-hit effort, while DiSimone stroked a pair of singles.

Mark Wolf hit a double and a single for Northern, and Aaron Mitchell had two singles. Landon Southerly accounted for the Huskies' run in the second inning with an RBI single.

SAFE AT HOME In the above photo is Northern High School's Mark Wolf, who put the Huskies up 1-0 when he reached home plate on an RBI single by teammate Landon Southerly in the second inning of yesterday's game against county rival Southern. Awaiting the throw to home is Ram catcher Brad Palmer. The lead lasted only until the fourth inning though, when the Rams tied the score at 1-1 and then went on to record a 7-2 victory. It was the 16th straight win for the undefeated, top-ranked Rams, and their eighth straight Western Maryland Interscholastic League victory. Earning the win on the mound was Southern's Bryson Meyers, pictured below, who scattered six hits and struck out 10 in going the distance. See story for details. Photos by John McEwen.

"When you play a good team like Southern, you can't give away runs," stated NHS coach Phil Carr. "We had five errors in our game against them Monday and seven yesterday. We had some strong hitting, but they were right at people. Ricky Reams (short stop) made a great play on a sharp hit by Greg Speicher that he fielded, then backhanded the ball to second to force out Mitchell."

The loss dropped the Huskies to 7-11 overall and 2-6 in WMIL play. They will host Fort Hill today.

Ram Jayvees Win Four More, Record Now 8-4

It was a great week on the baseball diamond for the Southern High School junior varsity, which won four straight games, including a doubleheader shutout sweep of Allegany. The Rams topped host Keyser on Saturday, 15-7, took two from Allegany on Sunday in Cumberland, 10-0 and 13-0, and topped visiting Westmar on Tuesday, 8-4.

Billy Reams pitched a complete game against Keyser on Saturday and struck out six, while he and Jay Tressler led the Rams' hitting. Reams aided his own cause on the mound by rapping a home run and two singles for six RBI, while Tressler hit a triple and two singles, and also scored four runs.

Dennis Tressler also had three hits on the day, all singles, and scored three times, while Nathan Fitzwater hit a double and a single, and Corey Burrell had two singles.

Burrell pitched a three-hitter in the opening game against Allegany on Sunday. He also hit two singles for three RBI.

Dennis Tressler had a bases-loaded double and two singles for four RBI, while Fitzwater hit three singles and scored twice.

Dennis Tressler tossed a one-hitter and struck out nine in the second game against the Campers.

Jay Tressler stroked a double and a single for three RBI, and also scored twice. Fitzwater also hit a double and a single, Burrell had two singles for three RBI and scored twice, Jason Weeks hit two singles and scored two runs, and Rodney Baker added an RBI single and scored twice.

A pair of home runs by Jay Tressler and a single round-tripper by winning pitcher Billy Reams were highlights of the 9-6 victory over the visiting Westmar jayvees on Tuesday.

Tressler and Reams started the scoring for the Rams when they hit back-to-back solo homers in the bottom of the first inning. Tressler's second blast, which plated two runs, came in the second inning. He finished with three RBI and three runs scored.

Reams struck out 10 batters in going the distance on the mound.

Leading the Wildcats' offensive effort were Randy Marchinke, who hit two doubles, and Dave Cavey, who provided two singles and two runs scored.

The 8-4 Rams will entertain Keyser this afternoon in a 5 p.m. game and host the Northern Huskies for a doubleheader this Saturday, with the first game slated to get under way at 11 a.m.

NHS Nine Splits In Week Of Six Diamond Outings

Northern High School's varsity baseball team played six games in six days this week, winning three and losing three along the way.

The Huskies opened Thursday with a 5-3 win over Bishop Walsh, but dropped the first half of a Saturday doubleheader to Mapletown 14-7 before rebounding to take the second game, 6-1, on the strength of junior pitcher Greg Whittemore's three-hit performance. NHS then lost 10-0 Monday to high-flying Southern, rebounded to take a 12-9 win over Salisbury Tuesday, and fell to the Rams again yes-terday in an error-plagued 7-2 loss. (See SHS account for details on the Southern games.)

Trey Brenneman belted a first-inning grand slam to send the Spartans home on their shields Thursday. It was the first baseman's second bases-clearing round tripper in as many weeks. Bishop Walsh scored twice in the second inning, but Northern scored once in the bottom of the stanza to go up by three. BW scored once in the sixth to account for the final two-run difference.

Sophomore Dan Vagnetti turned in an excellent pitching performance, allowing seven harmless singles and whiffing seven Spartan batters. In addition to Brenneman's first-inning blast, NHS's four-hit tally included a Greg Speicher double and a pair of singles by Bryan Lenhart.

Deja vu struck on the other foot in Saturday's opener when Mapletown's Andy Latusec whacked a first-inning grand slam, but the Huskies gamely battled back to knot the score at 4-all in the bottom half of the stanza. The Mapletown visitors scored four more runs in the second inning, and Northern responded with a run in the bottom half.

The two teams traded runs in the third, then Mapletown went up 11-6 in the top half of the fourth with a pair of scores. NHS scored once in the bottom of the fourth, then the visitors scored twice in the sixth for the final seven-run margin.

Both teams tallied 10 hits for the contest, and Northern was paced by Lenhart's three RBI garnered on his double and two singles. Greg Whittemore and Jeremy Frazee singled twice and Brenneman had a double.

Speicher homered in the opening inning of Game 2 to showcase a two-run Husky inning. Northern went up 4-0 with a pair of scores in the fourth before Mapletown scored once in the sixth. NHS put it out of reach with a two-run close to that inning.

Whittemore smacked a home run during the course of the contest, and allowed just three hits in his complete-game win. He struck out four batters. Northern's 11 hits included Speicher's and Whittemore's home run blasts, a pair of RBI singles from Brenneman, and Lenhart's two singles.

Lightning struck again Tuesday in the Salisbury game, as Brenneman cranked out a three-run first inning home run blast to key a four-run start. The Elks scored one run in the

Rams Sweep Keyser, Nip FH, Crush Lions; Titles In Sight

The Southern High School varsity softball team stands at 14-2 and on the verge of claiming the WMIL and Area crowns after a week that included one crucial league game and three contests against a pair of West Virginia schools. Should Southern down Beall tomorrow, it will lay claim to the WMIL title and, most likely, the Area title as well in one fell swoop.

The Rams started off Saturday in "typical" fashion, as junior pitching phenom Jennifer Bosley held Keyser hitless in an 8-0 win to open a doubleheader. Classmate (and cousin) Ashley Liller tossed four innings in the second game, giving up just one hit, before Bosley came on for the save in a 5-1 triumph. The pitching masterpieces set the stage for Monday's showdown against Fort Hill, as Bosley and FH's Jennifer Vance squared off in a nail-biting mound battle that ended with the Rams claiming a 1-0 win. Southern's batters were only temporarily shut down in that contest, for yesterday the Rams exploded for a 24-3 win over Tucker County.

Bosley took the wind out of Keyser's Golden Tornado in Saturday's no-hit twinbill opener by striking out 20 batters, giving up just two walks. The only out she recorded that was not a strikeout took place in the third inning, when a Keyser batter who had walked was gunned down at third by catcher Gina Reeves during an attempted steal. Bosley's wrecking crew performance also featured a home run blast and a pair of doubles for three RBI.

The game was scoreless until the third, when Southern's Katie Richter scored on a Bosley sacrifice fly. The Rams scored twice in the next inning after Stacey Scripp and Reeves reached base on consecutive errors; Scripp scored on a third error, and Reeves scored when batter Holly Sauder forced a fielder's choice play.

Two more SHS runs came home in the fifth, as Bosley's home run scored Ashley Liller and herself to make the score 5-0. The Rams scored a trio of runs in the fifth. Autumn Uphold tripled to drive Sauder home, Sauder scored on a wild pitch, and Liller walked and eventually scored when Scripp looped a single down the rightfield line for an RBI.

Liller got the starting nod in Game 2, and responded with an excellent four-inning, one-single performance until her arm began to tire. She departed with a 2-1 lead, and was credited with the win after Bosley came on to the mound to seal the save. The pair combined for 11 strikeouts, seven by Liller and four by Bosley.

Up by one as the fifth inning opened, Southern exploded for three runs in a stanza centerpieced by a Scripp RBI single. SHS recorded five hits on the day.

Monday's highly anticipated pitcher's duel against Vance and her 10-2 Sentinels turned out to be everything SHS coach Dave Bosley had predicted it would be. "It was a great high school softball game between two fine teams and two excellent pitchers," the Rams' skipper commented afterward, noting that Fort Hill may be the toughest team Southern has faced this year.

The two Jennifers, Bosley and Vance, locked horns for 7½ innings as each produced a true pitching clinic. The Rams' ace struck out 18 batters, gave up only two singles, and walked a pair of batters, while the Sentinels' hurler struck out seven, surrendered four hits, and didn't issue a single walk.

The game's only score came in the third inning after Liller, who had doubled and advanced to third on a fielder's choice, came home on an RBI double by Reeves.

Southern's offense was chomping at the bit to redeem itself yesterday, and did so by scoring 22 runs in the first two innings against Tucker en route to a 21-run victory.

The contest had started out with a surprise of sorts, as the Mtn. Lions took led off the top of the first inning by scoring twice to take a 2-0 lead. SHS then exploded for 12 runs in the bottom half of that inning and 10 more in the second. The Rams added two runs in the third before Tucker scored its third and final run in the fourth.

Liller started the contest for SHS, but Bosley was brought on in relief in the first inning. Uphold took over in the second and went the rest of the distance to claim the victory, giving up just two hits and one run.

Scripp, who has been batting between .450-.500 so far this year to lead the Rams at the plate, ripped a double and a pair of singles to produce one RBI. Uphold drove home three runs on a trio of singles, Amber Bernard singled twice for two RBI, and Erica Green had a pair of singles.

The Rams' fabulous regular season run comes to a close this week in a three-game homestand. After tomorrow's Beall contest, Southern will host Allegany Monday and Westmar on Tuesday in the finale. Each game gets under way at 4:30 p.m.

THE GAME WINNER! — Southern High catcher Gina Reeves is captured in the above photo ripping an RBI double that scored baserunner Ashley Liller Monday against Fort Hill, a hit that turned out to be the game-winner as the Rams took a 1-0 victory in a crucial WMIL contest. The afternoon featured a pitching duel to remember as SHS's Jennifer Bosley and FH's Jennifer Vance seemingly matched each other out-for-out. Bosley, who struck out 18 batters and gave up just two singles, is shown below rifling a pitch as Vance awaits at the plate, bat in hand. Ram Amber Bernard mans second base in the background. The 14-2 Rams can clinch the WMIL title, and likely the Area title, with a win tomorrow afternoon over visiting Beall. Photos by John McEwen.

NHS has a 6-11 record as the final leg of the 2001 campaign gets under way this afternoon in Accident when Fort Hill pays a visit, then Allegany comes to town for Wednesday's season finale. Both games get under way at 4:30 p.m.

bottom of that stanza, then NHS scored a pair in the third before Salisbury scored one run in each of the next three innings to pull within two.

Northern exploded for five runs in the sixth inning, and the Elks scored twice in the bottom of that stanza to make the score 11-6 in the Huskies' favor as the final inning opened. Northern opened the top of the stanza with a run to go up by six as Salisbury came up for its final series of at-bats.

Things were getting a little dicey in the game's final moments, and NHS coach Phil Carr went to Whittemore to clinch the win. The junior was summoned to the mound in the unenviable position of having runners on first and second, no outs, and the tying run at the plate. Whittemore cooly went to work and got the first two batters he faced to fly out to centerfield.

Whittemore worked the third Salisbury batter to a 1-2 count before striking that last Elk out, earning the save in every sense of the word. Starting pitcher Frazee, who worked the first four innings, was credited with the win.

In addition to Brenneman's home run, Whittemore pounded out a double and three singles to help pace NHS's 13-hit production. Elliott Perfetti ripped a triple, and Speicher and Vagnetti both whacked doubles.

Brenneman's Four-Hitter Leads NHS To Sole Win In Six Games

A Jolene Brenneman four-hitter provided the main highlight for the Northern High School varsity softball team this week, as the Huskies went 1-5 in a busy slate of regular and make-up games. Following a Wednesday, April 25, 12-2 loss at Preston, NHS started this week with a 13-0 loss to Fort Hill Thursday and dropped a 12-1 decision at Beall Friday before Brenneman's fine pitching performance keyed Monday's 6-2 win over Hyndman. Northern closed out with a hard-fought, two-run 11-9 loss to Westmar Tuesday, and is set to host Keyser for a doubleheader this afternoon.

Last week's Preston result (unavailable for publication at that time), included a pair of singles by Brenneman, hardly enough to stave off the 10-run loss. The Knights scored four times in the first, three in the second, and five in the third, before NHS broke into the scoring column with a pair of runs in the fourth. Brenneman gave up only four hits to the Knights, one a Jessica Lewis triple. The Huskies rapped out six hits off winning pitcher Elsa Winston.

The Sentinels paid a visit the following afternoon, and Fort Hill pitcher Becky Vance tossed a four-single shutout against the Huskies en route to the 13-0 win. FH's scoring rundown was two runs in the first, six in the second, two in the third, and three in the fifth as the Sentinels upped their record to 10-2.

Vance rapped out three singles and scored three times as Northern's pitchers, Brenneman, Bridget Frazee, and Brandi Perez, struggled to master the Fort Hill line-up. Despite the high run tally, NHS gave up only eight hits on the day.

Friday's trip to Frostburg featured another four-hitter, as Beall's Ashley Lease gave up just a quartet of basehits to the Huskies. Lyndsi Butler stroked an RBI single for Northern in the first inning, and Brooke Butler added a pair of singles through the course of the afternoon. However, after NHS took its early 1-0 lead, the Mountaineers answered with three runs in the bottom of the first, two in the third, four in the fourth, and three in the fifth in improving their record to 6-4.

Brenneman pitched until the fourth inning, when sophomore Tabitha Beitzel was summoned to the mound. The Northern pair gave up only six hits in their five combined innings of pitching duty.

Monday featured the third consecutive four-hitter of the week, although this time it was the Huskies that were stingy in allowing basehits. The visiting Hyndman Hornets were no match for Brenneman, who went the seven-inning distance in what Northern coach Tom Riley called "her best game of the year," striking out four along the way.

NHS took a 1-0 first inning lead, then scored two more in the third on RBI singles by Lyndsi Butler and Amanda Frantz. The Hornets scored once in the fourth, but Northern pushed across one run in the fifth and two in the sixth to go up by 6-1. Hyndman cut the final margin to four with a run in the sev-

HUSKIES AT PLATE AND ON MOUND — Despite struggling through a 3-13 season so far, the young Northern High School softball team has shown flashes of brilliance that bode well for next year. At the right is NHS's pitching mainstay, Jolene Brenneman, who in her first year on the mound has turned in several fine performances, including a pair of four-hitters this week. Lakers Win Two Of Five; Record Slips To 18-20

The baseball team of Garrett Community College played five Maryland JUCO games this past week and came away with two victories, as the Lakers dropped a 15-12 slugfest to visiting Montgomery-Germantown on Friday, and split two doubleheaders with Hagerstown Community College, one Saturday in Hagerstown and one Tuesday in McHenry.

The Laker pitchers gave up too many long balls to Germantown on Friday, as the visitors smacked four home runs. Chris Hammond hit two of them, while Joe Pichler and Justin Stephenson each rapped one.

The Lakers' 11-hit effort was led by Matt Mills with two doubles and a single, Jason DiAngelo with a double and a single, Brandon Stewart with two singles and three RBI, Josh Bosley with a double and two RBI, and Joe Carter with three RBI.

Nathan Gayman recorded a three-hitter in going the distance against Hagerstown in Saturday's first game, as he struck out nine batters en route to a 6-3 win. In fact, Gayman had a no-hitter going until the bottom of the fifth inning when the Hawks took a 2-0 lead on a two-run double by Darrell Clopper. Chaz Runk followed with a run-producing double to give the home team a 3-0 advantage.

The Lakers rallied for five runs in the top of the sixth on an RBI double by DiAngelo, a wild pitch, an error, and a two-run double by Dennis Show.

DiAngelo finished with a double and a single, plus two runs scored, while Bosley, Show, and Tim Casey each hit a double in the Lakers' eight-hit effort.

The Lakers managed only five hits off Hagerstown's Hoffman and Butts in the second game, but allowed 12 hits by the Hawks, who recorded an 8-2 victory.

Dan Kochenderfer had two of the Lakers' five hits, a double and a single, and Stewart hit a solo homer in the sixth inning.

The Hawks were led by Brooks Williams with a triple and a single, and Runk and Berger with two singles each.

In Tuesday's first game, Hagerstown's P.J. Hiser put the visiting team ahead with a two-run homer in the first inning, and teammate Regan Smith followed with a solo shot to make it 3-0. The Hawks added two more runs in the second and one each in the fifth and sixth to secure the win.

Hiser also earned the win on the mound, as he gave up just eight hits in seven innings and struck out eight.

Garrett's Dave Tranquilli fired a two-hitter for the Lakers in the second game, while the Laker offense racked up 10 hits. Kochenderfer finished with a pair of singles and three RBI, while DiAngelo, Ryan Whetzel, and Casey each hit doubles. Tranquilli fanned five batters.

The Lakers, who are now 18-20 overall, will host Dundalk in a single game this Friday.

OLL BENEFIT ROLLING OUT THE DOUGH — The annual Oakland Little League pizza sale fund-raiser got under way Tuesday and will continue through Wednesday, May 16, and the proceeds will help offset costs of repairs and improvements at the Broadford Park ballfield. The players are allowed to participate in just one fund-raising event per year, according to national Little League rules, and interested persons who aren't directly contacted may call 301-334-6280 to leave a message requesting an order. The pizzas will be delivered on June 2. Last year's top-selling team, the Markwood Family of Dealerships Tee-Ball squad, is shown above: kneeling from the left are Sara King, Kenneth Harvey, Erin King, D.J. Richie, Brittney Ashby, Catherine Weeks, and Blake Dever. Standing are Lauren Keefer, Patricia Sherrard, Gregory Tichnell, Tony Ashby, Justin Sanders, and Austin Eyler, and in the back are coaches Chad and Brad King. The team raised nearly $2,000 as it sold 121 pizza kits last year. The top individual seller was J.T. Collins, shown below, who raised $700 in selling 43 kits on his own.

Rams Fifth, Huskies Seventh In Nine-Team Area Meet

The girls' track team of Southern High School finished fifth and the Northern High School girls placed seventh in the nine-team girls' Jerry Calhoun Area Championships, held last Wednesday at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland.

The Rams finished with 65 team points, while the Huskies recorded 29 points. Fort Hill won the team title with 128 points, followed by Keyser with 110, Hampshire with 97, and Frankfort with 77. Beall was sixth with 42, Allegany finished eighth with 10, and Bishop Walsh was ninth with 0 points.

Pacing Southern was Justine Pagenhardt, who won the 1,600-meter run in 5:52, and Natalie Domenick, who finished second in the 1,600 and 800 runs. The Southern 3,200 relay team was also second.

The Northern Huskies had two first-place finishers, as Kristin Lander won the 100 hurdles in 16.43 seconds, and Jenny Goehringer won the high jump with a height of 5 feet, 2 inches.

The Southern and Northern track and field teams will be in competition again today in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championships, to be hosted by Southern. The Rams will travel to Hampshire next Tuesday, and participate in a tri-meet at Keyser next Thursday.

The Huskies will travel to Beall next Wednesday.

Ram Jayvees Win Area Meet

The junior varsity track teams of Southern High School each captured first place in the Area Junior Varsity Meet, held Friday at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland. The Rams were among seven schools represented in the competition.

Sophomore Matt Stephens led the Southern boys to victory, as he finished the day with four first places, while Jessica Sharon won two individual events and was on a winning relay team for the SHS girls.

The SHS boys amassed 135 points to defeat Fort Hill with 128, Allegany with 121, Beall with 85, Frankfort with 51, Bishop Walsh with 17, and Westmar with 0. The Southern girls finished with 169 points, followed by Fort Hill with 147, Frankfort with 109, Beall with 90, Allegany with 37, and Bishop Walsh with 0.

Stephens won the 110 hurdles in 16.9 seconds; the long jump, with a distance of 18 feet, 10½ inches; the high jump, with a height of 6 feet, 2 inches; and the triple jump, with a distance of 36 feet, 3 inches.

The Southern 3,200 relay team also placed first, while the 800 relay team finished second.

For the Southern girls, Sharon won the shot put, with a throw of 25 feet, ½ inch, and the discus, with a distance of 84 feet, 2 inches. She was also a member of the winning 1,600 relay team with Melissa Durst, Natalie Domenick, and Brittany Naylor.

Durst won the 400 run in 1:04, Domenick won the 800 run in 2:35, and Naylor won the 3,200 run in 12:17. Justine Pagenhardt was the winner in the 1,600 run with a time of 5:50.

"Casting Kids" Event Set For Young Anglers

Bassmaster's Casting Kids program, sponsored by Chevy Trucks and conducted by the Garrett Bassers Association, will be held at Team One in Oakland on Saturday, May 12. The programs tests the basics of fishing — casting, flipping, and pitching — for girls and boys in two age groups, 7-10 and 11-14. There is no charge to participate, and experience is not necessary.

The contest begins at the local level, as each participant aims for a target. Scoring is based on a point system which determines the winner in each age group. The local winners advance to state competition and, finally, to national competition.

A parent or guardian must accompany each participating child. For more information, persons may telephone Team One.

Brenneman aided her own cause with three singles, while Frazee, Frantz, and Butler each totaled a pair of singles apiece. NHS stroked 10 hits in all.

Tuesday's contest with the Westmar Wildcats was a wild one in every sense of the word. The score was knotted at 1-all after the first stanza, then a Westmar run made it 2-1 after 2½ innings. The Huskies answered with a pair of scores in the bottom half to take a 3-2, then they upped the ante to 4-2 with a single fourth-inning score.

The Wildcats exploded for six runs in the top of the sixth, however, taking a 8-4 lead and leaving the Huskies no choice but to reel off four scores of their own in the bottom of the inning to pull even at 8-all. Westmar sealed Northern's fate in the top of the seventh with a three-run inning, although NHS did score once in the bottom of the stanza during a last-gasp rally to cut the final margin to two.

Brenneman had a hot bat, ripping a pair of triples and a double at the plate to account for two RBI. Westmar pitcher Kristina Marsh showed the slugger a great deal of respect by also intentionally walking her twice. Brooke Butler rapped out four singles and scored three times, Frantz doubled and singled to drive home two runs, and Frazee and Lyndsi Butler each had two singles and a pair of RBI.

Brenneman worked the first six innings until she was replaced by Frazee. The Huskies gave up 10 hits to the Wildcats, including an Angie Johnson home run, while amassing an impressive 16 hits of their own off the game-winning Marsh.

As of last report, the Huskies' schedule through the end of the season features today's 4 p.m. home twinbill against Keyser, a Monday road trip to Hyndman, and Tuesday's regular season finale against Allegany in Accident. The last two outings will get under way at 4:30 p.m.

RUNS BOSTON MARATHON — Steve Sherrard, director of Garrett County Environmental Health, ran in the 105th Boston Marathon last month. The 44-year-old clocked the 26.2-mile course in 3:46, one of the official race times for the 15,000 competitors measured by a computer chip each runner tied to his or her shoelaces. The field of runners was so large that it took Sherrard over three minutes to cross the starting line as the race got under way at noon. This photo was taken in a Boston suburb at 7 a.m. that morning as Sherrard waited to board a bus bound for the starting line. Although he doesn't appear to be looking forward to the grueling endeavor, Sherrard later commented, "it wasn't such a tough race, if you've been running the hills in Garrett County it's not too bad; the Marathon takes place on Patriot's Day, a Massachusetts holiday, and the course was lined from start to finish with cheering people of all ages." Sherrard resides in the Accident area with his wife Ann and their children Sam, Abby, Beck, and Lake.

Flight One's winners were Sandy Bellow, low gross with 105, and Cheryl Wotherspoon, low net with 82. Flight Two saw Betsy Polce record a 106 for low gross, while Kazuko Hamill shot an 82 for low net. In Flight Three, Karon Schnably turned in a 111, good for low gross, while Marion Boehmer's 81 took low net. Debbie Weissgerber carded a 122 to take Flight Four low gross, and Ruth Kight and Vickie Regnier tied for low net at 82.

The winners for closest to the pin on Hole 3 were: Janice Metheny, Championship Flight; Wotherspoon, Flight Two; Schnably, Flight Three; and Weissgerber, Flight Four. (Flight Three was not reported. Metheny and Pat Filsinger tied for low putts with 33.

Huskies Sweep Beall; Tornado Leaves NHS Netters Spinning

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, for Northern High School's tennis program this week. The Huskies roared out to a 7-0 boys sweep and a 5-1 girls triumph over Beall Friday, but were blown away by Keyser's Golden Tornado Tuesday by 7-0 (boys) and 6-1 scores.

The Mountaineers proved no match for the NHS boys in Friday's play, as Northern top seed Mike Fletcher and second seed teammate Woody Kenner each took resounding 8-0 sweeps. Mark Bergstrom crushed his opponent by 8-2, Adam Brenneman decimated his Beall foe 8-1, and Martin Scholze ended singles play as it had begun, with an 8-0 shutout of his own. Kenner and Yommer teamed up for an 8-3 win in top-flight doubles play, while the Fletcher/Collen DuBose combo shut down its opponent in an 8-0 shutout.

Girls' play featured 10-0 Northern wins by second seed Ashley Robinson and fifth seed Miriah Fletcher, while #4 Christie Flockhart recorded a 10-1 victory, and #3 Renee Meyers turned in a 10-2 triumph. Beall's Kim Reidler downed Heather Lander in a 7-4 set after the top seeds had played to a 10-10 standoff. Nicole Sisler and Annie Donaldson reeled off a 10-1 victory in second seed doubles play, while the top flight doubles match was called because of the weather.

Tuesday's match with Keyser featured stormy weather of its own, which was limited to the court, however. The high-flying Tornado upped its record to 19-1 for its boys with a 7-0 victory, while the Keyser girls took their mark to 18-1 by virtue of a 6-1 triumph. Northern's Miriah Fletcher took the girls' fifth seed singles match to stave off the Keyser program's chance for complete sweep.

The Huskies (7-4) are set to host Southern in a 4 p.m. match Monday that will close their regular season.

NHS NETTERS DOUBLE UP — A Tuesday tennis match between Northern High and Keyser included a doubles appearance by NHS netters Andrea Green, left, and Rachel Bruch. The pair fell victim to a Tornado onslaught that ended the day with defeats for both the girls' and boys' Northern squads. The match came on the heels of a resounding Husky triumph over Beall Friday, as the boys recorded a 7-0 sweep and the girls netted a 5-1 victory. NHS is slated to host Southern Monday. Rams Net Win Over Beall On FSU Courts, 6-1, 6-1

The Southern High School girls' and boys' varsity tennis teams pounded their Beall counterparts yesterday afternoon in a pair of 6-1 triumphs on the Frostburg State University courts.

The girls' match got under way on the wrong foot when Beall's top seed, Kim Reidler, downed Britney Ashby in the opener. The Rams rolled back the Mounties from then on, as second seed Sarah Teets pounded her opponent for an 8-1 win, Kristen Stanton took an 8-4 victory, and Tasha Seilhamer and Mayjel Skeweris mopped up their matches with 8-0 sweeps. Seilhamer and Ann Johnson combined for an 8-4 win in top flight doubles play, and Stephanie Smith and Marla Watkins decimated their opposition with an 8-0 sweep.

The boys' match opened with Josh Stephens handly taking the top seed contest 8-1, then Dustin Slider and Jeremy Durst turned in 8-3 wins. Beall's Lenny Youngblood recorded an 8-5 win over Steve Teagarden, but Kody Morfoot avenged the loss by thumping his opponent with an 8-0 sweep. Doubles play opened with a crushing 8-0 triumph by the top seed SHS team of Stephens and Slider, then Nick Perry and Nathan Gregg closed the match with an 8-4 win of their own.

The Rams' published schedule (not accounting for any possible make-up contests) shows the netters traveling to Preston tomorrow and Northern Monday. Southern then returns home to host Fort Hill Wednesday and Bishop Walsh in Thursday's season finale.

Echinacea May Ward Off Infection

Echinacea is an extract of the common coneflower. The herb was used by American Indians for a variety of health purposes and was used in mainstream medicine in the US from the 1880s until the 1930s—when sulfonamide anti-microbial agents became available. There is evidence that some flower species may stimulate the body's immune system, helping it to ward off infections or speed recovery from infections.

A recently published study of persons with upper respiratory infections showed some beneficial effects. However, a study of 289 healthy individuals reported in Archives of Family Medicine and discussed in the popular news concluded that the herb was no better than a placebo in preventing the common cold. The study authors note that many problems exist in evaluating Echinacea, and we should not put much stock in their findings. We don't know the optimum dose of Echinacea. And there are eight plant species. We don't know which species, if any, has the most beneficial health promoting activity.

SHS's Liller Lone Underclassman On All-Area Basketball First Team

Honorable Mention Status For Teammate Bosley

Ashley Liller's list of athletic kudos keeps growing, as the Southern High School point guard has been named to the First Team of the 2001 All-Area girls' basketball squad. Only a junior, Liller was singled out for All-Area recogntion through a poll of area coaches along with her classmate and first cousin, forward Jennifer Bosley, who earned All-Area Honorable Mention recognition.

Joining Liller on the First Team were a quartet of seniors: Teandra Smith of Allegany, Stacy Mielecki of Frankfort, and Hampshire twin sisters Susan and Jennifer Davis. Susan Davis was named the All-Area Player of the Year, an honor awarded to Liller last month at the WMIL level.

A three-year varsity starter for SHS head coach Don Stemple, Liller has led the Rams in scoring each year she's been on the squad. This past winter she helped lead Southern to a 21-6 record en route to the Maryland Class 1A state final, and her 21 points against Glenelg brought the Rams to within three points of the crown, 45-42. She was named the WMIL's Player of the Year just last month.

Liller's 425-point total for this past season was good for fifth in the area, and her 15.7 ppg average ranked tenth. She led SHS in assists and steals with 5.5 and 4.8 averages, respectively, and was second on the squad in rebounds with 128 total takedowns, good for a five-rebound per game average.

"Ashley plays both ends of the court well," Stemple commented. "On defense we'll assign her to the opposition's best player, and on offense we try to get the ball in her hands because we know good things will happen. She finds a way to get it done in the big games.

ASHLEY LILLER

"She's very close to being the complete player, and in her senior year she will be. She's a student of the game who really likes the game, and she's one step away from loving it. When she really loves it she'll be the player we know she can be. She's already one of those strategy-oriented ballplayers who not only knows how to do things on the court, but why we coaches make the decisions we do. She becomes our coach on the floor when it's hard to communicate what we need to from the bench.

"Being just a junior, her leadership skills surprise me sometimes," said the longtime Rams' mentor. "I sat her down after the season ended to discuss what we needed to do to get back to the state final next year, and her ideas were one step ahead of mine. That's what you look for in a player. We know she's earned the other girls' respect, and she'll be working to get them together over the summer to find places to drill and play."

Bosley's recognition came as a result of her sterling play at the Rams' forward slot as she scored 944 points over the season for a nine-point average. She pulled down 87 rebounds for a 3.2 average, dished out 60 assists, and tallied 41 steals. She's currently 19th on the SHS career scoring list, and should break into the top 10 before the end of next season.

"Both Ashley and Jennifer have made it clear they won't rest on their laurels from this season, individually or team-wise," emphasized Stemple. "They're hungry for more, and have already set goals for next year that will help us bring home that state crown."

Liller is the daughter of Sue and Kevin Liller of Oakland, and Bosley is the daughter of Lu-Jean and Dave Bosley, also of Oakland.

The All-Area Second Team is composed of senior Desiree Duvall and sophomore Karen Knight of Bishop Walsh, senior Lindsay Stewart of Hampshire, and juniors Alicia Sanders of East Hardy and Erika Kuykendall of Petersburg. Noted with Honorable Mention status along with Bosley were Jessica George of Fort Hill, Danielle Surber of West Virginia Deaf, and Rachel Williams of Moorefield.

fending Late Model champion, began his quest to repeat the title in 2001. Wilmoth started in fourth position and took the lead for the final time on lap 24 of the 25-lap finale. Butch McGill finished second moving past Robbie Scott on the last lap. Scott held on for third, followed by Doug Horton, Tommy Pennington, Duke Pratt, Chuck Harper, Frank Buzzo, Brian Eaton, and Shaun Poling rounding out the top 10. Heats were picked up by Horton, Senic and Scott.

The Semi Late feature winner was Rick Burrows. Burrows started on the pole after picking up the win in his heat. Jeff Kesling, L.C. Powers, Eugene Towson, Josh Adams, Stanley Spooner, Billy Holbert, Mike Spooner, Skip Hare, and Chad Forman finished in the runner up through tenth spots. Burrows and M.T. Hall were winners in the heats.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, invader Junior Nolan picked up the first ever AMRA Modified event at Interstate 79 Speedway. Nolan came from the fifth starting spot to take the lead on lap 9. Shawn Davis took the lead at the drop of the green and held on to the spot until Nolan took over. Ron Parrish, driving for Automotive Machine in Mtn. Lake Park, passed Nolan on lap 10 but had mechanical problems and had to retire. Davis held on for second, with Rick Strickler in third, Steve Cook in fourth, and Doug Thompson in fifth. Davis, Parrish, and Thompson picked up the heats.

Last year's Pure Stock champion, Jim Byers of McClellandtown, Pa., jumped to the lead in the feature and never looked back. Jim Bendishaw, Joe Loudin, Chad Green, and Lloyd Frazier finished in positions two through five. Heat winners were Chuck Bloom and Byers.

Tom Simpson took over his brother's ride on Friday, and also took over where his brother left off and picked up the season opening feature event in the 4-Cylinder division. Mike Lewis of Oakland challenged early but blew his motor on lap 8. Kevin Pifer was second, Jeff Pennington was third, Sonny Crayton was fourth, and Skip Raupach was fifth. Dave Summers and Pennington were winners in the heats.

This Friday the first leg of the West Virginia State Championship Series will take to the track. Paul Wilmoth will defend his 2000 title against a good field of challengers. The Late Models will take to the track for time trials at 7:45 p.m.

Moth Spraying

often covered more than 150,000 acres. That outbreak peaked in 1990 when 187,723 acres were treated.

"While we continue to see significant growth in the number of acres to be treated for gypsy moth we do not anticipate that the current trend will come anywhere close to the peaks we had in the 1990s," said Robert Tichenor, chief of the MDA's Forest Pest Management Section. "Our gypsy moth monitoring program is much more extensive now; we are responding quickly to the signs of gypsy moth populations, and have much greater public awareness and cooperation in monitoring for this pest."

The department proposes an area for spraying based on the results of gypsy moth egg mass surveys performed every autumn. Gypsy moth females lay their eggs in tan quarter-sized masses along the trunks and branches of trees or on "protected" surfaces such as house foundations, the underside of lawn furniture, or in wood piles. Each mass can contain as many as 1,000 eggs that will hatch into the voracious caterpillars the following spring.

When populations are predicted to be at levels that will result in severe leaf loss, the area may be a candidate for suppression spraying. Using either a fixed-wing aircraft or a helicopter, Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) is applied in areas near open water, and Dimilin is used in most other areas. Both pesticides are approved for this use by the USEPA.

"The purpose of the cooperative suppression program is to protect the trees where gypsy moth populations are predicted to be at defoliating levels," Tichenor said. "It is not our intention to eradicate the gypsy moth. Our goal is to prevent defoliation of high value landscape and recreational-area trees by reducing gypsy moth caterpillar populations to non-damaging levels."

Landowners whose properties are located in or near planned spray areas are notified by the department and given information about the cooperative suppression program. Extensive consideration, planning and review goes into the selection of each property proposed for treatment, and no new areas can be added to the 2001 spray program.

The MDA has set up an informational toll-free number during the suppression spraying period, which provides updated listings of areas that have been sprayed each day and areas to be sprayed the following day. The recording is updated by 6 p.m. daily, and western and central Maryland residents may consult it by dialing 1-800-492-2106. The same information is posted on the department's web site at www.mda.state.md.us/forestp./spray1.htm.

Some residents of Loch Lynn and Mountain Lake Park are concerned about the possible use of the site.

According to Paul Shockey, mayor of Mountain Lake Park, 15 citizens attended the recent public town meeting to voice opposition to the possibility of a race track. But since it is outside the town limits, they have no jurisdiction to stop it, said Shockey.

At the conclusion of the meeting, it was decided that Shockey would write a letter to the Garrett County commissioners voicing the town's concerns about how the reality of a race track would affect traffic, the wetlands of the area, water runoff, and increase noise pollution.

Shockey said the commissioners may not be able to act on the zoning issues, but they may be able to intervene with other issues, like the wetlands.

Attempts to reach Sherbin were unsuccessful.

NATIONAL NURSES WEEK is May 6-12, and the local government joined with caregivers Tuesday to proclaim Garrett County's observation of the designation. Garrett County Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty asked for the local recognition of the nursing personnel because of the responsibility they have within the department and throughout the county. See story. Pictured seated from left are commissioners Wendell Beitzel, Fred Holliday, and Ernie Gregg. Standing in the same order are Peggy Chappell, home health; Martha Layton, AERS (Adult Evaluation Review Services) and personal care; Caroline Evans, WIC (Women, Infants, and Children); Eric Cvetnick, communicable disease prevention and personal health; and Michelle Ford, Healthy Families. Garrett County Health Department Salutes Its Public Nursing Staff

by Rodney Glotfelty
Garrett County Health Officer

The Garrett County Health Department (GCHD) employs nurses in all areas of public health: Home Health, Personal Health, Mental Health, WIC (Women, Infants, and Children), Adult Evaluation and Review Services, Personal Care Program, and Communicable Diseases.

Each department has its unique qualifications and criteria that must be fulfilled to meet standards of care for their clients. The nurses have been specially trained in these areas and are highly skilled individuals.

The GCHD Home Health Agency nurses have a special quality of being trained in all aspects of skilled nursing care. The nurses provide asthma case management, IV therapy, wound care, blood draws, and assessments and teaching, as well as medication review and diabetic care. Home care provides a wide range of needed health and supportive services to the ill, elderly, and disabled in their own homes.

Nurses who work in the Personal Care Clinic areas are extremely versatile and knowledgeable in all areas of health care. Services range from well-baby immunization care to arranging payment for services for older citizens, such as the Breast & Cervical Cancer Program and Maryland Primary Care.

Scheduled clinics include Family Planning, Colposcopy, Child and Adult Immunization, and Sexually Transmitted Diseases (STD) and Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) clinics.

Health care services also include communicable disease detection and follow-up, and school health-related activities.

Registered nurses employed by the Garrett County Mental Health Clinic provide a variety of services that include individual family and group therapy, crisis intervention, liaison with other physicians and agencies, and community education and prevention services. They work closely with the psychiatrist to monitor clients' responses to medications, and to coordinate treatment.

WIC is a federally funded preventative program that provides healthy foods, nutrition counseling, breastfeeding support, and referrals to pregnant and breastfeeding women, new mothers, infants, and children under 5. WIC has been shown to positively affect pregnancy outcomes and children's diets and growth during the pre-school years. WIC operates clinics in Oakland, Grantsville, and Friendsville, and currently serves 1,000 county women, infants, and children. Nursing brings professional services to certification and education components of the program.

Health Families Garrett County (HFGC) is a new home visiting program in our community. Babies are born to learn and HFGC is a partner in parenting for expecting and new parents. HFGC helps parents to be their child's best and first teacher during those crucial first years of life, when brain development is most rapid. Research shows that children whose families have been involved in Healthy Families or a similar program are better prepared and have greater success in school.

Healthy Families helps parents with all kinds of concerns: nutrition and breast-feeding support, recognizing a baby's cues and responding to its needs, keeping children safe indoors and out, development, and others. The service is free for all expecting women or families with a baby up to three months old who live in Garrett County.

The Adult Evaluation and Review Services (AERS) team consists of a registered nurse and a licensed certified social worker. The team is available to help patients and their families plan appropriate care and services. This may include assisting to resolve financial worries, nursing home placement problems, and support services to maintain patients in their own homes. Referrals are welcome from the family, patient, community agency, or physician. There is no charge to the client for the AERS. The team will assist anyone with questions regarding Medicare, Medical Assistance, Maryland Pharmacy Program, or insurance.

The Personal Care registered nurse case manager supervises the clients' plans of care under the direction of private physicians. This program is available statewide under the Medical Care Operations Administration and its goal is to assist qualified disabled, chronically ill, and elderly persons remain in their homes by providing assistance with the simple activities of daily living. Services are given by approved providers, who are reimbursed through the Maryland Medical Care Program. Eligible clients must possess a valid Maryland Medical Assistance card.

Dr. R. Bissell Retains AAFP Membership

Robin Lee Bissell, M.D., a family physician from Grantsville, has completed continuing medical education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP), the national association of family doctors.

AAFP members are required to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. It is the first national medical group to require continuing medical education for its members, thus ensuring their continuing medical expertise.

Bissell has been an active member since 1988.

LAB WEEK OBSERVED - Garrett County Memorial Hospital recognized its laboratory staff during National Medical Laboratory Week, which was observed April 15-22. The theme for the week was "Laboratory Professionals: Solving Today's Medical Mysteries." GCMH currently has 17 employees in its laboratory, where as many as 500,000 tests are performed annually. With the recent addition of two new chemistry analyzers, the lab at GCMH is able to perform a wider variety of tests in-house. The lab is open 24 hours every day of the week for inpatients, and during the day (except Sundays) for outpatients. Staff members pictured above are, from left, seated: Judy Umstot, Stacy Graves, and Karen Bishop; and standing: Joyce Nutter, Amy Miller, Susan Colaw, Jennifer Moon, and Kathie Dunn. According to the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, there are approximately 265,000 medical laboratory professionals and 15,000 board-certified pathologists in the nation. "These professionals often work behind the scenes, so few people stop to realize their importance," stated a GCMH spokesperson.

Maryland Citizens Missing Out On Medicare Dollars

Maryland residents who feel pinched by out-of-pocket Medicare expenses are starting to hear more about several programs designed to help them bridge the gap between income and health care costs. In Garrett County, the Area Agency on Aging, the Garrett County Health Department, and the Department of Social Services have created a partnership to get the money where it will improve the quality of health care for Maryland's Medicare population.

"An aggressive public information campaign has been launched, and a streamlined application process has been developed to assist members of our communities," stated Barbara A. Briggs, regional coordinator for the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary program (QMB).

Specifically, Briggs said that the state is trying to increase awareness and enrollment for the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary program, the Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary program, and two Qualified Individual programs. For those who are eligible, these programs pay Medicare Part A and B premiums and co-insurance.

Maryland estimates that between 72,000 and 82,000 Marylanders who qualify for the services are not using them. That leaves an estimated $37.8 million and $43.1 million in health services unclaimed in Maryland.

"Studies indicate Maryland is one of 12 states with the highest percentage of individuals eligible for Qualified Medicare Beneficiary and the Specified Low-Income Medical Beneficiary benefits, but not receiving benefits," noted a statement issued by the Maryland Department of Aging.

Those residents who have Medicare Part A, limited income, and whose financial resources such as bank accounts, stocks, and bonds are not more than $4,000 for an individual or $6,000 for a couple may qualify for assistance as a Qualified Medicare Beneficiary or Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary.

The QMB program pays the Medicare monthly Part B premium, deductibles, and co-insurance. In Maryland, the 2001 monthly income limits are $736 for an individual and $988 for a couple.

The Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary program (also known as SLMB) helps pay the Medicare monthly Part B premium only (not deductibles or co-insurance) for qualified Medicare beneficiaries. In Maryland, 2001 monthly income limits are $879 for an individual and $1,181 for a couple.

For more information, and an appointment to complete an application, persons may call the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431, ext. 140, the health department at 301-334-8253, or the Department of Social Services at 301-533-3000. The form available at the Department of Social Services is longer.

Series Slated

will get under way at 5:30 p.m., and the concert and dance will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. The buffet dinner will consist of a choice of two meats, two vegetables, rolls, salad, dessert, and beverage. All attendees will be seated at tables covered with linen tablecloths. There will be a cash bar available throughout the evening for food and beverage.

For further information on the concert series, or to obtain a season membership, interested persons may call the Best Western Braddock Hotel in LaVale at 1-301-729-3300 and ask for the Tri-State Concert Department.

Jazz Ensemble

Among the participants are musicians from Beall, Fort Hill, and Westmar high schools, and Westmar, Washington, and Mount Savage middle schools.

The professional musicians from Peabody will work with students in sectional rhythm, brass, and wind workshops, concentrating on style and jazz conception. They will also introduce elements of creative and improvisational style.

The day's activities will culminate as the young musicians appear onstage with the Peabody Ragtime Ensemble during a public evening performance in the Pealer Recital Hall.

The workshop and concert by the Peabody Ragtime Ensemble is made possible with the assistance of Young Audiences of Maryland. Recognizing the fundamental value of the arts, the mission of Young Audiences of Maryland is to ensure that the arts are integrated into the life and education of every child in the state. Last season Young Audiences presented 1,832 programs and workshops throughout Maryland.

Peabody Ragtime Ensemble, celebrating its 25th year this spring, includes professional musicians, dancers, actors, and visual artists selected on the basis of their artistic excellence and ability to communicate effectively with young people. "A rigorous audition and training process, coupled with ongoing evaluation by arts and education experts, ensures programming of the highest quality," the spokesperson said.

Tickets to the evening performance are $5 and will be available at the door. For more information, persons may call 301-687-3163.

FSU Geography Department Receives Grant To Assist With Mine Clean-Up

More than 100 years ago, many Frostburg area coal miners dug deep into their pockets to donate what they could to establish a state teachers college that eventually evolved into Frostburg State University. By doing so, they left a legacy of commitment to quality education for their children and an enhanced quality of life for area residents.

Now, thanks to a grant from the state, FSU is helping to clean up the environmental legacy of coal mining, especially the acid mine drainage that has contaminated area waterways. The Maryland Department of the Environment's Bureau of Mines recently awarded $40,000 to the FSU Department of Geography to support the Geospatial Research Group (GRG) of students and professional staff. The GRG is responsible for data collection, input, and analysis to address acid mine drainage problems in western Maryland. These funds represent a portion of about $160,000 allocated for FSU's participation in a collaborative effort between FSU and state agencies, now in its third year.

One promising initiative supported by the $160,000 is the Power Plant Research Program (PPRP), a part of Maryland's Department of Natural Resources Power Plant Assessment effort. With participation from coal mining companies and electric utilities, the PPRP is working to find an environmentally sound alternative to dumping the coal combustion byproducts (CCBs) from power plants into landfills and to demonstrate the benefits of applying these alkaline CCBs to abate acid mine drainage.

Dr. Craig Caupp of FSU's Geography Department works as a partner with the PPRP. His responsibilities include administering the grant and supervising the technical services and personnel it supports.

In return, the Geography Department benefits. "Our department's aim is to provide experience to our students," Caupp said. Their contribution to the PPRP includes field data collection, data integration and analysis, GIS development, remote sensing interpretation, and digital imagery development and modeling. Students use FSU's Geographic Information Systems (GIS) Lab to apply what they learn in classes to this "real project." They have been especially busy lately, he said, working to fulfill requests for posters and graphs.

Caupp is especially pleased with the future prospects for the geography students. "This [solution] gives the university long-term involvement. We will need to monitor the entire process, he said.

The GIS Lab is also a direct beneficiary of the PPRP. According to Caupp, two previous grants "resurrected" the lab and allowed the geography department to hire several of its graduates and students.

Areas targeted for remediation efforts have included the Georges Creek, Casselman, Cherry Creek, and Kempton Mine areas of Allegany and Garrett counties. Contaminated water by the millions of gallons with a pH of less than 3.5, similar to that of vinegar, travels along these creeks. Some finds its way into the North Branch of the Potomac River and eventually adds to the pollutants fouling the Chesapeake Bay. Acid mine drainage from the Casselman drains into the Youghiogheny River, then the Ohio River and onward into the Mississippi. Closer to home, waterways affected include Deep Creek Lake, Maryland's largest freshwater lake and home to a thriving recreational scene, and West Virginia's Jennings Randolph Lake, which serves as the backup water supply for the nation's capital.

One culprit that has served as a model for the PPRP is the Kempton Mine Complex. Before remediation, this area loaded from 900 to 26,000 pounds of acid into Laurel Run that proved lethal to wetland plants and native aquatic life downstream, resulting in a dead and fish-free North Branch. Now the situation is much improved, thanks to a test project set up by the Bureau of Mines that involves the use of several "dosers," towers that feed limestone into the water.

"This project has shown that alleviation efforts can work," Caupp said, but adds, "It's like a band-aid; not a full, long-term solution." The dosers are costly and require extensive maintenance.

But what has been dubbed the "days of the Pharoahs" solution may offer a better option to curtail acid mine drainage. The term arises from the use of mixture of masonry limestone and volcanic ash in ancient restoration projects that has inspired the substitution of fly ash from area coal-burning power plants for the volcanic variety. When mixed with water, this combination forms a grout that can be pumped into an abandoned mine shaft, where it coats the floor and hardens to seal leaks. Its alkalinity neutralizes the acid that results when oxygen molecules in water contact the sulfur and bacteria in the coal and pyrite surrounding it.

"The goal is to reduce the formation of acid," Caupp said.

This potential solution and Frostburg State's role in its implementation showed enough promise to be featured in an episode of "Maryland State of Mind," highlighting the Kempton Project that aired on Maryland Public Television this past winter. A test project involving grout injection showed positive results in the Winding Ridge mine near Friendsville. Later this spring, Caupp plans to have an updated web site available to describe the Kempton Mine Restoration Project's progress.

With such creative collaborations as the PPRP, the state of Maryland, power plants, coal mining companies, and Frostburg State University are working to leave a legacy of commitment to improving the environment of the region they serve. Eventually acid mine drainage could become a part of history, much like the abandoned mines from which it seeped.

NEVER SHARE YOUR MEDICINE

Do not share you medicine with someone else, and do not take medicine prescribed for another person. Your prescription fits you as precisely as good eyeglasses or bridgework. It was written for you on the basis of age, weight, sex, and physical condition.

Never allow someone else to take your medicine, even if his symptoms seem to be the same as yours. "Prescribing" for another person can have damaging results. For the same reasons, do not let anyone else "prescribe" for you.

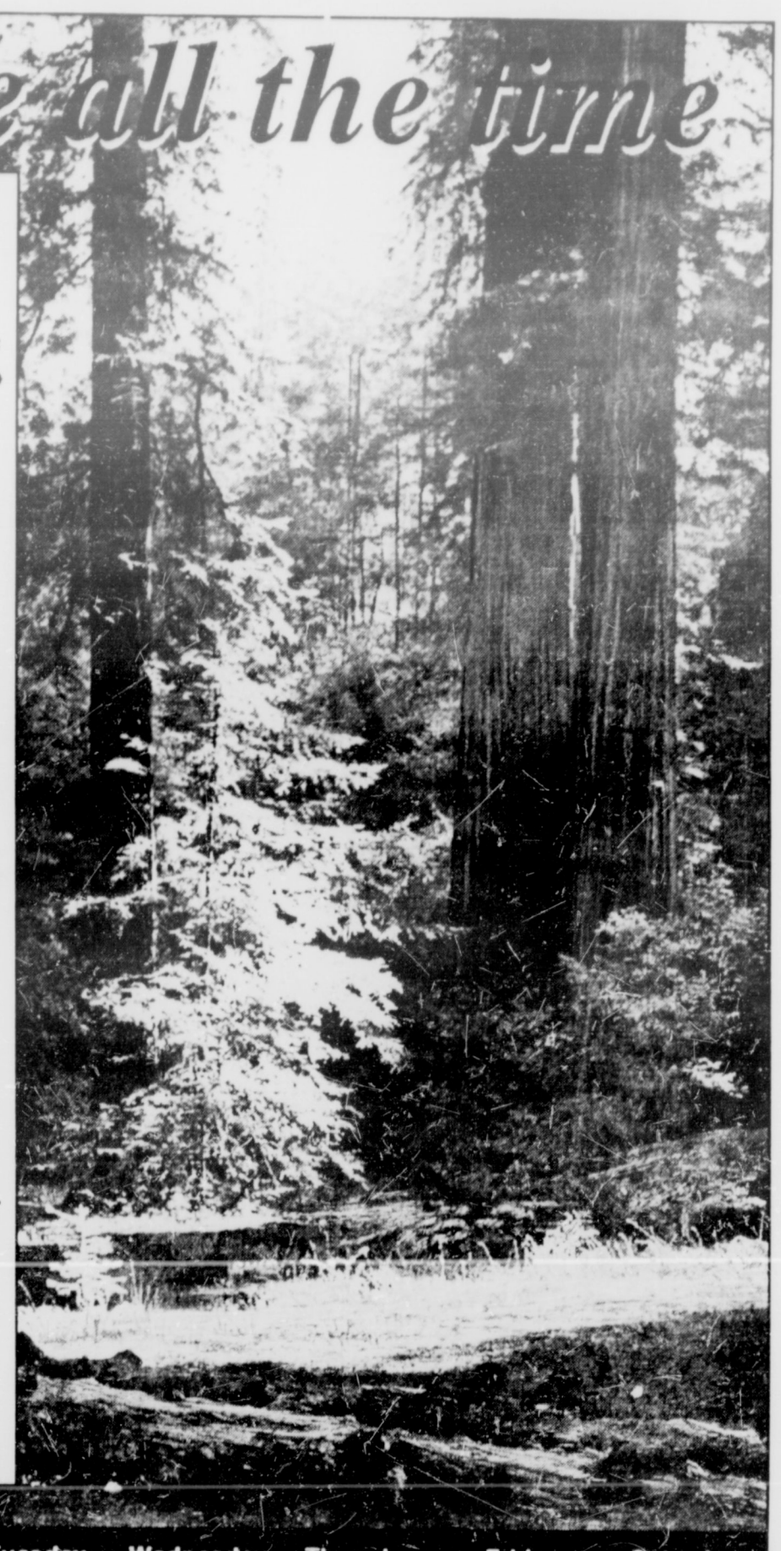
There all the time



Once upon a time a boy absentmindedly wandered deep into a woods. As the sun sank behind the tall trees, the boy panicked, having no sense of direction in the blackness, not knowing what waited ahead. Disheartened, he began to lose hope until suddenly he remembered…

It was there all the time…on his keychain…the small glowing compass his father had given him for such a time as this. Since he had never used it, it was nearly forgotten. What a disaster that could have been!

Our Heavenly Father has given us the light of His word to guide us as we wander through the maze of our lives. Make it an unforgettable part of your life as you worship each Sabbath. God knows what lies ahead. He is ready to help us find our way. God is

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN DOORS ARE SLAMMED IN YOUR FACE

May 6, 2001

Background Scripture:
Acts 13:4 through 14:28
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 90

Recently I celebrated my birthday and, in looking and thinking back over my life, I saw it as a series of doors — some open, some closed and some locked. At the time, I rarely recognized them as doors. More often I saw them as disappointments, losses, failures and sometimes even opportunities.

Actually, in retrospect, I realize that, whatever else they may have been, they were all of them also opportunities, for whenever one was slammed shut, God opened another one. Unfortunately, I often failed to see the door God had opened, or seeing it, did not have the faith to cross its portal. I imagine that you experience this in your life, too.

Although I had often read it, I had failed to learn the lesson Joseph imparted to his brothers: "Fear not…As for you, you meant evil against me, but God meant it for good, to bring about that many people should be kept alive" (Gen. 50:19b, 20.) Joseph's brothers had slammed the door in his face, but God opened another one and Joseph had the faith to walk through it.

1st Missionary Journey

We see this same truth at work in Acts 13 and 14, the account of the so-called First Missionary Journey of Paul and Barnabas. Arriving first on the "island of" Cyprus and then on the mainland of Asia Minor, Paul and Barnabas, and for a time John Mark, met with a variety of responses. On Cyprus they were well received in the synagogues. At Perga of Pamphylia, however, after an initial positive response in the synagogue, some of the Jews turned against them so that Paul and Barnabas declared: "It was necessary that the word of God should be spoken first to you. Since you thrust it from you, behold we turn to the Gentiles" (13:46). Eventually they were driven from the area by force.

The same thing happened at Iconium of Pisidia and Acts tells us that the people were divided, some siding with Paul and Barnabas, and some with their Jewish opponents. Despite an initial overcredulous reception in Lystra of Galatia — "The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!" (14:11) — Paul was stoned by his opponents and left Lystra under duress.

What God Did and Does

Finally the two missionaries sailed back to their home base, Antioch of Syria. Now, how should they report this effort for which they had been sent out by the Holy Spirit? In three important cities they had met both receptivity and harsh opposition. Their opponents had harassed and persecuted them from one town to another. Yet, for all this they had encountered, these two had left behind a series of fledgling Christian communities. So, when the church at Antioch came together to hear of their efforts, Paul and Barnabas "declared all that God had done with them, and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles" (14:27). The doors of the synagogues had been slammed shut against them, but the Lord had opened some Gentile doors instead.

In our personal lives as well as the life of the Church, whenever we hear or see a door being closed or even slammed, it is important for us to remember this and look for the door of opportunity that God WILL OPEN for us. It is for God to open the door, it is for us to go through it and seize the opportunity the Lord offers us.

Making Sense of Thompson's love life

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Emma Thompson

Q: Are Emma Thompson (Wit) and Alan Rickman (Persuasion) still together? I know he is the father of her baby daughter, Gaia. –Jane Douglas, Ypsilanti, Mich.

A: Jane, I'm afraid you are confused on a few fronts. Rickman wasn't in Persuasion, although he did star with Thompson in another Jane Austen movie, Sense and Sensibility.

The two never have been a real-life couple. While filming Sense, Thompson fell in love with Greg Wise, who played Willoughby, the lover of Kate Winslet's character. Thompson is still living with Wise, who is Gaia's father.

Q: As an AMC fan, I am enjoying their series The Lot, but what was the name of the AMC show a few years ago set in a radio station? –Barb Conley, Havre, Mont.

A: Remember WENN, which developed a small but loyal following during its 1996-98 run.

Q: Is Susan Howard (Dallas) related to Ron Howard? –Terry Mincey, Jackson, Ga.

A: The former Dallas actress, now a writer and a National Rifle Association board member, is not related to actor-director Ron Howard.

Q: There's an arthritis commercial featuring a blonde who looks like Judy, the older daughter on TV's Lost in Space. Is it the same actress? –L. Deahl, Waterford, Mich.

A: Good catch! Yes, that is indeed Marta Kristen of Lost in Space hawking Advil on TV.

Q: When was William McNamara born? –John A. Freeman, Kerrville, Texas.

A: McNamara (Beggars and Choosers) was born March 31, 1965, in Dallas.

Q: What was the first name of Abe Vigoda's Barney Miller character, Detective Fish? –Les in Minnesota.

A: Phil.

Q: My roommate insists that Michael Parks of Then Came Bronson fame is still alive. I am just as certain Parks committed suicide back in the '70s while his series still aired. Who is correct? –Joseph C. Formica, Fort Myers, Fla.

A: Your roomie is right. Parks, who recently turned 63, is still alive and brooding. He co-stars with Debra Winger, Angie Dickinson and Arliss Howard in the 2001 movie drama Big Bad Love, which marks Howard's directing debut.

Q: Is that Sam Elliott's voice saying, "Beef: It's what's for dinner" on those TV commercials? –Joel Kirson, Chicago.

A: Yes.

Q: Are David Hyde Pierce and Jane Leeves of Frasier married or related in real life? –Florence Moore, McKenney, Va.

A: No, but they are very dear friends.

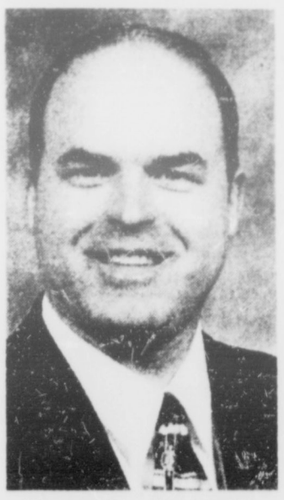
Leatherman To Teach New Class At MLI Baptist



Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church announces the beginning of a new Sunday school class on May 6 at 9:45 a.m. in the fellowship hall of the church, located at 1005 Broadford Road, Mtn. Lake Park. The class is called the "Family Life Class" (FLC) and will be taught by Pastor Dennis Leatherman, pictured above. This class will be for all ages "in whatever family situation they find themselves."

"FLC will focus on in-depth discipleship concerning the family and the home," Leatherman said. "Of course, everything will be based upon scriptural principles taken from God's Word, the King James Bible, our only rule and authority for faith and practice.

"The purpose for FLC is to help us examine ourselves and families in light of Biblical principles so that we can live in such a way that pleases the Lord and help our family members (and others) do the same," he said.

He added that those who decide to participate in this class will have the opportunity to learn how to face circumstances,relationships, and situations of family life from a Biblical perspective and "gain victory and contentment in their family settings." "I genuinely believe this class can change your home and can help your family please the Lord," he concluded.

Pastor Leatherman invites all families in the community to "prayerfully consider being a part of this class."

As with all services of Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church, a clean nursery is provided, as is transportation. Persons may call 301-334-3234 for more information.

Massage Therapy Open House Set At Garrett CC

An open house for persons interested in learning more about Garrett Community College's Massage Therapy Training Program is set for Tuesday, May 8, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Continuing Education building on the McHenry campus. The event is being sponsored by GCC's Continuing Education Division.

Instructors, administrative staff, and recent graduates will be available to present information on the curriculum and answer questions on massage therapy, one of the fastest-growing professions in the country.

The GCC training program began in September of 1995 and has graduated 45 students, with 10 more slated to graduate in December. Students from across the tri-state region have graduated from the program. Graduates are eligible to sit for the National Certification Test for Bodywork and Massage Therapy, which is required for registration in Maryland and suggested for massage therapists practicing in West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The Massage Therapy Training program also offers courses open to persons who are simply interested in learning techniques to use with family or friends. Classes which qualify as Continuing Education for practicing massage therapists are offered as well.

For further information on the open house event and GCC's Massage Therapy Program, interested persons may contact Cindy Humbert at 301-387-3069.

Begun in November 2000, the Teen Book Club meets every other month. Participants have the opportunity to share honest opinions of that month's book with each other. Following each discussion the teens choose the next book selection.

Persons are invited to stop by the library for a copy of next month's book, or call 301-334-3996 for more information.

May Bird Count Set; Volunteers Being Sought

The annual countywide May Bird Count, sponsored by the Maryland Ornithological Society (MOS), will be held in Garrett County on Saturday, May 12, during the entire 24-hour period (midnight to midnight). Birds may be counted during any portion of the count period and in any part of Garrett County, according to Fran Pope, count coordinator.

"Feeder watchers" are welcome, as are others who may wish to count birds at a favorite spot. Volunteers must let the count coordinator know where they will be counting in order to assure the best coverage of the county and avoid duplication of effort, according to Pope.

The theme for May count 2001 is "Towers in our Midst." In addition to birds, counters will also be asked to count numbers and types of communications towers which may be in the migratory pathways of Maryland and pose hazards to migrating birds, which might collide with them or be affected by their strobing lights.

To receive further information and/or a count form, persons may telephone Pope at 301-334-4908 prior to May 9.

Results of the count will appear in Maryland Birdlife, a publication of the Maryland Ornithological Society.

Antiques

by Ralph and Terry Kovel

Phonographs became popular household items in the early 1900s. A large, clunky wooden box topped by a metal or wooden horn was the most popular shape for the new music-making machines. The phonograph had to hold a record that was shaped like a disc or a cylinder. It had to be open so that the record could turn. The horn amplified the music. The strange-looking device was tolerated because the idea of music on demand was so appealing.

A few of the early designers tried to hide the phonograph mechanism by making it to resemble another piece of furniture. One phonograph, made about 1910, was a forerunner of the jukebox. Twelve cylinders were kept inside the top of a round table in a restaurant. A coin was inserted, and one could select a song. The music played and could be heard through a small earphone on a flexible tube. A small, portable phonograph was housed in a box shaped like a stack of books. Another was put inside a box topped by a statue of Buddha.

The most unusual were the Lampaphone and Phonolamp. They were popular around 1920. One was a table lamp, the other a floor lamp. Each had electric light bulbs and a phonograph hidden beneath large, fringed parchment shades. One of these oddities is now worth about $4,000.

• "Romeo and Juliet" is one of Shakespeare's best-known plays, but few people realize that Shakespeare didn't come up with the plot. The play was based on a real-life couple, who were married in 1302 in Citadella, Italy.

• Have you ever cracked a hard-boiled egg, only to discover that you picked up a raw one by mistake? Well, there's an easy way to tell the difference between a cooked egg and an uncooked one — aside from cracking it open. Just spin the egg on its end. A cooked egg will spin just fine, but a raw one won't spin at all.

To Cook or Not to Cook ...

Q: I keep reading conflicting advice about feeding my dog raw meat. One book says it's absolutely necessary to keep her healthy, and another says to avoid it completely. What do you say?

A: While I'm in favor of feeding my pets fresh food several times a week, I avoid feeding them raw meat.

My veterinarian pointed out that raw meats, like chicken, beef or pork, often carry bacteria and parasites that can make pets very ill.

Raw-meat proponents say that feeding a dog or cat raw meat provides them optimal nutrition, since their wild cousins thrive on this diet. But I can't see how pets can make use of those nutrients when their systems are fighting off a disease resulting from eating raw meat.

A study by Dr. Lisa Newman, president of the International Pet Care Association, backs up my vet's recommendation. She found that dogs that ate raw meat suffered from far more digestive problems and weaker immune systems than dogs that were fed cooked, processed foods and nutritional supplements.

Because of her findings, she cautions owners against feeding their pets raw meat.

If you want to feed your dog only fresh foods, give it cooked, unseasoned meats (seasonings will upset a pet's stomach) like beef, lamb or turkey. Add cooked whole grains like rolled oats, barley, millet or spelt (avoid white rice), and a few raw vegetables or fruit. Newman recommends a balance of 60 percent meat, 30 percent grains and 10 percent vegetables.

Cooking for your pet every day can be a chore, though. I like to alternate between fresh and processed foods. Buy high-quality pet foods that list all their ingredients on the label, and avoid any foods that list "meat by-products" (instead of beef or chicken) as an ingredient.

Supplements will also keep your pet healthy, especially if the majority of his or her diet is processed food. Talk to your veterinarian about a multivitamin or other supplemental formula. Your dog will stay in good shape, and you won't have to worry about the risks associated with raw meat.

SHS Sophomore To Attend HOBY Program

Lyndsie Rush, a sophomore at Southern High School, will attend the Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership (HOBY) seminar at the Johns Hopkins University June 7 through 10 with more than 185 other young leaders representing various high schools throughout Maryland.

Community organizations along with corporations and local businesses sponsor the students to the all-volunteer organized event.

HOBY Leadership seminars bring together a select group of high school sophomores to interact with distinguished leaders in business, government, education, and professions to discuss present and future issues. The goal is to provide them with a stimulating forum for learning about the American incentive system and the democratic process, while broadening their understanding of their leadership potential and quest for self-development.

Topics for discussion are art, bioethics, civility, volunteerism, media communications, entrepreneurship, leadership, and motivation. Leadership and volunteerism are encouraged by community service programs with Port Discovery and the Red Cross Youth Training program. HOBY ambassadors are challenged to return to their communities to perform at least 100 hours of community service within 12 months following the seminar.

HOBY was established by veteran actor Hugh O'Brian following a visit to Africa, where he was inspired by a meeting with Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

Lyndsie is the daughter of Timothy and Kimberlie Rush, Oakland.

Weekend Events Set To Support Relay Teams

Several different events are scheduled for this weekend to benefit various teams who will be walking in the upcoming Garrett County Relay for Life benefit.

The Woodmen of the World team will hold a two-day yard sale at the Woodmen Lodge along Liberty Street, near Leighton Drive, on Friday, May 11, and Saturday, May 12.

A 50-50 raffle will also be conducted at the yard sale.

A bake sale, starting at 3:30 p.m. at Browning's Foodland, will be held to benefit the Fairview Flyers team on Friday.

The Town of Kitzmiller team will be hosting a fun night at Kitzmiller School from 6 until 10 p.m. on Saturday, May 12.

Music, games, and prizes will be included in the festivities.

Donations Are Coming In For Benefit Auction

Members of the planning committee for the TriState Relief Sale Benefit Auction, to be held July 20 and 21, met recently and report they are pleased with the quality of items being donated for the auction, which will help victims of natural disasters and wars, both locally and worldwide. These funds will be distributed by the Mennonite Central Committee, the service arm of the Mennonite churches of the United States and Canada.

Funds and volunteers have been dispatched in the past to such places locally as Garrett County and Somerset County, Pa., following tornadoes, as well as to flood victims in Johnstown, Pa., for repairing structures damaged by fire, and in distant places such as Mozambique and El Salvador, aiding flood victims there.

Ladies of local churches, including the Mennonite churches of Garrett County and Somerset County, are at work quilting and making wall hangings. Woodworkers are crafting hall tables and carved cedar chests, and artists Lynn Lais and Gary Yoder of Grantsville are creating pottery and feathers carved from wood designed especially for the auction. Yoder is a five-time international waterfowl carving champion.

Glass from Simon Pearce, Mtn. Lake Park, as well as Lenox and Smith glass from Mt. Pleasant, Pa., will be presented.

Vacations for families or couples on the slope side and with lake view at Deep Creek Lake, and overnights at the Victorian Inn at Georgian Place, Somerset, at Laurelville Mennonite Church Center, Mt. Pleasant, and at the International Guest House, Washington, D.C., will be available.

A silent auction is planned for Friday evening, along with a market place both days, children's activities, and a variety of food.

The event will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, Deep Creek Lake. For further information, persons may call 814-445-6945.

Bird Walks Set In Mtn. Lake Park

Two free bird walks are scheduled in Mountain Lake Park for May 8 and May 22. Participants should meet at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall and bring binoculars. The walks will be led by Mary Jane Berry and will last about one and one-half hours.

Last year the birds spotted included: wood ducks, eastern blue birds, scarlet tanagers, orioles, rose-breasted grosbeaks, and yellowthroats. A notebook and field guide to birds are also helpful. Anyone interested in birds or wildflowers is welcome.

GCC Students To Enter Workforce After Graduation

by Joan Crawford

Seven students who will receive degrees at Garrett Community College commencement May 19 will move directly into jobs associated with their academic programs, thanks to the college's Career Services office and coordinator Stacie Upole. Some of their jobs are in Garrett County or surrounding area, but others are out west, as far away as Alaska.

These students have all been in the one credit course taught by Upole that serves as a seminar for students in the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program and a practicum for those in the Adventure Sports program. In Upole's course, students learn how to write resumes, make job contacts by Internet, and do networking activities. "We do mock interviews that are video taped," Upole said, "send out resumes with cover letters, and we discuss what to do and how to act on the first job."

Richard Kunkel of Drums, Pa., who will receive an A.A.S. degree in Adventure Sports, claimed that this practicum was "the most beneficial class at GCC." He gives much credit to Upole for her help in obtaining his job at Mammoth Mountain, Calif., where he will be responsible for the climbing wall and belay instruction, low ropes work and team building. Eventually he hopes to move into sales and marketing with the snowboard industry, having had some experience in his part-time job with High Mountain Sports. "I can't say enough about the staff here [at GCC]. In the small classes we have good instructors who really care about you and want you to do well."

Jarrod Vliet of Blairstown, Pa., will be working at the Lake Mead National Resource area in Nevada as a crew member on a wildland fire engine. He, too, has enjoyed the small classes in the NRWT program and the personal attention given to students. Like the other students, he is grateful for the help of Career Services. "Stacie is the best," he said. "She really helped me to get all the things I need together."

Another student from Pennsylvania, Scott Campbell of Ebensburg, will be working with the Kempton Mine Reclamation Project here in Garrett County doing identification of herbaceous wetland plants, surrounding woody vegetation, and associated wildlife. His interest in the environment made him choose the NRWT program, where he found the interaction with faculty "made the learning experience enjoyable." He hopes to continue his career as a wildlife technician. At GCC he has worked as an assistant in the biology lab and as a resident assistant in Garrett Hall.

Jody Friend of Swanton, who will graduate in the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program, will work as a mechanic at the Mt. Storm Power Plant in West Virginia. He especially appreciated the extensive "hands on" experience provided in the program and said that the NRWT seminar helped him get his job. He has worked in lawn maintenance and building and excavating, as well as with the Continuous Forestry Inventory Project of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Rebecca Milanoski of Bel Air will be on her way to Alaska, where she will work with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, carrying out bird surveys, aerial surveys, vegetation mapping, and spruce bark beetle monitoring. Eventually she hopes to work as a naturalist at a nature center. Her interest in nature led her to the NRWT program, and she now wants to share her knowledge with others. During her years at GCC she served an internship with the National Park Service on the C&O Canal and worked as a counselor at the Lodge at Saw Mill Hollow, located along Deep Creek Lake. She also gives credit to the Career Services office for helping her find her job.

Justin Oursler of Laurel will graduate from the NRWT program and become a seasonal ranger at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

A student who has several semesters ahead of him to complete his degree in the Adventure Sports program, Patrick Forster of York, Pa., has obtained a summer job at the Estes Park Center in Colorado, where he will be a rock climbing instructor at the YMCA of the Rockies.

Although the seminar/practicum course has been limited to students in these two programs, Upole pointed out that these services of her office are available to all GCC students. For further information, interested persons may call the Career Services office at 301-387-3132.

WATCH OUT FOR BLISTERS!

by Dr. E.T. Mallinson, VMD
Retired Extension Veterinarian

Your sharp eyes could avert big trouble. The rapid detection of any case of foot and mouth disease (FMD) is key to preventing a disaster in your county, state or country...and large or small blisters (vesicles) in and around the mouths and/or feet of cows, pigs, sheep or goats can be the first clue that a devastating foreign disease may have arrived. The following explains why extra vigilance is always important and what you need to look for and do.

* Why Now?

The FMD virus has spread in recent years and typically spreads widely and with dazzling speed. Today's extensive movement of people and farm products from country to country further increases the danger FMD poses to any farm anywhere, including yours.

* What Does FMD Look Like?

The first damage FMD produces in livestock is the production of small or large blisters (later sores) around the muzzle, snout or nose of cattle, swine, goats or sheep, and/or inside their mouths on the tongue or gums. Blisters, that subsequently scab over, may also be found on the skin or flesh between or immediately above the hooves. Blisters and scabs may also occur on the teats. The first signs that FMD may be present are slobbering, smacking of the lips, protruding tongue, loss of appetite and/or lameness. Note: FMD infection in deer is possible but not common.

* Why Is Early Detection So Important?

FMD wrecks livestock. It can spread so far and so fast on dirt and debris and apparently even on the wind that it must be detected and contained as rapidly as possible. This must be done before it devastates the livelihood of livestock producers and their suppliers, dealers, marketers, truckers and service providers (deliverymen, veterinarians and others).

FMD, beyond killing young livestock from severe heart damage, leaves survivors emaciated and unthrifty. Milk production is severely diminished. For all these reasons, sharp eyes and alert minds are essential to detect and then immediately report any suspicion of FMD.

* What Should I Do If I See Signs of FMD?

1. Call for professional help. Act quickly. One day of delay greatly magnifies the danger to all concerned. Key persons to immediately telephone are your local veterinarian, and agricultural extension agent or specialist. It's always better to investigate 100 suspects that turn out to be something else than to miss the first or any case of FMD.

2. Until a qualified, professional diagnosis is made do not visit other farms and do not transport livestock of any type to or from your farm if you suspect the disease.

What FMD Is Not?

1. FMD is not "mad cow" disease. Mad cow is a totally different disease occurring in Europe.

2. It is not easily transmitted to humans. Human cases of FMD are very rare.

3. It is not the same disease as "HAND, foot and mouth disease of children."

4. FMD is not in the USA. Therefore, if you are in any way associated with the transportation or production of food animals and you visit foreign countries (business or vacation), stay away from livestock for five days upon returning and don't bring any foreign farm products home.

5. It is not to be taken lightly. Cooperate with state and federal veterinary and agricultural inspectors. They truly are your first line of defense.

For Better Strawberries, Grow Them Over Red Mulch

Strawberries grown on red plastic mulch are sweeter and more flavorful than conventionally grown berries, Agricultural Research Service scientists report.

The researchers grew strawberries on raised beds covered with red plastic mulch. By using a specially formulated red plastic, the scientists were able to keep the water-conservation benefits attributed to black plastic mulch, yet alter the amounts of far-red and red light reaching developing berries.

That light, reflected from the red mulch on the soil surface, acted through the plants' natural growth-regulating system to influence the size and flavor of developing berries.

Strawberries that ripened over the red versus standard black plastic mulch were larger and sweeter. They had higher sugar-to-organic-acid ratios and gave off higher concentrations of favorable aroma compounds.

Strawberries are a high-value specialty crop whose fruit size and flavor are important to both growers and consumers. Americans each eat about four pounds of the berries every year. Fat-free and low in calories, strawberries are full of vitamin C. They also furnish folate, a B vitamin, plus potassium and fiber. And they contain ellagic acid, a compound that fights cancer.

The use of colored plastic mulches produces higher amounts of certain growth-enhancing wavelengths of sunlight reflected by red plastic mulch improved many crops, including tomatoes and basil. Plastic mulches, most often black, are frequently used in raised-bed culture to conserve water, control weeds with less herbicide, keep fruit clean and produce ripe berries earlier in the season.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

2001 Crop Reporting Dates Announced

The Preston County Farm Service Agency reminds farmers that it is once again acreage reporting time for their 2001 crops. Timely filed crop acreage reports are extremely important and required for selected USDA-FSA programs.

Reports of crop acreages are required for producers applying for commodity loans, loan deficiency payments, and farm storage facility loans. Participants in the 7-year AMTA Program who are growing fruits and vegetables, as well as Conservation Reserve Program participants, must also file reports of crop acreages.

Established crop reporting deadlines for Preston County are: May 31, small grains and all types of hay; July 16, corn, pasture, and all other crops not assigned a specific reporting deadline; Sept., 15, ornamental nursery and aquaculture.

Production records for 2000 crops will also be accepted when producers file their 2001 Crop Acreage reports.

Dry Weather Promotes Field Work

With the exception of a few sprinkles in some areas, the week ending April 29 was dry enough to supply Maryland farmers with 5.9 days suitable for field work. As a result, planting progress is running closer to the five-year average with green pea, potato, sweet corn, and tomato plantings at 75%, 92%, 25%, and 30%, respectively. While farmers were content to take advantage of the dry weather, some concern arose over the chilly temperatures experienced mid to late week. Temperatures dipped below freezing in the northern parts of the state, which may have caused some crop damage.

Fruit blooms are starting to catch up to the five-year average, although some damage due to the previous week's frost has been reported. Fifty-four percent of the apple crop bloomed, 12% below the five-year average. Peaches are 88% bloomed, 2% lower than the five-year average, and strawberries have bloomed 45%, 10 percentage points behind schedule.

Red Cross Blood Drive Deemed A "Great" Success

"A great turnout" of blood donors came to the Oakland Elks Lodge April 26 for the American Red Cross bloodmobile. There were 92 donors, and 88 units of blood were collected.

Those reaching donation milestones were: Harriett Moon, 4 gallons; Hazel B. Stewart, 5 gallons; and Rev. Douglas Kabell, 6 gallons. The top donor was Thomas E. Bittinger, who donated for the 64th time to reach the 8-gallon mark.

The volunteers were Rosalie Baker and Artie Dixon, greeters; Elizabeth Huxford, David Wheeler, Tiddle Wheeler, and Nova Stonesifer, registration; Anne Forrester, Lollie Fridinger, and Roger Uber, walkers; and Junior Ferguson, Shirley Panther, Mary Rodeheaver, and Tillie Skipper, canteen. Junior Ferguson also donated homemade cookies.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be returning to Oakland on Friday, May 4, from noon to 6 p.m. at the Proctor Kildow American Legion Post along Memorial Drive. To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days.

The Red Cross requests that individuals bring their Red Cross donor card, driver's license or other positive identification with them when they give blood. Persons with specific questions may contact the Red Cross at 1-800-54BLOOD.

Participants Sought For Mgmt. Program

Woodland owners and others who want to learn more about forests and the wildlife that live in them — in exchange for a commitment to share that knowledge with others — are invited to apply for training as "Coverts Cooperators."

Named for thickets that provide shelter for wildlife, the Coverts Project is a woodland and wildlife management program sponsored by Maryland Cooperative Extension and the Ruffed Grouse Society. Since 1991, nearly 260 Maryland residents have received Coverts training and taught thousands of other woodland owners about sound forest stewardship practices that can make wildlife healthier, more diverse, and more abundant.

Thirty more Coverts Cooperators will be trained this year. They will attend a free, comprehensive, three-day seminar on September 20-23 in Washington County. The seminar will feature indoor and outdoor instruction in general forestry and wildlife management principles. In return for the training, reference materials, and follow-up seminars, the new Coverts Cooperators will develop or improve a forest stewardship plan for their woodlands and commit a year to sharing information with neighbors and others in their communities.

Applications are due by the end of June. For information or an application, persons should write to The Coverts Project, 18330 Keedysville Road, Keedysville, MD 21756, or call 301-432-2767, x301. Information is also available on the web at http://www.naturalresources.umd.edu.

Garrett CC, FSU Sign Agreement

A letter from Dr. C.R. Grontowski, provost at Frostburg State University, to Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic and Student affairs at Garrett Community College, confirms the memorandum of understanding between the two institutions that will benefit students at both institutions.

Students who plan to earn an associate in applied science degree in Adventure Sports from GCC and a bachelor of science degree in recreation with an emphasis in Adventure Sports from FSU will now have a seamless transition between institutions and programs, in accordance with the memorandum of understanding recently signed by the presidents of the two institutions.

FSU students who begin their academic studies in the Recreation and Parks Management program with an interest in Adventure Sports will automatically have their general education courses accepted by Garrett.

Dual-enrolled students who take Adventure Sports skills courses at GCC and other courses at FSU and who wish to complete the associate's degree in Adventure Sports and the bachelor's degree in Recreation and Parks Management must complete a minimum of 15 credits in residence at GCC that are related to the Adventure Sports major.

In order to receive an associate's degree in Adventure Sports, a dual-enrolled student must complete a GCC application for graduation, fulfill GCC's co-curricular activity requirement and have an official transcript from FSU to validate satisfactory completion of required course work.

EMS Council To Hold One-Day Workshop

The Public Education Committee of the Region I Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Council is sponsoring a daylong workshop to assist fire and EMS personnel to conduct recruitment and retention campaigns, improve media relations, and hold press events. The class will be held on May 19 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Frostburg Area Ambulance in Frostburg.

The course curriculum will also address conducting recruitment and retention campaigns and how to develop injury prevention programs.

Refreshments will be provided and EMS continuing education credits will be given. Seating is limited and pre-registration is required.

Persons wanting more information or to register may contact the MIEMSS Region I office at 301-895-5934 or 301-746-8636. The registration deadline is May 14.

SILVER TREE GIVES CHECKS TO LOCAL GROUPS — The Silver Tree Center, home of Leone's at Silver Tree, Larry's Blues Cellar, Taste Unlimited Catering and Banquets, and Silver Tree Marine, distributed checks to local organizations for their "Salute to Garrett County" program. The program, which ran from October 2000 until March 2001, was designed to assist local non-profit charities and organizations in a fund-raising effort. The program had five categories, one for each day of the week. The categories were religion, Sunday; sports, Monday; education, civic groups, Tuesday; arts, entertainment, Wednesday; and business, Thursday. In all, 50 organizations participated in the program by having people dine at Leone's or Larry's Blues Cellar on their given night and then vote on the nightly ballot for their cause. The participant from each category who raised the most money during the program earned an additional $200 from the Silver Tree Center. During a brief ceremony at Leone's, checks were awarded to the top producing organizations along with their bonus checks. Each category winner is pictured receiving his or her prize from Tom Shaffer, general manager, on the left, and Darrin Green, manager of Larry's Blues Cellar, on the right. In the top right photo is Kathy Berger of Kathy's Furniture on the left, who earned the most dollars on business night for Sister JoAnna of the House of Hope, on the right. In the center top photo, Our Town Theatre board member Liz Gilbert accepts the check as the winner in the arts and entertainment group. In the left top photo, Tom Fowler, principal of Broad Ford Elementary School, accepts the award as the winner in the education division. In the bottom left photo, Sharon Platter and son, representing the Garrett County Special Olympics, receive the prize as the winners of the sports team night. In the bottom right photo, Rev. Mel Menker, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, accepts the check as the religion winner.

MY CHATTERING

I am not sure quite yet that spring is already here, but with the temperatures sometimes in the 80s and the fact that the spring peepers have stopped their song, it might be here. The peepers might have stopped because the temperature after sunset plunges to the near-freezing level. I know that I am very worried about my lilac bush since it budded up early this year and several times after we have gotten frost. Recently I reported that we got the service snow. I hope I am right, as we had a lot of blossoms back then, but it is not until this week that all the bushes are in full bloom. I did see a ring around the moon last night, which usually means rain or snow. I believe it is connected with the moisture in the high atmosphere, which usually leads to precipitation. At the same time, I listened for the peepers, but they were silent.

I know for sure though that my level of frustration is at my inability to do what I should be doing, and that is planting early vegetables in my garden. I was lucky enough to get Patty Diehlmann to dig up the small garden plot by my deck and plant my onion plants, which grow up into huge, ultra-sweet onions. Now I hope I can get a little spinach and lettuce planted soon. I just can't wait to have fresh vegetables.

I was busy in the last few weeks with my willow branch roots getting to sprout juice. I tried to get cuttings of trees and shrubs that I want to be a specimen of my own. Last year I had good luck with a pussy willow that is now owned by Marci Glotfelty, and it looks like I may have an apple tree that I started for myself alive and growing in a temporary home in a small hanging basket. I am not sure where I will plant it.

My big hope for this year is getting a cutting started from an old lilac bush on the late Joe and Rose Buckel's homeplace (formerly Oliver Buckel's home). I was delighted with a clump of narcissus from an old homestead down on Legeer Road that Gary had transplanted from around an old foundation near his home. I figure it was either a Buckle or Bittinger homeplace. Either way, it was probably some ancestor of mine. Gary also shared some of them with me. I am fascinated about the migration of flowers from the homeplace to a new home of children raised on the older place when they moved out and started a home of their own. I am sure that my jonquils originally came from my grandmother's homeplace, which is the Brenneman homeplace now owned by Richard Brenneman and family on Beachy Road.

I suspect that the daffodils growing in the graveyard at the old Cherry Glade Amish Church on Foxtown Road were planted around my grandmother's forebearers' graves. Also the two huge forsaken bushes were probably originally grown either on the old Beitzel or Brenneman homeplace. I took a cutting from it for this year's rooting project. I wish I could trace the old variety of perennial flowers and apple trees now scattered around the farms here to the original place they first grew. I wonder how many generations in the past took cuttings from them. Even more interesting is whether back in the "Old World" the original stock is still growing and if the generations of the Brennemans, Glotfelty, etc., might have brought them to America when they immigrated.

Last week Caitlin and Mere joined Hannah and Gretel Avis on a boating expedition on the small pond on the old Stephens' place now occupied by the Steve Diehlmann family. They even took a dip in it. It was a little mucky and at this time of year was quite chilly. I don't think that Cindy, Sally, and I braved their pond before late May or June.

This coming Sunday is our traditional fourth Sunday of Easter, and a joint service with the three churches in the parish will be celebrated at Emmanuel. A fellowship time will follow the service in the education building.

The Bittinger fire hall will really be hopping this coming weekend with both the Mother-Daughter Banquet and the big pig roast to benefit the Emmanuel's Building Fund. Sounds as if it is not a perfect weekend to start a diet.

This will be the last season of Little League for Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty, Scott Bass, and Tyler Southerly. Playing is in full swing, and the Cubs have already won two games. The Cubs are coached by Kevin Bass, assisted by Rodney Glotfelty and a few others. Cub players are Darryl and Elliot, and Scott Bass. Oriole player is Tyler Southerly, coached by Bill Southerly.

Kevin Bass's parents visited the Bass family last week. They were lucky enough to watch a video of the Cubs. They returned to South Carolina from Altoona, Pa., where they visited with Kevin's sister Kyler. They watched the performance of Kyler's daughter, who performed in the All-Star State Orchestra.

Claire's soccer team, Northern Ice, scored its first win against Hampshire County, W.Va., team Sunday afternoon.

I hear that the farm will be getting three lambs today for Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty and Scott. By the way, there are still no lambs frolicking around on Jimmy Glotfelty's farm. I did see a couple up the road on the farm of Maggie and John Hockman. I also looked for lambs on a farm on Foxtown Road, but there was no sign of any.

Ruth DiPaolo and Earlenna Tressler, Grantsville, attended the Maryland State Business and Professional Women's Convention in Frederick on Friday and Saturday.

Lenny and Sally Poholsky attended a 45th wedding anniversary party for Jim and Essy Pennington of Elk Garden on Sunday.

The youth of Emmanuel are once again collecting used shoes of any type (leather, sports, etc.) to be refurbished or recycled to be distributed to those in need. Please drop them off at Emmanuel through June.

Tim Glotfelty was among those confirmed into membership of Zion Lutheran Church in Accident Sunday morning. He is the son of Tom and Cheryl (Harman) Glotfelty. Among the many relatives and friends who attended the service were Ida Reckner, Tim's great-grandmother, and his grandparenets, Jim and Donna Glotfelty. A luncheon honoring the confirmands was held in the church social hall immediately following the service. Others who were confirmed were Tracy Bowman, Devon Harman, and Ryan Parker.

Ida Rechner, and guest Donna Glotfelty, attended the spring retired teacher luncheon held Thursday at Zion Lutheran Church in Accident.

by Lucretia Sines

In the hopes of letting people in our area and out of town know when someone is ill or recovering from an accident or illness, I would like to be able to include names in The Wishing Well to give friends and loved ones the opportunity to send them a card, visit them or even call them. If you know of anyone that you would like to have included in The Wishing Well, please contact me at 301-746-5933, or P.O. Box 411, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Helen Sausman would like to thank everyone for the many cards that she has received. Her address is 379 Old Morgantown Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

TOWN NEWS

The annual spring clean-up will be held the week of May 14-19, with household trash being collected on Thursday, May 17, and large items being hauled on Saturday morning, May 19.

The next meeting of the mayor and town council will be held Monday, May 7, at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.

RESCUE SQUAD MEETING REMINDER

The next scheduled meeting of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will be held on Thursday, May 10, at Accident. More discussion is expected on the topic of the purchased facility in the McHenry area and the combining of Stations 2-1 (Accident) and 3-1 (Friendsville) at the McHenry station, which would bring about the closing of these stations in Accident and Friendsville.

During the month of April, 17 calls were answered by Station 3-1 in Friendsville, including two "out of area" calls, making a 100% response time. This further proves the dedication of our squad volunteers and the necessity of the Friendsville Rescue Squad remaining open.

Because of a lack of communication on the part of different squad members, the certified CPR training class by Walter Augustine of Station 3-1, scheduled at Accident on Saturday, April 28, had to be canceled.

National Guard Soldiers Visit Kitzmiller School

Kitzmiller Elementary School students were treated to a visit from local Maryland Army National Guard members recently who presented an interactive hands-on program as a reward for their participation in the weeklong CTBS (Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills) in March.

Lt. Joe Shaffer, Staff Sgt. Kenneth Elliot, and Spec. Doug Mayle represented the Oakland and Cumberland armories, 121st Engineering Battalion, demonstrating many aspects of a soldier's service and duties during their "Army of One" presentation. The program took its name from the U.S. Army's new slogan.

The students inspected a Humvee, the "go-anywhere" successor to the long-serving Jeep as the Army's small multi-purpose transport vehicle. Compass use techniques were demonstrated, along with forest safety and survival. The students got a further taste of military life by cooking MREs (Meals Ready to Eat) using the same chemical cooking procedures the troops use in the field, and then sampling their creations. Army uniforms and protocol were discussed, and the students donned BDUs (Basic Dress Uniforms), Kevlar helmets, rucksacks, and other assorted items.

The soldiers told the students of some of the benefits they've gained from their Guard service, including access to funds for a college education, training for a civilian employment, extra income, and world travel. They also stressed the importance of keeping physically fit and achieving excellent grades.

The presentation concluded with a "camouflaging contest" in which the soldiers painted the faces of three of their teachers and clothed them as soldiers. The students yelled "Hooah!" — the Army's affirmative response — as they selected the staff member they felt was camouflaged the best. Chemical glow sticks, MRE items, instructional cards about Army equipment, and Army pencils were awarded to students who correctly answered questions put to them by the soldiers about what they had learned during the Army of One presentation.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

James S. Metz has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program. The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay entering active duty for up to one year.

The enlistment gives the new soldier the option to learn a new skill, travel, and become eligible to receive as much as $50,000 toward a college education. After completion of basic military training, soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Metz, a 1987 graduate of Southern Garrett High School, will report to Fort Benning, Columbus, Ga., for basic training. He is the son of Georgia D. Wilson, Mountain Lake Park, and James A. Metz, Friendsville.

U.S. Air Force Airman Ryan K. Winters has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and customs, and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree.

Winters is the son of Richard and Tina Winters of Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., and grandson of Donald and Patricia Rolf, Red House; Beatrice Winters, Oakland; and Keith Winters, Horse Shoe Run. He is a 2000 graduate of Tucker County High School.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at the Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Meadow Mountain Sewer Project and the envelope should bear on the outside the BIDDER'S name, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

Old Courthouse Room 200
Oakland, Maryland 21550

All BIDS must be made on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of the BID form is required.

The OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or authorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw a BID within 60 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID Schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDERS prior to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount of the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNER will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performance BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

The NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and data for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of, such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligation in respect to its BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by the requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of the equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

The low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUBCONTRACTORS when required to do so by the OWNER.

Inspection trips for prospective BIDDERS will leave from the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District, at 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland.

OVFD HONORS PAUL WILSON — Paul Wilson, a longtime supporter of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, was recognized recently for his many years as an OVFD honorary member and his years of service in selling raffle tickets for department fund-raisers. OVFD president Fred Callis, left, is shown presenting Wilson with a jacket with his name and the OVFD emblem emblazoned on it as a gift from the department. Wilson is a former employee with the Oakland Street Department, and resides at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home.

Eastern Tent Caterpillars Begin Appearing

Encouraged by warm weather, eastern tent caterpillars are hatching and building characteristic webs, or tents, in roadside and landscape trees.

"The tents are small now, perhaps only one to three inches across, but as the caterpillars feed and grow, they will enlarge the tents until they are 10 inches or more across," said Dr. Robert Rabaglia, forest entomologist in the Cooperative Forest Health Program. "Many people confuse eastern tent caterpillars with the much more destructive gypsy moth caterpillars."

Eastern tent caterpillars, which are dark gray with a white strip down the middle of the back and a row of blue spots along each side, are very common in Maryland trees during the early spring. They prefer to feed on the leaves of wild cherry trees, but also will eat the leaves of residential plantings such as crab apple, hawthorn, peach and plum trees. When very large they can defoliate the trees. Fortunately, the caterpillars feed for a relatively short time and pupate early, giving the trees a chance to grow new leaves and recover. Heavy infestations of eastern tent caterpillars usually occur only for one or two years and then diminish or disappear.

"Eastern tent caterpillar populations usually can be controlled by destroying the nest, or tearing it open so that birds can get to the resting caterpillars," said Rabaglia, "Where possible, the nest can be removed from the tree and soaked in soapy water. Removing the nest early, when it and the caterpillars are small, will prevent most of the damage."

Gypsy moth caterpillars are mottled gray, have tufts of long hairs along each side, a double row of blue dots behind the head and a double row of red dots along the back. They prefer the leaves of oaks, birch, beech, willow, hawthorn, and linden trees.

Gypsy moth caterpillars hatch in mid to late April and feed until pupating in late June to July. They eat voraciously and feed much later into the summer, so trees do not have time to recover. The severely weakened trees are more susceptible to disease, drought, or insect pests. Two or three years of gypsy moth defoliation can cause severe dieback, or even death, of the tree.

Additional information about eastern tent caterpillar and gypsy moth caterpillar may be obtained by calling the Forest Pest Management Section at 410-841-5922, on the department's web site at http://www.mda.state.md.us/forestp/hardwood.html, or by calling the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service Home & Garden Center at 1-800-342-2507.

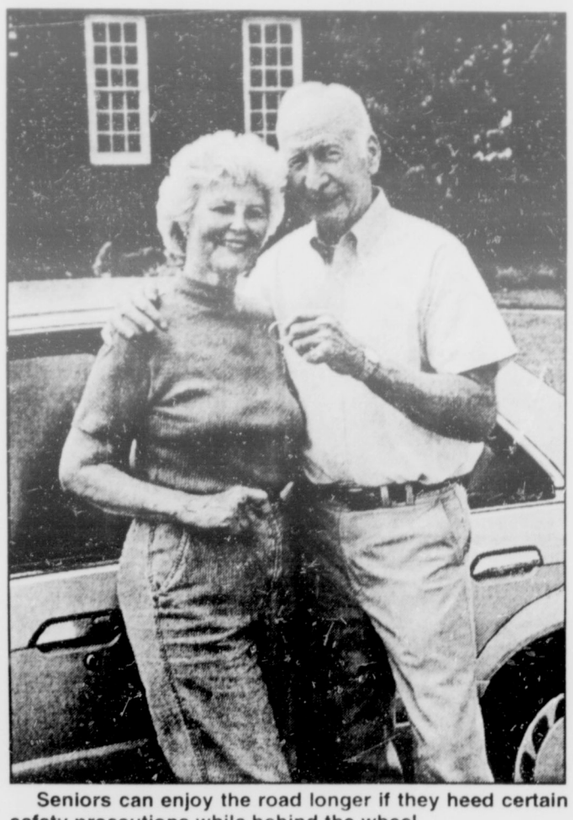
Safety Is The Key For Aging Drivers

Take a look behind the wheels of many cars and you're sure to find that a good portion of the driving public are mature drivers. As the baby boomer population ages, the percentage of seniors on the road is sure to increase even more. Thanks to several recent medical breakthroughs, seniors are enjoying longer, more independent and productive lives than ever - and continuing to drive. Driving means independence, and people who have driven for most of their lives want to keep that independence as long as possible, especially in suburban and rural areas where driving is the only way to get around.



Seniors can enjoy the road longer if they heed certain safety precautions while behind the wheel.

However, despite modern medicine, certain conditions like hearing loss, reduced reaction time and impaired vision can make driving as an older adult more difficult and hazardous. That's why safety continues to be one of the a main concerns when seniors slip behind the wheel.

Many compensate for their limitations by driving shorter distances and avoiding night driving, busy highways and downtown areas. However, other safety precautions can be taken to ensure that a mature driver can continue to enjoy his or her freedom. Here are some tips from the Canada Safety Council.

- Get regular vision and hearing exams. If necessary, be sure to wear eyeglasses and/or hearing aids.
- Some medications can affect driving abilities should be used correctly. Be aware of any possible side effects.
- Leave space cushions to the sides and behind the car as a safety precaution.
- When planning trips, choose familiar routes and avoid dense and/or high-speed traffic.
- Background noise should be kept at a minimum. Adjust radio volume, air conditioning and heater blowing units to their lowest settings.

Repowering – An Idea That Is In Tune With The Times

In these days of rising household expenses and, for some, declining income, many families are postponing major expenses except when absolutely necessary. Money wise motorists find it possible to delay a trip to the auto dealer's show room by fixing up their present car. Even an 8 year old car with 150,000 miles can keep on rolling with the right investment in needed repairs, new tires and some sprucing up.

For owners whose engines are noisy, burn oil and spew smoke from the tail pipe, the money saving solution may be a rebuilt engine. "This is like giving one's vehicle a new lease on life," says Don Midgley, Executive Director of the Automotive Repower Council. "The vast majority of vehicle owners are unaware of this option. For others, new car advertising diverts their thinking."

In the majority of cases a car is traded because major components are wearing out. Often the first thing to go is the engine, because it is most vulnerable to damage from driver abuse, neglected oil changes, depleted anti-freeze-coolant and, more important, continuing to drive when these condition exist. "Continuing to drive after a warning light turns on can be the kiss of death for an engine," says Midgley. "Too often people use the damaged engine as an excuse to go new car shopping.

"That's when they think they're between the rock and the hard place. The new car costs too much and they can't do without the car while it's in the shop for an overhaul."

The Automotive Repower Council offers an intelligent solution in its informative brochure, "STICKER SHOCK?" Listing the various costs involved in trading vehicles, it also lists the many benefits of having a rebuilt engine installed, often within 24 hours, and for a small fraction of the cost of trading vehicles.

A rebuilt engine is as good as, even better than, the one it replaces when the vehicle was new. In most cases a rebuilt engine costs little more than the sales tax on a new car. It carries an excellent warranty and saves the owner the aggravation of sending the bank an average of $500 per month for three years or more.

"For these reasons and more," asserts Midgley, "we expect to see more and more vehicle owners selecting the intelligent option: a rebuilt engine."

Before Buying A Car, Consider The Following

With the multitude of make, model and package choices available today and the option to "click and buy" online, purchasing a car can be both challenging and confusing. And that's before you've even waded through the wide array of financing arrangements.

Whether new, leased or used, doing your homework before you make a commitment is essential to making your car-buying experience a positive one. To help you on your way, MetLife Consumer Education Center is offering a free brochure called, "Buying a Car."

Produced with assistance from the American Automobile Association (AAA), "Buying a Car" outlines key factors for your consideration when purchasing or leasing a car, including:

- Know your car style. What are your preferences for transportation? Will a car, truck or SUV fit your needs?
- Get educated about your choices. Once you have a clear picture of what you like, a little research can go a long way toward saving you time and money. The Internet, for example, can provide a wealth of information, but which sites are for you?
- Figure out finances. What can you afford? Inquire about all of the costs involved in getting your next car. If you need help, visit a financial advisor.
- Shop around. Compare sticker prices with estimates from your research. What dealerships or online sources offer the best prices? Negotiate the deal.

For more information about these and other helpful car-buying tips, call (800) 638-5433 for your free copy of "Buying a Car." Made available as a public service, the brochure is part of MetLife Consumer Education Center's Life Advice program, created to help people better manage the major events in their lives.

Crystal Ball Quiz

Wouldn't it be nice to predict and prevent car trouble before it hits? It's a matter of knowing when something could be wrong and taking action. Your auto repair technician can help you anticipate trouble if you're able to recognize and report the symptoms.

Spend a few minutes with Car Care Council's crystal ball quiz to see whether or not you need to brush up on car care.

1. You hear a screech when you first start the engine, but only when the lights and air conditioner are turned on. It's most likely due to a: a) weak battery; b) loose drive belt; c) faulty starter drive.

2. The center part of the tread on both of your front tires is wearing out faster than the outer edges. This could be caused by: a) driving too fast on curves; b) worn front struts; c) over-inflated tires.

3. Your gas mileage on a trip has dropped from an average of 19 down to 15 miles per gallon. The most probable reason is: a) faulty oxygen sensor; b) loose distributor wire; c) worn spark plugs.

4. When shopping for a used car, the best way to be sure you're getting a good one is to: a) confirm with the seller and/or the original owner that it has been well maintained; b) have it thoroughly inspected by a competent technician; c) invest in an extended warranty.

5. Brake failure, among the most common mechanical causes of highway accidents, is feared by drivers more than any other emergency. Still, people are negligent about giving their vehicles' braking systems the attention they need. Would you know the answer to this question on this subject? A soft, mushy feeling brake pedal usually indicates: a) the brakes need adjusting; b) air is seeping into the hydraulic system; c) there's excessive play in the pedal linkage.

Answers:

1. (b) is correct. A loose drive belt will screech as it slides on a pulley, especially when it has the added resistance of the alternator (due to electrical load) or the air conditioner compressor. Your crystal ball should tell you that the belt will wear out and fail if it's not adjusted.

2. (c) is correct. Too much air in the tire (i.e. overinflation) causes distortion of the tread pattern. So does underinflation.

3. (a) and/or (c) can cause fuel economy to deteriorate. The oxygen sensor in the exhaust system helps maintain the proper balance of fuel to air which, if excessively rich (too much fuel in the mix) can waste gas. Misfiring spark plugs waste gas because, failing proper combustion, the unburned fuel goes out the exhaust. Not only does this waste gas, it also causes harmful exhaust emissions.

4. (b) is correct. Even when buying a car from the member of your family, who insists that it has been well maintained, there is no assurance that it doesn't need some repairs. For this reason a comprehensive, unbiased inspection is the best way to find out what, if anything, your newly acquired used car may need.

5. (b) is correct. Have your technician check the system as soon as possible. A spongy pedal is a warning of more serious brake trouble ahead.

To help you learn more about your car, the Council offers a free, illustrated pamphlet, "How to Find Your Way Under the Hood and Around the Car." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept SPE1-UH, 42 Park Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

Road Trip Preparation

Road trips, vacations scenic drives through the countryside - people flock to their cars when warm weather arrives to take advantage of clear skies and cool breezes. The lure of the open road is quite addictive, and the worries of the day can melt away with the purr of an engine and a far-off destination in mind.

However, summer jaunts in the car can taken an unexpected turn if your vehicle is not properly prepared for the trip ahead. Nothing can ruin a vacation faster than spending most of it pulled over on the side of the road, or enjoying the view from the front seat of a tow truck.

Following are a few tips to make sure your vehicle is in top shape before setting out on the road, courtesy of The Go Network®, www.go.com.

What You Can Do

* Check the brake lights, turn signals and dashboard lights.
* Test the horn
* Make sure you have enough coolant in your system. If it gets too low your car may overheat.
* Check shocks and struts by pushing down on the hood as hard as you can. If the car bounces like a yo-yo, you may have trouble.
* Take a penny and insert it Lincoln-head first in your tire tread at the most worn part of the tire. If you can see the top of Lincoln's head, you may need new tires.
* Check the trunk for moisture or rust, which indicates a water leak.
* Look under the car for signs of mud buildup and inspect the garage floor for signs of leaks.

Professional Advice

* Change oil and get an overall tuneup.
* Inspect and, if needed, fill washer fluid, radiator fluid, transmission fluid, brake fluid, differential fluid, and power-steering fluid.
* Change air and oil filters, and wiper blades if necessary.
* Check the battery and tire pressure.
* Check condition of hoses and belts. Blowing a hose or breaking a belt is bad anytime.
* Check battery terminals. If you see signs of corrosion (whitish powder), have them cleaned.
* Wash and wax to protect your car's finish through the harsh summer heat ahead.
* Enjoy the trip, but remember to drive carefully!

Environmentally-Safe Cleaning Option for Cars

To help put a stop to pollution in the new millenium, clean your car in a professional car wash rather than in your driveway at home. Automatic and self-service car washes use water efficient equipment like computer controlled systems, high-pressure nozzles and pumps to clean cars thoroughly while also conserving water — much more than by simply using a garden hose.

Pressure That Is Manageable

The easiest way to check air inflation pressure and avoid certain safety problems when driving is with an accurate, digital electronic tire pressure gauge like an Accutire® Automotive Tire Gauge by Measurement Specialties.

Frankly, nobody needs more pressure. But when it comes to keeping you and your family safe on the road, "pressure" takes on an entirely new meaning and becomes an important aspect of tire care. In fact, quick and easy checks of tire pressure will minimize the probability of dangerous tire blowouts.

According to the American Automobile Association (AAA), car owners should check tire inflation pressure, including the spare, at least once a month and before every long trip. All drivers should understand how and when to measure the air pressure in their vehicles. For an accurate reading tires should be checked "cold," in the morning or before starting a trip. Drivers who use service station air meters should be aware that weather exposure and abuse can make those meters less accurate. To be on the safe side, every driver should own and regularly use a digital electronic tire gauge.

Measurement Specialties Inc. manufactures a complete line of Accutire® gauges that are accurate and simple to use. Models include the Mechanic's Digital Tire Gauge, featuring an easy-to-read, extra large backlit LCD display; the Standard Digital Tire Gauge with an easy-grip rubber handle; the handy Digital Key Chain Tire Gauge; and a full selection of mechanical gauges.

Proper tire inflation for every vehicle is listed on a placard in the glove compartment, inside the hinged fuel door, on the driver's side door post and in the owner's manual. AAA recommends inflating tires according to vehicle manufacturer specifications and cautions against exceeding the maximum pressure figures that are posted on the tire's sidewall.

Accutire high-quality tire gauges come with warranties of up to five years. They are widely available at retailers, including Brookstone, Herrington's Catalog, Target, Sears Auto Centers, Bed Bath & Beyond and Radio Shack. For further information visit www.msiusa.com.

As you travel, keep pressure where you need it — in your tires. Let Accutire help with the "pressure" as you follow basic automobile safety rules that protect you and your loved ones on the road.

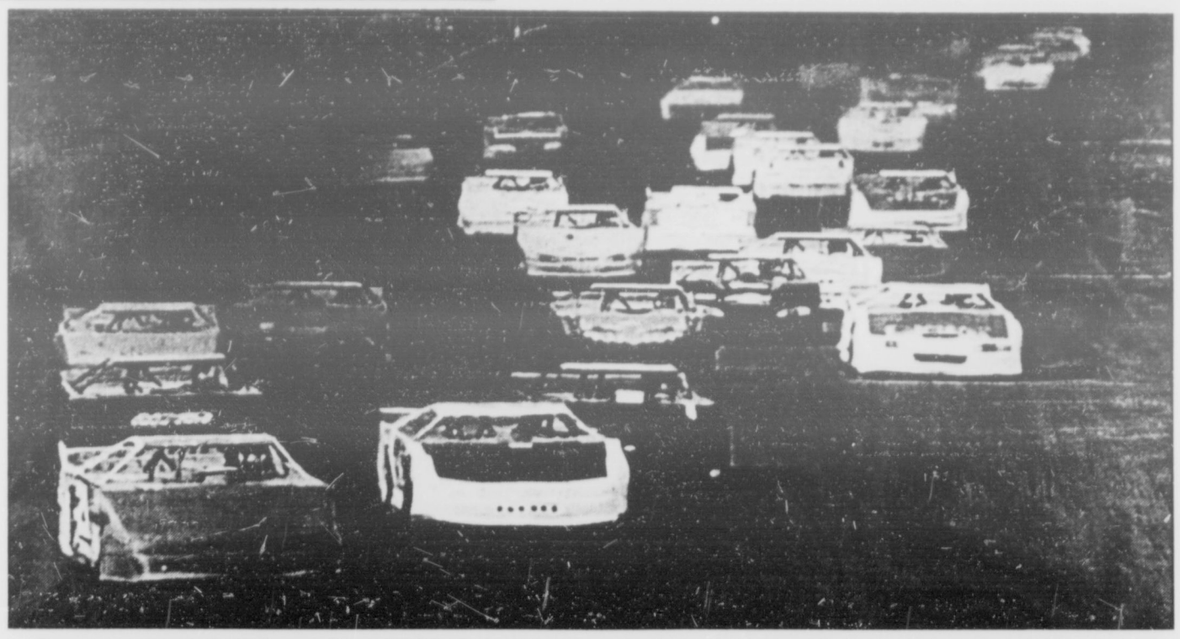
Managing Life In The Fast Lane



Does your commute feel more like a NASCAR race? Increased volume on the country's roadways can lead to irritability and road rage. Learn how to stay cool when you're behind the wheel.

Traveling on the coun-try's roads can sometimes be challenging. It can be difficult to deal with other drivers who have their own definitions of sharing the road. But there's no need to bow out of the race or get tempers flaring; by being courteous you can avoid road rage and turn your road trips into pleasant experiences.

Aggressive driving is defined as "driving under the influence of impaired emotions," according to University of Hawaii psychologists Leon James, Ph.D, and Diane Nahl, Ph.D in "Road Rage and Aggressive Driving: Steering Clear of Highway Warfare" (Prometheus Books). James and Nahl identify three categories of impaired emotions:

1. Impatience and inattentiveness: These are the little things that many people do each day without even realizing they're showcasing aggressive behavior. Driving through red lights, speeding up to amber signals, cutting corners, refusing to yield, making rolling stops and weaving are all indicators of this state.

2. Power struggle: Involves more aggressive-type behaviors like blocking the passing lane, threatening or insulting other drivers with gestures or yelling, tailgating to punish, or braking suddenly to retaliate.

3. Recklessness and road rage: The final category involves the most reckless and dangerous driving behavior and road rage: driving drunk, brandishing a gun or shooting and assaulting with the car.

While all drivers are human and thus subject to the same emotions, no one has to give in to road rage. Here are a few ways to curb aggression on the road courtesy of www.all sands.com:

• Let bygones be bygones. If someone is changing lanes and cuts you off, that's an indication that the person may be prone to more aggressive driving behavior. Your best bet is to let the person have plenty of room. Use extra caution when shifting lanes by properly using your turning signals.

• Back off. If you are driving slowly in the left-hand lane, be polite and move over into the right-hand lane in order for the person behind you to pass. Conversely, if stuck behind someone driving slower than you are, relax, slow down, and wait for an opportunity to pass.

• Keep your hands to yourself. If you want to avoid road rage, don't use obscene gestures, shake your fist or point angrily at "offending drivers" on the road. However, this doesn't mean you should feel free to shout at, criticize or insult other drivers instead. Any or all of the above can result in an angry response from the other driver.

• The long arm of the law. Another thing to consider is the legal ramifications of road rage. Many state and local officials actually patrol the roads on the lookout for aggressive drivers.

Need Auto Repairs?

Some planning, attention to detail, and open, two-way communication between customer and the repair facility are the building blocks of satisfactory automotive repair and service, say the experts at the nonprofit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE).

ASE offers the following advice to consumers as they purchase automotive repair and service.

• Read the owner's manual to become familiar with your vehicle; follow the manufacturer's suggested service schedule.

• Start shopping for a repair facility before you need one; you can make better decisions when you are not rushed or in a panic.

• Ask friends for their recommendations. Even in this high-tech era, old-fashioned word-of-mouth reputation works well.

• Check with your local consumer organization about the reputation of the shop.

• If possible, arrange for transportation so you won't select a shop based solely on location.

ASE CERTIFIED
We employ technicians certified by the National Institute for AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE EXCELLENCE
Let us show you their credentials

CHOOSE THE PROVEN PROS. ASE-certified automotive technicians have taken and passed national competency exams. There are more than 400,000 ASE-certified technicians at work across the country in every type of repair facility from new car dealerships to service stations and independent garages.

• Look for a neat, well-organized facility, with vehicles in the parking lot equal in value to your own and modern equipment in the service bays.

• Professionally run establishments have a courteous, helpful staff. The service writer should be willing to listen to you and to answer your questions.

• Policies (labor rates, fees for diagnostic services, guarantees, methods of payment, etc.) should be posted or explained to your satisfaction.

• Ask if the shop customarily handles your vehicle make and model. Some facilities specialize. If your vehicle needs major work, ask if the shop handles that type of repair.

• Feel free to ask for the names of a few customers as references. Call them.

• Look for signs of professionalism in the customer service area: civic and community service awards, membership in the Better Business Bureau and customer service awards.

• Look for qualified technicians: trade school diplomas, certificates of advanced course work and ASE certification of the individual technicians are measures of competence. ASE-certified technicians carry credentials listing their specific areas of expertise (brakes, electrical systems, etc.), while their employers often display the ASE sign.

• Reward good service with repeat business and customer loyalty. It's mutually beneficial to you and the shop owner to establish a relationship.

• If problems arise, give the business a chance to resolve the problem fairly. Reputable shops value customer feedback and will make a sincere effort to keep your business.

• Keep good records; keep all paperwork.

For a free brochure with advice on how to communicate with your auto technician, send a self-addressed, stamped business size envelope to: Communication Brochure, ASE, Dept. MC-S01, 13505 Dulles Technology Dr., Suite 2, Herndon, Va. 20171-3421. Visit www.asecert.org for more information.

Your Car Needs A Spring Cleaning, Too

A TV commercial shows Dad and kids, all smiles, having fun washing the family car. An employer offers free car washes as an added recruitment benefit and car washes are among the most popular student fund raising events.

Car washing, in the driveway or in a drive-through, conjures positive thoughts.

"It's what spring is all about," says Donna Wagner, President of the Car Care Council. "Before buckling down to the- less enchanting chores of window cleaning and lawn work, the first warm weekend invites us to run to the car wash or- get out the bucket and hose."

Simple as the process may seem, there are good, better and best ways to wash one's car at home. "Be a little fussy about the car wash soap you use," says Wagner. "Don't even think about using household detergent. It's likely to take off the wax or polish. Some of these products can damage the paint."

Among suggestions from the Council, work in the shade. Washing a hot surface can result in hard-to-remove streaks.

Flush off as much of the road dirt as possible before applying the suds. The sponge, towel or washing mitt should be absolutely free of abrasive grit.

Pay attention to those crevices underneath the vehicle that accumulate mud and road dirt, especially important in climates that use salt to melt snow. The high pressure hose in a do-it-yourself car wash is great for this, as is a home style pressure washer.

"But be careful where you aim the nozzle," she warns. "Excessive pressure can loosen trim or moldings."

Automotive chemical manufacturers have developed new products that make the finished job more impressive. Tires and black plastic trim, for example, can be made to look like new with protective dressings. There are cleaners for chrome, aluminum and stainless steel; even products designed for hard-to-remove brake pad dust from wheels.

The interior deserves "wall-to-wall" attention in spring cleaning. After vacuuming the carpeting, upholstery and door panels, a good fabric cleaner, shampoo or spot remover followed by a protective spray can bring drab fabrics back to life. The padded dash and other vinyl areas can be cleaned and protected with wipe-on or spray products created specifically for these surfaces.

"We can't seem to escape harmful ultraviolet rays and acid rain," says Wagner. "However, regular washing and waxing can keep one's vehicle looking new for years longer."

Important Steps To Take After Having An Accident

With the exception of Hollywood stunt drivers, no one looks forward to getting into an automobile accident. Outside of the risks to life and limb, the speed and sudden nature of an accident can leave those involved feeling frightened and disoriented. Following are some some tips that can save you time and grief with the insurance claims handling process, courtesy of the Automotive Service Association® (ASA).

* If you've been injured in an accident, the first thing you should do is remain where you are and contact the authorities for help, if you can.

* If you're feeling fine, move your vehicle to a safe place, then stop and identify yourself to the other driver. (Some state or local statutes may require the vehicles to be left as is.) If the vehicle cannot be moved, turn on the hazard lights. Contact the police at once, tell them who you are, where you are and if anyone has been hurt.

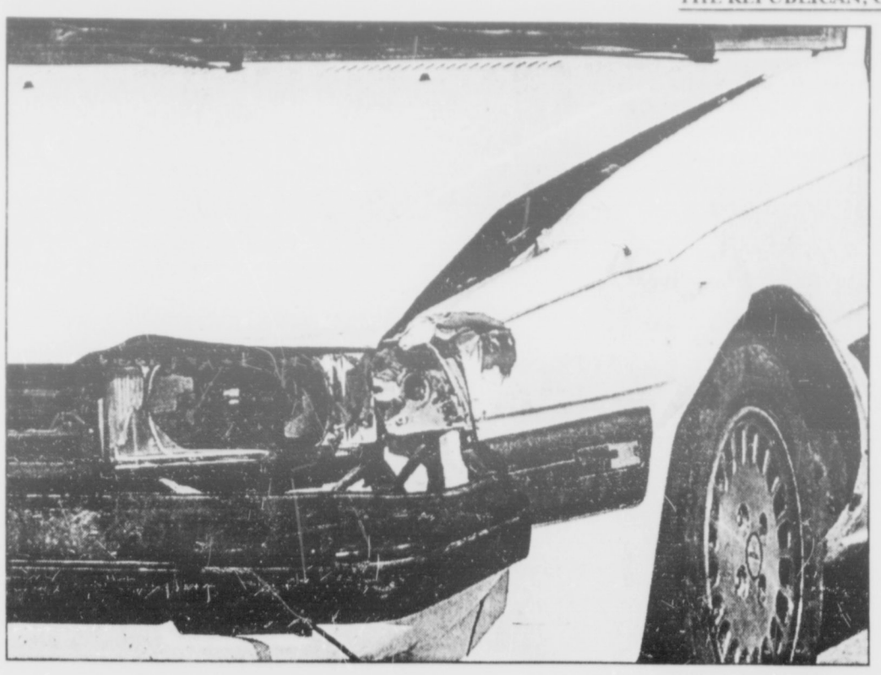
* Exchange information with the other driver(s) including driver's license numbers. Be sure to get the person's name, address, telephone numbers and the name of his or her insurance carrier. Also list any passengers and witnesses.

* Note the names and badge numbers of any police officers at the scene. Be sure to ask for a copy of the police report for your records.

* Avoid extensive discussions or arguments at the scene about who is responsible for the damage. If the other person admits responsibility, offers a money settlement and you accept, any future claim against the driver may be compromised. You or the others may later find damage or physical injuries that were not apparent at first.

* Write a complete description of the accident as soon as possible. Include weather conditions, estimated speeds, and as much precise information as you can observe. Take photographs if a camera is available.

* Notify your insurance company as soon as possible.



Information obtained at the scene of an automobile accident can help eliminate problems later.

Venus And Mars Talk Cars

Venus & Mars, aka Jessica Levy and Roger Kwapich, are renaissance technicians. Through their editorial contributions to the Car Care Council they address the different automotive needs of make and female motorists while encouraging them to become better maintainers of their vehicles.

Dear Venus and Mars, There's lots of attention paid these days to maintaining tires, but how about buying them? What's your advice?

The View from Venus

The tires that come with new cars usually are a compromise. That is, they are the best for that vehicle for a reasonable amount of money. When it comes time to replace tires, you may want to do some research to determine what tires you want. Here are some steps to take before you go shopping.

Write down the name and number of your present tires. The company name and number are on the side of each tire. My tires are Michelin MXV4 P225/60R 16. P-tire type-Passenger; 225 is the tire size designated as the section width in millimeters, 60 aspect ratio-section height to section width, R – construction type R stands for radial, 16 is the wheel diameter in inches.

• Check to see what type of tire is on your car. These days, most of the tires are M&S. You will find this on the sidewall of your tires. M&S means the tires are made for both mud and snow travel.

• Identify what type of driving you do. Do you spend a lot of time in snow and ice? Do you have to drive in rain a lot? Areyou a slow, careful driver or do you brake hard and accelerate fast?

• Decide how long you would like to use your new tires. If you plan on selling your car in two years, you'll probably want them to last at least that long.

• If you had trouble maneuvering with your car in ice and snow when your tires were new, you may want to consider separate snow tires for the winter months. Putting the tires on their own wheels makes it easier to switch them each season.

• OK, now you are ready to go shopping! Find a repair shop, dealership or tire store that has been recommended for good tire service.

Tires are designed to last a certain amount of time under certain conditions. Those that are built to have really good traction are made of a compound that is softer and grips the road. Tires that last longer tend to be harder compounds that may not grip the road as well.

Tire treads are designed for different conditions. You need to identify the tread that meets your needs. You will get the safest drive if all of the tires are the same tread.

All new tires are graded for temperature, traction and treadwear by the Department of Transportation. These ratings can be found on the side of the tires. Temperature is given in letters A,B,C; A is the highest. Traction is given A,B,C for wet traction; A is the best traction. Treadwear is given in a number where the higher the number, the longer it is supposed to last. Some tires have a speed rating. The most common ratings are S for 116, H for 130 and V for 150.

These ratings are for maximum sustained speeds, not short spurts.

The View from Mars

Keep in mind that tires are an important part of the overall ride, handling and stopping of the vehicle. A great set of brakes depends on the tires to actually stop the car. So let's shop for a good tire that is best for your particular ride.

To begin, do a little homework. On the sidewall of each tire is the size of the tire along with other ratings such as speed, load and the UTQG (uniform tire quality grading) rating. You want to purchase a tire with at least the same quality or better and the same size along with the proper speed rating.

The next consideration is the mileage warranty, which varies between approximately 30,000 - 80,000 miles. Supposing you plan on keeping this car for about 2 years and will average 15,000 miles a year or 30,000 miles. This means when you trade-in ol' Betsy the tires will have had that much use. If you happened to purchase a 30,000-35,000 or a 40,000 mile tire, you've probably used the tires up and either:

1. You are going to be forced to buy another set

2. Whoever buys the car will deduct a set of tires from the car's price. I'd suggest to purchase at least 1½ times the mileage warranty you plan on driving the car before you sell. In this case, at least a 45,000 mile warranty (or more) would be in order.

Secondly, generally speaking, the higher the mileage warranty, the better the tire.

Finally, once you've decided on the type of tire then ask price. See if there is anything on sale that doesn't sacrifice quality. And yes, you do want to have the valve stems replaced and the tires balanced.

Put Car Check At Top Of Pre-Vacation Check List

In many families the time leading up to a vacation is spent making a list and checking off items such as: Stop mail, turn off water, call kennel. However, an item that should be at the top of this list, CHECK THE CAR is often overlooked.

A good, inexpensive insurance policy is a pre-trip inspection performed by either you and/or your automotive technician. It takes only one failed component to compromise your safety and ruin your vacation, so before the first suitcase is loaded check out the following slate.

Fluids – In most cars there are seven fluids that should be inspected on a regular basis, especially before a trip. They include: antifreeze/coolant, transmission fluid, engine oil, brake fluid, washer fluid, power steering fluid and gasoline, of course. Several of these have filters that also should be checked. They include gas, oil and transmission.

Tip: Keep the gas tank at least half full. This helps control condensation inside the tank,, keeping your fuel free of water. It may also save you from running out of gas in an unexpected traffic jam.

Air filter – The air filter keeps impurities out and protects your engine. Change it at recommended intervals.

Tip: According to government statistics, a clogged air filter can cause up to a 10% increase in fuel consumption.

Battery – A dead battery is one of the most common reasons for a breakdown. Hot weather is tough on a battery, so make sure yours is in tip-top shape.

Tip: To fail safe, carry an auxiliary power source to boost a dead battery.

Vision – Properly functioning lights and wipers are paramount to vision safety. Worn wiper blades can leave streaks across your windshield, obliterating the view of the road. A burned out headlight sends a false signal to other motorists.

Likewise, non-working blinkers leave you unable to communicate your intentions.

Tip: Tests have shown daytime lighting helps cut accident rates. If your vehicle is not equipped with headlights that turn on automatically, consider turning them on both day and night for optimum safety.

Tires: Tires are the only thing connecting your car to the road. Rotating your tires at regular intervals (check owner's manual) promotes longer tread life while proper inflation (check the door jamb, glove box or gas cap cover) increases both safety and fuel economy.

Tip: Just because a tire looks normal doesn't mean it's properly inflated. Get a good tire gauge and learn to use it or visit a full service gas station.

Brakes – Brake failure ranks high among motorists' greatest fears; oddly enough, it's also a maintenance issue on which motorists tend to procrastinate. Have brakes checked prior to a trip, at regular intervals (see owner's manual) and whenever they began sounding or begin feeling abnormal.

Tip: Use your parking brake every time you get out of the car. This good habit will come in handy in hilly terrain.

So before heading to the beach, the mountains or the theme park consider that you and your family are only as safe as your vehicle. Don't fail to give it the attention that will bring it up to this important task.

The Council offers a free pamphlet outlining what areas should be checked when your car is inspected. For your copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. SPE1-XI, 42 Park Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452. Visit us on the web at www.carcare council.org.

Driving While Distracted: Tips On Cell Phone Safety

Even with hands at ten and two, mirrors perfectly adjusted and the latest defensive driving seminar under your belt, driving is becoming more difficult on the country's roadways. In part, the problem has to do with distracted drivers who are doing everything behind the wheel - from applying makeup to eating lunch to talking on cell phones - except paying attention to the road.

Have you ever tried to concentrate on two activities at the same time, like watching television while reading the newspaper? It's not easy. Though you may think that you can accomplish it successfully, you can't give both the attention they deserve. The same concept applies to a person who is driving a car while talking on a cell phone.

Though the two acts may seem simple to accomplish simultaneously, it is easy to get engrossed in the phone call and lose track of the environment around you. The result could be a missed exit, a swerve in the lane or even an accident. Dialing a cell phone while driving is also very risky because it requires that you take your hands off of the wheel and your eyes from the road.

Recently, several states have banned the use of cell phones while operating a vehicle. However, if this practice is still legal in your area, here are a few tips for safe cell-phone chatting while traveling, courtesy of the Cellular Telecommunications Industry Association.

- Become familiar with your phone's features and operations.
- Use an earpiece, headset or phone cradle to keep hands free.
- Use speed dial for frequently called numbers.
- When dialing, check the road between numbers. If possible, place calls when you are not moving.
- Tell callers you are driving. If you are in heavy traffic or adverse weather, tell them you'll call back later.
- Never take notes while driving.
- Avoid stressful or emotional conversations.

Good Questions

Co-owner of Dan R's Automotive Sales & Service, Cathy is an ASE Certified Auto Parts Specialist and a member of the Car Care Council Women's Board. Q. The other day I had the unfortunate luck to have a flat tire on my car. No big deal - I called the auto club so they could change the tire. It turned out to not be so simple. I did not realize that my car had a locking lug nut on each wheel. I had bought the car used and never bothered to make sure I had the key. What a problem, I had to have the car towed, the shop had to cut off the locking lug nut in order to remove the tire. I still have three locking nuts on the other tire and I'm worried that I will get another flat tire. What should I do?

A. I've seen this happen on more than one occasion. It makes an already bad situation, worse. In our shop we have a master kit that will remove most factory locking nuts. However, because many aftermarket companies sell locking nuts, it makes it difficult to get a key if the master key has been misplaced. If your locks are from the manufacturer of your vehicle you can order a replacement from your local dealer. If they are not from the factory you may have to have the other three removed and either purchase a complete new set, or you can revert to regular lug nuts. If you do purchase a new set of locking lug nuts, it is important to mail in the registration card that comes with the set so you can get a replacement key should the need arise.

Q. My wife and I are looking to purchase a new car (semi- sporty). We are having a great debate over whether to purchase one with an automatic transmission or a manual transmission. We both can drive a stick so that is not an issue. Do you have any suggestions on how to settle this matter?

A. If you don't know by now that your wife has 99% veto power in your household you haven't been married long enough. Being a stick shift lover (my favorite car I owned was a 1987 Mustang GT with a 5 speed, my husband owned the automatic version!), I'll try to give you some ammunition.

In my opinion manual transmissions are much more dependable than automatics. We rarely see a problem with the internal workings of a manual transmission. They need little maintenance; an automatic transmission can require service every 25,000 to 40,000 miles. The clutch is a wear item and is really not part of the transmission itself. It basically links the engine and transmission together. A person who knows how to properly drive a stick shift can get well over 100,000 miles on a clutch.

Another argument could be you'd get fewer people asking to borrow your car. Because it is a stick shift, the average person won't be able to "borrow" your car. I always made it a game for my children when we were out in the country for a ride, I would let them shift. When it came time for them to learn how to drive a manual transmission it was less intimidating for them to adapt. It also created another way for us to bond. You can also use these issues: better gas mileage, brakes last longer and if the battery goes dead you can always push start the car!

If you are driving a sporty little car, in my opinion a stick shift is the only way to go!

Q. I purchased a used car several months ago. The vehicle has relatively low miles (30,000); I have had many problems with the vehicle. The shops that looked at it state that the vehicle appears to have been in major accident(s). I want the dealer to take the car back but they are not willing to co-operate. I signed a paper saying that I was purchasing the vehicle As-Is. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Unfortunately As-Is usually means just that. I don't know all the circumstances so it is hard to say if you have any recourse. I always recommend to my customers that they have a vehicle inspected before they purchase it. You need information on the condition prior to purchase so that you can make an educated decision. The only suggestion I would make is to have the VIN number checked to see if the vehicle was ever assigned a salvage title. You can do this over the Internet for a small fee at www.carfax.com. If the title comes back clean there is probably little you can do. However if it had a salvage title you may have some recourse. I would suggest you seek the advice of an attorney, should that be the case. Good Luck!

Heat – Battery's Worst Enemy

Contrary to what some may think, cold weather doesn't kill a battery — hot weather does. Heat is a battery's worst enemy, but there are steps you can take to preserve its life.

All automotive batteries contain an electrolyte solution made up of sulfuric acid and water. This mixture generates electricity and provides a battery with the voltage needed to start. However, battery cases are not completely sealed. So, when the heat in the air is combined with the heat under the hood the water evaporates, leading to corrosion.

How do you slow down this process? If your car battery allows for maintenance, regularly checking the water level in the battery can help. Once a portion of the battery plate gets dry it loses all or most of its capacity. If the water level is low, add distilled water to bring the level up to the bottom of the vent walls, but do not overfill. Some batteries, however, are designed specifically for high-heat climates.

Unfortunately, for most consumers helpful tips like this are not common knowledge, but they can be. The automotive industry has created many Web sites dedicated to meeting your car-care needs. AutoBatteries.com is one such Web site. It provides helpful tips on everything from jump-starting to battery maintenance.

The site also provides personalized battery information. By answering a few simple questions, you can give your battery a Health Checkup and quickly learn about the life of your battery, if it is at risk and approximately how long it will last. And because weather can affect a battery, enter your zip code to find out the forecast for your area, to help ensure you will not be caught unprepared.

Most importantly, AutoBatteries.com educates, offering detailed information about specific battery brands to help consumers make informed decisions about what to buy. In addition, the Battery Selector will help you choose the correct battery for your car and direct you to a retail location in your area for purchase.

Heat can destroy a car battery. Learn what you can do to preserve its life on AutoBatteries.com.

For more tips on preparing your battery for summer and to increase your battery knowledge, visit www.AutoBatteries.com.

Natural Car Wax Shines Through Effectively

Many commonly used wax products can actually dull your car's mirror finish. They use a combination of wax or silicone and a harsh abrasive polish which causes tiny scratches. The scratched paint can't reflect light as well as new paint. This results in an overall reduction in shine.

The best waxes are made with imported Carnauba wax. One company that markets a blend of true Carnauba waxes is the Malm Chemical Corp. For more information on the product, visit www.malms.com or write to Malm Chemical Corp. 300 BX, ME501, Pound Ridge, N.Y. 10576.
